Chinamen Say They Will Meet the Trust Rates and Go Lower.

IF ATTACKED THEY WILL FIGHT.

Amslgamated Men Say They Will Shut Down All of Oliver's Mills.

LABOR ITEMS FROM MANY SOURCES

There was some excitement yesterday afternoon in the Chinese laundry circles owing to the report that the laundrymen in New York State and two or three others had Chinese laundry business up by cutting prices. Hop Wing, one of the almond-eyed washboard rubbers on Grant street, was interviewed last night by a DISPATCH reporter. The substance of his interview, as near as the reporter could translate it, was as follows:

"I don't care what they make the prices on laundry work, because I can work as low as any of them, and if they come'down to 3 cents for a shirt I..."

view, he was somewhat of an Ingersollian Chinaman. He neither believed in eternal damnation, infant baptism nor shirts washed at 3 cents each. The question of the combined reduction in laundry prices in opposition to Chinese labor, as shown in yesterday's DIS-PATCH, was talked of very freely in Chinese circles last night.
In Gno Wing Sing's store on Second avenue, the usual reply was received that the questions were not understood, and the talk of the principal as well as the bookkeeper, as the former made a perpendicular line of hierorlyphics, and the latter cashed out the sheets of fantan

"What will you live on?" "That is all right. You can say rats or chickens, and we cat more of the latter than the former. I have no objection to telling you how we stand on the laundry or any other business. When we get enough money we will go to China and live there until we die. There we other and live there in the Living States. are others of us who stay in the United States, but when we do it is for 'cash.'" The general opinion among the Chinese was that they would meet any cut rates by cutting them still lower, if it were necessary. They say that if shirts are brought down to 3 cents by the American laundries, they will bring them still lower. The case now shows that the Chinaman is going to get knocked out in favor of the washwoman, maless he meets the rates, which it is rather difficult to do.

THE STRIKE SANCTIONED.

President Welle Supports It and Other Mills May Shut Down.

The strike at Oliver Bros, & Phillips South Tenth street mill, involving nearly 1,000 men, which was ordered vesterday, has been nctioned by the Amalgamated Association. The strike originated nearly two weeks ago. The full particulars of the trouble were published exclusively in THE DISPATCH on the 8th

The point of disagreement was said to be the discharge of a member of the Mill Committee named Engel. The men claimed that it was aperintendent Smith's + tention to discharge all of the me; and replace them with boys. all of the me; and replace them with boys.

The Mill Committee demanded Engel's reinstatement, and they gave the firm notice that unless their demands were granted a strike would be ordered. It is also said that the Amalgamated Association is opposing the introduction of a new system of working bolt factories, by having one man to operate more than one machine and thus cheapen the cost of production.

The Amalgamated Association men claim that the South Side strike may lead to the closing down of all the other Oliver mills in the two cities. Both sades are taking a determined stand, and it is likely that the strike will be therly contested. Mr. D. B. Oliver, of the firm, gave out a statement yesterday for publication, in which he said they had been notified by a committee that unless Engel was taken back there should be unless Engel was taken back there should be no more work after last night. "Engel," he said, "was discharged for incompetency. He took 500 pounds of high class material to make an order of bolts that weighed, when finished, less than 140 pounds, and what he did make was not fit to send out." Mr. Oliver claims his firm has to compete with factories where one man runs six machines, and that a good man can run a number of bolt machines as rapidly as a nailer can operate a number of nail machines. The custom of running multiple machines was established in their factory long before the bolt workers joined the Amalgamated Association.

PIPE MANUPACTURERS COMING.

The National Association Will Meet in This City Next Week. The Wrought Iron Pipe Manufacturers' Association of the United States will hold a meeting in this city next week. It will be one of the most important meetings held for some time.
There will be about 35 delegates here from various parts of the country and they will be the guests of the Duquesne Club while they are in the city.

The meeting will be in session three days and some important measures are to be discussed. There are some irregularities in the presen scale of prices which will be straightened on and other matters will be attended to. It is probable that the local manufactures at is probable that the local manufacturers will arrange for a dinner at the Duquesne Club for the visitors. The following meeting will be held at Middletown, Pa., where the delegates will be the guests of James W. Young. President of the American Tube and Iron Company.

The Scarcity of Soda Ash Responsible for the Advance in Glass.

President William Smith, of the Flint Glass Workers' Association, arrived home from Philadelphia vesterday. He was East looking after some matters pertaining to the associa-tion. While in Philadelphia he met H. Sellers tion. While in Philadelphia he met H. Sellers McKee. The latter gentleman deplored the scarcity of soda ash and said something should be done immediately. President Smith thinks the scarcity of the various chemicals used in the manufacture of glass a grave matter just at this time. The Greensburg Glass Company, recently of Brilliant, O., is said to have closed down on that account, and it is also responsible for the present advance in glass. The manufacturers are at the mercy of the circumstance by the fact that nearly all of the contracts for chemicals are hased on all sorts of conditions and contingencies.

Scheinman, however, claimed a much larger sum, which the company declined to pay, and the suit was entered, resulting in a verdict for the amount the company had been ready to pay at first.
