brokers throughout the city vesterday. Early in the day the Western Union Telegraph Company cut out all their wires running into the "bucket shops," and, with one exception, the brokers' offices. As a result there will be no quotations from Chicago today, except in this one particular office. The latter does not get the "markets" by ticker, but by special wire, for which they pay a rental of $25,000 per year. Unless some method of securing the quotations is apparent to-day, the brokers will have to go out of business.

The cause of the trouble is the old fight of the Chicago Board of Trade against the bucket shops throughout the country. At a meeting of the directors of the board, on Monday afternoon, they decided to refuse to furnish any more quotations, not even to members, and served notice on the Western Union Telegraph Company to that effect. The officers of the company in this city received notice to cut out the wires, which they did yesterday.

In this city the only firm that will get the quotations to-day will be J. M. Oakley & Co. They have been getting their "markets" on a private wire and are not dependent on the tickers. They had a ticker in their office, too, but it was also cut out with the others. The other brokers and "bucket shop" men have been getting their quotations on tickers through other sources. A great many were served by Camp-bell & Co., who had the suit against the Western Union and Chicago board some time ago. When an attempt was made to cut ; out the tickers before, the firm secured an injunction against the telegraph company and compelled them to fur-nish the quotations. They in turn sent them by loop wires to the other brokers, and the latter got them almost as soon as Oakley & Co. The "bucket shops" paid Campbell & Co. from $15 to $25 per week for the service, and as long as Campbell & Co. got it from Chicago the "bucket shop" men were satisfied. It will be impossible to get it now, as the ticker wire is cut out of Campbell's office.

FIRED OFF THE FLOOR.

In Chicago the Western Union Company was compelled to get off the floor on 'Change. It has its office right under the Exchange and has been getting the quotations from above by messengers. The board decided to stop this, and any messenger found carrying quotations will be put off the floor. The board is determined to stop the business of selling quotations despite what the telegraph company wishes to do. The latter backs up the claim of the Pittsburg members of the board that they had a right to the quotations. The directors argued that if they furnished the quotations to their members they would also have to give them to the "bucket shops." A numher of the directors jumped in and upheld the local members in their claim, but the

the local members in their claim, but the majority was against them. Superintendent Charles O. Rowe was seen yesterday by a DISFATCH reporter, and wheh asked if the company had cut out the wires and would discontinue the quotations he said: "Yee, we served notice on all our customers that we could not furnish any more quotations from Chicago. The Board of Trade shut them off from us and will not allow us to send them out. As we cannot get them on 'Change we could not furnish them to the brokers. The passage of a resolution by the last sessio

the Humane Society.

The Board of Directors of the Human Society met yesterday afternoon. The meeting was taken up entirely in discussing the contents of a communication asking that the Humane Society instruct its agent to in-vestigate the treatment of patients at Dixmont Hospital. The writer stated that there was already sufficient evidence of abuses in his possession to warrant the society in taking the step requested of them. The discussion on the proposition was participated in by all the members of the board and after thorough members of the board and after thorough debate, it was decided by a vote to postpone any instructions to the Society's agents until the whole matter be talked over at the next meeting, when an effort will be made to have the full membership of the board present. Ever since the work has been given up by Chief Jones, of the fire department, who cared for all the wires of that department, as well as those of the patrol system, the wires have been in bad shape and wholly unreliable, sometime working all right, but oftener not. Lately, however, they have become worse than ever, and when an officer makes an arrest now he takes his prisoner to the nearest telephone, and calls for the patrol wagon through the Mayor's office, instead of calling from a patrol box. At the meeting last night Mayor Pear-son called the attention of the committee to the matter, and handed in a nomber of appli-cations from persons desirous of being appoint-ed to look after the wires. The committee united on the name of H. E. Dillor, an electrician of ten years' experience, who had a number of good letters of recom-mendation. The parties arrested yesterday were Mary Murphy, Forbes street; Mrs. Riley, Four-mile run; John Roach, rear of 1356 Second avenue: Kate lauttler, rear of 1458 Second avenue; Nicholas Delehanty, 1598 Second avenue; Samuel Col-lins, Brady street and Second avenue. The in-formations were made by Inspector White-house, who charges them with selling liquor without license and selling on Sunday. The defendants were arrested and locked up in the Fourteenth ward station. The persons arrested on similar charges in this district Monday night had a hearing be-fore Magistrate Brush at the Seventeenth ward station yesterday afternoon. street mill of Oliver Bros. & Phillips, and the following is a statement of their calculations: Each 24 hours the company employs about 3.000 men. Their blast furnace, the Rosena at New Castle, with an annual capacity Rosena at New Castle, with an annual capacity of 50,000 tons, turns out 150 tons every 24 hours. Placing the cost of material and labor at 514 a ton, this would make $2100. The average amount used in their Clapp-Griffith steel con-verter in this city is just about 150 tons. The cost to convert it into ingots and roll it into billets is about $10 per ton, or $1,500.

AN ARRAY OF FIGURES. In their three iron mills are nine single and ouble puddling and scrap furnaces. For a double turn supply it takes at least 200 tons of netal. This would amount to $3,400, and the average cost to finish it would be $3,000 more average cost to finish it would be $3,000 more. Finishing the 150 tons of 4x4 billets in such grades and kinds as they are manufactured by this firm cannot be done for less than $5 a ton, making $750 additional. The average consumption is 50 tons. This amount is seldom less. Over half the time it runs to fully 75 tons a day. Fifty tons at $23 per ton would amount to $1,150. Then comes the gas bill, which, it is said, reaches about $1,000 a day for the steel mill and the three iron plants. This would make an aggregate daily expense of $13,150. While they sell a great deal of rail steel, they buy far more muck iron. Last year they bought over 10,000 tons. The finished amount was over 100,000 tons. The amount of iron and steel in their Pittsburg plants is nearly 450 tons, but the figures above are estimated on a 400 ton a day run, which is below the average, in the last year.

WHAT THE IDLE COSTS ..

Now comes a separate estimate on the idle mill, which has 33 pudding furnaces. Using 75 tons of metal at $17 a ton would be $1,275, and $14 a ton to finish it would be $1,050 more, 50 tons of old rails and all kinds of other old scrap iron at $23 a ton would be $1,150, and then $10 a ton to manufacture it into nuts and bolts and other fine grades would be $500. The gas bill is $275. That would make the expense for this mill alone $4,245 a day, of which $1,600 is paid to the men. In addition to this, the firm is con-nected with the Oliver & Roberts wire mill and the Oliver from and Steel Company, operating the Hainsworth Steel Works. The total daily expense of this firm, it is said, is about $20,000. The Pennsylvania Tube Works, which is also now idle, is the second largest pipe mill in the world, having altogether 11 lap and butt-weld furnaces, with a daily capacity of 400 tons. The average output in the last year, as given by Mr. Joshua Rhodes, President of the works, has been 300 tons a day, and the average cost of a ton of pipe iron to be delivered at the works is about $55, making an expense for material alone of $13,500. And the cost to make a ton of pipes, including the fuel, is about $10, which would be iron at $23 a ton would be $1,150, and then $10 a cluding the fuel, is about $10, which would b $3,000, making an outlay each day of ove 816.06

$16,000. The Keystone Mill, which is also idle, has 36 furnaces. It consumes in two turns 55 tons of metal at $17 per ton. This would amount to $1,445, and the cost to finish it is $1,160. The gas amounts to $230, a total expense of $2,805 a lay.

"In other words we held that while the classification of cities authorizes all necessary legislation for them as cities, in the manare-ment of their municipal affairs, it is not made three separate states within the territorial limits of Pennsylvania, for each of which there may be different laws on subjects of a general character from those in force in the rest of the commonwealth. On the other hand, while sities may have the legislation needful to the proper regulation and discharge of municipal powers, they are under the Constitution and they must remann a part of the State of Penn-sylvania for all purposes not municipal and subject to all laws of the Nate and all subjects not of municipal concern. It is plain that no such question is involved in this case. How the city of Reading selzed and appropriated private property to public use. It went into the Court of Common Pleas to give security and obtain an assessment of damages. This was exactly in accordance with the act of 1574, and with the decision of this court in Spring street, supra, and the decree of the court below is affirmed. HAPPY AS COULD BE.

ment, when the after piece was put on the stage. Jim Fox started the controversy by re-lating Dick Johnston's experience with Johnny Ennis' mare, on Soho Hill, during the late While truck C, of No. 12 engine house, was coming down Carson street at 5 o'clock yester-day in answer to an alarm from box 117, it ran into one of Stolzenbach & Pfiel's sand wagons. The tongue of the truck was broken off and both horses went down. One was hurt so badly that he will have to be shot. The other cannot be used in the fire department, Alex. Jenkins, the driver of the sand wagon,

Fox insinuated that Eonis had lent the mare to Mr. Johnston in order to get him killed and out of the way. A friend of Eunis disputed the assertion, and the controversy grew hot, but T. O'Brien flually diverted the disputants by suggesting that 'Squire Boyle take her out on the country roads and work off some of her superfluous energy, so as to render her useful in the next campaign. She is said to have as many lives as a cat. Alox. Jenkins, the driver of the sand wagon, is held responsible by the firemen for the acci-dent. Instead of being on his horses he was walking on the sidewalk, and did not make an attempt to give the track the right of way. He was arrested for violating a city ordinance, but was released on ball. The fire was in an old row of frame shantles
