GIGANTIC COKE DEAL

The Mutual Plant to be Sold to Charles Donnelly.

TO PUT UP ABOUT $400,000.

A Meeting Yesterday, but a Hitch Occurred in the Sale.

DICKERING FOR THE THAW LANDS

Another large coke deal is about to be consummated. The Mutual Coke Company's plant, on the Sewickley branch of the Southwest branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad, is about to be turned over to Mr. Charles Donnelly, Vice President of the McClure Coke Company. The consideration is about $400,000.

A meeting of the parties interested was held yesterday in the office of Sol Schoyer, Esq., for the purpose of closing up the deal. There were present W. P. DeArmitt, representatives of the Carrie Furnace Company, Charles Donnelly and Charles Jamison. The latter owns the minority end of the works, and it is over this part that a kind of hitch occurred. Mr. Donnelly wants the property, and will buy it as an individual, and not as an officer of the McClure Company. It is understood that he will run the plant, and increase it by 200 ovens.

The plant now consists of 200 ovens, and 1,000 acres of the best coal land in the Connellsville region. The works are situated between Mammoth and Heela and have good railroad facilities.

OVER HALF A MILLION. The whole plant is valued at about $600,-000, and is jointly owned by the Carrie Furnace Company, Mr. DeArmitt and Mr. Jamison. Some time ago, the Carrie Company gave notice that it would sell, and negotiations were opened up by Mr. Donnelly. He offered to buy but their share, or would take it with Mr. DeArmitt's portion, if he could get it. The turnace people were willing, but the President of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Company did not jump at it with any noticeable alacrity. With Mr. Jamison nothing was done about his share, and whether the little end will come out all right or not is a matter for future considerntion. The portion held by the furnace people is about 65 or 70 per cent of the lant, and if Mr. Donnelly only purchased this share, he would have a majority of the stock in the concern.

With this deal goes about the last piece of coal land in the Connellsville Nearly everything in the region either belongs to the Frick or the McCiure interests. pany was after the Mutual plant, but could not get it.

DON'T CARE TO TALK.

After the meeting in Mr. Schoyer's office vesterday, a reporter of THE DISPATCH started in to obtain some information in regard to the deal. Mr. Charles Donnelly said the negotiations were progressing, but further than that he would not speak. The other gentlemen said the deal would be closed up, but that it had not been done yet. It is understood, however, that the obstacle in the way is young Mr. Jamison, who is a very young man and who will not get left in the shuffle.

Mr. DeArmitt said: "Mr. Charles Donnelly is negotiating for the purchase of my interest and that of the Carrie Furnace Company, in the Mutual Coke Company. The two interests jointly are 70 per cent of the coke company's stock. The Mutual Coke Company is a new concern, having been organized since January 1, 1890, and owns about 1,000 acres of Connellsville coking coal and 200 ovens. It purchased the property of the Mutual Mining and Manufacturing Company of Greensburg, and added thereto by later purchases, about 400 acres of coal. Its property is in Westmoreland county, near Greensburg. Its capital stock is $600,000. The matter will be decided Saturday."

STILL ANOTHER DEAL ON. Negotiations are also on foot for the lease or sale of several thousand acres of coal land owned by the Thaw heirs in the region. As yet the scheme has not progressed very far, and those interested say it is not in shape for pubheation. It is understood that a well-known furnace firm is dickering for the ground, and, if it gets it, will put up a large plant. One curious feature of this deal is that the property is "tied up" in the Thaw will. When Mr. Thaw died he left 8,000 acres of land in Fayette county, and according to the provisions of the will it cannot be sold until the oldest child is 2l years of age. The managers of the estate are willing to lease the ground, but the parties are willing to lease the ground, but the parties after it want to buy outright.

QUARTER CENTS IN AMERICA. A Scheme Worked by a Polander on His Countrymen. A crowd of Poles invaded the office of Alderman Succep, on the Southside, last night. The whole party hailed from a boarding house on South Tenth street, where they had been victimized by the performance of a trick, at the hands of Meyer Borak, modeled on the Columbus egr fake. During a talk on the value of coin in different countries, Borak made the statement that there were quarter cents in America, as well as in Poland. When contra-America, as well as in Poland. When contra-dicted by all present, Borak offered to bet $i$ that he was correct. Josef Wroblofski accepted the wager, and Borak went to his room to get the quarter cent, and returned with a cent cut into four pieces. He threw it down, and capturing four pieces. He threw it down, and capturing the stakes, fied. Wroblofski instituted a suit against Borak, and Constable Sherran is looking for the latter gentleman, to protect him from his furious countrymen.

HARD WORK AT A FIRE.

A Long Fight With Finmes in a West End

Stuble. At 8 o'clock last evening fire was discovered in the large stable of W. H. Speaker, grocer, of South Main street, West End. The alarm was sent in from box 118. About 20 horses were kept in the stable, and the efforts of those near the place were directed toward their safe removal. Near the stable were some dwelling houses and the handsome new club rooms of the Young Men's Catholic Club, and for some ed as if these buildings n but after three hours of hard work the fire was extinguished.

The total loss is estimated at $3,000. Flour and hay were stored in the loft of the stable in e amounts, and these goods were almost illy destroyed.

SUGGESTING A SITE.

Lawrenceville Citizens Talk About a Location for the Library. Lawrenceville citizens met in the Lincoln Club rooms on Butler street for the purpose of discussing a site for the branch library which is promised Lawrenceville by Mr. Andrew egie's plans. Messrs. Select Council, of Alleghouy, Passes the Carnegie Free Library Ordinance-When Councils Will Reorganize and Concur-Other Business Transacted.

The interminable wrangle over the Caruegie Free Library ordinance ended happily last evening at the meeting of Select Council. Some of the objectors had been pact fied, and promises were made to amend the ordinance subsequently should its provisions prove inadequate. There were only 17 members present when the ordinance was put upon its passage. Mr. Arthur Kennedy stating that he would prefer to vote without debate. The ayes and noes were then called debate. The ayes and noes were then called and Messrs. McAfee and Cochran were the only members voting in the negative, the ordinance thereby receiving 16 votes, two more than required. Mr. Arthur Kennedy, who has conducted his fight with singular skill, was justly elated by the action taken, and everybody breathed a sigh of relief.

The Library Committee will consist of 16 members, nine from Common and seven from Select. Great pressure is being brought to bear upon Messrs. Hunter and Lindsay, who are sure to succeed themselves in the reorganization. The members of the committee will be the best material in Councils, so the Presidents hint. SAD CASE OF DESTITUTION.

A Woman and Four Children Found in Dirt and Poverty. Mrs. Julia Sullivan and four children, ranging from 6 months to 8 years of age, were taken charge of last evening by Humane Agent Dean at their residence in Etnastreet, above Twentyeighth street. All were in a most pitiable state of dirt and rags. The woman's husband had been taken ill with pneumonia some weeks ago, and taken to St. Francis Hospital, where be now lies in a critical condition. The woman is said to be somewhat addicted to drink, and gets her mind affected. Last Monday night she threw off all her clothing, and declared she would not be removed from this home as she had from another a short time previously. The neighbors endeavored to get the woman clothed, and fed the children, but, not being in affinent rirenmatances, were compelled to appeal to circumstances, were compelled to appeal to Superintendent Dean. The woman is said to have threatened to burn the house down, and made other threats showing her to be of un ound mind and dangerous. Last night at Central station the matron said Last night at Central station the matron said Mrs. Sullivan was resting easily. The children had been divested of their rags, washed, and looked happy. Superintendent Dean will probably send the woman to the retreat on Troy Hill, Allegheny, and the children to an asylum until the family can be taken out of its difficulties. The husband is a mill laborer.

At present, it seems the deeds describe certain mountains it seems, the deeds describe certain mountains as boundaries, and the names of mountains, ridges, etc., have been changed from time to time until it has become absolutely necessary to determine anew boundaries for estates which, in their original entirety, were so large that some German kingdoms could be lost in them if not staked off.

There is some talk that the Texans, when they arrive, will be taken in hand and shown the city. Twould not only be a graceful act, but might be mutually beneficial.

BULL BUTTER ATTACKED.

A Renewal of the War by the Anti-Oleo margarine Society.

The fight against oleomargarine, like the sprin weather, has been reopened. Yesterday W. F. Cook, Secretary of the Anti-Oleomargarine Society, brought suit, through Henry McFarland. Esq., against H. B. Rea, W. F. Scott, 54 East Diamond, and William Rea, operating the Ohio Dairy Company.

The location of the latter company was discovered through the presecution of a Connellsville grocer, who gave up his bill head from the company, which only had a postoffice box address. Mr. Cook expects to interest the Federal authorities in the prosecution, as he claims the Government stamp has not been used. The hearings are set for next Tuesday afternoon,

MUST GO TO CANADA

If the Proposed Tariff on Imported Hides Should Become a Law.

ALLEGHENY TANNERS UP IN ARMS.

They Appeal to Congressman Bayne, Who Promises Them His Help TO BLOCK THE BIG FOUR'S GAME

The Alleghenv tanners are worked up to the highest pitch over the proposed tariff of 15 per cent ad valorem on hides. The Committee of Ways and Means has agreed on this duty, and leather makers here are, without exception, up in arms against the proposed tariff. There are in Allegheny tanneries, the aggregate output of which is close to 12,000 sides of leather every week. Pittsburg's only tannery is that of the Hartleys, at East Liberty, which produces only leather belting.

It is within bounds to say that over 6,000 hides go into the vats every week at this trade center. The tariff on hides of 15 per cent ad valorem will add 21/20 to 30 per pound to their cost. Letters have been pouring in to Congressman Bayne for the past week or two pro-testing against the proposed tariff. A letter received from him by one of the leading local firms within a day or two, states that local firms within a day or two, states that he will do his best to prevent the passage of this item of the tariff bill.

There is not a tanner on the Northside who is not determinedly opposed to the duty. A number were interviewed yesterday, and, while they shrink from sewspaper notoriety, were very free to give their views. Said a representative of one of the foremost firms:

PRICES WOULD BE FORCED UP. "There can be but one result to the tariff on hides, namely, an advance in prices; and the advance will in the end fall on the consumer. All tanners look on this move of Congress as adverse to their interests. We might have nice profits at the start, but in a little time there would be a reaction, and little or no advantage would accrue to the tanner in the end. The tarwould accrue to the tanner in the end. The tariff is evidently in the interest of the Big Four, engaged in the dressed beef industry, who would reap large profits if the import trade was cut off. Western farmers, too, would reap some profit from the tariff, and in my view the movement to place a duty on hides is due to the Big Four, and the desire on the part of politicians to conciliate and sweeten the farmers of the West."

Another prominent Northside tanner said:

West."

Another prominent Northside tanner said:
"Everybody that wears shoes ought to protest against the proposed tax on hides. The tanners may be able to stand it, but in the end it will be a disadvantage to them, since what hurts the consumer will in time hurt the manufacturer. The thing is unjust, and is an effort upon the part of four great firms to force every man, woman and child in the land who wear shoes to carry corn to their grinding mill. But I feel little apprehension that the bill will pass. Congress has already heard from the country in thunder tones, and you may put it down that the Representatives will weaken when voting time comes. That this is the general feeling through the country is proved by the fact that I bought 3,060 hides to-day from a Western dealer. If that dealer had had any thought that the tariff would pass into a law, he would have been much firmer in his views of values, and put me off until a more convenient season."

A leading dealer in hides said: "I would reap immediate advantage from the tariff, but it is unjust, and I don't want it. Besides, in the end it would be no real help to my trade. The United States tans more hides than any country in the world, and we do not produce enough for our needs. We receive large supplies from South America, Asia and Africa, and the effect of the tariff will be to dry up these sources of supply, or increase the cost of hides. As a country, we are well supplied with bark, and can now produce leather as cheaply or more cheaply than any country in the world. The New England sheemakers are now able to expert their products at a reasonable profit. port their products, at a reasonable profit. The profits on shoe making have become so close that a few cents a pair tells the story of profit or loss to the manufacturer. The tariff profit or loss to the manufacturer. The tariff on hides will, in the end, come out of the pockets of the people. If it should be been save will all he forced to contribute to the Big Four in ligher priced footwear. The leather interest of this city is now next to iron and glass in importance, and a blow at this will be seriously felt by a large element of our population."

50 One tanner said that if the tariff bill passed through leve the effect of driving American tanneries to Canada, where hides could be bought at legitimate prices.

Yesterday being Maundy Thursday, more generally known as Holy Thursday, a pontifical high mass was celebrated in the Cathedral at 10 A. M. The ceremonies lasted over two hours, and a choir of nearly 100 priests assisted Bishop Phelan and his deacons. In the course of the mass the Bishop blessed the holy oils used in the three sacraments, baptism, confirmation and extreme unction, during the ensuing year. The feast of Maundy Thursday commemorates Christ's last supper, at which he instituted the sacrament of the Eucharist, and washed his disciples' feet. In Rome and many European churches the ceremony of washing the feet of the poor is still observed. The name "Maundy" comes from the first word of the antiphon sung on that day, "Mandatum novum de vobis," etc.

To-day being Good Friday, no mass will be celebrated. In commemoration of the entombment of Christ, the sacred host will be carried from the altar to a repository creeted in the rallery transent. A procession of priests and disciples' feet. In Rome and many European

The matter was referred to the Executive Board and came up before that body at their meeting in Cincinnati last month. The board referred the ease to Mr. Holland, with full power to act. Mr. Holland came here Wednesday and Mr. Holiand came here wednesday and had a conference with ex-President Campbell that evening. Mr. Campbell gave his side of the case, telling how the evidence had been collected by members of the Trades Council in which Phillips had figured as one of the important witnesses. His entire version of the case was listened to by Mr. Holland, and last night at the Central Hotel he heard Mr. Philling's tory.

ALL GONE OVER AGAIN.

The facts in the case, from beginning to end, were all gone over again, and every detail carefully considered. The conference lasted until 11 o'clock last night, when it was adjourned until this morning. There were present at the conference last night John Flannery, I. N. conference last night John Flannery, I. N.
Ross, Joz. L. Evans, John P. Phillips and his brother. Although Mr. Holland has been given full power to act m the case, he stated last night that he would not render a decision until after he left Pittsburg, which he intended to do this morning, but will be detained now owing to the prolonged conference. The following is a brief

eview of the case: About the time the new tank furnaces were started at Jeannette President Campbell was charged with assisting in the importation of glassworkers. The Green Bottle Blowers' Asglassworkers. The Green Bottle Blowers' Association asked for an investigation and a resolution was passed in the Central Trades Council ordering the investigation. Frank Gesner, Isaac Cline, John P. Phillips and James Campbell were asked to give what information they possessed on the subject. After Phillips had testified charges were brought against him in L. A. 300 for violation of his obligation, and he was suspended for two months. On the day was suspended for two months. On the day before his suspension expired General Master Workman Powderly decided he had had an illegal trial, and ordered another hearing. This time he was expelled, and the present action is on his appeal from the decision of L. A.

IN VERY GOOD SHAPE. In a general conversation about K. of L. matters, Mr. Holland said to a DISPATCH reporter yesterday afternoon that 70 new locals had been organized and 37 others revived during the past month. A new district assembly was organized in St. Louis a few days ago was organized in St. Louis a few days ago with good prospects. The order is increasing rapidly in all parts of the West. In regard to the telegraphers' bill now pending in Congress, Mr. Holland said he felt sure that either that or Wanamaker's bill would pass. He has it from pretty good authority that President Green, or the Western Union company is preparing a bill providing that the Government shall buy out his company and that a commission shall be appointed to fix the amount to be paid for it.

Mr. Wanamaker has asked the Knights of Labor not to push their bill too hard, as he is sure his bill can be carried through. Both bills are practically the same regarding rates, the difference being that the Knights of Labor bill provides that the telegraph system shall be under the control of the Government. The K.

provides that the telegraph system shall be under the control of the Government. The K. of L. people still advocate the adoption of their bill notwithstanding the glowing prospects of the passage of the Wanamaker bill, and inside of 30 days a petition containing from 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 names will be sent to Congress in favor of the telegraphers' and silver bills.

Mr. Holland says that the federation with the Alliance has been a good thing for the K. of L. He is a believer in the eight-hour move-ment, but does not think it will be adopted Arrangements are being made for the next General Assembly, which will probably meet in Denver. Three cities were named—Denver, Albany and Toledo. Denver has already offered to raise the money necessary to take the Assembly there, and will likely get the meet-

Ex-Solicitor General Jenks Talks Just Mr. Davis states that his ambition to be Ex-Solicitor General George A. He was accompanied by his brother, Judge W. P. Jenks, and Judge A. G. Corbett, of Clarion, ence with Messrs. Staub & Morris, the Wood street real estate dealers. But Mr. Davis' Pa. They were looking after some business ambition dates further back than the above period. Six years ago he assured the writer at Emporia, Kan., that his desire was to ac-cumulate enough money to build a theater in some Eastern city. That he is in earnest matters, but did not care to make that part of the viisit public. The ex-Solicitor General was surrounded with his usual cloak of good humor, and when the subject of politics was broached he loosened his tongue. He did not care to say anything about the present adthe details of yesterday's transaction go far to indicate. THE PROPERTY PURCHASED.

ministration, but on the Pennsylvania Gover-norship he thought Wallace the leading man for the Democratic nomination. He did not believe there were many chances for Pattison coming into the fight, as his friends were press-ing him to remain in husiness. From the Shields estate Mr. Davis has purchased for $95,000 the following realty: Lying along McCrea alley for a depth of 60 feet, and with a 25-foot frontage on Sixth street, the entrance to the theater is provided for. Sixty feet from the Sixth street line is the piece of ground on which the theater proper will be built. It is 100x140, and has three open sides, viz., McCrea alley between it and the Bijou Theater, Barker's alley at the rear, and the alley skirting the Red Lion Hotel on the river side. Thus, without paying the $575,000 required to purchase the entire frontage on Sixth street, Mr. Davis secures an amply wide main entrance and enough land at the rear to answer all his needs. There will be numerous side and rear entrances from the three alleys, and by some 70 exits Mr. Davis calculates that the building can be emptied inside of two minutes.

The terms of the purchase are very easy. S. A. Johnson, Esq., drew up the deeds. Mr. Davis paid $5,000 down, and is to pay $20,000 more when the deeds are examined and recorded. Mr. Davis hauled out a far roll of greenbacks when the first payment was made, remarking that cheeks might suit some people, but he liked to produce the "bullion." Seventy thousand dollars yet remain to be paid, covered by a mortgage on easy terms.

Mr. Davis agrees to erect a building costing not less than $100,000, but states that his new theater will cost much more than the specified sum. As the holder of the lease of the Sixth From the Shields estate Mr. Davis has ing him to remain in business.

Mr. Jenks thought Wallace would be one of the strongest men the Democratic party would not less than $100,000, but states that his new theater will cost much more than the specified sum. As the holder of the lease of the Sixth street frontage has until April 1, 1801, in which to find other quarters, Mr. Davis will defer building until that time. He expects to rush the building and will open it in October, 1801. When seen yesterday Mr. Davis gave a glowing description of the theater-to-be, and talked as if his means were practically unlimited. He stated that Reed Bros, the Evansville, Ind., architects, had prepared plans which met his approbation, although two others were under consideration.

WILL BE STRICTLY FIRST-CLASS. Mr. Davis declares stoutly that the house will be entirely first-class, and enumerates a num-ber of innovations calculated to dazzle Pittsurgers. He says he has commissioned Staub & Morris, who conducted the theater deal, to ecure for him a commodious residence in the secure for him a commodious residence in the East End.

Manager Gulick, of the Bijou, was skeptical about the Davis theater, and while commending Mr. Davis as a traveling attraction and manager, seemed to think that "Uncle Alvin" was playing a bluff game. He said that the Duquesne Theater and Mr. Harry Williams' house were now certain to be built, and that Mr. Davis would find it scaly sledding. Mr. Gulick vigorously denied the soft impeachment that himself and Mr. Bennett were with Mr. Davis in the "deah," and said the Bijou Theater would do business at the old stand, Neither Mr. Gulick nor Mr. Joseph Horne would say anything about the renewal of the Bijou lease, two years hence, although both gentlemen are popularly credited with being best qualified to speak upon that subject.

Common talk is to the effect that Manager Gulick and his backer enjoy such friendly relations with Mr. Harry Williams that these who are used to the faces now seen in the Bijou her and wanagerial offices will smile upon. who are used to the faces now seen in the Bijou box and managerial offices will smile upon ap-plicants for admission to Mr. Williams' new combination house. Manager Gulick and his associates certainly have the very best to say of Mr. Williams' embryotic playhouse, Mr. Gulick says that Manager Henderson means ousiness, and will do all he has promised.

Schooley Park Policemen Have to be Nearly Six and a Half Feet Tail. Chief Bigelow is in clover, and so, he claims, will be his pet project, Schenley Park, this summer. A force of men went to work yesterday morning, and commenced straightening out things with a vim and a spade and shovel accompaniment, which promises to make the ground as clear as the titles given by Mrs.

Schenley and purchased by the city.

The Chief yesterday engaged the first park policeman as a sort of standard gauge. He is 6 policeman as a sort of standard gauge. He is a feet 3 inches high and built proportionately. Mr. Bigelow says he wants five others, but they must all reach or exceed these proportions. He intends to have the men mounted on horses suited to their herculean proportions. He has not yet decided upon the color or style of the uniform, but will make it as tasteful as possible and dissimilar from that worn by the city police.

The park is intended to be a place for recreation, where the utmost freedom will be granted, consistent with the preservation of the property, and Chief Bigelow wishes it understood that the grass is not placed in the category of Brussels carpet for preservation, but to be regarded as a pile of fun carpet for the youngsters, where they can run, romp, roll and tumble to their hearts' content.
