It has recently been said of Washington by people who have traveled extensively in to lead to jealousy and repudia-this country and abroad that it is the best tion of rent among tenants whose landlords governed city in the United States. This re'use to sell, to say nothing of the repudiais perhaps true. The government of the tion indicated in his first letter, involving city is ... the hands of three commissioners, the Government in a hopeless double task one a Republican, one a Democrat and one of enforcing the law in the cases of no rentan engineer officer of the army, supposed to ers, and the recovery of money from purbe without political prejudice.

Congress pays half the taxes and other exadvice of the three Commissioners as to what shall be done in the way of local improveceive their authority direct from the President and Congress.

A STORM OF PROTESTS.

There have been times when the actions of the Commissioners have been so tyranni cal and arbitrary as to raise storms of protests from the citizens, but it is fair to say that the present Commissioners seem disposed to regard the citizens as having some rights which even the real estate speculators are bound to respect. All of the bills granting charters for additional street railways are re erred to the Commissioners for opinions as to their desirability or necessity. Just now the Commissioners are nearly swamped with applications of this kind, and the greatest pressure is being brought upon them to report favorably on the various schemes for ruining the proverbial beautitul and well-paved streets of the capital. Washington is probably the only city in the United States where street car lines are constructed without any regard as to whether the residents along the proposed lines want the roads or whether they do

An instance of this kind was under consideration by the Commissioners to-day. A number of capitalists and speculators are asking Congress for a charter for a street railroad to run across the entire city from east to west and back again, ruining in its course a number of the finest residence streets in the city. It was developed at the hearing that not one person in the entire city except the dozen or so incorporators of the rond, not one of whom lives on the line of the proposed route, was asking for the increased transportation facilities. On the other hand, a large number of citizens who are actual residents of and property owners on the proposed new route, were present, and protested against the encroachments upon their property, and they filed with the Commissioners the protest of hundreds of other citizens living on the lines of the proposed route.

PURELY FOR SPECULATION.

The desired charter is wanted purely for speculative purpose, and yet the incorporators questioned the right of citizens to pro test against despoiling them of their rights. The Commissioners seemed rather impressed with the unanimity with which the property owners resented the attempt of the specula-tors to gridiron their section of the city with street railroads, but did not say what recommendation they would make to Congress. They are men who themselves live and own property in Washington, and it is probable they will take the honorable and sensible view of the matter and protect the rights of their fellow citizens. Sepator Edmunds has started a crusade on these real estate speculators, and has warned Congress to keep out of their clutches. When he was absent from the Senate cham-ber a few days ago a bill was passed allowing a road that uses overhead electric wires to extend its lines along one of the residence streets, notwithstanding the fact that there
