order should have a name which would represent the meaning of its objects and principles, one which would place it before the public in its true light, and requires no explanation. State Vice Councilor Collins favors a change of name "because," ssys he.

THROWING LOTS OF OIL.

It Begins to Blow at the Rate of 6,000 Barrels a Day,

CAUSING INTENSE EXCITEMENT

Day unto day, almost, yields a sensation in the Allegheny county oil field. It's a chilly one that doesn't. But the greatest came to the surface yesterday in the Forest Grove hundred-foot. The price of oil was steadily climbing on the exchange until, in the afternoon, an electric spark announced that the Dan Depp No. 2, owned by the Fort Pitt Gas Company, had responded to deeper drilling and was making 200 barrels an hour, some said at the rate of 5,000 barrels and others 6,000 barrels in 24 hours. Values shriveled at a rate that indicated that had the news come sooner there might have been a slump.

"I said in my haste, 'All men are liars," said David. A Scotch clergyman who read the 116th Psalm for the morning lesson had his attention attracted by David's impatient outbreak, and pausing a few moments and meditatively scratching his chin, said mus-ingly to himself, but half aloud: "Ah, Davvy, boy, had ye lived noo ye might ha' said it at your leisure." Several centuries after, David, Pontius Pilate, asked: "What is truth ?" One who follows the course of oil development and speculation, and speculation seems to run through the warp and woof of the whole business, will in a short time conclude that Pilate's question has not yet been answered.

THE LAST GYSER.

A visit was made to the Depp well last evening. It is the one that made the panic. It is some three-quarters of a mile northwest of the Vandergrift gusher, on the A. B. Young farm, and is certainly a very good well. Striking an average between all the stories told and relying somewhat on visual inspection, the reporter concluded that the well was a good one—at least a 1,000-barrel

Mr. Depp stated that she had made 750 barrels between 10 o'clock A.
M. and 7 o'clock P. M., which would give a production of close to 2,000 barrels a day, but she wasn't putting out at that rate at the last-named hour. Mr. Depp also stated that she had made 125 barrels in the first 30 minutes after being opened, and this agreed with the report of a man named Grubbs, who said she had put 49 inches in the tank in 31 minutes.

An attempt was made to get information from representatives of the Fort Pitt company on the ground, but it was unsatisfactory, to say the least. They talked, it is true, but they talked an infinite deal of nothing, mainly in the style of riddles, and finally intimated that they might know more in a day or two-a fact which doesn't require much intellect to discover.

The well is undoubtedly a good one, and the man in charge of the pumping station seemed to think so, as he said they must run day and night to get the oil away, and the capacity of the line at the point is 3,000 barrels in 24 hours. As the bulk of the oil comes now from the Depp No. 2 and the Young well, their combined capacity would seem to be put at near that figure.

VARIOUS AXES TO GRIND.

The reticence of the operators may arise from various sources. They may want to lease more territory, and they are bears on this point, paying no more bonus than they can help. They may be bulls on the market, whether they are carrying certificates or otherwise, as they do not want to depress the price of their product. One operator interested in the well observed that oil would go up again this morning, the froth having blown off the well, and from the reports also.

As a quaint, old-time Englishman re-marked concerning the strawberry, God doubtless might have made a rougher piece of ground than the Depp farm, but doubtless God never did, and the assessors evidently think it poor agricultural property, as the assessment is only $30 an acre. A lover of vature might buy it for its picturesque appearance, but not for farming. It was a savorite stamping ground for the Indians, on account of their ability to see a long way down the Ohio from its crags. Not far from it Joel Ferree, a granduncle of 'Squire Ferree, was killed almost a century ago, when he went up on the hill above Fort Vance and shot a deer before breakfast. He got the deer, but before he could get it down to the fort a redskin sent a ball crashing through his brain and took his scalp.

A short distance above, on the opposite side of Montour run, is a cavern where Brady and his scouts once housed themselves when watching the motions of the Indians.

LAND OWNERS ARE CHARY. There is an extended effort to get leases in the neighborhood, but the lessees want to get them without paying any more bonus than possible, and most of the land holders are fully as firmly set the other way. Operators give taffy lavishly, but money as sparingly as possible. George A. Lashell yesterday leased ten acres of the McElherron farm, but reserved the rest of it.

The well which raised yesterday's commotion is an old one, having been struck some months ago. It was a fair producer, but latterly has been somewhat down at the heel, and it was decided to drill it a little further. The hole was made 12 to 15 feet deeper, when the fluid was liberated from a fresh pocket. There isn't as much gas as is met with in some gushers, but its expelling power is considerable—ample for the pur-pose. The actual probable continuing capacity of the well may not be known for some days. Mr. Depp yesterday afternoon stated that No. 1 was still making 500 barrels a week, but a representative of the Fort Pitt professed to discredit the statement. It began flowing early last fall and has certainly been a very profitable hole.

The landowners a year ago thought gas wells nice things to have around, but they elevate their noses at them now. There is a vast amount of speculation in the eves with which lessors and lessees glare at each

COOLING WITHOUT ICE.

An Apparatus With Marvelous Powers-A Way to Circumvent High-Priced Ice Dealers and Open Winters-Clay Made to Cool Liquids.

without the use of ice is the latest novelty in the inventive line, and the component materials are so cheap that the owners of the patent hope to make a good thing out of it. Dr. Eric Munk, the inventor, is a graduate of Oxford College, England, and has been experimenting with the subject of porous material, and recently discovered a chemical which renders ordinary potter's clay subservient to a process of natural evaporation. The three-gallon jar Dr. Munk exhibits is quite ordinary in appearance, and were it not surrounded by a "jacket" of zinc, perforated with small apertures with a space of an inch and a half for the circulation of air, it would not differ from the earthern jars of commerce. The ice water furnished by the ordinary cooler is of the temperature of 40 to 50 degrees, and the city water of the present time is at 65 to 70 degrees. In an experiment made yesterday, water at a temperature of 80 degrees was reduced to 45 degrees within an hour. The coolers can be made in any size, and at a cost far below the highly ornamental ice coolers now in use. The total saving of ice, especially in a season when ice is scarce and high priced, is regarded as an unanswerable argument in favor of the new apparatus.

Mr. J. Clark Williams, President of Curry University, has obtained control of the invention, and has formed a company with a capital of $200,000 to develop and manufacure the new cooler. The factory will be pressed to an early completion, in order to place the coolers on the market immediately. The principle is conceded to be very novel on account of its facility of application to ordinary materials in the usual method o

He has bee very thorough in his attention to his rural constituents. With the entire Federal ma-chine actively at work against Mr. Shiras, I don't think he can equal the showing made by Mr. Christy. What stock dealers call the calf season is now at its height. Last week 1,300 calves were consigned to the dealers here. The animals ranged in age from 10 days to weeks. On an average 1,500 are shipped to the stock yards every week. In his visit yesterday Agent Berryman found 400 in pens. Of these, he says, 200 at least were not more than 10 days old. They were neglected, and no effort was made to keep them from starving. Agent Berryman also saw that nine young lambs were fed. He claims they also were starving. The agent declares he will make informations against the owners for their neglect.

A VERY SORRY SPECTACLE.

Carnegie Free Library as It is Up to Date-A Utilitarian Suggestion.

A melancholy spectacle can be contem plated by the light of the incandescent lights in the Carnegie Library almost any night. Broad tables guiltless of any other literature than ancient newspapers, medical reports of the vintage of '70 and sundry stray almanacs stretch their unused length and tantalize the bookworm. A few boys were sitting at the tables last night yawning over the papers, and several bookish-looking young men were pacing the floor. A fire blazed in the huge fireplace, and in the dim light the face of Mr. Carnegie looked out over a literary desert. There were the lights, the chairs, the tables, the shelves, but where were the

BOTTLE BLOWERS ASK FOR 8 HOURS

A Lively Hustle for Window Glass Workers' Votes for Clarey.

YESTERDAY'S GRIST OF LABOR NEWS

The row between the Musical Mutual Protective U nion and the Knights of Labor over the engagement of the Great Western Band to play at the opening game of the old League Baseball Club, is getting warmer each, day. The latest is a challenge from the M. M. P. U. to settle the trouble by arbitration. If it is found the Great Western Band is in the right, the M. M. P. U. will withdraw from the field and not interfere with the band in the future. The following is a copy of the challenge written yesterday: I make the following proposition to L N. Ross, Master Workman of D. A. No. 8, who has been howling so much about the M. M. P. U., that the trouble between the Great Western Band and the M. M. P. U. be settled by an arbitrating committee of five; we to select two, Mr. Ross two, and the four to select the fifth man. If the committee sustains the Great Western Band I will cancel my engagement with Man-ager Hecker, of the Allegheny Baseball Club. Will meet Mr. Ross at the Register's office, at 4 o'clock P.M., April 12. Gus Kriel., For the M. M. P. U.

A SCHEME FOR THE FUTURE.

Master Workman Ross has a scheme to prevent such troubles in the future. He wants a conference of the different labor organizations, held once a month, for the purpose of talking over existing troubles, and devising means to work in harmony. He says if such a conference was held occasionally, the rank and file of the different organizations could properly understand matters better. Many false statements sent out about one organization could be properly squelched if the officers of each body come together. At a conference held in Philadelphia Colonel Bayne gives, however, some cold figures which would tend to discount some one union would not organize the expelled one union would not organize the expelled members of another union.

RESULT OF THE CONFERENCE. At the conference General Master Workman Powderly represented the Knights of Labor, and President Gompers was there for the Federation. As the M. M. P. U. is affiliated with the latter body, Mr. Gompers was their representative. In spite of the agreement made, the local assembly in which the members of the Great Western Band are enrolled numbers among its members all the expelled musicians from the M. M. P. Notwithstanding the protest made the Federation against organizing the Pitts-burg expelled musicians into the Knights of Labor, the general officers of the latter is-sued a charter for the Pittsburg men. This is what caused the first trouble between the M. M. P. U. and the Knights of Labor, and is following out the idea of Mr. Ross.

Master Workman Ross was seen last night by a DISPATCH reporter and when asked what he proposed to do about it, he said: "We will accept the challenge and I will be on hand to arrange the preliminaries with Mr. Kreil. We will show the committee that the Knights of Labor is right and the M. M. P. U. is wrong."

At Armstrong's cork works the old employes were raising cain on account of the works being thrown idle. The youngsters who struck were firm, and said they would not go back until paid the advance. As the plant depended partly upon the services of the boys it was necessary to close it down until the trouble was settled. One of the members of the firm said they would start up on Monday morning with a new force of boys. The firm advertised in THE DIS-PATCH for 100 boys, and had several hun-dred applications. They will have all the boys they need in time for the start on Monday morning.

TO BLOW ONLY EIGHT HOURS.

Bottle Blowers Will Recon Adopting the Short Day.

L. A. 6111, composed of Knights of Labor green bottle blowers, met last night in Labor Hall. The members discussed the eighthour law and its relation to their trade. The union is considering the advisability of recommending to the next annual convention the adoption of the eight-hour law.

At present the bottle blowers work by the piece, and the method proposed at last night's meeting is to continue on that system with the difference that no one shall work longer than eight hours each day. There is no limit to the production of each man, and he will be allowed to make as much as he can in that time. The Pittsburg men are taking the initial step, and it is the man. CALUMET LOCKOUT SETTLED.

Eight Hundred Men at the Rainey Plant to Go Out To-Day.

A telegram from Scottdale says the lockout at the Calumet Coke Works has been settled. Messrs. Ball and Pike, of the Knights of Labor Executive Board, officiated for the miners in a conference with Superintendent Raukin and a settlement was effected. The works made the usual run yesterday.

At the Knights of Labor convention action was taken in reference to the employes of Rainey's coke plant working, when that operator has repeatedly refused to sign the labor contract. A strike will be ordered at those works and about 800 men will be in-volved. A resolution was passed at the convention to force the men to quit work.

An Order for Steel Ralls Carnegie, Phipps & Co, have received the contract for several thousand tons of steel rails to be used rebuilding the Pittsburg,

A CHANGE DEMANDED

WORKING FOR CLAREY. The Fight for Presidency of L. A. 300 Waxing Exceedingly Warm. State and National Officials of the

The meeting of L. A. 300 last night was largely attended, owing to the interest in the election for President, which is daily increasing. It was stated at the meeting that the workmen at Ihmsen's glass house, at which Mr. Clarey was formerly employed had raised a fund to pay the expenses of a man to stump the preceptories in the interest of the plucky little candidate. Quite a handsome sum has been raised, and Harry M. Billiter, a blower at Wolfe, Howard & Co.'s, is now in the East performing his mission. Aside from this there is some tall hustling being done for Clarey.

The firm of Campbell, Cake & Co. is not making much noise at present, although one of Eberhart's supporters says he has $600 to bet that his man is the winner. It is ad-mitted that an open fight is being made against Clarey.
Several weak and unsuccessful attempts have been made to tell how ex-President Campbell got out of the office and Mr. Eberhart in. Here are the facts: Two weeks ago, the association instructed the Council to select a man to go to Washing-ton to lobby in the interest of the tariff bill prepared by the Ways and Means Committee. The Council decided that Mr. Campbell was the proper person to send. On last Satur-day while Mr. Campbell was in Alliance, O., he discovered that the work pertaining to the office of President, and that of the trip to Washington was too much for one man and he telegraphed to the Council Saturday, requesting them to select a man to either take charge of the office temporarily, or to go to Washington in his stead. He did not resign at all. Mr. Eberhart was placed in the office during Mr. Campbell's absence, because he had acted as assistant secretary last summer and is acquainted with the

The cigarmakers will meet in their hall at No. 101 Fifth avenue, and march to the other hall in a body. In his circular President Gompers advises this. has been an admirer of the present name, and for years opposed any change, believes it is necessary for the future benefit of the order in the West to make a change. Past State Councilor H. A. Keil says: "My service as a member of the Board of Officers of the State Council of Pennsylvania gave me the opportunity of learning what a serious obstacle in the way of the order's progress our present name is, and I hope it will be changed."

National Representative Harry R. Peck believes the interests of the order are seriously affected by the misleading terms, "Junior" and "Mechanic," and indorses the effort made to change it.

W. T. Kerr expresses himself as follows:
"I believe that the present name of our order is very misleading, and that it is a hindrance to the growth of our order in places where there is little but the name to explain our membership. Were we sailing under some other name, representing more accurately the membership of our order, the false impression that we are a labor organi-zation of juniors would not exist, nor be justifiable, as it now is."

ANOTHER ADVOCATE OF IT. National Representative J. G. A. Richter, of Ohio, also favors a change to something A. P. Burchfield; alternates, W. K. Jennings, Rev. G. W. Clinton and Thomas

Hon. E. S. Morrow urged the association to collect the Sunday school statistics of the county, as the figures published by the order. Why is it that an order with principles such as ours has existed for so long a time and made such slow progress? The general belief is that we have been doing excellently, but it is a mistake. have a membership four times as great, and the reason we have not is because of the misleading nature of our name. Many other representative members of the order express parallel opinions regarding the matter. It is singular that there should be a universal sentiment in favor of a change, and that nearly all who were viewed indorse the name of Order of United Americans.

AN EDITORIAL OPINION. Speaking of the matter editorially, The American will say that it "has already expressed its opinion on the matter, and repeats that it earnestly and warmly advocates a change, believing that the interests of the order demand it. Our opinion was not formed hastily, or without study and examination. We have advisedly assumed what may be considered an advanced or radical position, and are willing to maintain and defend it when the proper time comes. The question to be considered now, is whether the National Council will give the membership an opportunity of seals. eats that it earnestly and warmly advocate the plans for the new possible the plans for the new possible plans for the matter, of the finest and most completely equipped postoffice in the country, and that expense will not be considered in the matter, only the wants of the officials here. ONE CENTURY OF GREATNESS.

A Famons Old Road House Being Torn

Down. Yesterday workmen began tearing down the old house of Mrs. Mary McTighe at 498 and 500 Fifth avenue. The old building is to be replaced by two four-story flats, which will cost $20,000. The house being torn down is probably the oldest one in the city.

It has been standing for about 100 years, and in the early days of Pittsburg was known as the Fourth Street Road House, and was one of the famous hostelries of the city. When built it was a mile away from the nearest house, and was a favorite Sunday resort during the summer.

In those days the house was about eight feet above the road, but Fifth avenue has been filled so much since then that the front door was five feet below the pavement.

The First and Second Ward Politicians Training Heavy Political Artillery-Habley and Gregg in the Lend-Ballot Boxes to be Impounded.

Ex-Councilman James S. Bell, Mayor Wyman's choice for captain of the night watch, vice Captain Richard Wilson, will not don his uniform until a week from next Monday, owing to his inability to relinquish his railroad position at short notice. The resignations of James S. Bell and C.

H. Hartman, of the Second and First wards respectively, has caused a lively scramble for the vacant positions. Samuel D. Hubley, for the vacant positions. Samuel D. Hubley, of the Americus Club, is leading in the Second ward, with Robert Knox and Robert Baxter camping on his trail. In the First ward James M. Gregg, the Federal street hatter, is leading, with John G. Lehman, defeated candidate for fire chief, a lively second. Mr. Gregg has been in Councils before, which gives him an advantage, but Mr. Lehman is a vigorous autagonist. James McFarland is also an aspirant.

Mayor Wyman was saked last night when Mayor Wyman was asked last night when the election proclamation would be issued, and said that probably a week or ten days would be allowed to clapse in order to give the candidates time to move their pins. No primaries will be held, as the fight will probably narrow down to two candidates in couraged by the prospects. Mayor Wyman was absolutely besieged by candidates and their friends. The rule returnable to-day requiring Mayor Wyman to show cause why the ballot boxes used in the late election should not be impounded by the court pending the set-tlement of the Wyman-Stayton contest, will be argued at length. Should the boxes be taken to court, new boxes would have to be each ward. Mr. Hubley's brother was around City Hall last night and seemed en-

WILL SUMMER IN SCOTLAND. Mr. Carnegie Again Lenses Cluny Castle for the Heated Term. Mr. Andrew Carnegie has again leased Cluny Castle in Scotland, and will go abroad in June. He will remain abroad two or three months, and return with the European delegates to the International Convention of Iron and Steel Manufacturers, which is to meet in Pittsburg. A fund of $50,000 has been raised among Pittsburg firms for the proper entertainment of the With all these matters engaging Mr. Carnegie's active attention it is doubted whether he intends to devote much time to whether he intends to devote much time to library matters. Some of his Pittsburg intimates state that their opinion is that the cavalier treatment of his munificent plans by Councils will end only in one way—his complete abandonment of any ideas looking toward the betterment and embellishment of the city of Ptttsburg. His Gold Watch Was Lifted. A sneak thief yesterday relieved the house of James Getty, First avenue and Cherry alley, of a gold watch and a pair of valuable sleeve buttons. The watch was worth $250.
