IN EFFECT AT ONCE.

"The new rules will go into effect to-day, and under them everything that impedes or endangers the public on the public streets must go. Overhead signs, barrels, boxes or display cases on the sidewalks, wagons, lumber piles, bricks, refuse of any kind, castings, or anything that occupies what the public has a right to, must be removed. The rule will be imperative, and will apply to all streets, in all parts of the city, alike. Each officer will be held responsible, and is expected to report any such obstructions on his beat. The right of business men to occupy a reasonable part of the pave-ments, during certain hours of the day, while loading or unloading goods, will not be inter-fered with, but they will be held down to the loading or unionaling goods, will not be inter-fered with, but they will be held down to the rules provided for them in an ordinance passed several years ago. The piling of bricks or lum-ber on the streets by contractors or builders, when it is necessary in making improvements, will only be allowed when it is absolutely neces-sary, and all such cases will be reported by us to the Public Works Department. They will order the obstructions removed within a reas-onable time and if the order is not compiled with that department will remove the ob-struction at the owner's or contractor's expense. "Under this addition to our authority we will get after the offs and cabmen. There is an ordinance requiring all cabs to have a printed list of tariffs for hauling passengers hung up made the rehicles, where it will be plainly visible. Under this ordinance we will compel all cabs to be properly supplied with these lists, and will arrest the drivers not having them, We will also direct the cabmen what locations they shall occupy on the streets, and will exer-

We will also direct the cabined what locations they shall occupy on the streets, and will exer-cise a supervision over the cabs such as the ordinance authorizes. There are other things that we can do now that we could not before, and we expect to make the public safer than it has been when on the streets."

has been when on the streets." Mr. Brown said there was nothing else of im-portance discussed at the conference. The reason Chief Elliot was not present was. Mr. Brown said, because his department had nothing whatever to do with streets, and he had no special interest in the matter.

ESSENCE OF THE MEETING.

The meeting had, it is claimed, more significance than the regulation of wagons, street signs and other obstructions. The Mayor, it is said, called the attention of the chiefs to the wenty-first section of the city charter, showing that he had supervisory power over the various departments. He gave an instance or two in which the City Controller had transcended his power within the last year or two, and he cau-tioned the heads of the departments against a tioned the heads of the departments against a similar fault. The appointment and control of the park police was another subject taken under consid-eration, and were, under the opinion of the City Attorney, vested in the Chief of the De-partment of Public Safety. This with many other changes in the programme of the city povernment occupied the three hour' session, and was satisfactorily accounted for by the statement of some of those present that Mr. Excelose had power to order all signs, wagons and other obstructions from the streets, but that the police authorities must be invoked to enforce the order. In other words, the action of the meeting seemed to be to subordinate the Department of Public Works to that of Public Bafety.

Gratifying to All.

The high position attained and the universal acceptance and approval of the pleasant liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs, as the most excel-lent laxative known, illustrate the value of the qualities on which its success is based and are abundantly gratifying to the California Fig Syrup Company.
