The local Players' team won a great game from the Chicagos. Staley pitched in fine form and the team fielded well. There was a good attendance. Beckley did some big hitting. There is talk of reducing the price to the National League game.

There was a vast difference in the crowd at Exposition Park yesterday compared with Saturday's assemblage, and there was article, and, as a rule, that's what goes in the market, Whatever claim Mr. Comiskey and his people may have on the World's Fair, they certainly cannot get everything they want in the baseball business. They may dodge Congressmen and Senators, but they cannot on every occasion put it on the eye of Beckley and

It may be a difficult question to determine whether Beckley's hard thumping or Staley's good pitching won the game yesterday, but these features were certainly the stumbling ocks that made even Comedian Latham very weary. There were 1.551 people present, and the opinion was unanimous that Staley was in great form, and also that big Beckley had his eye on the hall. He just banged it out like a cannon ball and every time he went to bat the Chicago fielders looked as if they were in intense pain. Staley really did pitch an excellent game and if the stars of that city of wind and fairs have any remarkable batting qualities they were beyond command vesterday.

Not only did Staley do first rate but he was supported to the Queen's taste. No aggregation d field better than did the home beroes. "Little Willie," he of the light blue stockings from the land of the Kaiser and lager beer, was surrounded with a halo of glory during the entire game. Nothing that went Willie's way could escape his clutch and be picked up hot grounders with the alacrity of a tramp when picking up a beef sandwich that is not his own. Kuchne did well, indeed, and was cheered. And young Corcoran. Didn't he make a grand stop or two. In the eighth inning he stopped a grounder in a way that sent the cranks wild. All the team did well and they settled the fact that they can play first-class ball when they are in form. A GOOD SECOND.

The visitors were by no means seedy in their efforts. Although they were in the rear from start to finish they kept pegging away in a man nerthat kept the crowd on pins and needles notil the last man was out. They are as danger ous to fool with as one of the Chicago bombs, and they are liable to explode at any moment. Buildwin was not such a riddle to solve as was King. Pittsburgers have more confidence when Mark is in the box as he has invariably been a victim in this city. He was not hit often yesterday, but he was somewhat wild and his wildness generally occurred when a hard thump or two sent the ball beyond the reach of fielders. Latham, as usual, was full of fun and activity, but Staley was too much for Artis. Pfeffer, as he nearly always does, played an excellent game. Altorether the contest was an interesting one to see, and near the finish Staley was presented with a basket of handsome flowers. At the start Tommy Quinn was the recipient of an elegant gold-headed cane presented by a number of the little catchor's admirers. The umpires did fairly well, although the visitors kicked against several decisions. All the close decisions were given to the home team, and this may have been the cause of Latham standing on his head once or twice.

MAKING THE BUNS. ous to fool with as one of the Chicago bombs,

MAKING THE BUNS. The home players went first to bat, and the start was not very encouraging. Hanlon got his base on balls, and that was all right for the crowd. But Visner loomed up, and knocked a O'Neil particularly complained very strongly grounder to Baldwin, who threw Hanlen out at second, and Pfeffer completed a double play by throwing Visner out at first. This was exby throwing Visner out at first. This was exceedingly chilly for a start, but Carroll revived a little hope by getting to first on called balls. Beckley went to the plate with giant strides just as if he was determined to wipe out an injury. Just as a butcher would fell a bullock, Big Jake thumped the ball with his bat and the sphere went salling over Tip O'Neil's head in left field. Oh! the yells. The past was forgotten; buried in oblivion. Carroll scored and Beckley get comfortably to third. Baldwin's nerves were a little unstrung at that big swipe and he bit Fields with a pitched ball. Then came Willie Kuehne and he banged the ball along the ground toward Farrell, and Beckley scored. Robinson came next and got his base on balls, filling the bases. Oh' for another hit; but it aid not come as Corcoran struck out,

ANOTHER BIG HIT. The third inning came and another big hit the act. He led off the inning and after fooling with Mr. Baldwin a little, drew himself to gether and banged the ball clean over Duffy's head into deep center field. "A home run, sure," yelled several euthusiasts.

It was not a circuit hit, however, but very, very near it. Little Duffy's lively efforts prevented that devoutly wished for consummation. Beckley got to third again, however, and had he made a speech from that third bag demanding a monopoly of local street cable roads he could have had it, "Jocko" Fields sent Beckley home by a nice clean hit over second base, and then there were more cheers when Beckley scored. A passed ball sent Fields to second, but he remained there as the next three men went out in order.

In the fourth inning the visitors began to show their teeth. Comiskey led off with a show their teeth. Comiskey led off with a single to center field and Pfeffer sent him home by a good two-bagger into Hanlon's terri-sent Pfeffer to third. Bastian fouled out and Visner muffed Boyle's long fly to right. This enabled Pfeffer to score when the side should have been out. Baldwin, however, struck out have been out. Baldwin, however, struck out and the inning ended. In the fifth inning Carroll started off by getting his base on balls. Beckley knocked a long fly to O'Neil, who gathered it in. Fields' sacrifice sent Carroll to second and Kuebne's single sent the big catcher home. In the seventh inning Beckley led off and banged the ball high in the air nearly above the right foul line. Farrell made a despectate run for it and got the ball into his hands, but dropped it, and Beckley reached third base, and there were more cheers. Fields flew out to Pfeffer, and Kuehne's sacrifice sent Beckley home.

There was some excitement in the ninth inning, as at one stage it looked as if the visitors were going to do business. Farrell led off with a hit to left, and Bastian followed with another to center field. Staley was out for blood, however, and Boyle went out on a fly to Fields, and Baldwin and Latham each struck out, and the good contest was over. The score:

Mr. Barr, it will be remembered, went to England some time ago to play in the new baseball league there. His letter yesterday is of a very hopeful kind. Mr. Barr goes on to say that in his opinion the National Baseball League of Great Britain will be a success. Wherever games have been played, he says, the attendance has been good, and extremely enthusiastic. Any number of young Englishmen are desirous of learning the game. He arranged the first game, and it was played at Essex County Cricket Club grounds on Easter Monday. Mr. Barr played second base, and out of six times at bat had two singles, three doubles and a triple. He also accepted 10 out of 12 charces. He is also booked to take part in two amateur athletic meetings at the Essex grounds this simmer. He will in the 100-yard race, one mile walk and throwing the cricket bail. There was a lively ball game at Recreation Park between the local National League club and the Clevelands. The home players won in the last inning. Two pitchers were knocked out. Will Barr writes an interesting letter about baseball in England. There were several interesting National League

The local National League colts were again victorious yesterday at Recreation Park in a game with the Clevelands, although the game was far short of that of Saturday as far 1 as good playing was concerned. The crowd was not a large one, the turnstile only registering

> 537 people. The contest was lively, however, because both Schmitt and Parsons were marks for the batters. Sunday was again the first man to step up to the plate. This time he faced Parsons instead of Beatin, and Parsons looked decidedly wicked. Sunday struck hard, however, and the ball looked as if it was going over second. Cheers greeted Andrews' onehanded stop, and Sunday sat down. Paul Hines sent a swift grounder to second, which was fumbled by McKean, and the striker reached first without much difficulty, but was put out trying to steal second. Hemp drove a splendid three-bagger to center, but was left on his base by Dunlap, who in spite of a heroic dash, failed to reach first.

LA ROQUE FELL DOWN. For Cleveland McKean hit to short, La Roque felt of the ball and dropped it, and McKean, gaining confidence, attempted to steal second, when he was easily caught. Smalley was patient, and took his base on balls. Miller here gave the pitcher a few earnest words of advice, which did not apparently take root at once, for Daily also took his base on balls. Zimmer hit a neat fly fairly into Youngman's hands, and The second unning resulted in a blank for both sides, though it gave an opportunity for the exhibition of very pretty infielding by the home team. In the third inning Routcliffe was hit by a pitched ball, and was followed by Schmitt who sacrificed him to third from where he was brought home on Zimmer's wild throw to second. Sunday's out at first sent Schmitt to third, and he scored on Hines' single to center. Hemp fouled out. Dunlap got his base on balls, but was forced out by hiller's hit to McKean.

SHOOK THEMSELVES UP. The visitors shook themselves and woke up about this time. Smalley made a single and scored on Daily's triple to right. The latter Syracuse... 2 2.500 St. Louis.... crossed the plate on Zimmer's sacrifice. Youngman's fumble sent Davis to first and he scored on Veach's double. Veach was caught at third and Ardner flew out to Hines, ending the inning.

In the fifth inning Daily made a three-bagger and scored on Zimmer's sacrifice. Davis got first on La Roque's error. Veach flew out to Sunday and Davis stole second and scored on Ardner's single. Ardner scored on Sommer's single and errors by the home team. McKean's out from short to first retired the side. In the sixth inning Dunlap again made the first on called balls, took second on a wild pitch, but was caught at the plate trying to score on Miller's single. La Roque made a base hit and Miller and La Roque both scored on Zimmer's wild throw to third.

A BIG EFFORT. At the beginning of the seventh inning Pittsburg made a Napoleonic break for the lead. Hines singled to left, Hemp to right and Dunlap was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Miller drove the ball down close to the base line of the third, making a beautiful double and letting in Hines and Hemp. Miller and Dunlap scored on La Roque's drive to the left field fence for a two-bagger. La Roque scored on Routcliffe's single, making five runs and rattling the timber of the grand stand with cheers.

This woke up Cleveland and she began to make time again. In this inning Ardner's single, Youngman's fumble of Sommer's hit, Dunlap's fumble of Veach's drive, a sacrifice by Parsons and McKean's single gave them three runs. The seventh was indeed the inning of the game. Neither side scored in the sighth.

inning of the game. Reither side scored in the eighth.

The Pittsburgs practically won the game in the ninth. Duniap, with a perfectly grave face, for the third time took his base on balls. Miller struck a single, both scoring on Sowders' single to left. The score,

HOW WILL IT ALL END? Manager Hecker and His Veteran Second Baseman Express Themselves Freely.

Manager Hecker says that he doesn't believe that the competition will affect them materially after about a month. Regarding the proposed reduction of the price of admission to 26 cents, he says of course it rests with the League management. Philadelphia has had her prices down for a long time, and there is no reason why Pittsburg shouldn't do the same thing. "In whatever way it shall prove to be necessary," Mr. Hecker concluded, "you can depend upon one thing, namely, that we are going to play the ball that is played in Pittsburg, and furthermore, that we are going to have the crowds."

Pittsburg, and furthermore, that we are going to have the crowds."

In talking with Fred Dunlar, the veteran second baseman, a short while before the game yesterday, the writer found him very much digruntied by the course affairs had taken.

"What is it going to do?" said the redoubtable "Dunny," "Why, I'll tell you what it's going to do. It's going to ruin baseball; that's what it will do. The competition will bring down the prices of admission. There will no longer be any profit in the game, and then what will the players do, I'd like to know. The players are just as much interested in keeping baseball; profitable as the managers, and this thing is going to split the whole business right up the back. That's my opinion of it in a nutshell."

In the directors' room at Recreation Park yesterday the plan of reducing the fee to 25 cents was very freely discussed. The example of Philadelphia was cited with emphasis, and no voices were heard in dissent, the only question being as to whether the League management would consent to it or not.

A GOOD RULE. Association Umpires Given Power to Stor All Kicking of Players. LOUISVILLE, April 21.-The attention of the merican Association umpires has been called to the rules which prohibit captains and players of various clubs from disputing or questioning the decisions of the umpires. Umpires are directed not to allow players or captains from either of the contesting clubs to come from positions to arguby him.

The umpires will hereafter notify the captains of both clubs before play begins that this rule will strictly be enforced, and whenever any player or captain starts in his position to dispute or question any decision of the umpire he will be warned by the umpire not to come in, and if he insists in violating the rule he will be put out of the game. It is thought that this will prevent many disgraceful scenes on the ball field.

Lake, the Clippers' pitcher, was batted freely and was hadly supported. Markle pitched the first five innings for Canton and was succeeded by Coleman. Both were very effective. The score was 15 to 4 in favor of Canton. Eame teams play to-morrow and Wednesday.

BOTH the Cleveland teams are making a bad start. Had it not been for the split Cleveland would have had one good club to-day, and it will not have a good one this year.

FOUR three-base hits and three two-base hits on the change of pitchers made by both the League teams since Saturday's game. The presence of Sowders during the last of the game had a quieting effect.

Ing effect.

SCHMITT'S first League game was not altogether a picnic. He was pretty well hammered. But then Sunday told him when he brought him from Chicago that he would be, and so he shouldn't lose heart if he was.

In's not exactly a "Four Hundred," sarcastically observed Secretary Scandrett as his mind reverted to the SS present at yesterday's League game, "but (with emphasis) it's just as select and twice as good-looking."

WHEN Dunlap took his base for the third time on balls, he lifted up his right arm pathetically to Yeach, saying in his best April voice: "Lame arm. Don't want to hit the ball. 'Fraid of fracturing my humerus. See." Fred really has quite a lame arm, and there is a notable swelling above the elbow.

Parson Davies Talks About Jackson's Immediate Future-The Colored Mar May Return to Australia-Results of the Race Meetings.

CHICAGO, April 21,-Concerning a possible match between Joe McAuliffe and Peter Jackon, "Parson" Davies said to-day "No, there can be no such match here. It is impossible, as both men are under the control of the California people. Furthermore, Jackson is overdue now, and they are continually Sullivan match. I understand they have raised the amount required for the match, and that it will soon come off. If it is not consummated we will go to Australia and probably come back from England."

Joe McAuliffe came in this morning and Jackson will be in to-night.
