Committee No. 2 stated that McIver had the books of the union in his possession, and that he intended to keep them.

EIGHT HUNDRED MINERS STRIKE.

All Workers in Smithton District Propose t

Come Out This Morning.

"We will say what we have to say tomorrow," said Grand Master Wilkinson, yesterday afternoon, in speaking of the railway troubles. Taking everything into consideration Mr. Wilkinson's remark seems to indicate that to-day will decide whether there will be a strike, or whether the men will weaken and accept the propositions of the companies. Matters progressed yesterday about as rapidly as a snail goes to a funeral. It would be hard to find a parallel for the officials on both sides, when it comes to sizing up their knowledge of things. "I don't know a thing" was almost the universal expression with which the reporters were greeted everyat George 1. Herneks & Co.s. thenyers, called at this office last night and stated that the strike iuaugurated there some time ago had been settled, and that G. J. Foster, over whom the difficulty had originated, had been reinstated in the Tilelayers' Union. The same where they went. The railway officials, those who could be found, had evidently been to an ice cream supper the previous night, and the Federation officials must have frozen the cream for them.

WILL NOT ACCEPT THE TERMS. However, it was learned that the companies had answered the demands of the trainmen, and that the answers were the same as those made to the switchmen. They offer the day conductors 24 cents per hour, and night conductors 25; day brakemen 18 and night brakemen 19. The men will not accept the terms for the same reason that switchmen refused to accept them. They have added a new feature to their objections to the propositions made the companies. They object to being paid any figure per hour. They demand pay by the day and 25 cents per hour for overtime. If they accept a rate per hour they claim the companies will draw the line on them, and refuse to pay them for all the time that they are on duty and perform no work. Answers were received from the companies by 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The General Grievance Committee met and heard the reports of the committees. They considered the propositions made by the com-panies, but, although they were in session for two hours, they did nothing.

THE SUPERINTENDENTS CONFER. The superintendents had a conference in Superintendent Taylor's office in the afternoon, but "nothing was done." Mr. Pitcairn was seen after the usual two hours' wait. He refused to say whether or not the companies would make any further concessions, "We have submitted our propositions," he said, "and it remains for the men to say if they are ac-ceptable or not."

"But they have already said they would not accept them," suggested the reporter. "Have them," suggested the reporter. "Have they? Well that is their business." Mr. Pitcairn refused to say what, if anything, had been done by the superintendents. He also refused to say whether or not the demands of the repairmen, car cleaners and other yard comployees would be granted. "I have nothing to say," is all that Superintendent Turner could be induced to give as a reply to all questions. It was reported last night that the members of the Supreme Council will arrive in the city this merning and immediately go into execu-tive session with Messrs. Downey, Wilkinson and Glenn.

THE COMMITTEE NOT IN IT.

The local committee is apparently "not in it" any longer, the business being all left in the hands of the Federation officials. Nothing definite will be done until after the Supreme Conncil has made an attempt to effect a com-promise with the railway companies. When they take this step and make their final de-mands, it is hinted that something will drop

This lact before, and when he asked ton-gress to repeal the law authorizing the mak-ing of untaxed vaporized spirits for use in the manufacture of vinegar, he didn't know what kind of a sng he was going to strike.
The rinegar makers are mad, and are going to Washington in force to protest against the passage of the McKinley bill.
A committee of five, of which H. J. Heinz, of this city, is one, has been appointed for this purpose. Mr. Heinz is about the only vinegar manufacturer in Pittsburg who makes his own alcohol.
THEY MAKE THEIR OWN ALCOHOL.
Mr. Heinz was a busy man yesterdar, but this chief clerk explained the situation. Said he: "The point at issue is this: The present laws it is not taxed. The law has been alcohol by a peculiar process, and under the present laws it is not fiver paryose we ard and if it is used for any other purpose we are and if it is used for any other purpose we are and if it is used for any other purpose we are and if it is used for any other purpose we are and if it is used for any other purpose we are and if it is used for any other purpose we are and if it is used for any other purpose we are and if it is used for any other purpose we are and if it is used for any other purpose we are and if it is used for any other purpose we are and if it is used for any other purpose we are and if it is used for any other purpose we are and if it is used for any other purpose we are and if it is used for any other purpose we are and if it is used for the responsible for the McKinley bill. Max is and that is an inter incomponent in the factories.</li in existence about five years. This alcohol, however, is used only in the making of vinegar, and if it is used for any other purpose we are open to prosecution. We use considerable alcohol in making flavors, but we buy it. "I think the distillers are responsible for the McKinley bill. The alcohol used in vinegar has a very low strength, and for this reason it is not taxed. The distillers pay a tax, and they probably think the vinegar men should not be favored. Between New York and Chicago there are at least $2,000,000 invested in these alcohol factories. If the law is repealed these factories will be closed down, and the vinegar men will be forced to buy the alcohol as they did before. It wouldn't be legal to operate the factories.

it could not be granted. It is also stated that when the appraisers appointed to take cog-nizance of Mr. Nesbitt's application went to per-form their task they found the bar 15 feet under water and could not proceed until there was an abatement. Acting on this knowledge Gailey Bros. propose to build their derrick, engine house, etc., on a scaffold 15 feet above the surface of the bar, and it is suggested that ingenuity might devise a floating rig that could be anchored so as to rise and fall with the river. At the hearing before Judge Gripp Eitel failed to make a good impression, as he was rather relicent, and was remanded. Yesterday afternoon Inspector McAleese asked Eitel if he could play the cornet, thereby raising the presumption that it was his prop-erty. If he could, the Inspector promised to release him. Eitel at once called for his cornet and music, and the walls of the station house soon resounded with selections from operas, waltzes and popular melodies. "Restriction of output as a means to revive : depressed market is being systematically tried by the anthracite mine operators. The output agreed upon for April is 2,000,000 tons, which at the end of the month will show a decrease in the production for the first four months of the year of nearly 1,000,000 tons as compared with year of nearly 1,000,000 bins as compared with last year for the same time. If this ratio of decrease shall continue the entire year the total production will be about 32,000,000 tons as against 35,000,000 last year; but it will be 6,000, 000 tons less than the output of 1888, and about the same as in 1886. The increase was evidently the same for a wild where in addition that too rapid for a mild winter, in addition to the displacement of fuel by electric lights, natural gas and Ohio petroleum."

MAKING GAS FOR FUEL.

A Cheap Device Said to Be Capable Producing Gas From Coal Black.

Captain Charles Gearing, of this city, is said to have invented a device for manufacturing gas for fuel at a cost of 2 cents per 1,000 feet. It is understood the machine was tested in an establishment on Wood street, and it proved a
