The renders of my last communication will renember "Old Moon'ace" of the four old cronies. In it I said he would soon join the silent majority. Strange to say he died of hemorrhage the next day after the date of my letter. The three remaining ones still linger about the place, but for several days there has been a sadness come over the trio, and "Old Sunshine" has not essayed a jest of Old Sport or the Doctor. Quite the proper thing now since the bright, bracing days of spring have come, is to take a tally-ho jaunt to West Chester, 18 20 miles up Harlem road. There was a time when it was only the extremely wealthy citizen who could sport his coach and iourin-hand, but now the visitor to the city from out of town can enjoy such things for a very small fare. Every day at 10 o'clock there are several coaches with sparkling teams of horses, skillful drivers and windy buglers leave the Brunswick and whirl up the boulevard. There is generally a merry party on top of the tally ho, consisting of tair ladies and gallant men who have nothing else to do but to while time away in such manner. As a rule the interior of the coach is filled with a sumptuous collation of cold chicken, turkey, potted meats, together with a plentiful supply of Pam-mery or Mumm. At West Chester, after the drive is made, a very elegant clubhouse, owned by the tally-be company, is there to welcome the party, and anything you want in the way of comfort you may call for and be assured you won't be disappointed. The fad is

BECOMING VERY POPULAR

and is being patronized by many swell peo-ple, both in and out of town. For people in delicate health this drive cannot be too high-ly commended. It brings the rose to your cheek and the sparkle to your eye. I often wonder that Pittsburg East Enders or some others do not organize tally-ho parties to take occasional outings, say to Keating's, or perhaps a trip over the Brownsville road would be pleasant. It is going to be more popular than ever here this spring and sum

This week and next ends the season of many of the theatrical companies. Then you will see more shaven-faced historians on Broadway and down on the Rialto than at any time during the year. The season in many respects has not been a signal success. Some companies, of course, flourished, but I have noticed more good people who have held the country in pathetic charm, or have brought out the risible qualities of theater-goers all over, by their talents, walking idly about town with "open dates" to sell. Such is fame.

The usual quota of Pittsburg folk have made New York a visit very recently, many of whom I see most every day on Fifth ave-nue and Broadway. Among the more prominent ones I have noticed are: James Allison and wife, John G. Stephenson and Allison and wife, John G. Stephenson and wife, Miss Arbuthnot, S. S. Marvin and wife, C. H. Myers, Beaver Falls; Charles C. Bobington, New Brighton; Mrs. and Mrs. H. C. Bughman and their daughter Miss Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dil-worth, C. C. Areusberg, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Bissell, Miss Bissell, James J. O'Donnell, Mrs. M. C. Bogers, Miss Bogers, Thomas Dugan, H. C. Fry, Miss E. G. Fry, and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Wood. Miss Brown, Miss Childs, of Pittaburg, and Miss Brown, Miss Childs, of Pittsburg, and Miss Dick, of Meadville, made up a very charm-ing trio to be seen shopping on the sunny days. ## A Word About Catarrh.

"It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful W. semifluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh $3 SHOE CENTLEMEN. makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the Fine Calf, Heavy Laced Grain and Creed-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammeling the power of speech destroying the facuity of smell, taini-ing the breath, and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the mem-branous lining and envelops the bones, earling through the delicate coats and causing inflam-mation, slonging and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient, and all alleviatives are simply pro-crastinated sufferings, leading to a fatal term-ination.
