Fields struck out and Kuehne knocked a grounder to Stricker. who threw the ball wildly to the plate, al-lowing Carroll to score. Corcoran's single sent Beckley home. Four more unearned runs were made in the fourth inning. Rob-inson got his base on balls, and Maul made a single to left. Hanlon forced Robinson out at third and Tebeau's wild throw allowed Maul to escape and score. Carroll flew out and Beckley's two-bagger sent in Hanlon and Visner. Fields' single sent Beckley home.

RUEHNE'S GOOD HIT.

In the fifth inning Kuchne led off with : double to center, and scored an earned run on Corcoran's single. A base on balls and errors sent in two more runs. In the eighth and ninth innings wretched errors, two wild pitches and a base on balls, combined with a two-bagger and a single, netted four run

The visitors began like demons. After Stricker was out, Delehanty hit a single to left, and the venerable Pete Browning struck out. With two men out Twitchell bauged ont a two-bagger to left field and Delehanty scored. Tebeau made a single and Delehanty scored. Then Larkin made another two-bagger and Tebeau scored. Errors by Maul were responsible for the next two runs. Two singles and a sacrifice earned another run in the third. In the fifth Brennan retired, having sprained his ankle. Tebeau's base on balls, Larkin's sacrifice, singles by McAleer and Gruber and a double by Sutcliffe netted three more runs. In the sixth a base on balls, a passed ball and a sacrifice by Tebeau allowed Pete Browning to score. During the game both sides kicked considerably at the umpires' decisions. The score:

Here the mother, William and his wife were found to be unanimous in their confidence in the "doc-tor's" predictions. William said he paid the doctor $1 for the information he had ob-tained. Later it was decided to ask the assistance of Chief of Detectives Woods in discovering Harriet's whereabouts. Desiring to learn Groppe's power, a re-porter was yesterday detailed to visit him with a "fake" story. It was high noon when the little two-story brick house at 1106 Fairmount avenue was reached. The object of the visit was then made known. The visitor had a brother who in 1876, at the close of the Centennial Exhibi-tion, left Philadelphia with $2,000 in his pocket to engage in business at St. Joe, Mo. Since that time this mythical brother had not been heard from. Could the "doc-tor" give any information as to his wherea-

Was he still alive or dead? The "doctor" listened to this short recital of the disappearance of the beloved brother, and then asked bis visitor to call in Monday, as he had denied audiences that morning already to a half dozen would-be lookers into the future, owing to the severe strain on his brain. The visitor then told him that he was a cigarmaker by trade and had been laid off for a couple of days, but would have to return to his bench Monday. Visions of the fee finally decided the "doctor" to undergo the mental strain. When he had reached this conclusion he arose and darkened the room, then took a sent at a small table on which rested a slate. On this he made a number of illegible characters, then proceeded to put himself in a state of trance. To accomplish this he went through the most inconceivable mummery imaginable. He threw himself back in his chair, then placing a thumb over either eye, with his disengaged fingers he rapidly rubbed his head, as if to incite friction. TEACHING THE GIRLS.

The Curse of America is That Women Expect to be Taken Care of.

In answer to a mother who writes to know what she shall teach her daughters, Rev. T. De Witt Talmage says in the Ladies' Home

Journal: This one important and tremendous fact, my sister: That there is no happiness in this world for an idle woman. It may be with hand, it may be with brain, it may be with foot; but work she must, or be wretched forever. The curse of our American society is that our young women are taught that the first, second, third, jourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, tenth, fiftieth, thou-sandth, thing in their life is to get somebody to take care of them. Instead of that, the first lesson should be how they may take care of themselves. Madame de Stael said: "It is not these writings that I am proud of, but the fact that I have facility in ten occupations, in any one of which I could make a liveli-

Where the Most Costly Gems in the World are Owned and Their Value.

The largest perfect diamond in the world is now the Imperial, that was exhibited at the Paris Exposition last year, and which is valued at $1,000,000. This is the most valuable stone in the world, and is owned by a syndicate. The biggest and best ruby in existence is owned in London, and is valued at $50,000. It is related that the Duchess of Edinburgh carried it all the way to St. Petersburg for the Czar to have a look at it. The finest private collection of pearls in the world is owned by Madame Dosne, sister-in-law of M. Thiers. The biggest emerald in the world weighs 2,980 carats, and is in the Imperial Jewel Office, in Vienna. The largest and costliest cat's-eye in the world is owned by a Moorman, of Ceylon, who dug it up himself from the mines. He has been offered as high as $90,000 for it, but declines to part with it at that figure, saying that, if he liked, he could cut it up into 40 small pieces, and sell each piece for about $5,000, aggregating pretty nearly $200,000.

"IT HAS BEEN A BLESSING TO ME."

Is the manner in which Mrs. M. A. Peeler, an estimable lady of Morgantown, N. C., expresses her appreciation of Swift's Specific. The following is an extract from her letter :

Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) has been a blessing to me.
