License Court Completes Its Work According to Schedule.

THE LAST LIST TO COME TO-DAY. Another Batch of Wholesalers Gets the

Papers So Much Coveted. BREWERS AT LAST ALLOWED TO BOTTLE

Sighs of relief escaped from both Judge | given for publication to-day. Ewing and Judge Magee yesterday afternoon. Judge Magee locked his fingers behind his head, drew in a good breath and smiled at Clerk Long. Judge Ewing sat back in his easy chair, gazed at the handsome ceiling, and looked really happy. The License Court grind was over. The court had sat for 31 days. Yesterday forenoon the last applicants for wholesate licenses were heard. James and George W. Watson, of Coultersville, applied from South Versailles township. Both have kept saloons. Leech now has a grocery store and Watson a barber shop. Louis Feick, of Snowden township, has a license. Witnesses testified that he allowed drinking on his premises, and sold to topers. A remonstance had been filed against Feick, but it could not be found. William Murdock, who has the "Twelve Mile House," applied from the same township.

Scott township presented two applicants from Glendale, Sampson Peacock, an exsaloon keeper whose record was faulty, and Thomas McQuaide, son-in-law to Mrs. Flood, who has been keeping a speak-easy. In Shaler there were three. The C. Bauerlein Brewing Company is all right. Fred Ohlinger, an ex-saloonist, has not accurately located his house. John Weithaus has been attending bar for his father, at the European Hotel, near the Union depot.

HAD CONSIDERABLE CHEEK. township, but Attorney George P. Murray withdrew the application of William Der. He was after retail. Joseph Sims kept a saloon for several years before he was naturalized, and has been convicted of selling to minors. Judge Ewing told him that he had a good deal of cheek to apply for his place, which is a sort of depot where beer for the neighborhood is unleaded. In Union township David Aitken is the non-in-law of Stevens, a retail applicant, and William Eltringham is a miner who used to keep a saloon.

The last applicants were William J. Tomer, M. D. Peterman and Joseph K. Bock, who propose, under the name of Tomer, Peterman & Co., to operate a distillery at Turtle Creek. That n prohibitory district, and Judge Ewing said that he doubted whether the court could grant a distillers' license there. He was certain that they could not sell whisky there. They would have to ship it elsewhere for sale, and he thought they should apply for a wholesale license at the place where they expected to sell. Attorney J. J. Miller said that he knew that the applicants could not sell at Turtle Creek, but they desired a license merely for protection for their distilling

Fritz Schumiller, a bottler of the Thirtysixth ward, who had been sick, was heard. Judge Ewing then said:

"We believe that four-fifths of the wholesalers have been violating the law. It is illegal to solicit orders at houses and stores and receive pay at the place where the goods are delivered. That makes a sale there, hile under the law, the sale can only b made at the nouse which is liceused. Wholesalers and nottlers must be careful during the coming year to conduct their sales only at their licensed house."

BREWERS CAN BOTTLE.

Court took a recess for one hour, and at the reassembling the question of granting bottling licenses to brewers and wholesalers was taken up. William S. Pier spoke for all the applicants and their attorneys. He oted the fifteenth section of the act of 1872, which provides that persons engaged in bottling eider, ale, porter and beer, and not otherwise engaged in the liquor business, were not required to take out a license. He held that the interence was that bottlers who were otherwise engaged in the honor business were required to take out a license. After a long argument on the various liquor laws, and many questions by the judges, Judge Ewing said that, while the point was a doubtful one, he would decide it in favor of the applicants and the revenue, and

Walter Lyon, representing the C. Bauerlem Brewing Company, spoke to the queslicensed to bottle, and secured a similar de-

In the Verona case, Attorney Yost argued that the borough was prohibitory because it was cut out of Penn township, which had been made prohibitory by act of Assembly. He read a number of decisions bearing, some totimately and some remotely, on the question. An able argument, with citations was made on the other side by Attorney John M. Hunter, who lives at Verona. Both sides presented written briefs, and the court took the case under advisement.

HOW IT WAS MADE. The borough of Verona was incorporated in 1871, being cut out, in about equal parts, from Penn and Plum townships. A year nervousness and general debility. I had ago the borough was divided, that part originally in Plum being organized in Oakmont borough and the cut out of Penn retaining the old name, Verona. It appears that Pixm creek was the dividing line, or seven miles from the river, between Pium I could see and feel that my health was returnand Penn townships, but some years ago a which 11 acres which had been in Plum was brought over into the Penn side of the creek. So it seems that all of Verona was not originally in Pena township. The governed by the laws applying to the borough of Birmingham, which had no pro-

John Thier, an applicant for a wholesale license at No. 228 Fifth avenue, who was held over, was called to the bar. When his application was heard the upper part of his house was occupied by Susie Parker. A few days ago Thier filed an affidavit that she had Yesterday she filed an affidavit that she had removed only temporarily, and that she had an agreement with Thier to redenied the statements of the affidavit, and was supported by Robert T. McGeagh, the owner of the property, who declared that he had lessed the whole house to Thier.

DONE TO FOOL THE COURT. Their story was flatly denied by Frank Culbert and his friend, Susie Parker, who said that McGeagh told them that he wished them to move out only for a few days, to fool the Court. Culbert cut an opening in the wall, and moved the goods through that into the adjoining building. Since then he had moved back the furniture of two of the five rooms. Susie said that Thier told her that she could remain; that he would as soon have her upstairs as anybody else.

Judge Ewing asked Thier if he did not know what sort of a house that was when he rented it. Thier said that he did not. "Oh, no; of course you didn't," said Judge Ewing. "How old are you?"

"No, Your Honor, I did not."
"Now, now; you can't tell the boys that."

Ex-Governor Foster Sure the Republicans Will Soon Redeem It.

THE DEMOCRATS ARE TOO GREEDY To Long Remain in Control of the Great

Buckeye State. CAMPBELL'S ELECTION AN ACCIDENT

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.) NEW YORK, April 29 .- "Ohio is all right, and will go Republican next fall by a majority that will surprise the Democrats," said ex-Governor Charles Foster today at the Fifth Avenue Hotel to a DIS-PATCH reporter. The ex-Governor has not gone out of active politics, and his friends expect to see him elected to the United States Senate yet from the Buckeye State. The Republicans in the Legislature voted for him for the Senate when Mr. Brice was

"Why do you think Ohio will go Republican in the fall?" asked the reporter. "The Republicans in the State intend to get together. Harmony is the word, and I believe that when the next election occurs all the Republicans will be united and present a solid front to the enemy. Why, does any one for a moment suppose that we intend to sit down, hold our hands and say: 'Ohio is Democratic?' We are not made of such stuff. The Republicans elected all the State officers except the Governor. It was merely an accident that Governor Campbell was elected. Accidents will happen in the best regulated political families. I confess honestly that I thought Governor Foraker would be elected and the result was a great surprise. But what surprised me to the point of amazement was the election of a Democratic majority to the Legislature. LOOKING OUT FOR THE FUTURE. "Our programme is not to grieve over spilt milk, but to go ahead and prevent a

"What are the Democrats doing? It may be that they are trying to get together also."
"The Democrats are ruining their chances of winning again in the future by the way they are legislating men out of office and putting in Democrats. If a Republican official holds an office that is elective, the Democrats legislate him out and in goes a Simon-pure Democrat. Well, such action simply disgusts all fair-minded citizens. It is too open, too flagrant an abuse of legislative power, and the people will not stand it. Another outrage is the redistricting of Congessional districts. I never saw districts so cut up and twisted in order to give a Democratic majority. Democrats who are not biased lough at and condemn the way the State has been redistricted. It is impossible to tell how far they have gone without look ing at a map of the State, and comparing the old Congressional with the new districts. Of course the gerrymander is intended to give nearly all the Congressmen from the State to the Democrats, but I think there will be disappointment when the election comes. It is so patent and so un-American I believe the people will rally and vote for the Republican candidates.

THE LAST TIME. "Even if the Democrats succeed in getting a majority of the Congressmen, it will be the last time. The conditions and circumstances that existed to give a majority in the Legis-iature to the Democrats will never exist again. I confess, though, that the Repub-licans, who are thinking people, are more apt to divide on great questions than the Democrats. But we are together now on all great questions, and I firmly believe we will remain united." "Do you predict success generally for the Republican party?"

"As to national politics I always wait until the campaign begins before I look into the horsessment, the form of the lower than the lower th the horoscope of the future. I do not think the Republican party has lost any strength. Its coherence is as great as ever. As a party it is banded together by principles that elevate and educate. The Democratic party has only one aim, one reason for existence, and that is spoils. When it gets in power the quarrel for a division begins and it ends in the defeat of the party. I am no prophet but the Republican party has not weakened enough yet to cease gaining victories." What Camp Says.

Fort Scott (Kan.) Monitor.1 While talking with D. A. Camp, the popular bookkeeper at Page's Implement House, the subject of cough medicines was brought up. Says Camp: There is one to which I feel deeply indebted. It has given relief time and time again to my wife and children. In fact, I feel under the greatest obligations to Prichard Bros., druggists, for persuading me to buy a bottle of Chamber-lain's Cough Remedy. I would not be without a bottle of it in the house or twice its cost. In regard to all throat complaints of children and for colds at is unsurpassed. Cured by Cuticura

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it meurable. It had diminished about one-third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of doliars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICUM REMEDIES, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and to-day, and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen. S. G. oc28- 2m WFSu ANOTHER GREAT SUFFERER Cured by the Catarrh Special-

The above is a portrait of Mrs. Elizabeth Bratt, who lives at Verner Station. The catarrhal secretion that formed in her head and dropped down into her throat, caused a severe ulceration to set in. Her mouth throat and tongue became so sore, that she could not chew her food, and was compelled to eat only soft foods. She would often have sharp pains in her face, and a drink of cold water would cause the most intense pain. As some of the catarrhal poison extended to her lungs, she coughed badly, her breath became short and she felt much pain and soreness in her lungs. She had a constant weak, tired feeling, and she often felt so nervous that her whole body would be in a tremble. The food she ate would sour on her stomach, and she feit a full, distressed feeling after eating. Her hears would often palpi tate as if it would jump out of her body. She had much pain across the small of her back and lower part of her body. Exposure to cold air would cause her to take cold, and often for a month at a time she would not dare to step a month at a time she would not dare to step outside the door. Although doctoring all of the time she gradually grew worse. She lost much flesh, until she only weighed 98 pounds. It was while in this condition that she began treatment with the physicians of the Catarrh and Dyspepsia Institute, at 223 Penn avenue, and became cured. She says: "My disease was of 12 years' standing, and my condition was much worse than has been described. I now feel well and strong, as I did when I was a girl, I have regained my flesh and am very glad to testify to my cure, as above stated by these specialists. Signed with my own hand.
