Severe Opinion on the Refusal of a Township Applicant.

JUDGE EWING OFF FOR A VACATION

This morning 228 new saloons will open their doors in the city of Pittsburg. Of the 93 who have held licenses during the part year, 11 have fallen by the wayside, two on account of the death of the proprietors between the time of filing applications and the day of hearing. These two were Hugh Foster, of the Tenth ward, and Terence Murphy, of the Twenty-eighth ward. Applications were made to have their widows substituted, but the Court refused to do so. holding that the law did not warrant it. Of the nine licensed saloonkeepers who closed their doors at midnight, four were in the First ward, John K. Durr, George S. Fallon, Patrick McDonough and John Nee. P. C. Duffy and George C. Pitfield were refused in the Fifth ward, John N. Farmerie and Frank Klein in the Ninth, Schusler & Pool in the Ninteenth.

The First ward has 11 new saloons, the Second 12, the Third 14, the Fourth and Fifth A each The total number of saloons in the First, Second, Third, Fourth and Ninth wards, the down town wards, is 98, more than there were in the whole city during the 12 months just closed.

A DAY OF ACTIVITY.

Yesterday was a day of great activity about the new places. Nearly all are ready for patronage this morning. There are, however, a few exceptions. The greatest liveliness was observed on the Diamond, around the market. That place is almost wholly given over to saloons and wholesale liquor stores. The Diamond was thronged with wagons, from which men were unloading barrels of liquor, kegs of beer, bar fixtures

The house at the corner of Market street and the Diamond, Nos. 1 and 2 on the Diamond square, is occupied by Joseph Fleming & Co., wholesale dealers in liquor. Next door is Goettman's restaurant, No. 3 entering the dining room and No. 4 being the new bar. Yesterday the cellar was filled with barrels of spirituous and malt liquors. Next door, No. 5, is the wholesale liquor house of E. Klinordlinger. Turning the corner along the east side, No. 7 is occupied by the wholesale liquor store of Otto Frey, and No. 10 by the store of Frank Bonistalli. No. 11 is Fred Speier's new saloon. The barroom is rather small. No. 12, on the corner of Diamond street, is the wholesale liquor house of Otto Schmitt, No. 17 is occupied by the restaurant and new saloon of George Dimling, the "Mar-ket Exchange." The barroom was in order yesterday. Its decorations and appoint-ments are eall first-class, and doorway and window are all decorated with plants and evergreens. The second door north, on Master's alley, is John Eichleay's Black Bear saloon, and the second door from that is Billy Wright's bar, both old places. OLD PLACES BRIGHT AGAIN.

In a small house at No. 7 Union street is Villiam H. Jacob's saloon, which is all painted and ready for business. A few doors south is Johnny Stroups' biz and splendid harroom, at No. 25 Diamond square. No. 26 is Roth's restaurant, a celebrated saloon held by Edwin W. Porter. 28 is the Hotel Heck, where Harry Heck has retailed liquor for several years. Across the street, Nos. 29 and 30, are the storerooms of the Philip Hamburger Company, a large liquor house. Nos. 31, 32 and 33 are occupied by Boley's Hotel. The bar, which has been closed for a year, is at No. 31. It has been remodeled and decorated. No. 34 is the new saloon and restaurant of Frank D, Larkin, a younger brother to the recent Democratic postmaster. John Heck applied for a license at the same number, but withdrew while the court was joined forces, as Mr. Heck was about the place yesterday assisting in the work of fixing up. The bar is a pretty, commodious room. In the rear is a very large and light dining room, three steps higher than the A hallway reaches this room so that it will not be necessary to pass through At right angles to Larkin's place, No. 35

Diamond, is the entrance to the saloon of Peter Kolbecker. The bar is long, wide and high, and bright with new paint and wall paper. The bar counter is high and long. This completes the list of the 18 liquor stores immediately around the market. THREE IN A ROW.

Another place where there will be a big increase in drinking facilities is the block of Diamond street between Wood and Smithfield streets. Bihlman's sons have had the only saloon there during the past year. Now there are three in a row on the opposite side of the street, Bardele Gallisaith, the old soldier, at No. 48 Diamond; Wolfgang Mil-ler's "Zur Blauen Donau," "On the Blue Danube," at No. 50, and Michael Frey, at Nos. 60 and 62. As no extra licenses were granted on Fifth avenue from its lower end to Smithfield street, the court probably intended to divert some of the saloon business from that retail thoroughfare to Diamond

The thirsty denizens of the Point are in a hard way. Fallon and McDonough on Penn avenue, near Water street, and John Nee, two blocks further up on Penn, are al closed. They sold 10-cent whisky, and it is reported that Martin Logan, the old gentleman who will succeed them at the corner of Penn and Water, intends to charge 15 cents for a drink. This is a sad blow, and is causing a flurry of gossip in the Schenley settle-ment about the Old Fort. The scalps of Nec, Fallon, McDonough, Delaney, Hazel, Cavanaugh and others are carefully hung up to dry in Alderman Cassidy's rear room. rather reticent, but said both his parents

EIGHTEEN ON SMITHFIELD STREET. During the past year there were seven saloons on Smithfield street from one end to the other. To-day there are 18. In the Fifth ward Duffy and Pitfield closed at midnight, The testimony in court showed that places were frequented by the roughest class of men. These people are bound to go somewhere, and the men who get Duffy's and Pittield's trade will probably have a hard time a year hange. Dury, at the corner of Market street and Fourth avenue, was knocked out because his corper was said to be a resort for loafers and his bar was frequented by toughs and topers. These people will now drift to some other point, and will most likely flock around Charlie Stevens' new place, at the corner of Market and Second. Charlie declares that he will not tolerate them, but he will have a big job on his hands. He reopens Tom Godfrey's old stand. Tom was refused a license a year ago, but it is alleged that he failed to retire from the liquor business on May 1. He kept his place open for several months, but when he learned that an information had been duly drawn up charging him with the selling of whisky on Sunday, it is said, he found it convenient to take a trip to another State. In some way the affair has been settled. It is common talk in the First ward that the settlement cost Godfrey $1,100. At any rate, he returned to the city about a fortnight since, and has been very active in a quiet way. THEIR OCCUPATION GONE. Several police officers will be thrown out registered at the Duquesne.

of employment by the action of the court in refusing to license saloons where they were engaged to prevent disorder. Inspector Mc-Aleese says he had received no applications for special officers from the proprietors of newly-licensed saloons, and does not expect any, because the increased number of sa-loons will divide up the business and pre-loons will divide up the business and prevent overcrowding and disorder.

Attorneys say that appeals to the Supreme Court will be taken in a number of the wholesale cases. Most of the men rejected showed themselves unworthy of licenses, under the law, having been guilty of frequent violations of law as saloon keepers. This year each case will have to be appealed separately. There can be no omnibus bill, as one year ago. Judge Magee is ready to furnish the record for an appeal wherever one is wanted. Tomer, Peterman & Co., who have built a distillery at Turtle Creek, and the wholesale applicants from Verona and the wholesale applicants from Verona are among those who will appeal. The Judges evidently decided not to allow John I. Snyder, of Forward township, any chance to appeal his case. In refusing him a li-cense the following written statement was

A ROAST ON SNYDER.

"The location is in a rural district, devoid The location is in a fair district, devoid of police protection. It is, moreover, one of 10 to 15 houses at the end of the bridge across the Monongahela river from Monongahela City, in Washington county, which, with the adjoining township in the same county and Jefferson and Elizabeth townships in Allegheny county, and all the same county and same county and same county. are prohibitory districts. The absence of police protection or intervention and the granting of license without restriction has made the locality noted in the criminal courts as one of the worst in Western Pennsylvania, outrages and crimes, arising from sylvania, outrages and crimes, arising from the sale of liquor without regard to age or condition, being of 'requent occurrence. Prior and up to May, 1888, the appli-cant was one of several keepers of low, disreputable, disorderly saloons in close proximity. In 1888 all applications for license were refused, including the ap-plication of Mr. Snyder. On the hearing in 1889 the Judge presiding, deemed him entirely unfit to receive a license. But after decision of the Pollard case from this county it was craimed and conceded (we now think erroneously), that under the de-cision of the Supreme Court the court below had no discretion, but was bound to grant every application for a wholesale license, unless a formal remonstrance had been filed, and Mr. Snyder's license, which had been refused, was marked 'granted.' '

The rest of the opinion relates solely to Mr. Snyder's application. It declares the place unfit for a wholesale license, says no one who wanted to conduct a decent business would ask for a wholesale license there, asserts that Snyder has maintained a nuisance without regard to the rights of others or the proprieties of life, and con-cludes by stating that, instead of being a man of good, he is of bad, moral character. LONNY LONG KEPT BUSY.

Yesterday was an extremely busy day in the offices of the Clerk of Courts and the County Treasurer. Applicants who were on the lucky lists, in many cases accompanied by their attorneys crowded the offices. Judge Magee spent the day in the Clerk's inner room, examining saloon bonds, and he was surrounded by lawyers every minute of the time. The licenses were taken out as rapidly as the urbane Leon Long could fill the blanks with specimens of his Spencerian the blanks with specimens of his Spencerian chirography. The rejecting of a good many of the bonds caused the applicants to hustle after new ones. All retail and wholesale licenses in Pittsburg and Allegheny have now been paid for. Judge Magee will continue his examination of bonds to-day.

Judge Ewing left last night for Philadelphia and Atlantic City, to recuperate on salt sea air. The Judge, before leaving, said he was glad to get away, and he was prepared to brain to get away, and he was prepared to brain the first man in Philadelphia who broached the subject of license to him. He will return to the city Saturday a week. While he was glad his siege was over, and he much prefers always to be relieved, still he was not quite ready to indorse the plan of turning the granting of licenses over to a commission. The Judge referred to Huckenstein's case, which was held, as he said, for certain irregularities, and he remarked significantly that his friends did not press him for a decision.

GOING INTO EFFECT MAY 5.

East-Bound Iron Rates Have Been Reduced About 20 Per Cent. The Pittsburg Committee of Freight Agents met at the Lake Shore office yesterday and reduced the east-bound iron rates. The reduction will average nearly 20 per cent, and will go into effect Monday, May 5. It was done because a similar reduction Larkin and Heck seem to have had been made west, and rates are always equalized in the Trunk line and Central Traffic Associations territory. The iron business is depressed at present, and the railroads realize this. Navigation also had much to do in accomplishing the cut.

The new rates to New York will be in less than car and car lots 18 and 15 cents; Bos ton, 21 and 18; Philadelphia, 16 and 13; Bal-timore and Washington, 15 and 12; Albany, 18 and 15; Utica, 18 and 15; Syracuse, 15 and 13; Rochester, 12 and 11; Burlington, 26¼ and 22½; Portland, 24¼ and 21½.

Switchmen Ordered to Accept the Companies' Proposition.

THE MEN GET A RAISE ANYWAY.

Three Hundred Tinners Strike for an Increase in Wages.

AXMAKERS PLEASED BY THE TRUST

The controversy between the railway companies and their employes, which has been n progress for more than two weeks, was settled last evening by the Supreme Council of the Federation accepting the propositions of the companies. The council was in session all day hearing the reports of the committee which had waited on the officials of the Pennsylvania Company. This committee had met the Executive Board of the company, and went over the figures offered the men. They agreed that the wages offered the conductors were acceptable, but the men asked that the wages offered the brakemen be increased from $2 16 and $2 28 to $2 40 and $2 52 for day and night work respect-

These rates were considered by the board and they notified the men that the original proposition contained all the cone they could make. This decision was reported back to the supreme council.

A CRITICAL MOMENT. It remained for that body to decide what should be done by the switchmen. The council took every possible result of such a move into consideration. Business would be hurt. The shipping interests would be interfered with. Hundreds of men would be thrown idle, and the repetition of such times as were experienced in 1877 would be made possible. When the vote was taken the company's proposition was unanimously ratified.

President Sergeant said last night: "You can simply say that the propositions of the companies have been accepted, and there will be no strike—not even any excitement. But I will say that if it had not been for the supreme council your roads would have been tied up long ago."

A GENERAL MEETING TO-NIGHT. Mr. Sergeant will leave the city this norning, but the other members of the council will remain over to-night to attend a general meeting of railway employes to be held at No. 101 Fifth avenue. The members of the council will explain to the men why the terms were accepted, and as Mr. Sergeant put it, "give them some good advice."

The wages secured by the men is a considerable advance over their former pay.

They have secured an increase of from 12 to 0 cents a day. The decision of the supreme council was reached too late to see any of the railway officials, but it is likely that the new rates will go into effect to-day, as some of the roads had already notified their men to that effect.

> It is not the work of writing a deed which lawyers complain, for that is a small matter—merely the filling out of blanks—but nearly all of the members of the profession are getting tired of perpetuating a custom that grew originally out of the greed of conveyancers. At one time in England conveyancing was a separate department of law, and the seriveners were paid by the word or line for their work. Nowadays, however, lawyers charge a fixed fee, and get as much for filling out a ten-line instrument as they do for one of 1,000 lines. In some of the Western States an en-tire deed is scarcely as long as the granting clause in one of the Pennsylvania variety.

> While good lawyers generally may admit that there should be a reform in this matter, there are some who would make the change very carefully and for good reason. This view is set forth by Judge Fetterman and J. L. Black. It is that there has been so much litigation during centuries, that not only every phrase, but word and even syllable has been settled by judicial ruling. and if the form be followed and the granton be competent to grant, even the gates of perdition cannot prevail against the convey-ance. AN ELOPEMENT IN SIGHT.

Mrs. Bolinsky Afraid That Her Husband Is Locking for Their Lady Boarder.
A complaint was made at the office of the Humane Society yesterday afternoon that a man named Bolinsky, of No. 17 Webster avenue, had deserted his wife and two small children, leaving them in destitute circumstances. An elopement is not among the improbabilities in the case.

Mrs. Bolinsky, the deserted wife, states that some time ago her husband introduced a new member of the household in the shape of a lady boarder, against whose presence she made a decided objection. Neither the boarder or Bolinsky paid the slightest attention to her protests. About ten days ago the lady boarder left the house to go to New York. After her departure there were frequent quarrels between the husband and wife. A couple of days ago Bolinsky left home and has not since been seen or heard of by any of his friends, and Mrs. Bolinsky is positive that he has also gone to New York to join his former boarder. improbabilities in the case.

SHARPSBURG RESIDENTS UP IN ARMS.

They May Go Into Court to Fight the Citizens' Traction Company. The proposed extension of an electric line by the Citizens' Traction Company to Sharpslurg, is meeting with considerable opposition among many of the citizens of The paper cannot even be sent to the mill | that borough. The town council granted the right of way over Main and Middle streets for a single track on each. Residents along the latter thoroughfare are highly inceased.

They are preparing a petition to Council to have both tracks placed on Main street. If Council refuse to accede to their wishes they will carry the matter to court. They claim the single track on both streets is to keep a projected branch of the Pleasant Valley road out of town, as the ordinance gave the only two streets available to the Citizens' Company.

IT DIDN'T PAN OUT. That New York Plate Glass Pool Won't be

Formed for Yet Awbile. The conference of the New York dealers with the plate glass manufacturers at the Duquesne yesterday didn't pan out, for the reason that not enough middle men appeared. Mr. Sieberling said the notice was too short, and the meeting was declared off.

No time was fixed for another conference,
but it is not probable that the New Yorkers will leave the matter drop.
While here the manufacturers took advantage of the opportunity to discuss trade matters. Nothing was done with the prices.
