There has been a surprising boom sprung up in the wrought iron pipe business during he past few days. The demands for this kind of material are fully 30 days late this season, owing, it is claimed, to the muddy condition of the country roads, which prevented hauling to any great extent. Within the past week, however, the roads have dried up considerably, and the pipe manufacturers are overrun with orders. A large order has just been received by a city firm from the Marietta Natural Gas company for 15 miles of pipe. The company's plant cost $200,000. Its main line is to be of eight-inch pipe and the service connections of six, four and three-inch material. A. W. Lewis, manager of the company, has been in the city negotiating for the material and making arrangements with contractors for the work. Mr. Lewis was formerly Treasurer of the Manufacturers' Gas Company, of Bradford, and can boast of some interesting experiences with the Standard Oil Company.

The Greensburg Fuel Company has just ordered enough 12-inch pipe to lay a main from the Grapeville field. The Matheson patent init pipe will be used DEMANDS FROM INDIANA. Quite a number of orders have come in from Indianapolis, and others are antici-pated from various points in Indiana. C. N. Wilcoxon, General Manager of the Munsey Natural Gas Company, of Indianapolis, in the city at present, negotiating for at least $30,000 worth of pipe for his company. The material ranges in size from 2 to 10 inches. There are one or two other lines in contemplation in the vicinity of Indian-apolis, the material for which, will be sup-plied by local firms. Pittsburg seems to be getting her share in this line.

Aside from these large orders from a distance, many smaller contracts have been made within a tew days for lines for the Washington, Westmoreland and Butler county fields. The prospects for orders for pipe for Ken-The prospects for orders for pipe for Kentucky are bright. A new oil company, composed of Pittsburg, New York and Nashville capitalists has been organized, with a capital stock of $300,000, to operate in the new Kentucky field. They will begin operations immediately. All the necessary material, including casings, will be taken from Pittsburg.

BRIGHT AND ENCOURAGING. The outlook for the pipe iron trade is, therefore, exceedingly bright and encour-aging. The Manufacturers' Association, at its meeting in New York a few days ago, voted to maintain the present prices for another mouth. The only disturbing feature in the indications is the possibility of labor diffi-culties, but the manufacturers are not anticipating any serious trouble. They do not expect the men to ask for an advance in wages. The only demand they look for is one for shorter hours, and this will depend largely on the result of the attempt made by the National Tube Works employes.

THE ADAMS STEEL PROCESS

Causes the Premier Company to Make Extensive Improvements. Colonel W. H. Coen, Secretary and General Manager of the Premier Steel Company, Indianapolis, Ind., is in the city. He is here to purchase machinery for a new blooming mill for their plant in Indianapolis. The Premier Steel Company operates the Adams process for making open hearth steel, a detailed description of which was published exclusively in THE DISPATCH last December. The process is a success, and the company has been turning out the material at the rate of 100 tons per day with 250 men. They have found it necessary to increase their capacity, and will more than double it.

It was claimed from the first that the steel made by the Adams process—direct from the ore—could be placed on the market at a less cost than Bessemer steel is now made. In this connection Colonel Coen said yester day: "We are not boasting, but we can demonstrate to any who doubt our claims that this can be done; it has been done and we will continue to do it. We have a plant, the original cost of which was $750,000. We will improve it and increase our capacity considerably. We have a process that will create a greater stir in the steel market in a quiet way than some of our friends will care about. It is simply a

AGENT FORD WRITES A LETTER Explaining His Position Regarding Pas-

It explains Mr. Ford's position in regard to passenger conductors, who charge him with saying that no conductor should be retained longer than two or three years: PITTSBURG, May 3, 1890.

Mr. H. R. Dering, Assistant General Passenger Agent, Indianapolis. Ind.:

MY DEAR SIR—Upon my return from an extended absence, I have your letter in which you advise that conductors are charging me with saying that "no passenger conductor should be permitted to run a train longer than with saying that "no passenger conductor should be permitted to run a train longer than two or three years."

I never made such a statement, nor have I ever said anything about conductors which could be construed into such a statement. I believe that after a man is properly educated for the business of "conducting" a passenger train, he should be retained in that position so long as he performs his duties promptly, faithfully, honestly, intelligently, politely and loyally, and is not physically or morally incapacitated, or until his merits entitle him to and secure for him promotion to a higher place under the well-known civil service rules and policy of the Pennsylvania lines.

You can hand this letter to any passenger conductor who may desire to have it for reference, and make such other use of it as you think proper in refuting the untruthful reports which have been so persistently circulated regarding my position in this matter.

Sincerely and truly yours,

General Passenger Agent.

TINNERS' STRIKE SETTLED.

Men Authorized to Work by the Union Must Show Certificates.

There were no new developments in the tinners' strike yesterday. No additional signatures have been secured to the scale. Among the large employers who have not signed yet are Thomas Irwin, Rasner & Dinger, S. Keighley & Co., McElroy, Haas, Lacock & Hawthorn, George N.

Lacock and Oliver Morgan.
Local Union No. 12 held a meeting last night in Ruppel's Hall, Smithfield street.
It was reported that carpenters employed on several houses throughout the city had refused to work, because the tinners employed on the late of the control of the on the jobs could not satisfy them that they were working under authority of the union. It was decided to issue certificates to all men employed by firms who have signed the scale, and hereafter whenever men are found working who cannot produce a certificate the men of other trades will refuse to work with them.

There are about 240 men still out. It is said that the firms must soon give in, as many of them have large contracts on hand which they cannot afford to neglect. This which they cannot allord to neglect. Insis is particularly true of one or two of the largest shops. The employers who are in the association, however, cannot sign the scale without forfeiting a certain sum of money to the association. It is said four firms have escaped this forfeit by advancing the wages of their men about a week before May 1. In this way they could take advantage of a technicality and say they did not grant the demands of their men May 1.

COKE RATES NOT GOING DOWN. Mr. Bainey Thinks a Reduction Would

Help the Furnacemen. W. J. Rainey, the coke operator, came down from the regions last evening and registered at the Anderson Hotel. He says he is one of the small fellows in the business, and he follows in the wake of the big ones. Mr. Rainey has made some recen purchases of coal land, and this summer will build several hundred new coke ovens. He doesn't think it would be good policy to reduce the coke rates to help out the furnace men. If the rates were cut the prices of pig iron would go down proportionately. Mr. Rainey, however, said he would be willing to help them if it was necessary. All his contracts for the year have been made, and he supplies furnace operators who use their product in their mills, so that he does not believe his consumers are suffering much from the depre sion in the pig iron market. His experi-ence has been that the iron ore men are gen-erous, and they will not insist on the pound

Robison raised the point that Mr. Anglin had been deputed to pre-pare plans without inviting competitive de-signs from other architects, which, he connot offer to pay for them here, even with a check, but walked out after a very brief conversation.

These goods were also sent over to Heck's store, and again Mr. Heck denied having ordered them. They were accordingly returned to Mr. McClurg's. But this was not all. A third package of cigars was delivered at Mr. Heck's last night that had not been bought by the proprietor. They came like the last, C. O. D., and the seller evidently lost nothing. The name of the dealer in this last case could not be learned, as Mr. Heck had left the store for the night, and the clerk did not know from whom they came. tended, was not proper, inasmuch as all public matters of that sort had been heretofore the subject of competitive designs. He therefore moved that other architects be asked to submit designs.

This provoked a very lively discussion, Members of the committee thought it un-fair that the hard work of Mr. Anglin fair that the hard work of Mr. Anglin should have been so conspicuously displayed where other architects could examine and profit by it. Mr. Anglin also protested, and a long discussion took place. The resolution by which Mr. Anglin was authorized was exhumed from the files, and it was discovered that the committee was virtually and the state of the stat

The girl got stagestruck and "appeared" several times. A friend of her parents saw the girl on Smithfield street on the Saturday before Easter, and since that day she has written two or three letters to her mother, saying she would be home in a few days, and speak-flippantly of her "excursion."

I searched the city for a piano the other day. I wanted the finest plano money could purchase. Unique carving and rare outward adornment was not what I was most in search of. The perfection of internal ments, and that when the city passed into the second class, an addition to the present municipal accommodations was a positive necessity. The fact that the Government mechanism and the sweetness of its music was my chief end and aim. In my journeyings I saw many beautiful and wonderful instruments, but the one which interested me most of all was a piano called the "Opera Piano," manufactured by Peek & Son. I was captivated by the unusual charm of its tone as the music rolled out upon the air under the magic touch of the player. It is needless to say that I effected a purchase with the greatest satisfaction possible to myself and friends, and am now the

The plan of giving weekly or biweekly free organ recitals for the benefit and education of the public has been tried with great success and unquestionably meets the unqualified approval of the residents of Allegheny and the public press, as well as being entirely in line with the motives that led Mr. Carnegie to add the hall and organ to his original plans for the library; therefore be it Resolved. Detectives Find a House in Mansfield Almost Filled With Stolen Goods-Result of a Shoplifter's Industry-Articles

Taken for Ampsement. Detectives Coulson, Robinson and Bendle yesterday discovered a house at Mansfield literally filled with goods stolen from Pittsburg merchants. On Saturday Mrs. Annie Onnisoit was arrested in Fleishman's store on Market street charged with shoplifting. When taken to the Central station she resisted being searched, and it took the united efforts of four officers to hold her while a skirt of the regulation shoplifter style, filled with pockets, was taken off her. She refused to state where she lived, but half a return tieket to Mans-field was found in her pocketbook.

Yesterday morning her daughter called at the Central station in search of her mother, and the detectives, armed with a search warrant, took the girl with them to oint out the house. It is a pretty little two-story residence, elegantly furnished, and the second floor almost completely filled with all kinds of new goods, from which most of the private marks had been removed. Among the goods found were 167 packages of coffee, 28 dress patterns, 90 bonnets, an organette and innumerable hats, dress patterns, fine shawls, laces, ribbons, cigars, underwear, pocketbooks, cans of jelly, kid gloves, hats trimmed and untrimmed, ourtains, satchels and a variety of other articles, worth between $2,500 and $3,000. The detectives could not take it all away, so they filled a big packing case and brought it to the Inspector's office, where the goods are being exhibited for identification.

TheOnnisoit family bears a good reputation in Mansfield, the members always appear-ing well dressed and being regular attend-ants at church. They have been in this country seven years. Mr. Onnisoit, who is a miner, and makes about $2 a day, denied any knowledge of the goods being in the house. The most peculiar find was that of a dozen photographs stolen from Pearson's gallery two years ago, and which could have been of no use to the thief. Mrs. Onnisoit will have a hearing befo Magistrate Gripp on Friday.
