ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] BOSTON, May 10.-The recent dispatch from this city to THE PITTSBURG DIS-PATCH, stating that Willard White, of Boston and Concord, had left the State secretly and in a discreditable manner to avoid his creditors, turns out upon investi-gation to be untrue. The Boston newspapers of to-day all contain retractions of their former articles, which reflected unfavorably upon Mr. White's transactions, and state that his removal to Pennsylvania had been long contemplated and was entirely due to changes in his business plans.

MUSIC UP THE RIVER. The Inside Facts Regarding a Big Piano and Organ Factory.

ANOTHER NEW TOWN LAID OUT Mysterious Movements of Owners of Realty

to Hide Their Tracks. THE ADVANTAGES OF OWNING A HOME

A short time ago it was stated in THE DISPATCH that arrangements were making to erect a large piane and organ factory near Coal Valley, 18 miles up the Monon-gahela, on the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston Railroad, concerning which some additional and important particulars were obtained yesterday. Ground for the plant has been donated by Mr. Corwin, Secretary of the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston Railroad, and the Wilson heirs, and consists of 20 acres, eligibly situated for manufacturing purposes. The surveyor finished his work on Friday, and the necessary buildings, which will be extensive and costly, will be put under contract at once. They will be finished as soon as possible, as it is the intention to have this factory ready for operations by fall. The cost of the plant-buildings and machinery-will closely approximate $150,000.

The company is a combination of two, one at Cincinnati and the other at Philadelphia, and the reason for removal to the new location is to belos in their line, for which Pittsburg and tributary territory are pre-eminent. The com-pany will employ about 500 hands, and will ndeavor to turn out work of a superior quality.

It was also learned yesterday that a new town will soon be laid out just above Coal Valley, to be called Corwin, in honor of the enterprising railroad Secretary, who, next to the Wilson heirs, is the principal promoter. Surveys are now in progress. Extensive car shops for the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston Railroad will be erected in the new town to give it a start, and the first residence—a very handsome one—will be built by Mr. Will S. Stokes, of the Pittsburg Company, Limited, dealers in real estate. His plans are completed, and work on the pioneer dwelling will begin in a week or ten

That Squirrel Hill Deal. The most interesting movement during the week, and the one about which most guessing was done in real estate circles on Fourth avenue, was that which comprised the sale of nearly 100 acres of ground on Squirrel Hill, bordering on Greenfield avenue, as mentioned in yesterday's DISPATCH. No certain information could be had as to the purpose of the purchasers, but the most reliable intimations pointed to the development of the ground by a cassenger railway to Homestead, connecting with the new Duquesne Traction Company's venture. The Messrs. Barchfield were the agents who negotiated the sale of these prop-erties. They have been very active and successful in that district.

Operating in the Dark. Curious people are found in every branch of ousiness—mysterious people who go about sur-counded by a sort of Homeric cloud to conceal their movements. If they buy anything they will not tell you what it cost; if they travel they will not tell you where they are going or what they are going to do. Like shadows they come, like shadows they depart.

Quite a number of real estate owners belong to this class of mortals. When they buy or sell their chief concern is to keep the transaction secret. One of these gentlemen, who owns a large amount of property in the city proper and in the East End, is about to build a block of houses not far from Hazelwood. Yes-terday he had a long conference with a real estate broker whose office is on Fifth avenue, not far from Grant street, to make arrangewanted everything to go in the name of the broker, so as not to be identified with the business in any way, and he left a large amount of money as an earnest of his sincerity. Asked his reason for wishing to remain in the background, he said: "Well, I an in business. If it should become known that I am building these houses it would injure me, People would say: 'He's rich enough; he should sell his goods at lower prices, or give us better terms.' My rivals would also use the circumstance against me. They would say to my customers: 'Mr. -- has made money enough; see the houses he is building. Give us a chance; we'll do as well by you as he possibly can, and perhaps better,' I think, therefore, I had better keen in the dark."

Another plea for secrecy put forward by many real estate dealers is that the publication of transactions frequently prevents other deals, or the securing of options. This may be so in some instances, where properties are contiguous; but it has another aspect. If the city papers were to ignore the real estate business, making no reference to it in anyway, it would soon flatten out like a flounder. But by calling attention to it in various ways, by urging peo ple to buy and establish homes, they keep it before the public as a lively issue, and thereby create and maintain an interest which would otherwise be wanting. Publicity is the life o the business. Once let the impression get abroad that nothing is doing and stagnation will be inevitable.

Advantages of a Home.

No one will seriously question the truth of the observation that there is nothing which so greatly conduces to happiness, or is so calculated to promote habits of thrift and economy, as the owning of the home in which one live The man who has a home of his own feels a sense of permanency and takes a livelier interest in things going on around him, than he who is a renter. The strongest feeling in man's strange and complex nature is the love of home, and this feeling unsatisfied, as it must ever be with a rented house, which is at the best, but a temporary abode, tends to disadvantage and unhappiness. So long as he lives in a rented house he thinks it hardly worth while to buy new furniture or make any effort to beautify the place; his wife and daughters feel no encouragement to plant flowers, and his children grow up with none of the softening and refining influences of a healthful home-

It is no longer difficult in Pittsburg for any industrious man with economical habits to possess a home. Comfortable homes of any size or cost desired, standing on good lots, can e purchased in any of the surrounding suburbs on long time and small payments, amounting to no more than ordinary rent. Besides, there are scores of building and loan associations which are ready to assist, bringing a home within the reach of almost every workingman in the city. To refuse these offers and neglect these inducements, which it is so easy to comply with, is more than a mistake-it is a crime against the family and an injury to society.

Movements in Real Estate.

Real estate during the week was quiet on the surface, but there was a great deal going on "down below." Business was said by a number of dealers to be considerably better than at the same time any previous year. If owners want to maintain an active market, they must restrain their demands within reasonable limits. Reports of sales yesterday: Black & Baird sold to James M. Allen a vacant tract of land on Forbes street, opposite the Children's Hospital, containing about two

Pershing a lot in the Lloyd Circle plan of lots, fronting 60 feet on Dithridge street, for $6,000

Charles Somers & Co. sold for Dean & Whitty to Mrs. M. W. B. Haven two lots, being Nos. 88 and 89 in Fleming Park plan, P. & L. E. R. R., fronting 50 feet on Park avenue and in depth 160 feet, for $450; also sold for Charles Somers to Fred Drumm a lot in Benton place, Eleventh ward, Allegheny, in size 24x110 to an alley, for $250; also sold lot No. 61, Bank of Commerce plan, Brushton station, fronting 40 feet on Grazer street and in depth 150 feet to Blaine street, to J. S. and J. R. Holland for $800; also sold for James H. Aiken to A. C. Black lot No. 82 in Fairmount plan, fronting 27 feet on Fair-mount avenue and in depth 110 feet, for $850. Sloan & Co. sold seven more lots in the Lemington Square plan.

Pleaty of Figures and Few Sales Close Disappointing Week. Stock trading yesterday had the usual Saturday result—plenty of figures and few sales. The only active property was Westinghouse Electric. It was considered a bargain at 40, and 100 shares were taken at that figure. It closed a fraction better. Philadelphia Gas was steady and unchanged. Wheeling stood on a better footing. Bridgewater was a trifle weaker, and Chartlers decidedly so. The most pronounced advance of the day was made by Switch and Signal, which was bid up made by Switch and Signal, which was bid up to 17 and offered at 18. It seems that the large business of the company is beginning to tell. Central Traction and Pleasant Valley showed some improvement. Bank and insurance shares were strong and dull. The week falled to meet the expectations of the traders, who were looking for a higher level of prices as a result of soveral favorable reports and increased activity and strength in Wall street.

O'BRIEN'S FOLLY SHOT. In Retaliation She Oiled Much Territory-Splits in Cornopolis-Another Well Down and Results, Rather

Problematical. -Developments in the Chartiers Valley are giving the P. & L. E. R. R., considerable travel fresh enthusiasm yesterday. She was shot about noon yesterday with 120 quarts. The dose was not given because the well was failing, but because the owners wanted to get the amber fluid out as quickly as possible and some of their neighbors say they want to get oil out of adjoining territory before the latter reach the sand. Be that as it may, the shot was a great success. The reaction was immense, throwing oil up the hillside nearly to the backbone road. Then the well took a 20 minute breath and resumed operations, cleaning herself without awaiting help, and putting some sand into the tank along with the oil. Just what she will do when cleaned out cannot be stated before tomorrow. Mr. O'Brien and his partners are Sabbatarians, and ordered that work in that direction be suspended until after 12 o'clock to-night. They will allow the well to work on her own hook to-day, however. She flows at intervals, and on computation was found to be making, with the dirt in the hole, 980 barrels a day.

O'Brien No. 1, the "Folly," is flowing 130 barries a day and shows power to continue that gait indefinitely. She has been putting out 56 days now and has produced three times what the whole property could have been purchased for at almost any time in several years.

The Cornopolis field has given the scientists another black eye. The Kendall well, which some said was too far down the river, is estimated at from 50 to 250 barrels a day, while "Squire Ferree's well is said to be hopelessly dry, and it was "on the line." The Bridgewater Gas Company's well on Alfred McCabe's farm was also called dry, but yesterday it was stated that it had given greasy indications and would be shot before the casing be pulled. George Lashell's well, near the original Ferree well, is in doubt, some saying that it looks like a duster, while others say it may be a payer.

The original Cornopolis well on George Ferree's farm is still paying, but has declined to a point that suggests to the operators the advisability of giving it a dose of nitrogiverine.

NEW YORK STOCKS. The Market Looked Tired and Prices Sagged-The General Seeling Still Bullish-Marked Activity in Railroad Bonds.

NEW YORK, May 10 .- The stock market today, during its session, maintained the large volume of business. The market, how-ever, had a tired look, and prices sagged away during the greater portion of the session, al-though the general feeling is still very builish and the undertone remains strong. Texas Pa-cific, on the favorable comments from Mr. Gould, was active at advancing figures, while the rest of the list, as a rule, were sagging away. The active features were Atchison, Missouri Pacific, Texas Pacific, Richmond and West Point, St. Paul, and the Trusts. The only really strong features of the day however was Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, which made a sharp spurt in the last few minutes' trading and rose 1% per cent, while Pacific Mail was the weak point in the list dropping away upon certain election rumors. The uncertainty as to the complexion of the bank statement made the traders in-clined to follow the lead of the bears and the clined to follow the lead of the bears and the demand was not quite sufficient to meet the pressure, but after the bank statement was issued there was a disposition to take in the short lines put out earlier, and a smart rally occurred in the last few minutes' trading although the losses were not made up. The close was active, and strong generally at small fractions below last night's figures. Pacific Mail declined 1½ per cent, but this with the rise in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, were the only important changes for the day.

pecial to John M. Oakley & Co. 1 ENEW YORK, May 10.—The shortsession of to-day has been lively, and business has been good, considering the brevity of toil. Bullish feeling shows no perceptible abatement, though the switching interest from one stock to an-other produced irregularity for the moment. The proper caper is to sell out those stocks which have had a good up-turn recently, and buy something that has been quietly resting for

In our letters this week, showed a loss in reserves of $1,000,000, the actual loss of cash being only a trifle less. Lesans were increased nearly $2,500,000. Money is in good demand, and rates next week promise to rule very firm. The great safety valve in money is London, where it is cheap, Money, like water, always finds its level, and foreign money will come this way if our demands are great enough. The approaching summer season is the safets period of the year for a bull market as far as money supplies are concerned.

Chicago Grain Market. CHICAGO-Wheat-Trading was quite active again, but the volume of business was not so large as during the preceding three or four days. The feeling developed was very nervous and operators anxiously awaited the Government report. Prices were very irregular and covered a very wide range. It was difficult to do any business in May and trading in June was also rather unsatifactory. Trading cen-tered principally in July, with increasing business in the more deferred futures. The open-ing for July was 1%@1%c higher than yesterday's closing, but quickly weakened and prices declined with numerous small fluctuations 23c from top prices, ruled very irregular within the established range, and closed %c higher than yesterday. May wheat closed about %@le higher and June about the same as yesterday, There was nothing really in outside news to have caused the unsettled feeling which ex-isted, but the uncertainty of the Government isted, but the uncertainty of the Government report made operators undecided which course to pursue, though the decilions prices induced many operators to sell. There was heavy realizing during the session. Rain was reported in the Northwest. The condition of wheat in California, it was claimed, was 65 against 71 last montb. St. Louis also sent in some builish news, claiming that the crop of Missouri was reported 25 per cent short of an average.

Corn was fairly active and unsettled, the market ruling firm early and weak later. Offer. market ruling firm early and weak later. Offerings were heavy from all quarters, the country selling freely, as well as local warehousemen and room traders. The demand was confined mainly to shorts. Receipts were light, and this and wet weather tended to hold up values, though the firm opening was due to the advance in wheat at that time. The trade centered in July, and there was heavy trading in this month around 35%. The opening was firmer and 460 lk/c higher on the leading futures, owing to cold, wet weather, and higher prices for wheat and corn. The highest prices were recorded at the opening, but were not maintained long, as the demand was not large enough, and the offerings became free. HAD GIVEN UP HOPE

And Was a Mere Wreck of His Former Self.

ANOTHER NOTABLE RECOVERY.

It is not the face of Longfellow that appears in this column, though the features bear a strong likeness to those of the Cambridge poet. Mr. James Ackelson, whose face is that reproduced in the portrait, has lived for 30 years six miles out of Pittaburg, at Remington, Robison township, just adjoining Chartiers. He is a carpenter by trade, but has done no work for five years, on account of severe catarrhal and bronchias

"It had grown upon me," he said to the writer, "until I was a mere wreck of my former self. I had lost in flesh, my breathing was labored and difficult and I was weak and despondent. "When did it begin? At least eight years ago. At that time I would have frequent coughing and sneezing spells. My head was continually affected. My nose would be stopped up, first on one side, then on the "After a time my ears troubled me. The constant buzzing and ringing sounds were enough to distract me. Dull pains in my head, especially in my forehead, would come on. My throat would fill up and I had to be constantly hemming and raising to clear it.

Mr. James Ackelson, Remington "As I grew steadily weaker, sharp pains would take me in the chest, running through to my back. At times they were so bad that I could not draw my breath on account of them, and o'ten they would wake me up in the middle of the night and pain me so that the middle of the night and pain me so that I could not raise up in bed.

"Within the last few years night sweats came on. My limbs became swollen. I could eat hardly anything. A bite or two of bread and butter would make my stemach bloat, and bring on horrible pains and nausea. "I could only sleep 10 or 15 minutes at a time before I would be awakened by the choking and filling up in my throat. My chest felt as if there was a terrible weight upon it.

"I became so weak that I could scarcely move around, and every effort was a positive pain to me. Often I had not strength enough to get up stairs to bed, but I would have to lie down on the sofa until my breathing would become easier. Some times my breathing was so difficult that I feared I would choke to death. "When I went to Drs. Copeland and Blair I glad to verify everyone of them. SYMPTOMS OF CATARRY How the Sufferer Can Detect the Coming of

One of the most common and annoying effects of catarrh is a continual dropping in the back part of the throat which is es-pecially noticed while lying down in bed. The patient affected with this disease feels fairly well in the afternoon, but toward evening the nose becomes partially stopped, the voice gets a little husky, and, in some cases, the throat may feel a little sore, or stuffed up, and when he retires for the night the patient finds that, added to his other symptoms, he cannot breathe through his nose, which has become entirely plugged up, the result of which is that he snores to the annoyance of himself and room mate, and, in some cases, when the partition is thin, even his neighbors' lives are made A person so affected will drop off to sleep only to wake up after a shorter or longer period by feeling a dropping in the back part of the throat. After passing a wretched night filled with bad dreams and annoying sensations, caused by the dropping in the throat, he will awake in the morning not at all retreshed, but feeling more tired than he all retreshed, but feeling more tired than he did the night previous on going to bed.

After getting out of bed in the morning he finds his throat and upper part of the swallow filled with slime and mucus which has collected there by the dropping therein in the night, and which causes a bad taste and a sticky sensation in the mouth.

The first thing he is called to do is to rid his throat of the mucus, which he does by hawking up the offensive material. In some cases this causes gagging and vomiting. The result of all this is a disgust for food, and no breakfast, or a very light one, is the result.

But this is not the worst. During the night considerable of the offensive mucus is awallowed, and when foed is taken into the stomach it is coated over by this material, and so prevented from coming in contact with the digestive fluids, the result of which is the food decomposes, gas is formed, which his the food decomposes, gas is formed, which bloats the patient up, causing him to beich and tasting the offensive material. Part of this poisonous material is absorbed by the blood and taken into the system, where it irritates the nerves, assuing headache and the thousand and ore
