Robs His Too-Confiding Relative of a Good-Sized Fortune.

BOLD THEFT BY A PITTSBURG BOY.

He Escapes, but His Confederate in Crime

is Arrested. A NOTED SPORTSMAN'S HARD LUCK

NEW YORK, May 14.-Leslie E. Macleod is in the Tombs, and the police are bunting for Robert L. Wallace. They are charged with the robbery of over $50,000 from John H. Wallsce, the veteran editor and proprietor of "Wallace's Monthly," which is known the country over as an authority on matters relating to trotting horses, and also of the standard works "Waliace's American Trotting Register" and "Wallace's Year Book." Robert L. Wallace is a relative of Editor Wallace, and Macleod was associate editor of Wallace's Monthly. John H. Wallace is a bachelor with ruddy, clean shaven face, twinkling blue eyes and hair silvered by his 60 goodly years. He has been interested in the breeding of fine horses for 40 years. He began the publication of "Wallace's American Stud Book" in the West in 1861. The work be-came standard of its kind, and in 1867 Mr. Wallace added a trotting breeders' supplement, which in 1871 he developed into the well-known "Trotting Register."

His monthly is the official organ of the National Association of Trotting Horse Breeders, and has been published in this city since 1875. The offices are now in the Stewart building.

He has made over $100,000 out of his publications, and being a hearty, whole-souled kind of man, without chick or child of his own, he took as a protege several years ago the son of a Pittsburg Wallace, who is in the Government employ there. The lad's grandtather was a cousin of Mr. Wallace's father. Robert L., this was the lad's name, was to be heir to the thousands that "Uncle" Wallace had laid away. Un-cle Wallace became very fond of him and trusted him implicitly. Robert, or "Bob," as his benefactor affectionately called him. will not be 21 years old until next July, but he was made assistant treasurer of the publishing establishment, carried the key to Mr. Wallace's safe and had access to his

Check-book and all his private papers.

Last Wednesday morning "Bob" did not appear at the office. He did not appear during the day. As he was ordinarily punctual enough Mr. Wallace thought he must be sick, and that afternoon went up to "Bob's" boarding house, No. 487 West Twenty-second street, to see about it,

"Why, Robert left in a hurry this morn-

As Mr. Wallace knew of no business that the lad could have in Boston-certainly none connected with the office-he began to after he had returned to the office and looked at his bankbook that evening, and still more on Thursday morning when he visited his box at the Bankers' Safe Deposit Company's vaults at No. 4 Wall street.

NOTHING LEFT BUT A DEFICIT. The box in the salety deposit vault, in which there had been over $35,000 of giltedged stocks and bonds, was empty, and enough cash had been drawn from Mr. Wallace's account at the bank to make the total shortage nearly $54,000. Robert L. Wallace, "nephew" and prospective heir, was the only person who had access to the back book and the private compartment in the safe where the safety vault key was kept, and it was pretty evident that he had drawn in advance on his prospects as heir before he hurried off that Wednesday morning "on

Macleod on suspicion of complicity. Macleod is very well known to breeders of totting horses all over the country. Although only 27 years old, he is said to be a particularly well informed horseman and a trenchant writer. He came to New York from sooner did the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Prince Edward Island, and has been in the Wallace office nearly four years. He was made associate editor of "Wallace's Monthly" a year ago. Macleod is a peculiar look- Sioux City. ing man, with a large, square head, very small and somewhat fishy eyes, and a nar-

BOB WAS INFLUENCED.

Macleod and young "Bob" Wallace were much together, and the supposition is that the older man influenced the other. Mac-leod is said to drink freely. "Bob," how-to Give Them Help. ever, was given a very good character by Mr. and Mrs. Gumbart at the West Twentysecond street boarding house. He had boarded there for a year and a half. They said he was not addicted to drink, so far as they know, though he sometimes kept late hours. Mrs. Gumbart described him as a tail, well built young man, with a very young mustache. The only theory to account for the theft of the $52,000 or more is that it went in gambling.
The $35,000 worth of stocks and bonds stolen from the Bankers' Safety Deposit vaults were the personal property of Mr. Wallace. Some of the cash drawn from bank was to the account of the publishing house. The deficit will not, however, affect the business seriously, if at all.

Some time ago Mr. Wallace organized the Wallace Trotting Register Company with a large number of shareholders, including many prominent breeders. Among them are Charles Backman, of Orange county, this State; A. J. Schulz, of Brooklyn, and R. S. Veech, of Kentucky,

All three publications have been prosperoua. The Monthly has 116 pages, the Regis-ter about 500 and the Year Book from 500 to 700. The pedigrees, race statistics, comparative tables, speed classifications, etc., are considered official in Europe as well as in

Inspector Byrnes said this afternoon that the party who stole the $50,000 worth of bonds from the Bankers' Safe Deposit Company was Leslie McLeod. It was first suped that young Wallace had stolen them. posed that young Wallace had stolen them. McLeod has been identified by Mr. Schley, an official of the Bankers' Safe Deposit walts on Wednesday, and on Thursday morning the bonds were missing. It is known that young Wallace on Wednesday afternoon negotiated $10,000 worth of bonds. On the same day he took the steamer Santiago for Havana. He gave the name of E. O. Collins. The steamer. reached Havana Sunday. The total amount of property taken includes $35,000 Western Union bonds, a check for $10,000—in all

THE DEFENDANT TO PAY

To the Tune of $271,808-An Important Decision Rendered in New York.

NEW YORK, May 14 .- Judge Wallace, of the United States Circuit Court, in the suit of David Armstrong, the receiver of the Fidelity National Bank of Cincinnati O. against the Chemical National Bank, to-day entered a decree ordering the payment by the defendant to the complainant of the sum of $271,808. The suit was brought May 31, 1888, to recover the balance due on collateruls given for an unpaid loan in excess of the A BIG STRIKE AVERTED.

The Frick Coke Company's Miners Gladly Accept a Compromise. SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 SCOTTDALE, May 14 .- There will be no general strike at Frick's Coke Works. This conclusion was reached this evening by a conference of Watchorn, Rae and other labor officials with General Manager Lynch, of the Frick Coke Company. The miners asked for the conference and it was granted. The former withdrew their six days' notice of a strike and Mr. Lynch agreed to investigate Valley works grievances. This will be done in the morning. The Frick Company had fully determined upon a course should there have been a strike, and as the miners were aware of this fact, they decided that a compromise would be the wisest plan. The opportune inter-ference of Rae and Watchorn seems to have averted a bitter strike. It is understood that while the Valley plant will not be put in resumption yet, the grievances relative to the filling of the wagons will be fixed. There is consequent happiness in the miners' headquarters to-night, as nobody seemed to want to strike when the existing condition of the coke trade was considered An effort will be made in the tuture by both parties to live up to the agreement.

A meeting of McClure's miners was held here to-day, and the filling of wagons was considered, but the course they intend to pursue was not disclosed.

NATIONAL PROHIBITION

Is Demanded by the Third Party Politician of Butler County.

BUTLER, May 14.—The Prohibitionists met in county convention here yesterday and placed the following ticket in nomination: Congress, Hon. W. P. Batham; Assembly, Thomas C. McClintock and James Wilson; Sheriff, W. A. Kelly; Prothonotary, J. C. Moore; Register and Recorder, Isaac Andrews; Treasurer, Washington Boyard; Clerk of Courts, J. L. Carpenter; County Commissioners, Robert McBride and Jacob Hutchman; Auditors, I. N. Meals and Thomas B. White; Coroner, Dr. Barber; delegates to State Convention, William Black, Rev. Imbrie, Rev. Stiffey, Rev. Pollard, Rev. McClester, Rev. Breaden, Rev. John S. McKee, John C. Kerr, H. Sheffield.

Resolutions were adopted denouncing the old parties for not meeting the prohibition question fairly; expressing the belief, in view of the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court in reference to the shipment of liquor in original packages into prohibition States, that prohibition to be redically effectively more viscol to the whole radically effectual must extend to the whole nation and be supported by a party unconditionally committed to its procurement and enforcement,

Those who have already gone into the shut down will stop all work on their leases next Saturday night. The project is looked upon favorably by nearly all the operators, except those who have a larger production of salt water than oil. The latter class assert that a day's cessation of pumping would permit an accumulation of salt water which would ruin their wells. The first really good well struck in a week came in to-day. It is the Griesbach & Co.'s No. 1, on the Casper Fehl farm, and it started off at 18 barrels an hour when the drill tapped the pay streak.

No special hardship has resulted, however, as the local unions have relieved all wants. The Philadelphia office is said to have been too busy to attend to the matter. An effort is being made to-day to bring the bosses and strikers together to arbitrate the strike matter. The former are said to be ready to pay 25 cents per hour, while the strikers demand 30 cents.

CLARKSON ON REFORM

The Assistant Postmaster General's Views on Civil Service.

By the Official in Whose Employ He Seeks to Become a Servant.

CHICAGO, May 14 .- "The Government of the United States is a political, not a business machine," said Assistant Fostmaster General Clarkson, in reply to a question on civil service reform here, to-day. "I know that there is a general belief that the reverse is true, but the belief is incorrect. To my mind, were it true, it would be one of the "Then you do not think this country would be better off with such a civil service as England possesses?"

"Most assuredly I do not. What, perpetuate an officeholding class of which every individual member upon arriving at the age of 60 shall receive a pension? Never. What incentive would there be for such a class to work what aim in life would be

I believe that each office should have a fixed tenure to preserve the re-spect of the occupant, and if the occupant desires a second term let him show by work that he is entitled to it."

EXAMINATIONS FAVORED.

"Would you abolish civil service exami-"No. Every man should be examined But he should be examined by the official in whose employ he is to be. Is such a principle not good in business? Is not an employer able to obtain the fitness of an applicant to perform the work that belongs to his department, and a man who not only has an interest, but knowledge of, what is required in the department in question?"
"Do you think, Mr. Clarkson, that the business of our Government is carried on as satisfactorily as that of England, where offi-cial position is not affected by change of administration?" "Yes, much better. The business of our Government is transacted more accurately and at a lower percentage of loss than any other public or any private business in existence. And why?" The speaker asked abruptly.

"Because of the fact that there is relation in office; because it is patriotism more than money seeking that actuates the men who take an interest in our political life."

the worthy project prominently before the public, respectfully present this appeal for aid through the medium of the press. All. preliminaries have been arranged, earnest workers have been enlisted, a Board of Managers has been incorporated, a location has been secured, and it only remains for the charitable and philanthropic to give substantial financial help.

The movement is not sectarian, or denomiational. The doors of the home will be open to all regardless of nationality or religion. All the large cities sustain one or more of these institutions. Only those who have investigated know how great is the need in this city of a home that will be a refuge for defenseless girls and a reformatory for fallen women.

Twelve thousand dollars are needed immediately to pay for the property which has been purchased. It is desired to raise this money at once. Already $2,500 has been secured. The Bethesda Home ought to be opened early in June, and can be it all in-terested promptly respond to this appeal.

The working of these homes in other cities has been carefully studied by the managers. The number of reformations in managers. The number of reformations in every case is most encouraging. A RARE CHANCE, THIS!

We mean just what we say—a rare chance, for it doesn't ôften happen that we can offer our customers goods at half price.
