Catarrhal Dangers.

To be freed from the dangers of suffocation while lying down; to breathe freely, sleep soundly and undisturbed; to rise refreshed, head clear, brain active and free from pain or nead clear, orain active and free from pain or ache; to know that no poisonous, putrid matter defiles the breath and rots away the delicate machinery of smell, taste and hearing; to feel that the system does not, through its veins and arteries, suck up the poison that is sure to un-dermine and destroy, is indeed a blessing be-yond all other human enjoyments. To purchase immunity from such a fate should be the object of all afflicted. But those who have

His stomach gave him an endless amount of trouble. He had belching of gas from his stomach after eating, sour taste, and often felt like vomiting his food. His appetite was poor, and as his liver was much enlarged it gave him great pain. In fact, he would often be taken with such sharp cramps and pain across his stomach and bowels it seemed as if he could not live. He had palpitation of the heart, digginess, weakness and pain across the small of his back, and a numb, lifeless feeling in his limb. He could get but little sleep, and as every change of weather gave him a cold, he took on a lingering cough. His breath became short and he felt pain and soreness in his lungs and under his shoulder blades. Night sweats worse until he lost 30 pounds of flesh. Having a wife and two small children whom he dearly loved, depending on him for a living, and having spent all his money in doctoring to no avail, not being able to work, he became discouraged and disheartoned, and often became so melanchely that he would feel tempted to jump into the river and thus end his suffering. One day he noticed in the paper an account of a patient who had been cured by the catarrh specialists at 323 Penn avenue of conditions that seemed similar to his own. He resolved to call on these specialists. He did so, and was told he could yet be cured. Although he had but little faith, he resolved to try once more, and after taking a course of treatment became cured. He says: "The above history of my disease and cure is true in every respect. I had received treatment from 30 physicians, yet gradually grew worse, and for one year before beginning treatment with these physicians; yet gradually grew worse, and for one year before beginning treatment with these physicians I was scarcely and words do not express the joy I feel that my life has been spared and health restored. I hereby sign my name. FRED HAHN."

A LIMIT TO DEBATE

The Tariff Bill is to be Voted Upon

Next Wednesday Noon. VIGOROUS DEMOCRATIC PROTESTS

Fail to Effect Any Change in the Republican Programme.

M'KINLEY'S REFERENCE TO RANDALL

WASHINGTON, May 15 .- As soon as the House was called to order to-day Mr. Mc-Kinley, of Ohio, from the Committee on Rules, reported a resolution providing that hereafter the House shall meet at 11 o'clock; that after the reading of the journal and the disposal of conference reports the House shall go into committee of the whole on the tariff bill; that the bill shall be read through, commencing with paragraph 111, and shall be opened to amendment on any part of the bill following paragraph 110, and that on Wednesday next at 12 noon the bill, with pending amendments, shall be reported to Mr. Blount, of Georgia, criticised the majority of the Committee on Rules for reporting the resolution. The majority of the House had adopted a code of rules which

It seemed to be the policy of the majority whenever any matter was of a magnitude requiring debate and careful consideration, that this rule should be suspended and become nugatory. The unjority said to the minority, "We will allow you to debate until 12 o'clock Wednesday. At that time we intend to stop discussion and pass the bill through the House."

It mattered not whether the paragraphs of the bill had not been considered. It mattered not if the measure hindered the rela-tions of the people of this mighty nation. It mattered not that it involved commercial relations with all the countries of the world. It mattered not that it involved one of the great political issues of the times. It mattered not that it instened a system upon the people for years—the majority had determined upon the measure and was impatient with debate. A powerful minerity was asking for freedom of debate. The Republican party had elected its government by a minority of the people. It was to the vast body of the people that the majority of the House was declaring that it meant to suspend the operation of the rule in regard to the Committee of the Whole on the most important question to which it was applicable. AN IRREVOCABLE PIAT. Before the bill had been considered at all, the fiat had gone torth that four days would be permitted for general debate, and eight days for debate under the five-minute rule. The very aunouncement had repressed debate. Gentlemen on the Democratic side had felt that it was idle to prepare for the discussion. He protested against the resolution as un-American, unwise, and violent to parliamentary procedure. [Applause.]

Mr. McKinley denied that the resolution had any purpose to stifle debate. It had no such purpose. It was intended to concentrate debate on the paragraphs and pro-visions of the bill. Any gentleman who had listened to the discussion for the past three days must have been convinced that everything was discussed but the real question to be determined. The resolution was not to deny to the minority freedom of debate, but to deny to it the right to delay public business by dilatory motions and obstructive tactics. The House had been given 35 bours of general debate and 15 hours under the five-minute debate, and it was to be Georgia remember that in the Forty-fourth Congress but one day had been given to the consideration of the tariff In the Forty-fifth Congress the tariff bill had been considered six days. In the Forty-eighth Congress it had been considered nine days. Mr. McMillin suggested that they were nine days of general debate. Mr. McKinley replied that that was all the ocrats wanted. The enacting clauses had been striken out and that in a Demo-

REED'S FORMER SENTIMENTS. Mr. McMillin inquired whether the gentleman would allow him to read what the present Speaker had said upon the subject of limited debate. Mr. McKinley would not. He had no doubt that when the Speaker was in a misority he was clamoring for debate. [Laughter.] Mr. Springer said that in the Forty-eighth Congress there was on the Democratic side 12 or 15 members who voted with the Republicans to strike out the coacting clause. Mr. McKinley-Yes; and among those 12 or 15 or 20 members was the noblest Demo-erat that ever stood on that floor-Samuel J. Randali. [Applause,] The true leader of the Democratic party, he led in that re-sistance to stop the consideration of the bill which he believed would destroy the great industries of the United States, [Applause, Mr. McMillia inquired what (under the resolution) would become of the amendments uffered in committee of the whole, and not disposed of at noon Wednesday?

Mr. McKinley-They will fail. A DEMOCRATIC CHARGE. Mr. McMillin-And it is your object to make them fall?
Mr. McKinley demanded the previous

Mr. Breekinridge, of Kentucky, moved to lay the resolution on the table. Lost, yeas, 110; nays, 148. The previous question was ordered. Yeas, 133; nays, 102, and the resolution was adopted. Yeas, 129; nays, 93.

The House then went into committee of the whole (Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, in the chair) on the tariff bill. The reading of the bill consumed the remainder of the day, and House took a recess. HORSFORD'S ACID PHOSPHATE Makes Delicious Lemonade. A teaspoonful added to a glass of hot or cold water, and sweetened to the taste, will be found refreshing and invigorating.

SHE KILLED HER CHILD.

Agnes Tunkert Plends Gullty of Murder in the Second Degree-Ex-Mayor Liddell Acquitted of Assault-Damage Sutts and

In the Criminal Court yesterday, Agnes Tankert, a good looking girl, aged 18 years, was arraigned on the charge of murder. She was accused of strangling her child just after its birth. The body of the infant was found February 19, alongside a spring in Woods' Run, Allegheny. It was wrapped in a shawl, with a hat pin thrust through its windpipe. Miss Tankert was arrested as the mother and murderess of the child, and held for trial. All of yesterday morning was occupied in getting a jury, but when court reoccupied in getting a jury, but when court reconvoned in the afternoon her attorneys, Messrs. Reardon and Brennen, entered for her a plea of guilty of murder in the second degree.
It was accepted by District Attorney Johnston, and the girl was remanded to jail for sentence.
Ex.Mayor Robert Liddell was acquitted of the charge of aggravated assault and battery on Honora Clark. Frank Smith was convicted of betrayal, on oath of Sadle Guckas. It Voelker was convicted of assault and battery on Christ Schmidt. The jury is out in the case of Angelina Harris, tried for assault and battery on Samuel Breton.

Cocoa is of supreme importance as an article of diet. Van Houten's has fifty per cent. more flesh-forming properties than exist in the best of other cocoas.

"BEST & GOES FARTHEST."

The tissue of the cocoa bean is so softened as to render it easy of digestion, and, at the same time, the aroma is highly developed.

EFVAN HOUTEN'S COCOA ("once tried, always used") is the original, pure, soluble Cocoa, invented, putented and made in Holland, and is to-day better and more soluble than any of the numerous imitations. In fact, a comparative test will easily prove, that no other Cocoa equals this Incentor's in solubility, agreeable taste and nutritive qualities. "Largest sale in the world." Ask for Van HOUTEN's and take no other.
