From the New President of the Window Glass Workers' Assembly.

MR. EBERHARDT TALKS OUT LOUD.

A Conference on the Plumbers' Strike May be field This Week.

DOINGS OF A DAY IN LABOR CIRCLES

John P. Eberhardt has been officially declared elected to the position of President of the Window Glass Workers' Association, also styled Labor Assembly No. 300, K. o L. The tollowing is a verbatim report of his maugural address, delivered before the assembly meeting. Aside from dealing with affairs connected with L. A. 300, he tackles the labor problem with speech of interest alike to manufacturers and workingmen: To the Officers and Members of L. A. 300:

To the officers and Members of L. A. 200:

BROTHERS—I have been chosen by a vote of the membership of L. A. 300 to assume the leadership of the greatest and grandest labor organization this world has ever seen—the greatest is that it has accomplished more for the trades of which it is composed than has any similar organization in this or any other country. This is a broad assertion, but a glance at the history of organized labor will prove its truth to any reasoning man.

the history of organized labor will prove its truth to any reasoning man.

Having to do as we have with a manufacturing business, 89 per cent of the expenses of which go to the laborers, and having to contend with the encroachments of foreign manufacturers who not only possess advantages in cheapness in the more costly of the materials used, but who are able to procure the all-important item of labor at less than half what we receive for ours. Yet we have overridden every obstacle, and stand to-day a wonder to the world and an eye-sore to-day a wonder to the world and an eye-sore to those who would make labor organization only mobs to create strikes, and of the membership a horde of famishing sycophants, to be gulled out of their hard earnings for the agrandizement of their loafer leader

CREDIT FOR THE TARIFF. It may be urged that our success is due to the protective policy of our Government f want to say right here that, in so far as that policy has affected our progress it has been shaped right on the floors of our assembly and preceptories, and in the councils of our leaders, more than it has in the halls of the Congress

It is a true saying that "God helps the man who helps himself," and the great secret of success of L. A. 300 lies in the fact that we have never swerved from a determination to know our own business and assert our rights. It is my belief that L. A. 300 has struck the that is to releave the grounded the harmony that is to releave the grouns of the wretched and the discordant wails of the oppressed, and fill our earth with the sweet music of good will and plenty.

Men prate about nobility of labor, and at the Men prate about nobility of labor, and at the same time have not the least conception of the infinite height and breadth and length and depth of the words uttered. Ministers of the gospel preach of the glory and wonderful plan by which it was determined in the eternal councils of the great I Am that man should be saved from spritual death, and are too apt to lorgest that alongside of and coadjutant with that plan was one by which the race was to be saved temporal misery, which plan was spoken into operation and a flat went forth, "Cursed is the ground for thy sake," This created the peace. ground for thy sake." This created the necessity for that physical and mental activity the was to save the race from that barbarism an rnis that are a consequence of idleness and ignorance, and by enlarging his capacity are ignorance, and by enlarging his capacity and multiplying his opportunities, developed his mental and moral faculties to raise man in the scale of rational existence and elevate the standard of civilization by a harmonizing concert of the physical activity of the race, so that rightly understood that seemingly awful and, by the ignorant, so much depreciated decree, was really to vouchasfe to man the exsited power of glorifying anew his revised manhood in the doing of good and true things.

A CRITICAL POINT. But you say, what has all this to do with question of the first importance, then (safe only as relates to eternity), is the solution of the great labor problem. You may say let us maintain our wages and attend to our own business, and let the McGiynns and the Georges and the thinkers solve the problem. Brothers, if we had followed such a policy in the past we would not be the great L A, 300 of to day. Had we not stepped into save the manufacturers (our employers) from their own folly, and had we not forced them to act for the future of the business, it would long since have gone down, and we would have been buried in the ruins. If we fail now, in our faithfulness to the true policy that past and present success should teach us to follow, all our prospects for prosperity, all to follow, all our prospects for prosperity, all our dreams of future success, will prove as Dead Sea fruits that tempt the eye and turn to Let us, then, continue to educate ourselve Let us, then, continue to educate ourselves in the knowledge of things pertaining to our business. Let us train ourselves in the principles of right and justice, so that we may be able to meet any man as our equal, and claim for ourselves a just share of the bounties which God, in His wisdem, has hinden away and buried from the reach of the slothful and ignorant.

As great as L. A. 300 has grown to be, yet she has been hindered in her progress by circumstances incident to the phenomenal growth in the business in which we are employed. The last year or two has put our stability, as an organization, to a crucial lest. I need not particularize here, but will only say that the officers have had an arduous task to steer our bark safely through the peritous waters in which we have lately safed. Not only have they had to contend with new and cus waters in which we have intely sailed. Not only have they had to contend with new and untried difficulties, incidental to the unprecedented and unlooked-for growth in the business; but these difficulties have been enhanced by the bitter antagonism of would be innor leaders who are jealous of our success, but whose malignity only hurt in so far as they have succeeded in reducing the minds of some of our own members into a loss of faith in our association and its officers.

AN INSTANCE CITED,

Allow me to cite one instance—the case of the alleged importations of foreigners. The ac-tion taken by the officers was to avoid a great menace to our success as an organization. It was taken after every effort had been made to accomplish the peace, safety and success of the association in other ways, and was taken as the only alternative by which to meet a great and important necessity, yet these would be labor leaders, and certain labor organizations, had themselves proven miserable failures in their attempts to protect themselves and raise the cry of bad faith to American labor.

This being a cry that possesses a not popular jingle, they succeeded in bambooding some of our otherwise faithful members into the belief that a great wrong had been done. This to the great annoyance and kindrance of the efficers. What is the outcome of 11 ali? Only Thursday, when, by the argency of the accused, the case was finally brought to trial, when all of the accused voluntarily took the stand for the benefit of the prosecution; and when they had unrestrainedly told all they had done and how they had done at; when all our secret records were opened up: all the evidence the prosecution could obtain was presented; and whon our officers submitted their case without one word of defense, and the Judge of the United States Court laughed at the prosecution, telling them that they had been only successful in proving beyond a doubt, and by their own witnesses, that the accused were guilty of no wrongdoing, and the case was taken after every effort had been made to

Brothers! Ought not this circumstance alone teach our members to place more confidence in the honor and integrity of their officers and make them slow to listen to the tongue of similar? Brothers! There is only one thing in all this world that can defeat L. A. 200 and that is unliathfulness on the part of our own memis unlaithfulness on the part of our own mer NO FEAR FOR THE FUTURE.

Were I to assume the duties of this office, without a proper appreciation of the responsi bilities I would take upon myself, and without recognizing my inability to discharge them alone and unaided, it would only be evidence of my unfitness for the place. Yet, while feeling my own inability and a deep sense of the responsibility of the office. I assume the duties without a tremor of fear for the issue. I want to say that this boidness is not born of self-confidence, but rather of the knowledge that I have the sympathy and friendship of so many of these whose services and counsel have contributed largely to our success in the past, and of my faith in the truth and fidelity of our membership in reneral, believing that my honest and carnest desire for the good of our craft will, whatever I may appear as to ability, secure for me the confidence and esteem of my fellow workmen. To have and deserve this shall be my great aim.

As to any change of the polley of the association under my administration I may say that the policy of the past administration I may say that the policy of the past administration has been such and so satisfactory as to need no radical change, with the exception of a few things that flemand change on account of a difference in conditions and circumstances, such as the publicity that our affairs have been given through the necessity arising from the public attacks of the enemies. I consider that these necessity recognizing my inability to discharge them ties have been in a great measure removed, and I call on all members to assist in suppressing from the public the business and doings of our association. Let us be on the alert and ready stall times to stand by our association.

NECESSITIES FOR SUCCESS.

Our trials are by no means over yet, but if we study to be strong, and at the same time just and fair, we will be able to overcome them all.

study to be strong, and at the same time just and fair, we will be able to overcome them all. Let us strictly adhere to the true principle of unionism, the only solution off the great labor problem. To be found not in the plans that have been suggested by the would-be philosophers. Men reason and plan and suggest means whereby the great wrong of inequality in a distribution of God's free bounties may be abolished. Single tax, Government ownership, socialism, anarchy—plans and places are suggested, some of which may be practical as means, and others, such as anarchy, rightly understood may be desirable as an endyst each in itself considered, or considered altogether, it is easily seen that if put into operation without first reducing men, things and conditions to that state of harmony that would be necessary to continued successful operation, while they might "keep the word of promise to the ear," they would "break it to the hope," and the outcome would be a retrogression back to elsavery and barbarism.

Where, then, you say, is the solution of this all-important problem? I want to say that with all the reasoning of the philosophers and speculations of wiseneres, they are almost as far from it as ever. While L. A. 300 has proven that organization, rightly directed and operated, and characterized by a fair and temperate policy will conduce to the desired end, we have so far advanced to this end as to be able to meet our employers on an equal business footing, and discuss with freedom and candor the issues that arise between us—and this with their hearty consent.

ues that arise between us-and this with their AS HE LOOKS AT IT.

In fact, this is true to the extent that the standing and stability of manufacturers may almost be accurately determined by the degree of respect they have for our organization and its rules. May we hope that these principles may become infused into the minds and practices of workers and employers, and inculcated into workers and employers and inculcated into labor organizations and capital organizations that in time all the brain power, all the brawn power, all the money power and all the skill power may be brought into united, concerted action, working as a mighty engine, extracting the good things of the world from the hidden store for the use of the whole race.

What is to bring all this about? I answer, organization, rightly directed. What is the rule, the operation of which is to bring this about? I refer you to the God of order, to the Being who created and rules the universe. about? I refer you to the God of order, to the Being who created and rules the universe. What, then, is the rule He has laid down for the direction of the activities of the race. It is plain and simple. "Do ye unto others as ye would that others should do unto you." This is the rule that will accomplish the end, and until it is recognized as the rule of action, the labor problem will remain unsolved. And the nearer we get to a successful operation of this rule, the nearer we will approach the acme of civilization, and the nearer will we come to realize the poet's dream:

realize the poet's dream: "When the war drum throbs no longer,
And the battle flags are furied,
In the parliament of man,
The federation of the world.

A CONFERENCE MAY BE HELD. The Plumbers' Strike Still Remains in a

Stubborn Fight. There are no new developments in the plumbers' strike. Each side have their "backs up," so to speak, and absolutely refuse to concede an inch from their former position. A meeting of the master plumbers will be held Tuesday, when advisability of a conference will be considered.

The journeymen held a meeting yesterday at 10 o'clock and heard the report of the Executive Committee on the number of men who have worked during the week without authority. All such were fined $5 for every day they worked.

Messrs, Matthews & Nichols have been awarded the contract for the furnaces and lears of Dithridge's new flint house at Jeannette, Pa. It is intended to build three 16-pot furnaces, but only one is to be put up at present. It is said this furnace will be eight inches larger than any other in the Pipe Manufacturers' Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Wrought Iron Pipe Manufacturers' Association will be held to-morrow in Philadelphia. Several manufacturers will go from this city to-night. It is not expected that prices will be molested.

Where the Orders Were Placed. The order for $250,000 worth of pipe placed by the Standard Oil Company has been divided between the Oil City Tube Works and the Pennsylvania Tube Works. It is the intention to increase the capacity of the national transit system. Arranging for the Picnic.

The Picnic Committee of the Amalgamated Association met at Rock Point yes terday and furthered the arrangements for the annual reunion, to take place there June 7. It is expected that fully 8,000 people will attend.

The Work of a Year. A charter has been issued for a new Amalgamated lodge in Danville, Montour county, Pa., which makes 65 lodges organized since the last annual convention, and gives an increase in membership of over 15,000.

Four car loads of immigrants arrived over the Baltimore and Ohio road from Baltimore yesterday afternoon. One hundred and twenty of them will remain here to work and the rest go farther West.

A Lack of Orders.

The axle, hammer and shaft work hammer departments of Carnegie, Phipps & Co.'s lower mills are only running half time, owing, it is said, to a scarcity of orders.

A FOREGONE CONCLUSION Wilkinsburg Votes to Increase Its Indebtedness for the Public Schools. Witkinsburg has decided to increase its indebtedness, for the benefit of the schools. It voted on the subject yesterday, with the result of more than two to one in the affirmstive. The exact figures could not be procured last night, but roughly it is 150 to 70. There are three wards in the borough. In the Second the vote was 49 to 22, and in the other two it is about the same. Notwith-standing that considerable interest is taken in the question there was a light vote. In the Second ward, for instance the voting the Second ward, for instance, the voting population is between 500 and 600, yet only 71 ballots were cast on the school indebtednosa question, many people staying away from the polls simply because they felt that there was no doubt about the result. Councils will now make arrangements for the issuance of the 4 per cent bonds at once, and there will be no delayover building the

How I Got to Colorado.

Having read in several papers that they were giving away lots at Montrose, Col., I wrote and received the deed so promptly, that a large number of my friends at once sent, and after getting their deeds, they appointed me a delegate to visit Montrose; through the courtesy of the Colorado Homestead and Improvement Co., I got a free ticket there and back. I had a lovely trip, and while there sold my lot for $127 50. Any person can get one lot absolutely free by addressing the Colorado Homestead and Improvement Co., Montrose, Colorado. By giving every third lot, they will bring thousands of people there. Montrose, the county seat, is a railroad junction, and a beautiful city of nearly 3,000, and will have 10,000 within a year. How I Got to Colorado. road junction, and a beautiful city of nearly 3,000, and will have 10,000 within a year. Their motto is "Get There, Boys," and certainly free lots and free tickets are sure winners. When property can be obtained free, why should not every one own real estate?

Judge White Refuses an Injunction Against the Duquesne Co.

THE OTHER NEWS FROM THE COURTS

The babeas corpus proceedings to secure the formal release of Robert W. Bell from Dixmont, and have the lunacy proceedings against him annulled, came up yesterday before Judge White. Though his release is asked for, Bell is not now un inmate of the asylum at Dixmont, having escaped from there last September. He had been committed in 1883, and his sister, Mrs. S. M. Rowe, appointed a committee to take charge of him.

Lieutenant Benjamin Bell was the first witness called. He testified that his brother came to his home, out West, last fall. Shortly afterward they both went to the Soldiers' Home at Marion, Ind., where they have been seting as clerks to the manager. He thought his brother perfectly sane. They came here on a 30 days' parole to obtain his final discharge from Dixmont.

Robert W. Bell was placed on the stand.

He said he was sent to Dixmont at the in-stance of his mother. He had been suffering from brain fever, but was never vio-lently insane. He objected to going to Dixmont, but was compelled to. He had a pension of $24 a month, which was afterward increased, and he would not have been a charge. He determined to escape and did, but was recaptured and escaped again in September. Though a pay patient he was abused and compelled to do dis-agreeable work. He was beaten and cuffed around by the keepers, one of them, John Guiniff, knocking him down against a

Mrs. Rowe testified that they had sent her brother to Dixmont because they could not care for him at home. She thought him much improved, and had no objection to his being discharged and handling his own affairs. She was ready at any time to file her statement, and had $475 to his credit,

Some Sentences Imposed in the United States

Court Yesterday. Judge Acheson imposed sentence in the United States Court yesterday, on several of the prisoners convicted during the session just closed. Edwin Morris, alias Allen Sprague, who was found guilty of burglarizing the postoffice at Nicholson, was sent to the penitentiary for three years and fined $10. He was asked if he wished sentence deferred pending a new trial of two men found guilty of the same offense, but he preferred to have it over at once, and his wish was complied with. Jesse Thomas, who plead guilty to being with Sprague, will not be sentenced until after the motion for the new trial of Casterline and Timan is settled.

Wm. H. Speicher, one of the men convicted of passing counterfeit money in Somerset county, was called up. He said he passed but one piece and that while drunk. He told Chief of Police Harris, of Johns-But you say, what has all this to do with L. A. 300? Mr. Lyon allowed that he might ot be as bad as some of the others, and Judge Acheson therefore made his sentence but one year in the penitentiary with a $10 fine. Jeremish Wilt, another of those convicted for the same offense, was sentenced to two years, and Edward Bisbing, another, got a like sentence. The case of James Brison went over for a week.

MY DEAR SIRS-Your Æolian interested me greatly—so much so that I take no hesitation in saying that I regard it a very usetation in saying that I regard it a very useful and meritorious invention. I can readily conceive that it will enable even those who cannot play to produce on the "Eolian" nearly everything to which they wish to listen, for the manual skill that is necessary should be easily and quickly acquired by everybody. I think I can predict a widespread popularity for this instrument.

Believe me that it the size wish of Believe me, that is the sincere wish of very truly yours, ANTON SEIDL, est of a Big Family of Boys,

The First to Get up in the Morning is Arrayed Like Solomon,

A very pepular member of the Depart-ment of Public Safety is noted for the great he managed to follow so successfully in the lines laid down by Berry Wall, more especially as his salary, while good, is not extravagant, and he is known to have a horror of running bills, especially tailors' bills. Last evening he dropped into Central station with a particularly lurid necktie, that put to shame the electric light and made the glittering brass railing in front of the Captain's desk look sember by comparison. He was asked where he got the object-lesson in primary colors, and in a burst of con-fidence told the following story:

NOT EXACTLY HIS FAULT. "You see, it's not altogether my fault I'm wearing this necktie. I am of a retir-ing disposition, and it makes me nervous when I pass a young lady on the street to have her look at this necktie and then stop and listen for thunder. But this is the way it is. There are nine of us boys, and we all live at home. There is little difference in our size, and the same hat, collar or shirt will fit each and every one of us. Now see how it works. "The first one up in the morning has the choice of nine outfits. From what is comparatively an infinite variety of clothing he can select that which suits him best—and he generally does it. It is a warm, sunshinv day, and he glances through the clothing clearing house and picks out a light suit, patent leather shoes, a straw hat and a fancy necktie, probably leaving in their place heavy winter wear, all splashed with mud. be accomplished by the convention being with mud.

> "The next to arise will take his choice of the remainder of the clothing, and so on down the list, until the ninth and last gets up. He has no choice. He simply takes what is left. If he has exceptionally good luck he may find a complete suit, but it is as exceptional as winning the capital prize in a lottery. The probabilities are that each garment represents a different suit of widely-separated eras of construction, all more or less in need of repair. We are philosophical, and the last one to arise usually takes an inventory and then goes into dry dock for repairs, or, in other words, goes back to bed while buttons are sewn on and rents are closed.

"After telling you all this, it is hardly necessary for me to say that I was the last one of the family to get up this morning. The result is I am wearing baseball shoes, black dress pants, a white vest, lawn-tennis shirt, pea jacket and a straw hat. The necktie is all right. I would have over-slept myself this morning, but it was so loud it woke me up."

Mr. Fred Hahn, Another well-known resident of Sharpsburg has been a victim of catarrh and dyspepsia. His stomach gave him an endless amount of trouble. He had belching of gas from his stomach after eating, sour taste, and often felt like vomiting his food. His appetite was poor, and as his liver was much enlarged it gave him great pain. In fact, he would often be taken with such sharp cramps and pain across his stomach and bowels it seemed as if he could not live. He had palpitation of the heart, dizziness, weakness and pain across the small of his back, and a numb, lifeless feeling in his limbs. He could get but little sleep, and as every change of weather gave him a cold, he took on a lingering cough. His breath became short and he felt pain and soreness in his lungs and under his shoulder blades. Night sweats weakened him very fast, and he gradually grew worse until he lost 30 pounds of flesh. Having a wife and two small children whom he dearly loved, depending on him for a living, and having spent all his money in doctoring ton o avail, not being able to work, he became discouraged and disheartened, and often became so melancholy that he would feel tempted to jump into the river and thus end his suffering. One day he noticed in the paper an account of a patient who had been cured by the catarrh specialists at 323 Penn avenue of conditions that seemed similar to his own. He resolved to call on these specialists. He did so, and was told he could yet be cured. Although he had but little faith, he resolved to try once more, and after taking a course of treatment became cured. He says: "The above history of my disease and cure is true in every respect. I had received treatment from 20 physicians I was scarcely able to do any work. I have now worked hard for the past two months, feel well and strong, and words do not express the joy I feel that my life has been spared and health restored. I hereby sign my name, FRED HAHN."

which comprise the town site, Wood, Har-mon & Co. cast about for the best means to wariety of his wardrobe, especially in the matter of hats and neckties, and it has been a source of wonder to his friends how was finally determined upon and duly used. The initial advertisement was followed by the first day's sale, and 128 lots of the 478 in the plan were disposed of in less than 12 hours, netting over $48,000.

The character of the buyers showed that all classes, from well-to-do artisans, (?) to salaried employes of leading business houses, had been reached effectively. Inquiries came from all sections of the county, and the stream of applications of the county, and the stream of applications. plicants for lots rather puzzled as well as delighted the promoters of the town, as such a great rush had hardly been anticipated. The next three days' sales averaged 50 lots, and the next two days averaged 30 lots, each day. Other advertisements had been inserted in various city papers, but another big day did not come until there was a repetition of the broad-side advertisement in THE DISPATCH. Eighty-six lots were sold upon the day following, and up to date the sales have netted $110,000 out of a possible total of $120,000.

fication at the success attending their venture, and do not hesitate to accord to THE DIS-PATCH the lion's share of the credit of the thorough advertisement of their new town. Clifton is four minutes' walk from the Fort Wayne Railroad and will be rendered very accessible by the talked-of extension by the Pleasant Valley Railroad of its Washington avenue branch. The road officials say that they propose extending the line along the New Brighton road to Dixmont within six months, and to Sewick-ley eventually. The lots in Clif-ton are of uniform size, 25 x100, and in many cases two lots have been purchased by one person. The streets are to be 40 feet wide, and will be improved.

The price of lots ranges from $375 to $100, an average of $262 by the company's figures. Those who own lots derive the benefit that will occur from so heavy a sale, as improvements not originally contemplated are now assured by the promoters.

Wood, Harmon & Co. say that no experience in any other city furnishes a parallel to the quick sales at Clifton, thus proving n other cities ample opportunity to test the 'drawing power" of the daily press.
