SHAMED INTO SUICIDE

Murderer John Smith, No Longer Able to Stand His Nickname.

HANGS HIMSELF WITH A CHAIN.

Closing Scene of an Oil Country Drams of Thirteen Years Ago.

WATER WAS TOO COLD TO DROWN IN

"Murderer" John Smith one of the hestknown drillers throughout the oil regions, committed suicide at Boley's Hotel, in the Diamond, at an early hour yesterday morn-

About 2 A. M., J. W. Wagner, a guest of the hotel, was lying awake in a room on the second floor, when he heard a gentle most serious questions and one to which you tapping at his window pane, and the rattling of a chain. He jumped out of bed, pulled up the blind and staggered back as he was confronted by the ghastly face of a corpse, pressed closely to the window, the protruding eyeballs glaring in with a look of eager inquiry.

Mr. Wagner, after recovering from his surprise, saw that the body was swinging from the window of the room above, and that the neck was encircled by a double coil of chain. He at once notified the hotel emloyes, the body was taken down and, life being extinct, it was sent to the morgue to await an inquest by the Coroner to-day. SKETCH OF THE SUICIDE.

John Smith was about 43 years old, unmarried, about 6 feet 3 inches in height and very powerfully built. He obtained his sonbriquet of "Murderer" in 1877, at Edenburg, Clarion county, Pa. Smith, with two companions, Bowles and Brooks, went on a spree, became violently intoxicated, quarreled, and finally got into a fight. During the scuffle a shot was fired, and Brooks fell

The police arrested Smith for the murder, but were unable to find Bowles, who fied upon seeing Brooks fall, and has never been heard of since. At the trial Smith ienied that he fired the shot, and threw the blame upon Bowles. The case was hotly contested in court, and excited great interest in the oil country, all three men being well-known drillers and very popular.

The Commonwealth was unable to fix the crime upon Smith, and he was acquitted. out the stigma of the charge forever afterward rested upon him, and he was always spoken of us "Murderer" John Smith. Smith was restive for a time under this title, but as it still clung to him, he changed from a hearty, companionable fellow to noody, retiring man, and became more and more addicted to the use of liquor.

Whenever he became intoxicated he would talk of suicide, and several times said he would drown himself if the water was not riends have taken revolvers from him.

On Saturday, Smith, who has been working at Sewickiey, got to drinking consider-Graham, clerk of the Red Lion Hotel, to lend him a revolver, as he wanted to shoot himself, but the request was, of course, refused. Smith went to his botel about midnight. In his room was a fire-escape, consisting of ten feet of chain, attached to which is a rope long enough to reach to the ground. wrapped the chain twice around his neck and then precipitated himself out of the

A search was made of Smith's effects yesterday, but the only letter found was one dated Gouverneur, N. Y., May 1, 1890, tell-ing Smith that his mother's address was at Spring Lake, Mich. Both addresses have been telegraphed to, but no answer has, as yet, been received.

WATCHFULNESS AND PRAYER. REV. W. F. OLDHAM'S LAST SERMON AT

THE BUTLER STREET CHURCH The Need of Constant Care to Keep Out of Temptation-A Benutiful Woman to be Admired-Other Extracts From Yesterday's Sermons. Rev. W. F. Oldham, pastor of Butler Street M. E. Church, delivered his last morning sermon yesterday, as the regular pastor, Dr. W. H. Pearce, is expected to return this week. After an interesting little sermon to the children, the pastor announced that instead of a regular sermon he would give a homily, taking for his subject, "Watch and pray, that ye enter not into temptation." Mr. Oldham said:

"Watch your own hearts, for there is the starting point of decline; there is the source of backsliding, which begins in the spirit and in the thoughts. Watch your companionship. In this country there is a disposition to make mirth and speak lightly cannot give too much thought. Choose a wife for other qualities than beauty and grace; see that she has beauty of spirit and strength of mind. Not that I underestimate beauty and grace, or any quality with which God has adorned one. There is a custom among the Arabs of saying whenever they pass a beautiful woman, Thank God for beautiful woman.' So I thank Him for all beauty, but intellectual and spiritual fitness beauty, but intellectual and spiritual fitness is the proper basis. God pity the man who finds no intellectual sympathy in his life of Sunday school classes were short of their companionship; and so, I may say, of the

"I am persuaded that our modern'society is all wrong; that women have to stand, as if on exhibition, until some one comes along who admires her qualities, and then she thinks she must accept. Do not be hasty. Remember the couplet from Tennyson:

"As the husband is, the wife is, Thou art mated with a clown, And the grossness of his nature, Shall have weight to drag thee down."

Mr. Oldham then spoke of the companion-ship of daily lite, and said: "There is no fallacy greater than this, 'I am strong enough to stand alone.' Our lives are colored by associations with those who are not so pure as we are. We need constantly to watch and pray. Watching without prayer is useless, prayer without watching is ian-aticism. Do you not know that sin never leaves you as it found you? God forgives us, but we are not the same afterward. Even when God forgives you, the mischief you have done can not be undone. Therefore, watch and pray, lest you lead some one into temptation.

TEN YEARS OF SERVICE

Commemorated at the Grace Reformed Church, by Its Paster.

Yesterday morning a large congregation gathered in the Grace Re ormed Church, and listened to the tenth anniversary sermon of the pastor, Rev. John A. Prugh. He came to Pittsburg from Xenia, O., at the close of his school course, and preached his first sermon May 18, 1880. Then the membership of the church was 125; now it is 430. In the ten years 378 members were added, and 73 were lost by death and removals; leaving a net gain of 305. A year ago Grace church started a mission school in Allegheny, with 39 scholars and teachers; the enrollment of the school yesterday was 248. Mr. Prugh has preached in Grace church 906 sermons, and elsewhere has preached 105; upon members and non-mem-bers he has made 8,734 calls. During his bers he has made 8,734 calls. During his pastorate the congregation has given $31,475 for benevolence and $49,300 for congregational purposes, a total or $80,775.

The subject of Mr. Prugh's discourse yesterday morning was "Christian Epochs."
In the course of his remarks he said: "It was an epoch in the life of the church and in the life of Paul when for the first was an epoch in the life of the church and in the life of Paul when for the first was an epoch in the life of the church and in the life of Paul when for the first was an epoch in the life of the church and in the reports of the society. THE POLICE STOPPED THE FUN.

Yesterday Morning. Joy was unconfined in the house of Was sil Hoodok, on Carson street, near South Eighth street, Saturday night. The festivities did not terminate with the closing hour of Saturday, but advanced merrily into the quiet Sabbath. There were persons in plenty living in Mr. Hoodok's vicinity who were willing to testiry as to the disorderly char-acter of the place, and the police thought that an early hour yesterday morning was a good time to interrupt the pleasures of the giddy throng. The house was full of people, but only the proprietor and two men, Steve Vaseline and George Pasenak, were arrested, Hoodok was fined $18 40; Vaseline and Pasenak $13 40 each, on charges of keeping

A CIRCUS ON SUNDA

Hundreds of People Witness the Arrival of the Forepaugh Show.

HOW IMMENSE TENTS ARE RAISED

National Players' League Grounds a Waving Sea of Canvas.

ROUTE FOR TO-DAY'S STREET PARADE

Colonel James E. Cooper's great Forepaugh show and Wild West combination arrived in the city from Altoona yesterday, and is now located in the National Players League grounds in Allegheny, where dual exhibitions will be given to-day and tomorrow. The show was unloaded at Washington avenue, and from there driven to the old Exposition Park by way of Allegheny and South avenue. The show is all here, enlarged and beautified and sparkling with immense springtime successes, with which it has met in a dozen or more Eastern cities. The work of raising the the tents and putting the show in readiness was done yesterday afternoon. This was quite a novelty, usual attendance, judging from the number of boys and children who were out. There were probably 500 people on Monument Hill, and Southern avenue was lined with anxious sight-seers. The grounds were not in the most desirable condition. The sods have been lifted from the infield and the ground was so soft that it required 16 horses to draw one of the property wagons into the VERY RAPID WORK It is hard to describe the rapidity with which circus tents are raised. A couple hundred men are divided up into quads of 10 to 15 each, and each squad does a certain portion of the work. Forepaugh's big tent is 200x400 feet, with a seating capacity of 20,000. Just an hour from the time the first post was driven yesterday, flars were float-ing from the staffs of a completed tent. One of the principal features of the show is Capt. Frank D. Yates' band of 52 Indians. There are remnants of four tribes, with as many chiefs. There are 12 from Sitting Bull's old band, with Black Bull Bear as their chief. Short Horn heads the Blackfeet tribe; Kicking Horse, the Man-dans, and Long Tooth, the Assinuiboine. Among the squaws are Mrs. Thunderstorm

—a tough name for a mother-in-law; Mrs.
Ant, Mrs. Red Sunset, Mrs. Shotin-The-Head and Mrs. Hailstones, who can set type. A little 7-year-old Indian kid ac-companies the band. He is named Johnny Seven-Up. He has learned the game at a tender age. Captain Yates, who has charge ter's regiment. The show as a whole is conveyed in a train of 52 cars, with 4 additional advertising cars, 316 horses, mules and ponies, 16 elephants, 8 camels, 20 cages of wild animals, 430 employes, 75 advance agents and bill posters, a band of 52 Indians, 2 large circus tents, 7 horse tents, 3 dining tents, 60 ring performers, and a Wild West department with 80 people, under Captain Eogardus. Colonel James E. Cooper is the sole pro-prietor. He is a native of Philadelphia, and was formerly the partner of Mr. Bailey, now of Barnum & Bailey.

IT COSTS SOMETHING TO BUN IT. The daily expenses of the show are $3,500 $4,000. The contract made between the late Adam Forepaugh and Mr. Barnum in regard to a division of territory holds good for this year. For that reason the Forepaugh is the only big show to be in Pittsbur; this year.

The route for to-day's parade has been terday, at the suggestion of the police officials. The following is the revised route: Starting from Exposition Park, Allegheny, at 9 o'clock this morning, the pageant will move down Robinson street to Federal street, down Federal and scross Sixth street bridge to Sixth street, to Market street, to Fifth avenue, up Fith avenue to Wood street, down Wood to Water street, up Water to Smithfield street, along Smithfield to Liberty street, down Liberty to Seventh street, and across Seventh street bridge, up Sandusky street to Church avenue, to Ceda avenue, up Cedar avenue to North avenue, along North avenue to Federal street, down Federal to Robinson street, thence to Exposition Park.
