ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. PHILADELPHIA, May 19.-Dame Fortune smiled all over the Philadelphias to-day, and they won as they pleased from the smoky City lads Galvin twirled for the visitors, but the size of the Philadelphia score can hardly be attributed to him. He was as tricky and effective as ever, and it was only after the side should have been retired that the local men did any hitting. The Pittsburg's nine errors told the tale of woe. They were more valuable to the home team than hits. To sum it all up, the Phillies earned only ? of their 16 runs. They played a sort of go-as-you-please game throughout HALLMAN'S GOOD HITTING.

Hallman led both teams at the bat and die about the best fielding for his side. Cunningham fared better then he has in any game yet this season. Luck was with the Phillies from the start, and they scored four runs in the first inning after Corcoran tripped up on a difficult chance to retire the side. Hallman and Shindle went out on long flies and Milligan and Mulvey singled. Sanders put up a fly back of short an singled. Samers put up a ny nara of shortand Corcorna, after a long run, dropped it. Beth runners scored, and then Robinson dropped Wood's fit, which allowed Sanders to score also, Farrar hit to left for two bases and Wood came in with the fourth run. The visitors scored in this inning on Visner's double and Carroll's single, and tallied again in the second on singles by Ruehne and Corcoran and Cunningham's wild throw.

KUEHNE'S TWO-BASER. crifice and passed ball gave the visitors a run in the fourth, and the Philadelphias scored in the fifth on Shindle's rattling drive for three bases and Mulvey's sacrifice fly. Two more loca men scored in the sixth liming on Corcoran's fumble, Visner's must and Hallman's single. Fleids' must, doubles by Farrar and Shannon, and Robinson's wild throw nested the home team three runs in the seventh inning. Galvin was disgusted in the ninth inning and his opponents accred six more runs on a single, double and a triple, must by Fields and Heckley, a hit by pitcher and Shindie's base on balls. The score:

Hartford Club Disputches for the Pitcher's Lowest Terms.

Already there is a demand for the local National League club's idie pitchers. Yesterday afternoon Director O'Neil received a telegram from the President of the Hartford club asking for the lowest terms of Daniels. The reply was requested at once. Daniels will wire his terms this morning. The Washington, D. C., club also dispatched for Gray's terms, but Mr. O'Neil is inclined to loan Gray to Meadville until June 15.

Mr. O'Neil also received letters from Manager Hecker and Sunday. The latter denies all the charges made by Dunisbagainst Manager Hecker, and states that every man on the team has the highest respect for Hecker. He adds that the club is better without Duniap. Manager Hecker also states that all the players are pleased that Duniap has gone from their midst. The assurances of Sunday thoroughly satisfies Mr. O'Neil. The latter stated that it was never intended to make any investigation regarding Duniap's charges, "and," he added, "those who stated the contrary were teiling what was not true," est terms of Daniels. The reply was requested a

He Once More Easily Defeats Hawden in a Working Bont Race.

The latest English exchanges give an account of a second race between the old-time scullers Hawdon and Lumsden. The following is from the London Referer of May 4:

William Lumsden, of Ushaw Moor (late of William Lumsden, of Ushaw Moor (late of Blyth), and John Hawdon, of Newcastle, decided their second match Saturday afternoon over a distance of one and a half miles on the Tyne-viz, from the Madison House to Armstrong Shear Legs—for a stake of £0 a side. It will be remembered that their first match was rowed in skiffs a fortnight ago over a distance of two miles for a similar stake, which Lumsden wou easily; but the distance to-day being half a mile less, and in open boats, it was thought that Hawdon might have reversed matters. There was nothing to complain of either in the weather or the condition of the river, and both mon appeared well. Lumsden was made favorite at odds of $10.2 on him. They were dispatched to a capital start, but Lumsden a made favorite at odds of $10.2 on him. They were dispatched to a capital start, but Lumsden at the Rechengh Bridge. The race was now devoid of all interest, as the favorite, without any exertion whatever, led by a similar distance, throughout, and won easily by two lengths and a half. Mr. Tom Winship, of Gateshead, was referee.

Conners Defents Greek George in a Contest of Three Bouts.

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. Ente, May 19, - "Greek George," and Thomas Connors, English champion, wrestled a match, catch as catch can for $3% a side to-night at the Opera House, before 1,030 people. The Greek came on the mat with a raw shoulder from Buffallo's horseback match. The men went together hammer and tongs and while Connors possessed superior strength, Greek wrestled determinedly. In the first bout the Greek's half Nelson's were unavailing, and he got caucht with a rolling lock, which put him on his back in 16 minutes. In the second bout the Greek wrestled with great determination and put a bar lock on Connors, and, raising his head, Greec-Boman, threw his body over Connors' breast and broke his bridge in six minutes. The third bout was a battle of the giauts. Connors forced the contest and shifted from a half Nelson to a hatch lock, on both arms, winning the fall and match. Charles Green challenged Connors to a side. The Greek also bhallenged Councrs to a Green-Goman match for $500 a side. Both matches were accepted and will be arranged after the Connors-Barkeek match Wednesday night. entch as eatch can for $3.0 a side to-night at the oarsman. The race between O'Connor and Stansbury fixed for June 23, and the winner was down to row Kemp. This will shut out the intended race. The victory of Kemp over McLean makes Peter andoubtedly the best of the Australians, barring Stansbury, who appears to be an unknown quantity, but whose own people have not rated him as good as Kemp. It makes plain, also, that O'Compor's chauces are bright. None of the younger alleged phenomenal sculiers have turned out equal to expectation. If McLean can't beat Kemp et and the stuff of which world beaters are made, and If O'Contor comes against Kemp It will be long odds on the Canadian.

J. Donnelly, the builder of so many tast boats, has an order from O'Comotor to build him an outrigger. The Canadian brought a Warin beat with him, but no doubt wishes to test the Australian-built boats, which are on very different undoubtedly the best of the Australians, barring

RESULTS OF THE OLD LEAGUE GAMES

Cincinnati..... 9. Philadelphia..... 6 New York...... 5..Cleveland...... SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR.

BROOKLYN, May 18 .- Pitcher Schmitt just suited the League ciffb at Washington Park to-day, as at no time during the game did he show any effectiveness. But still, the support that he received would take the ambition out of any player. When the home team did not manage to hit safely, a muff was sure to occur. The infielders of the Pittsburgs did not play the dashing game they played on Saturday. Both Youngman and Miller did not play their positions as well as they are able to do. The base running of the Brooklyns was about the only feature, Collins especially doing some fine sprinting.

O'BRIEN'S HOME RUN. O'Brien enlivened up the 383 spectators in the seventh inning by a home-ron drive. Smith had il chances at short field and managed to accept them all. After the visitors had been retired in them all. After the visitors had been retired in the first incing the home team took their chances with the stick and managed to bring in four uncarned runs. O'Brien reached first on balls, and, by a dash of speed, ran around to third on Collins' short bunt, scoring a moment later on Hines muffing Burns' fly. Collins, who reached second on the error, stole third later on, and crossed the plate on LaRoque's error of Pinkney's grounder. The Pittsburg's shortstop made another error of Corkhill's grounder, and two more runs tallied.

THEIR ONLY RUNS. The visitors made their only runs in the follow ing innings. Roat was an easy out, while Young-man mournfully walked to first base on being hit by the ball. Wilson was also hit a sharp crack, and pobbled to first. Miller sent their stocks up by banging a double to left field, bringing in two runs. In the two following innings the Brooklyns did not better their score, but managed to score a run in the fourth inning on Miller's wiid throw to first, a sacrifice, and a timely single by Collins. The Colorado Champion Faces Peter Jack-chicago, May 19.—Six thousand people to-night witnessed a rattling five-round match with four-ounce gloves between Peter Jackson, the colored Australian champion, who is to fight John L. Sullivan, and Ed Smith, the champion of Colorado. Much interest was taken in the question of Smith's ability as against Jackson, owing to the fact that the Colorado man has been trained by Sullivan's noted belper. Muldoon the wrestier, and to the further fact that Smith recently knocked out Mike Cleary in one round. Smith mode a decidedly good showing against the big colored man, standing up the five rounds without suffering a knock-out. Smith appeared timid in the first round, and was floored three times, but in the succeeding rounds rallied, and though at a disadvantage from Jackson's jow and wind. Both men were groupy when the combat ended. Muldoon offers to back Smith for $5.00 to a finish against any man in the world, bar Sullivan, McAuliffe and Jackson.

Victim of Heart Disease Falls on His Horse's Neck and is Taken Off Dead.

At the ranch of William Dixon, the wellknown Cosumnes farmer, a singular instance of sudden death occurred the other forenoon, Mr. Dixon's brother, Michael S. Dixon, set out on horseback to drive up some cattle. He had been a sufferer from heart disease. It was deemed best to have his nephew accompany him. Alvin Plummer was coming to the city and saw the men driving cattle in the field near the road. Presently he noticed the elder Dixon rein up his horse, lean forward over the pommel of his saddle and remain in that po-sition, the horse meanwhile standing quite still. Mr. Plummer thought that something was wrong with the man, but concluded that he had an attack of bleeding at the nose. Young Dixon rode up and spoke to his uncle, who did not move, and then rode hurriedly to the lane and informed Mr. Plummer that he believed his uncle was dead. Mr. Plummer drove into the field and over to where the horse and his im-movable rider were, and found that Mr. Dixon was really dead. He assisted the young man in lifting the body from the horse and placing it in the buggy, and then drove back with it to the Dixon ranch.

DEPEW TO SUCCEED GRANT.

Many Think the Orntor's Road to the White House Lies in That Direction.

I am surprised by the frequency with which Chauncey M. Depew's name is mentioned in connection with the Mayoralty. There is a disposition among Republicans to say that an emergency has arisen in New York City affairs when no man is too high or too eminent or too distinguished to refuse to respond to a draft. Not a few persons argue that if Mr. Depew wishes to be President his road lies through the Mayoralty and the redemption of New York City, through the Governorship, and the redemption of New York State.

was going on a lawyer of prominence, who heard it, said: "Why, William H. Vanderhilt gave Depew $1,000,000 to accept the Presidency of the New York Central road. He cannot be a poor man." But Mr. Depew's friend replied: "When a Vanderbilt gives away $1,000,000 to any man the world will have come to an end. There never was any such transfer as you speak about."

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] WASHINGTON, May 19.—The controversy precipitated by Glassworker Campbell came up in the House again to-day, but only in a mild form. Mr. Wilson, of West Virginia, bore out admirably the character he has won in the House as a gentleman of unabated calmness and courtesy, even under provocation and excitement. His hisory of the size and growth of the dispute with Campbell was entirely dispassionate, and without personalities or epithet.

It merely described what had been told before in these dispatches in regard to the difficulty, and when he paused to ask Colonel Bayne whether he personally indorsed the language of the Campbell letter as referring to him, Colonel Bayne arose and very handsomely said that had he known all the facts of the case which had transpired previous to the attacks made on Campbell in the House he wouldn't have presented the letter. He did not indorse its language as referring to the gentleman from West Virginia, and he deeply regretted the whole occurrence.

A VIRTUAL APOLOGY. There was a little ripple of applause as the Colonel sat down, but not from the hoteads, who have not forgotten Bayne for the humiliation which he was the cause of having put upon Bynum. The Hoosier bowler is much more to the taste of such as Mills and Bland than are courteous gentle-men like Wilson, and they are none too friendly to Bayne, because he virtually apologized to Wilson and not to Bynum. There will hardly be any further quarreling, however, over this particular subject of dispute, but Mills and Bland and McMillin will have a red in sight. lin will have a rod in pickle for Bayne as long as the session lasts, and will give him the end of it at every opportunity.

Mr. Campbell, who has been for the last two days the best advertised man in the country, outside of Congress, appeared on the ground in person to-day to take part in any further proceedings should his assist-ance be necessary, and to furnish Colonel Bayne with further thunder if the battle were to be continued. But the prospects are now that his services will not be needed, and it is not probable that he will have any active labor to perform in connection with the matter unless he and Bynum should meet and resume the discussion outside of the hall of Representatives physically as well as intellectually.

THE MEXICAN ORE TARIFF. During the tariff debate which followed. Mr. Hopkins, of Illinois, contended that the importation of Mexico ores was a bless-ing to American miners as well as the workingmen engaged in swelting. In the name of American labor he protested against the proviso which would control the output of American miners. There was in the gallery now, a gentleman who, if the amendment were voted down, would leave the gallery worth a million dollars more than when he entered it. Mr. Crain, of Texas, said that the leadsilver proviso was illustrative of the logical sequence of protection, namely, prohibition of importations. The adoption of the proviso in the bill meant ruin to frontier towns and inealculable injury to American capital invested in Mexican mines and Mexican railroads, to American capital invested in American railroads and American manufacturers. It would injure the merchants who turnished supplies to the miners; the works, and it would miure American Mexico, with its 12,000,000 of people, did not raise enough meat and breadstuffs for their support. It furnished a market for American cattle, American wheat and other cereals. The suggestion of Secretary Windom had resulted in retaliatory measures on the part of the Mexican Government.

A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION. Mr. Perkins, of Kansas, protested against the amendment, as putting the American miner in competition with the Mexican workingman. Mr. Townsend, of Colorado, said the amendment was in the interest of the Mexican miner. It would ruin the mining industry of the West. There was not a Democrat or Republican in the West who was not in favor of the provision of the McKinley to the internal revenue clause of the bill were adopted. They provide that upon sample boxes of cigars, containing 12 or 13 cigars, the tax shall be 4 cents; amend the administrative features of the law, and provide that wholesale dealers in oleomargarine shall keep such books and render such returns as the Commissioner of Internal Revenue may require.

THE TOBACCO TAX.

Mr. Henderson, of Iowa, spoke in favor of restoring the present internal tax on toeffect. The people believe that this tax was the last which should be taken from their shoulders. They preferred that the tax should be taken from the necessities of the table than from the pipe, the cigar and the whisky jug. The main question before the House was whether the Treasury contained enough money to pay the expenses of the Government. [Democratic applause.] At such a time he didn't believe in taking the tax from tobacco. His Democratic friends were applauding. They would give better applause if they would vote for his amendment. If they meant the clap of their hands, let their hearts and their voices follow it. If the Democrats were in control of the Horse heart and their voices follow it. to repeal entirely the internal revenue tax, knowing perfectly well that when the Democrats were in power they would not give one dollar to the soldiers, though the Re-publicans proposed to give them $50,000,000. was, however, rejected.

Mr. Henderson then offered an amendment restoring the present rate of duty on wool and woolens, but the House adjourned before this feature was considered. Ex-Postmuster General Don M. Dickin son to-day telegraphed Congressman Bynum congratulations upon his censure, and assured him that the next House would expunge it from the record.

Wary for Her Husband. the Pittsburg and Western Railroad, three weeks ago, telling her hosband, Mr. McCrea, that she was coming to the city to consult a not return, and yesterday her husband hunted high and low for her all over Pittsburg, but failed to find his wife. Finally, going to Allegheny, he called at the Girard Hotel, and inquired for the missing woman. The proprietor of the hotel was certain she had not been there, and so told Mr. McCrea. The latter was about to leave the place in despair, when an old Wildwood friend stepped up and accosted him. M Cr a told him of his search for his wife, and w soverjoyed to hear that his friend had seen. In going up the street a few moments before.

Mr. McCrea started immediately to find his wife, and saw, with a thrull of gladness, the object of his search, walking ahead of him. The husband sprang forward, and met his wife face to face. She said she was going to Pittsburg. They talked for nearly half an hour, and then she told him to wait for her at the hotel, and she would be back in a hour, to return home with him. McCrea went into the Girard, and meeting his friend, they crooked their elbows at the bar on the strength of his discovery. Then he waited for the return of the lost one who had been found. He watched and waited, but no sign of his better half. Then the truth dayned upon Mr. McCrea that the bird had again flown. Up to date Mrs. McCrea has not yet returned. A BURMESE BURIAL.

The Imposing Obsequies of a Meebya Queen of Burmah.

The Rangoon Gazette reports the burial recently of the Meebya Queen, one of the wives of King Mindone Min, whose body had been lying some time in state at the residence of her daughter, near Rangoon. At 9 o'clock the procession, which was nearly a mile long, started. White umbrellas, the special symbol of Burmese royalty, were numerous, and the priests mustered in strong force. The shrines and other ornamental structures were ablaze with gold leaf, the bands of music were numerous and the cartloads of presents for the priests would have sufficed to stock a bazan with almost every conceivable article of food and wearing apparel, besides crockery, kerosene oil, fans and turniture. "Done," was the Ohioan's quick response. "Go ahead," commanded Butterworth. Burroughs began, but he stumbled before the first five words of the scriptural passage had fallen from his lips, and he gave it up in disgust before he had completed it. "I lose the first bet," murmured Burroughs; "now you try it, Butterworth."

The latter smiled in a patronizing way and

"Hardly; go ahead." The Ohioan made a worse botch of the innocent little passage than did Burroughs, and the upshot was that they were compelled to dispose of the two bottles of wine then and there. This they did with neatness and

GREAT BRITAIN'S GROWTH. The Mother Country Still Increasing Rapidly in Population.

London Spectator, 1

The increase of the population in England and Wales is still very rapid. According to the statistics for 1889, just published by the Registrar General, the births in that year were 885,179, and the deaths 517,968, an increase of 367,211 within the 12 months, without allowing for immigration. That is a good solid colony added to the population every year. The total number now exceeds 29,000,000, or six times the population of Ireland, which was once much more than half our own. The births of men exceed those of women by 16,411, so that the disproportion between the sexes in favor of women is due activals. favor of women is due entirely to emigration and occupations abroad. But for these intervening causes the number of the sexes would be nearly equal, the excess of male deaths being more than 14,000. THE SERVANT GIRL QUESTION.

n Experience That Shows Something Must be Done, and That Quickly. oklyn Eagle.]

My wife engaged a new servant from an agency. I did not pay much attention to her, except to remark that she seemed slow and stupid. About that time I ordered from Vermont a ten gallon can of prime maple syrup. It was splendid, the best I ever tasted, and it made my mouth water to think how good it was. The syrup and the new girl entered the house about the same time. The next morning my wife noticed that my study lamp was nearly empty and told the girl to fill it. I thought the oil looked queer, and upon asking the new girl, found she had filled the lamp from the maple syrup can.

But wait. Instead of throwing that quart of mingled kerosene and maple syrup into the sewer, what did that girl do but pour the whole nauseous mess back into the syrup can. I went to the agent and on the bended knees of my soul begged him to take that girl off our hands.
