FORTY-FIFTH YEAR.

AN END TO TRADITION

If Carlisle is Chosen as a Member of the Senate Finance Committee.

PRECEDENTS WIPED OUT

By the Elevation of a New Member to This Important Place.

A SUBSTITUTE TARIFF MEASURE

Certain to be Adopted by the Upper Branch of Congress.

IMPORTERS MAY BE HEARD AFTER ALL

A caucus will meet to-night to fill the vacant position upon the Senate Finance Committee. If Carlisle it will break all the precedents which have governed the dignifled body for 100 years. There is much opposition to the plan among the older Senators, however. This is the committee which will report a substitute for the McKinley tariff bill.

PRESCRIPTION OF THE PERFATCH. WASHINGTON, May 22,-The question of whether Senator-elect John G. Carlisle is to become a member of the Senate Committee on Finance in the reconstruction of the Me-Kinley tariff bill is one that is causing much discussion at the Senate side of the Capitol. The friends of the new Senator are very anxious to have him take the place upon the Finance Committee left vacant by the death of Mr. Beck. The Democrats are not particularly strong upon this committee, and it is regarded as very important that Mr. Carlisle should become a member of it. If this state of things is to be brought about, however, some very delicate work must be done within the next day or so. Senator Beck's death creates a vacancy also on the Committee on Approprintions, regarded as next in importance to the one upon Finance.

NOT ANXIOUS FOR WORK.

But while a number of Democratic Senstors are anxious to go upon the committee that has charge of the tariff subject, very few of them are willing to take upon themselves the hard and unremitting labor that pertains to place upon the Committee on Appropriations. The Democratic leaders in the House seem the more anxious for Mr. Cartisle to take the place upon the Finance committee than the Democratic Senators clo. Many of these gentlemen think that the new member should be chosen from jumped over their heads, even though he be John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky.

The matter of arranging the committee places is one that will be determined by the Caucus Committee of Democratic Senators. Senator Beck was himself the Chairman of this committee, and since his death the honor has fallen upon the shoulders of

GORMAN IS A POWER NOW.

The Maryland Senstor will now be very influential in determining whether # Mr. Carlisle shall or shall not become a member of the Finance Committee, and thereby directly connected with whatever tariff legislation may be brought forward by the Senate. It is the general opinion about the Capitol that Mr. Gorman will oppose the promotion of Mr. Carlisle. Promotions in the Senate have been from time immorial decided by the rule of seniority, and if this rule is to be broken for the benefit of Mr. Carlisle it will be a very unusual and surprising departure from precedent. The conversative views on the tariff question which Senster Gorman holds are given as a reason why he would be apt to oppose giving this place of prominence and infinence to the Kentucky Senator. Mr. Gorman, however, said to THE DIR-PATCH correspondent to-day that this feature of the question would not be considered when the time came for arranging the places upon the committee.

A UNIT FOR TARIFF REFORM.

Mr. Gorman says that while it is true that Mr. Cartisle has been regarded as more radical in his views than he himself is that it is also true that the Democratic Senators are a unit on the subject of tariff reform, and that If it is the sense of the Democratic Senators that Mr. Carlisle is the best man to put on the Finance Committee, he will go there regardiess of any consideration as to his views on the tariff.

There are at least a half a dozen Demo cratic Senators who are earnestly opposing the plan of promoting Mr. Carlisle over the heads of Senators who have seen years of service. They say that it is preposterous to think of turning down such men as Senators Vest and Butler and others who might be glad to become a member of the Finance Committee, and that there is no reason in the world why all rules of Senatorial courtesy should be broken down in order to bring Mr. Carlisle into prominence.

The Senators had an informal meeting today, at which a surprising amount of opposition to the claims of Mr. Carlisle's friends was developed. The opposing Senators admit that the Democrats are weak upon their representation in the Finance Committee but they say there are plenty of old Senators who would add distinction and ability to this committee, and that Mr. Carlisle has meyer shown either by his industry or his ability any special virtues that would warrant him in being placed over the heads of other Senators.

VEST HAS SOME ADMIRERS.

This coterie of men are rather favorable to having Mr. Vest designated to the vacant place on the Finance Committee. The Missouri Senator was the only man on the Democratic side who, in the absence of Senator Beck, was conspicuously able in fighting the Republicans in the long tariff debate of 1888, and his friends say that he is the man to be given whatever honors the Democrats in the Senate now have to bestow. Senator Vest, it is true, is a memberan important committee on the judiand if he should be selected for m ship on the Finance Committee he might possibly be required to give up the other important place. Senator Gray, of Delaware, is also one of the conspicuously able men on the Democratic side, and his friends think that if there are any honors to be distributed some of them should fall to his lot. There does not seem to be much of a struggle for a place upon the Appropriations Committee, probably for the reason that it entails such a large amount of work. It is probable that a majority of the Democratic Senators would consent to Mr. Carlisle's selection for this place, leaving the more important one upon the Finance Committee to go to one of the older senators.

NOT IN CARLISLE'S PATH. Senator Ransom, of North Carolina, the oldest Senator in the body in point of service, was once a member of the Committee on Appropriations, and resigned, probably for the reason that he did not care to perform so much hard work. Senator Blackburn is now mentioned as a probable appointee to a fine looking widow of 55 years, with snowthis influential place. Mr. Blackburn, white hair. She was dressed in deep black. however, says that he is both willing and anxious to resign all claims to promotion in side and could not use her right leg when favor of Carlisle.

The new Senator will probably be sworn also be convened. The question will then be determined whether Mr. Carlisle shall be given a new and unusual honor by his future colleagues or take the place on the tail | that it would be important to get her home end of the committees that from time immemorial have been assigned to the new Sen-

This was the course pursued with the tariff bill of 1883, and it was found to result in a saving of time.

The Finance Committee will endeavor to maintain its determination not to give oral hearings to any interested parties, but it was reported to-day that importers of several cities, to the number of 2,000, will come to Washington next week, demanding to be heard. If any such number, or even a much smaller one, appears in a body, it is probable that the committee will open its door to their representatives.

HISCOCK SCORES A POINT.

He Introduces a Bill to Show the Scope of the Original Package Question.

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT WASHINGTON, May 22. - Senator Frank Hiscock, of New York, is determined to leave no stone unturned to defeat the proposition now before Congress to empower the various States to control, under their own laws, the sale of inter-State liquor in original packages or otherwise. He introduced to-day a bill similar in its provisions to the liquor bill, with the exception that his bill contemplates oleomargarine instead of intoxicating liquors.

Mr. Hiscock proposes to illustrate in this practical way the danger liable to result from the passage of the liquor bill, under which principle a State may prohibit the sale of almost any article of inter-State commerce. Mr. Hiscock's enthusiasm is aroused by the injury threatened to the interests of the wealthy importers of foreign wines and liquors in the State of New York,

Mr. Hoar nodded his venerable head in

The rule gives the Chairman the right to decide whether a member is sober or drunk, and there was some objection to it because some members thought that was too much power to give to the Chairman.

THE COMMITTEE'S RESOLUTION.

The Subject Will Likely be Settled at Some Future Time.

TWO-THIRDS VOTE MAY DO IT.

Work of the Board of Church Erection and Sabbath Observance.

The General Assembly reconvened yesterday at Saratoga, and a great portion of the time was given to the discussion of the revision of the confession of faith and constitution, but no final disposition was made of the matter. SARATOGA, May 22 .- At this morning's session of the Presbyterian General Assembly after the transaction of routine business he special committee on the publication board was continued another year and instructed to consult with the commission of seven appointed yesterday. The Chairman of the Committee

Amendment of the Confession of Faith and Constitution reported that it has been coninued from year to year since 1867; that this church has always emphasized doctrine as the vital element, and changes in it shall be made under greater restrictions than those in the discipline, and that alterations should be in definite terms. It is recommended that the following overture be transmitted for their action:

NOT OBLIGATORY ON THE CHURCH. First-Shall a chapter be added to the Form of Government making provision for the amendment and alteration of the Confession of Faith, the Larger and Shorter Catechism, the Form of Government, the Book of Discipline and the Directory of Worship. And in the following: the Directory of Worship. And in the following: Chapter XXIII of amendments, section 1—Amendments or alterations of the form of government, book of discipline and directory for worship may be proposed by the General Assembly to the Presbyteries, but shall not be obligatory on the church, unless a majority of all the Presbyteries approve thereof in writing. Section 2—Amendment of alterations of the Confession of Faith and the Larger and Shorter Catechisms may be proposed to the Presbyteries by the General Assembly, but shall not be obligatory on the church unless they shall be approved in writing by two-thirds of all the Presbyteries and agreed to and emacted by the next General Assembly, and the written votes of the Presbyteries shall be returned to that assembly. the written votes of the Presbyteries shall be returned to that assembly.

Section 3—Before any amendments or alterations of the Confessions of Faith or the Larger and Shorter Catechisms proposed by the General Assembly shall be transmitted to the Presbyteries, the General Assembly shall appoint to consider the subject a committee of ministers and ruling elders in number not less than 15, of whom not more than two shall be from any one Synod, and the committee shall from any one Synod, and the committee shall report its recommendations to the General As-sembly next ensuing for action. A TWO-THIRDS VOTE. Section 4-No alteration of the provisions contained in this chanter for amending or altering the confession of faith and the larger and shorter catechisms of this fourth section shall be made, unless an overture from the General ssembly submitting the proposed alteration hall be transmitted to all the Presbyterie assembly submitting the proposed alterations shall be transmitted to all the Presbyteries and may be approved in writing by two-thirds of their number and be agreed to and enacted by the General Assembly.

Section 5—It shall be collegators on the Concral Assembly to transmit to the Pr. sbyteries, for approval or disapproval, any overture respecting amendments or alterations provided for in this chapter, which, shall be admitted to the same General Assembly by one-third of all the Presbyteries. In such cases, the overtures shall be formulated and transmitted by the figurarial Assembly receiving the same to the General Assembly receiving the same to the Presbyteries for their action, subject to all Presbyteries for their action, subject to all subsequent proceedings to the provisions of the foregoing sections. Section 6—Whenever it shall appear to the General Assembly that any proposed amend-ments or alterations of the Form of Govern-ment Book of Discipline and Directory of Worship shall have received a majority vote of all the Presbyteries, the General Assembly shall declare such amendments or alterations to have been adopted and the same shall imme-diately go into effect.

NOT TO BE MISCONSTRUED. Section 7-Nothing in this chapter shall be so estrued as to affect the right of two-thirds of the Presbyteries to propose amendments or al-terations of the confession of faith and the arger and shorter catechisms or the General Assembly to agree to and enact the same.

Second—Shall section 6, chapter 12, be stricke out? Your committee would also recommenthat the Presbyteries be required and directed o answer to the overture as a whole by a si pie yea and nay, and to report their answers to the Stated Clerk in time for the presentation Dr. Roberts said that all the members o the committee are unanimous, having mad oncessions on both sides. The desire for barmony was shown at the beginning of this Assembly in the election of our moder-ator, and I wish that the adoption of the report could be equally unanimous.

THE WESTMINSTER EDICT. In answer to a question, Dr. Roberts said they could not drop the Westminster edict by a two thirds vote. The report was then passed with but one dissenting vote, and Dr. Howard Crosby led in a prayer of thanksgiving.

Dr. Patton, of Princeton, Chairman of the ommittee for canvassing the answers of the Presbyteries in revision, read his report. There were 133 that desired revision and 68 that did not. The others declined to answer Chose who desired it stipulated that the Calvinistic character of the standards should not be altered. Albany refused to answe as to revision, but desired a new creed to be used side by side with the old.

Dr. McCracken made the affirmative 135 and 67 negative, including Albany and Sacramento in the affirmative list, instead of the negative. This is a very important point, as the classification of these two decides whether two-thirds have or have not report upon all desired changes in the Con-fession of Faith to the next Assembly. In all the Synods except five, there is a strong of opinion in favor of revision. This will be made the order of the day tocorrow after the report of correspondence. The Committee on Sabbath Observance reported. It deprecated the opening of the international fair on Sundays, and hoped Christian sentiment would prevent it. The Sunday newspaper was represented as a desecration of the day. The Board of Church Erection Fund presented its twen tieth annual report. The number of appli eations for aid this year exceeds that of any before. They were for 200 church buildings and for 59 manses, and called for $136, 45, or $19,288 more than last year, and $22 old, or $19,285 more than has year, and $22,-113 more than the year before last.

We have helped 174 churches in 25 Synods and 92 Presbyteries. It is only four years since we began to build manses. Most of our appropriations have been for quite modest buildings west of the Mississippi. Since, for the past two or three years, the appropriations have exceeded the receipt the small reserve we had four years ago

The aggregate amount of church property secured by means of our help is nearly $500,000. It was recommended that $150,000 b raised for next year's work. FIGHT WITH LOTTERY PEOPLE.

Rev. James M. Anderson, of North Da ota, spoke of the fight with the lottery peo ple, and the service rendered the cause by the fact that the Presbyterian Church build-ing could be used for meetings in opposi-tion when those in favor of the scheme had pre-empted every other audience room, and he expected there would be another similar

In Selecting Him as Chairman of the Convention Re

The Foraker and anti-Foraker factions of the Ohio Republicans are again at logger heads. The prospects for harmony in the coming campaign is decidedly small. Neither party to the quarrel will yield.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.) CINCINNATI, May 22.-Ex-Governor Fornker's selection for temporary Chairman of the State Republican Convention is the political sensation of the hour. Not only here, but throughout Ohio it has excited the Republican party to its depth. While one wing is shouting, "Foraker is again in the saddle," the other faction is as loudly shouting that the ex-Governor's return to politics means inglorious defeat.

The selection of the ex-Governor has undeniably reawakened the dissatisfaction among the elements which conspired for his defeat last fall. The Republican press is divided. While some hail the selection with enthusiastic approval, others bitterly denounce it as a sacrifice of the party for one man's vindication. The Times-Star, the ical organ of the anti-Foraker Republicans, published a vigorous editorial denouncing it as a party mistake. Referring to the coming campaign it said:

NOT THE BEST MOVE. It is not propitious to begin with an act which will cause desertion, and which will in-evitably cast a wet blanket upon all the subsequent proceedings of the convention and of the party managers. The only possible reason for conferring this new honor upon Govorner For-aker was to mitigate in a measure the disap-pointment of defeat at the last election. The practical effect in addition to this, however, is to make the Republican party indorse the causes of defeat and persist in the course which leads to defeat. This is not the part of good leadership in politics, it does not go on vindicating failures of personal as-pirations. The party can stand defeat for the sake of great moral political principles but practions. Lee party can stand defeat for the sake of great moral political principles, but it cannot stand continued defeat for the purpose of vindicating one man. The action of the State Committee looks as if it thought the first duty of the Republican party in convention assembled was to apply a salve to Governor Foraker's feelings.

Greatly to the surprise of local Republicans of both factions the editorial was carried prominently in the Commercial-Gazette without comment, but leaving the inference that the sentiments were indorsed. It ence that the sentiments were incorsed. It naturally stirred up the local politicians, and this evening on an interview Deacon Richard Smith, who recently succeeded Murat Halstead as editor of that paper, explained that he was investigating how the elipping got into his paper. TRYING TO STRAIGHTEN IT.

"I'm sitting here," said the deacon, "try-ing to straighten out matters, and if these fellows don't get us by the ears again the party will be in line if our people keep from wranging. No Republican will have a walkover. Ex-Governor Foraker returned to the city to-day. To-night he said regarding the Times-Star that it very frequently disagreed with a great many Republicans. "Such things will soon pass away," added the Governor, "and we will all be happy. We are all for harmony and intend to have it if we have to fight for it. You cannot imagine how interested we all are now on harmony. The Commercial Gazette re-published that editorial only to give the news and help along the harmony movement." There was a touch of sarcasm in the Gov-

BALTIMORE, May 22.-The statement that the Baltimore and Ohio is contemplating a Southern connection is confirmed by the incorporation of the Metropolitan Southern Railroad Company. The incorporators are all officials of the Baltimore and Ohlo. The line starts from Lunden station, on the Metropolitan branch of the Baltimore and Ohio, in Montgomery county, and is to extend to the southern boundary of the State, at or near Great Falls, on the Potomac.

The road will be about nine miles long Its construction will give the Baltimore and Ohio the outlet they are said to be seeking to the South, as after crossing the river at Great Falls they run to the Virginia midland, and then connect with 20 lines.

The greater part of the time he kept his face concealed, and every movement indicated that he keenly felt the disgrace and degradation to which his reck-less and criminal escapades had ultimately brought him. The scene in the Court House was accord the most remarkable ever witnessed in this county. Every nock and corner was packed, and during the proceed-ings not even a whisner could be heard. The spectators were absolutely wrapped up in the case, and anxiety and interest were

After the victim of Shellenberger had testified Judge Yerkes made a lengthy address, carefully reviewing the case, and concluded by passing sentence upon 11 counts n the indictment, two years upon three, and 20 years upon eight, reserving sentence on the others. The prisoner gave no evidence of emotion when the two years sentence, which was the first, was announced, but when the second sentence was imposed he in conversation with Waller. gave a moan that was audible throughout the court room, together with the expression, "Oh my God." He was immediately hurried from the court room and the excited crowd slowly dispersed.

A BOLD ROBBER CAPTURED.

He Makes a Confession and Will Rest His III-Gotton Wenith.

SPECIAL TRUEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR 1 DENVER, May 22 .- A little over a year go President David H. Moffatt, of the First National Bank, was robbed of $21,000 at the point of a pistol. The story is well known o the readers of THE DISPATCH, how a | iff's posse was organized. Only the bravest with Moffatt on the pretext of giving some with Moffatt on the pretext of giving some valuable information when in his private office, made Moffatt sign and then cash a check, after which he escaped. A reward of $2,500 was offered at the time, but nothing more was heard of the matter until to-day, when Chief of Police Farley received a telegram from Clayton, Mo., to the effect that a man who had been arrested for stealing torses, and was about to be tried, had con fessed having robbed Moffatt a year ago and that a large amount of the stolen money is hidden. The prisoner offers to surrender its locations to the bank efficials provided they will never prosecute him in the future. The the avowed intention of killing him. The zation that he has a long term in the Missouri State prison to fulfill. Another man ossesses his secret, and he fears that he will never get a cent of the secreted treasure unless he "squeals" now. The prisoner at Clayton is the same height and weight. The wild looking eyes, round shoulders and peculiary shaded mustache of Brown, answers precisely the description of the Missouri horse thief. A man has been sent to Clayton to identify the prisoner and in case the thief has at last been captured he be brought to Colorado for trial, Mr. Moffatt is out of the city.

THE CRONIN MYSTERY AGAIN. Two Important Suspects Elude the Grasp of Officers. CHICAGO, May 22 .- Yesterday a detective returned from a fruitless trip to Mexico in search of the man who drove Dr. Cronin to his death. To-day Chief of Police Marsh, in an interview, said that he knew positively that the man was in Mexico, and he had received warning and made good his escape through the information from his friends The fact has been brought to light that "J. B. Simonds," the man who brought the furniture which was afterward found in the Carlson cottage, where Dr. Cronin was murdered, was recently seen in this city by salesman Hatfield. The police were at once notified, but Simonds has thus far succeeded in cluding them.

county, near the mouth of Pigeon creek, about 80 miles distant from this place. From reports received the killing seems to be nothing more nor less than cold-blooded, premeditated murder. Saturday morning that gazed more in sympathy than in anger at the helpless and hopeless prisoner at the

The two men were related in some manner. The direct cause of the killing was the attempt of one of them to lead the wife of the other into devious ways, it is alleged. They quarrelled, but friends interfering se-

PECULIAR METHOD OF MURDER. Jim asked the subject of conversation, and receiving no reply, raised his Winches-ter in the air and brought it down upon Ike's neck with such force as to cause dis-location. The man tell forward dead on the floor. Jim Brewer, not being satisfied with his already deadly work, placed the muzzle of his Winchester to the chin of the dead man, with the exciamation: "Die; die the death of a dog," and pulled the trigger, spattering the brains of his victim to the our winds of the earth. After viewing his deadly work he left the scene of the murder, going toward Marrow-bone creek, several miles distant. A shercamp several miles from the scene of his dastardly work. A tormal demand of surnder was made. The reply came in the orm of a death missile fired from that everready and death-dealing Winchester. One unknown man threw up his hands, falling to the ground to rise no more. Another one of the posse received a ball through the beel. THE WHOLE REGION ABOUSED. Jim Brewer was captured after a desperate fight. A posse started to Logan Court House with their prisoner. When the news of the capture reached Pigeon creek, an elder brother to Ike Brewer started to intercitement over the killing and more trouble The two men had a difficulty on board a tug steamboat some time ago, which came near resulting in bloodshed. Jum Brewer has gained considerable notoriety of late owing to the fact of him figur-ing quite prominently in the Baisden-Brewer fight, in which two men and a boy were killed some four weeks ago. Heretofore he has always borne a good reputation and was never known to engage in outlawry. Ike Brewer, the murdered man, was a cripple, being born minus a leg, and he has always borne an unblemished reputation. It is teared the end is yet to come.
