BY HIS WIFE'S BODY, And Upon His Bended Knees, Millionaire Masterson Solemnly Swore Never to Drink Again.

The Sensational Circumstances Surrounding Her Death.

NO REAL CAUSE FOR THE JEALOUSY.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, May 22.—The body of Mrs. Florence B. Masterson, who came to this city the other day from her home in New Mexico after having heard of the shooting affray in which her husband, Murat Masterson, and Mrs. Alice Hopkins figured on May 12, and who died suddenly in the elevator of the Grand Union Hotel, Wednesday, lay all night in the morgue, considering it an undertaking and a disgraceful one to-night, Judge Masterson had not decided where he would bury his wife. He was completely unnerved. He is continually tramping up and down his room at the Albion, and moaning and weeping audibly.

"I am ruined, utterly ruined," he kept exclaiming to-day. "That affair over Mrs. Hopkins was a frightful blow, considering my relations with her were perfectly proper. But now, to have my wife die at the time I need her most, and in this horrible way, utterly ruins me up. What use is money to a man with a broken heart, who has lost everything that makes life worth having and has nothing, absolutely nothing to live for?"

Indigestion

It is not only a distressing complaint, of itself, but, by causing the blood to become depraved and the system enfeebled, is the parent of innumerable maladies. That Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best cure for indigestion, even when complicated with Liver Complaint, is proved by the following testimony from Mrs. Joseph Lake, of Brockway Centre, Mich.:

"Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For four years I suffered untold agony, was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. Nothing that I took seemed to do any permanent good until I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which has produced wonderful results. Soon after commencing to take the Sarsaparilla I could see an improvement in my condition. My appetite began to return, all the food taken, my strength improved each day, and after a few months I was able to attend to all household duties. The medicine has given me a new lease of life."
