A GOOD ORGANIZER.

"Miss Torrey proved not only an efficient teacher, but a good organizer, and as a con-sequence the school became at once efficient and popular. The pupils are taken from the thirteenth step of the grammar achools and receive one lesson a work for ten weeks. The classes consist of 15 pupils each (five classes a week); this plan gives instruction to 75 pupils per term of ten weeks, or to 200 pupils a year. This seems like a short time in which to study the art of cooking, but experience has shown that an elementary knowledge of the subject prestes such a love and enthusiasm for the work, on the part of the pupil, that good and lasting results are accomptished, Mias Torrey resigned to July, 1880, and Mias Charlotte Hallon was clouted to suc-esed her. Under Mias Ballou's management the school continues to meet the ap-proval of our people. We sincerely hope that the advantages in this line, which are now in the reach of only a few of our girls, may be so extended as to be in reach of all." In concluding his report Mr. Luckey says:

WOULD BE A BABEL.

"It would be hard to realize the condition in which our people would be to-day if the public school had never existed. Hundreds of thousands of people annually thrown upon our shores from every clime and of every tongue, organizing themselves into different communities based on language and na-tionalities, would make a very Babel in-deed. Without the public schools these communities would exist and each would propagate its own language and customs and keep alive the love of the fatherland and the traditions of its ancestors. The existence of the public school has made this impossible; the children of the Euglish, the Irish, the German, the Swede, the Hun, the Italian and the Russian learn to speak the same language, adopt the same customs and love the same flag. No system of private instruction can do this. "The immigrant cannot be expected to give up at once the habits, customs and language of his youth and manhood, but his children should be taught to ignore class distinctions based on language or nation-ality, and they should have the privilege of sitting, studying and playing with tho who are to be their business companions in manbood. The American idea, that parents must look after the bodlly needs of their children, the church their spiritual welfare and the State their intellectual and patriotic training, must be maintained."

PRINCIPAL WOOD'S REPORT.

Principal C. B. Wood, of the High School, under the head of general remarks, makes the following interesting statement about the study of the sciences: "The method of teaching science which we are endeavoring to carry out, and which was described at length in my report for 1887, viz., by individual investigation and work, has proved not only practical, but efficient and popular. It requires more time and work on the part of the teachers, and more room and more apparatus for th pupils than the old-time method of hearing recitations. Our classes are so large that it seemed doubtful whether the plan was at all practicable. For instance, it is no small our Protessor of Biology. He had 150 gar-dens in successful operation within the compass of his small resitution room, hone of them in the way, and all so arranged that during the resitation the pupils could ex-amine the specimens while the teacher questioned. The pupils constructed defini-tions from their own observations. The
