MORE FROM SPALDING. The Chicago President Means to Fight to the Bitter End. HE REPEATS SOME OLD HISTORY. Figures Showing How the Old League is Having the Best of It.

CHICAGO, May 23.—"I remarked some time ago," remarked Mr. Spalding, of the Chicago League club, today, "that the interest in professional baseball in leading cities was dying out. I have seen nothing since to change my views. I want to call your attention to the extraordinarily poor attendance at the games abroad in the East for the past week. The eight games of ball played by the Players' and the National League do not draw out half as many people as four games of the League were wont to do in the past."

LEECHBURG, May 23.—Ever since that famous Supreme Court decision on original packages, there has been a great deal of talk going on, on account of the report that responsible parties had made, or were making, arrangements to start just such a store here. The report was not believed, however, and the matter rested at that point. The report was correct, however, as the formal announcement was made today that the business will be opened here to-morrow. The original package men are here, and will open up their prominent stand. The title over the doors will be "The Cincinnati Brewing Company, Charles Silverman, formerly of Apollo, and well known in this section of the country, will act as the agent of the brewing company."
