Hints for People Who Talk in Sleep or Who Don't Sleep at All.

COLD WATER AS A SOPORIFIC.

Experiments That May Result in Entirely New Sound Theories.

SHORTAGE IN THE CAMPHOR SUPPLY.

(PREPARED FOR THE DISPATCH.)

A well-known authority on the subject of insomnia says he has known many persons, of all ages and both sexes, in perfect health who could not hold their tongues when asteen. This habit is due to indigestion or to cerebral irritability. The remedy is an early meal before going to bed, taking half a pint of cold spring water before putting the head on the pillow, and always sleeping on the right side-never on the back. In case of premature wakefulness, a copious draught of water usually re-induces sleep. The topical application of cold is a very harmless and potent anæsthetic remedy; in concussion o' the brain especially so. In the feverish delirium of tropical climates it acts like a charm, and often produces sleep. An ox-bladder or a light rubber air-ball, filled with broken ice will often soothe a restless patient when drugs are of no avail.

The mountaineers of the sub-Alpine region in the Himalayas are a most robust and industrious people, yet in babyhood they are so troublesome that artificial sleep is induced by their hard-working mothers. A little jet of melted snow is led by a primitive spout (often the hollow stalk of some wild plant) to fail on the forehead of the recumbent infant, and acts magically as a soporific—the child lies quiet for hours. The dry application of enclosed ice is to be preferred in this climate where a cold may se caught at any season. A foot-bath of hot water at night is a valuable corrective of a tendency of blood to the head, and the pillow should be broad and flat, to obviate the resting of the weight of the body on the neck-a simple fact, not generally considered, but most necessary to restless persons.

Prompt Adbesion of Dental Plates.

L. C. Bryan gives an excellent plan for securing immediate suction in a new dental plate or a newly repaired one. The plate is moistened, and then simply sprinkled with fine powder of gum tragacanth. The plate is then pressed into place, and no matter how good or bad a fit, it will hold firmly for a day under almost any use or abuse. The advantage of this is apparent; for the first half hour after a plate is put in makes or mars the reputation of the dentist, for the time being, in the estimation of the patient, whose efforts to "suck up" a plate, if not immediately successful, are at once discon-tinued, and the plate pronounced a misfit. It is said that a thin coating of tragacanth will even up all irregularities, preventing the plate from wounding the sensitive membrane of the mouth, and often leading to a satisfactory fit, where otherwise the plate could not be worn. It the dentist is of pinion that time and use will improve the general adaptation of the plate, it is recommended that a small box of tragacanth should be presented to the patient with directions for use whenever the variation in the suction of the plate from atmospheric causes should render its employment neces-

Census of Hallucinations. A correspondent of Science asks for cooperation in carrying out a "census of hallandscape, is unusually strong in composition, and presents a beautiful effect of local coloring lucinations," with the initiation of which the Society of Physical Research was associated some years ago. The object of the inquiry is stated as two-fold: First, to gather a mass of facts about hallucinations which may serve as a basis for a scientific h may serve as a basis for a scientific study of these phenomena; and second, to ascertain approximately the proportion of persons who have had such experiences. It is thought that a determination may thus be arrived at of the question whether visions be arrived at of the question whether visions or other "warnings" of death, etc., of people at a distance, which are so frequently reported, are accidental coincidents or something more. Some 8,000 people in Europe and America have already returned answers to the question which heads the census sheets, and which run as follows: "Have you ever, when completely awake, bad a vivid impression of seeing or being touched by a living being or inanimate object, or of hearing a voice; which impression, so far as you could discover, was not due to any ex-ternal physical cause?"

Modern Sound Theories. Dr. Koenig, of Paris, who has been em-ployed for a considerable time in making investigations into the composition of musical sounds and the theory of timbre, and who has embodied his experience in a paper which he read before the Physical Society, of London, England, has collected a number of wave sirens and other expensive and elaborate apparatus for the further demonstration of the points of his research. Among the apparatus are some special sppliances for producing audible beat tones by he interference of two notes, each of which is too shrill to be separately heard. Musicians, as is well known, have never taken cordially to the current theories of Helmnoltz respecting overtones and their relation to the consonance or dissonance of intervals and chords. As Dr. Koenig's investigations have carried matters to a point beyond the speculations of Helmholtz, and not altogether in accordance with them, scientists are anticipating with considerable interest a full exposition of the new theories.

Rise in the Price of Campbor. The retail price of camphor has recently advanced in this country from 30c to 60c a pound. The scarcity and consequent high price of this material is caused by the large quantities of it which have been taken by European Governments for the manufacture of smokeless powder, and also by the inreasing demand for celluloid goods both for Europe and America. Previous to the invention of celluloid, the principal use to which camphor was put was the preserva-tion of clothing and fur goods against moths and in medicine. The supply of camphor is now markedly inadequate to the demand, and although improved machinery has been shipped to Japan for securing a better yield camphor gum from the trees whence it is derived, it is thought that the real remedy will lie in the substitution of some new material in the manufacture of both smokeless powder and celluloid.

Profits of the Paris Exposition. The statistics of the Paris Exposition are very interesting. The Eiffel Tower, costing | Lane are exhibiting at Gillespie's, so that all 7,514,095 francs, had a gross income from May 15 to November 5 of 6,459,584 francs. The Exposition proper showed a profit of 8,000,000 francs, against a profit of 4,130,840 francs at the Exposition of 1867, and a loss in 1878 of 3,704,890 francs. Adding the increase of the bank bat-tried from time to time with indifferent success. As a last resort, Dr. Agnew tried ham fat, with admirable results. Two large cylinders of bacon were forced well into the nostrils, and the hemorrhage ceased at once. This is a very simple and handy remedy for cases of emergency in the country.

The Golf Ball and the Baseball. the baseball ought to be able to answer. He says: "While on the subject of golf I should like to mention that I have noticed a peculiar phenomenon in the flight of a golf ball tor which I have been unable to account. The ball on being struck from the tee has taken a very quick and low flight, and when it has traveled 50 or 60 yards has risen in the air, and so left the natural curve of its trajectory. I have been told that a ball has been seen to rise twice in this manner, but I have never seen such a thing myself. Can this be caused by any spin im-parted to the ball in the act of striking, or is it the result of its meeting with an opposing current of air?"

Improved Petroleum Car. A new design for a petroleum car of great practical value has been patented. This invention provides a car with a series of connected metal tanks so braced that their walls will not bulge when heavily loaded, while the bulk of the weight is over the car trucks, and the tanks are capable of rigid attachment to either a flat or a gondola car. The central tank has a top opening with a hood-like hinged cover, in the bot-tom of which is a tube which admits of the application of a pump whereby the petro-leum may be discharged from all the tanks, or through which the tanks may all be Forged Steel Projectiles. In the early part of May some plate firing took place on board the English man-of-war Nettle, which brings up a subject of the greatest importance, namely, the possibility of making armor such as will break up the splendid torged steel projectiles which have hitherto held together almost without ex-ception. The result of the Nettle and other recent tests go to show that plates are now made with faces so hard as to defeat forged steel, and that it appears possible that steel-faced armor in the future may dispose of such plates defeat indifferent projectiles.

New Alloy for Watches.

A new alloy is coming into use instead of steel in the manufacture of various parts of watches, such as the balance wheel and hair spring, so as to obviate the disadvantages which follow their magnetization or oxidation. The alloy is composed of gold, palladium, rhodium, copper manganese, silver and platinum. The copper and manganese are first to be melted, and the other metals afterward added, or the whole of the con-stituents may be placed in the crucible at once, with the manganese at the bottom, Compressed Air Chisel.

The compressed air chisel was first brought into use in this country. An improved form is now being used in Europe by stone dressers, sculptors and metal workers. The economy of labor compared with the hand chisel is about four or fivefold. At the same time the surface cut by the compressed air chisel is cleaner and smoother than is possible with the band chisel. This is especially the case with granite. The new in-strument is said to be of great service in metal working and woodworking. REVIEW OF ART FOR THE WEEK.

MR. D. B. WALKLEY has just returned from

of S. Boyd & Co., has assumed charge of the Hacke gallery which is being renovated and improved. Alterations have been made in the skylights and in other features of the room, with a view to rendering it more satisfactory for exhibition purposes. Mr. Wright expects to have the gallery stocked with new pictures and open to the public in the course of a few days. It will then continue to be epen during all the summer from 9 A. M., until 5 P. M., every day except Sundays.

MISS MARIE D. COYLE has placed three paintings in oil upon exhibition at Young's. Two of them are still life studies, one of flowers, the other of cherries, shown in strong contrast against some large green leaves. The coloring of the fruit is fairly good but it is somewhat out of tone with that of the background. The third picture is a landscape very ground. The third picture is a landscape very strong in composition, with a better effect of color and more vigorous handling than either of the others. Miss Coyle appears to do the best work in landscapes, and has managed this painting very well indeed, giving a good effect of light in the sky and yet keeping it in tone with the balance of the picture.

PROBABLY few will dispute the assertion that of all styles of decorative work in wood scarcely any look poorer and meaner than open fretwork executed with a scroll saw. This is particularly true as regards sawn work applied as a decoration upon flat panels of polished wood, with which it neither harmonizes nor pleasantly contrasts. Furniture that has been designed with a due attention to form and the designed with a due attention to form and the proper proportion of its different parts can never look mean, however, plain it may be, and it is much better plain than covered with unsuitable description of ornamentation, which materially detracts from its dignity without adding anything to its gruce. A small amount of well executed carving upon furniture will do more toward giving it an appearance of richness than all the fretwork that can be piled on it, especially if the carving appears as a part of its structural character.

Two companion pictures by Mr. J. A. Saint are shown this week at Gillespie's. In the first picture may be seen an old chip basket in which a white hen has established herself for the purpose of raising the usual large family of chicks. A couple of small gray kittens are amusing themselves close at hand by tossing amusing themselves close at hand by tossing about an egg that has rolled from the nest through a hole in the side of the basket, while her ladyship presumably observes the scene with much displeasure as she suddenly pops out her head to regard the performance. In the second painting is depicted the astonishment of the kittens, as they accidently crack the shell of the egg and discover the form of a little vellow chick: and while they are engaged in speculating upon the strangeness of this phenomenon the hen has seized one of them by the tail as a means of puni-hing their unwarrantable interference with her affairs. A third picture by Mr. Saint regresents a group of little duckings by the side of a small stream. The foremost one has its head raised and holds in its bill a small specimen of the mud crab which its companions evidently regard as a sort of natural curiosity. In all of these paintings may be noted a marked improvement, as regards handling, over Mr. Saint's previous efforts in the same line.

Quite a large number of paintings have been Quite a large number of paintings have been added to the collection which Messrs, Gross & the available space upon the walls of the gal-lery is covered with pictures of more than ordinary interest on account of the famous names they bear. In one or two instances the name is everything. This is notably true of the picture by Courbet, a very poor but very ex-pensive one, and in a less degree of that by loss in 1878 of 3,704,890 francs. Adding the increase of the bank batance, of the receipts of railroads, of the revenue, etc., a total gain not far short of 500,000,000 of frances is shown. To this must be added the strictly private receipts. Allowing 1,500,000 of foreign visitors spending on an average 500 trance cach, and 6,000,000 from the provinces of France spending an average of about 100 france each, 1,250,000, cool of 1,750,000,000 of france direct monetary gain, or about $350,000,000.

New Bleeding.

Several serious cases of nose bleeding, presenting exceptional obstinacy, have lately occurred at the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania. Every known remedy was tried from time to time with indifferent suc-

A COUPLE of fine works by Linford are on exhibition at Boyd's. They are both landscape in the rich effects of color peculiar to the school of art that he is known to follow, and of which the works of Diaz may be considered as representative. In the larger of the two paintings there is a greater delicacy of tone than Linford usually affects, and against this comparatively smooth fluish the bold and vigorous painting of the foreground shows to advantage An English correspondent asks a question The small work is more theroughly character-which the scientific student of the flight of istic of the artist's usual manner of painting. Tall trees rise up from the immediate fore Tall trees rise up from the immediate foreground, the strong and bold outlines formed by the ramification of their branches softened and relieved by the masses of foliage with which they are partly hidden. Dark, rich colors abcund in the foreground objects which are thus relieved against the brighter-toned greens of the more distant trees. The works of Linford have been compared with those of Daz which they much resemble, and although scarcely their equal in some respects, are in other particulars immeasurably superior. Of course it is opposed to all the accepted canons of art criticism to think of comparing the Pennsylvanian with the famous Barbizon painter, but the statement is true just the same. It is said that the works of Diaz being of such surpassing excellence, their defects should not be considered, which is manifestly absurd. A man may be great in spite of his faults, absurd. A man may be great in spite of his faults, but he would be deserving of still higher praise did he not pessess any; and when one man care-fully avoids the errors into which another re-peatedly fails he is in that respect his superior. This is essentially true of the comparison be-tween Diaz and Linford.

For a number of years I have been subject to periodic violent attacks of bilious colic and have repeatedly employed the best medical talent. I obtained relief only by the use of morphine or chloroform. I was induced to give Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhesa Remedy a trial, and am pleased to report not only my gratitude, but recommend it to all who are afflicted as I am to give it a trial. I would not be without it. F. Kachler, Sr.,

Flore SALE — CLIFTON LOTS! CLIFTON I lots at auction! Grand unreserved sale of hig lots at the rising viliage of Clifton: eight miles down the Fort Wayne read: Monday, May 26, at 3 o'clock will witness stirring times at the now famous suburb named Clifton: all the unsold lots east of Allegheny avenue will be brought under the hammer and be sold for whatever price is offered. The owner is a man of liberal ideas who is not atraid to give a bargain, and he knows how to lay off lots to soil the people. When one goes to the country he wants a country lot, not a hen coop. Fifty feet wide and 150 feet deep is about the size for a village lot. This gives the children room to play as well as the hens to scratch; also room for a few trees, shrubs and garden patch. This is what we go to the country for. Now on the 23th of May we will sell six lots 45x180, seven lots 45x180, four lots 50x140, one lot 175x130 and one lot 100x130. Wide streets. The alleys are 40 feet wide. These are lots worth talking about Take train at Federal st. 2:15 city time. Terms ten per cent. down, balance in ter yearly payments with interest. Payments received monthly if preferred. If you don't wish to be tempted to buy a lot stay away from this sale. They are bound to go, and we will make them go. A. WILMERDING! The Model Town of the Turtle Greek Valley.

Home seekers, enterprising business men and shrewd investors all regard Wilmerding as the most promining town in Western Pennsylvania. WHY? BECAUSE the location at that point of the immense plant of the WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE COMPANY, employing about 2,000 men, most of whom are skilled mechanics enruing high wages, insures a large and prosperous population. BECAUSE, having no company stores, it af-fords abundant opportunity for independent business enterprise.

BECAUSE the progressive spirit of the place is seen in its substantial and elegans buildings and its extensive public improvements, including NATURAL GAS.
