MES. JARLEY SHOWS HER WAXWORKS

Carnegie Hall, considering that it only made its debut the latter part of February, has witnessed many a gay scene, but none surpassed in beauty the bazaar and entertainment given there yesterday afternoon and evening, for the benefit of the Fresh Air Fund of Allegheny.' The effect, as one entered the central room, was simply enchanting, with the artistically draped booths and tables, surmounted by great Japanese sunshades, under which elegantly attired ladies and fairy-like little ones in the soft light of the delicately shaded candelebra passed to and fre, arranging and disposing of the pretty wares they had for sale, and the throng of purchasers in their charming carriage toilets added much to the brilliancy of the scene as they fluttered from one table to another, admiring this and purchasing that with the per ect ease and confidence of those having unlimited money at their disposal.

The most dazzingly beautiful, and yet suggestively restiul piace was the well at which Rebekah presided and ministered to the thirsty ones from within her bower. The beauty of the well was only exceeded by the beauty of "Rebekah," who, in her cream white costume, with gold trimming and crown, was a delightful apparition, upon whose girlish charms many feasted

REBEKAH'S BOWES.

The bower from which she dispensed the cooling drinks in sparkling cut glass was composed of the most luxuriant palms and foliage plants, and the well itself was em-bedded in mosses and ferns, while the draping was of the same cool and refresh-

Extending from the well, and adjoining the bubble table, was the fishing pond, where, with regular fishing tackle, the little ones amused themselves in angling ones amused themselves in angling for the most improbable fishes. The bubble table was a favorite resort where the little folks blew the most gorgeous bubbles, reflecting all the colors of the rain-bow, but even then lacking the brightness which radiated from the faces of the tiny manipulators of the pipes when an unusually fine bubble rewarded an unusually long blow. A candy booth in pink and white, and the long table, decked in spot-less linen, with trimmings of green ferns and candelebra holding green and white wax candles, upon which the tempting cakes were displayed, together with the smaller tables for serving the light refreshment which accompanied the cake, completed the arrangement of the central room and left just enough space for the swarms of visitors, In the reading room proper at the extreme end was the fancy work booth, a per-fect poem in coloring and arrangement, the main draping in delicate pink contrasted prettily with the exquisite articles of dainty needlework, whose beauty of design and finish deligited the eye, and whose dainty perfumes vied in deliciousness with the flower tables adjoining. FLORA AND HER FAIRIES.

Lavender and pale pink were the colors chosen to festoon the tables upon which were placed in great profusion all the most exquisite blossoms of the season, and the little fairies that represented the fair goddess "Flora," were all crowned or wreathed with fragrant flowers, that with their simple white frocks made them quite irresistible. A fan table in delightful green, ladened with every conceiveable kind of fans, was liberally patronized, as the weather of the past week made laying in a stock of air-cooling arrangements the most sensible thing to do; . toy table that would delight the lover of games and toys, with a bag an apron table in deep golden, upon which was to be found such very sensible things, and a Jack Horner table, with the most wonder ful pies, were all inspected and purchased from by the crowd before entering the tea room, into which the alcove had been transformed, and which was in Japanese design, from its handsome divans loaned by Huntsman to its picturesque screens, which Has-lage kindly permitted the ladies to use in their decorating.

Placed where they were most effective were beautiful palms and other plants that Patterson, Jr., donated for the occasion. In this room was the guests' tea table, a marvel of beauty and fragile ware, the tea set being donated by Mr. Reisenstein, the table of ivory and gilt by Dauler, Close & Johns and the cups and saucers by the different

The rainbow dining room to the left of the central room was dazzlingly beautiful, the tables rivaling each other so closely that it was difficult to determine which should carry off the palm o victory, but the Sewick-ley Valley table, with its decorations and chins of golden, was pronounced by all the most beautiful.

A CLOTH OF GOLD.

A golden satin cloth placed in the center, with diamond effect, was outlined with a continuous wreath of field daisies, and at each corner was placed handsome candelebra containing golden candles, upon which the dainies were entwined. In the center of the cloth was a magnificent basket of fluted golden satin filled with rich yellow litlies and dainty ferns. All the china used on the table was of the same golden hue, and the salads were dressed in yellow also, while the lovely butter in tiny golden balls was in perfect keeping. The next in point of beauty was the Dresden table, every-thing being of the tiny buds and pretty little designs of the Dresden were, even to the napkins and and the decorations on everything pertaining to the table, of course the Dresden ware was used entirely. The Emanuel Church claimed that table. The other tables were beautiful enough to evoke continued ejaculations of admiration from those surrounding them and every table was simply elegant in service and bountifully supplied with everything delicate and appetizing. The decorations of the tables and the toilets of the ladies who served them corresponded in color to a greater or less degree, but in beauty to the greater degree by all odds. The Jarley wax work exhibition, which occupied the evening and nearly filled the music hall was such as to call forth round after round of applause. Miss Kate McKnight assumed the role of Mrs. Jarley, and was assisted by Mr. Leonard Wales at the organ and Miss Harriet Watson as "Little Nell," with Messrs. John Scott and Charles Metcalf as

AN EVENING OF LONGFELLOW.

A Delightful Entertainment by a Literary Club of Wilkinsburg.

The Longfellow Literary Club, of Wil kinsburg, last evening gave one of its delightful entertainments at the home of Miss Birdie Taggart, on Holland street. There was a full attendance of the members, and a very interesting programme was rendered, s follows:

Quotations from Longfellow and singing of "Old Kentucky Home," by members of the club; select reading, M1ss Nan Kitchen; biography of Shakespeare, Miss Mary Gibson; select reading, Mr. R. A. M. Steele; essay, Miss Birdie Taggart; select reading, Mr. J. Knight Gibson; societys' paper, Mr. William Esler; singing, "Garneld's Grave," members of the club.

Refreshments were served, and the occasion was thoroughly social, as well as in-

A FINE PROGRAMME PREPARED

For the Fourth Free Organ Recital at Carnegie Hall To-Day.

The fourth free organ recital to be given at Carnegie Hall this afternoon, between the hours of 3 and 5, will be as enjoyable as any of its predecessors. The vocal numbers will be contributed by Miss Grace Miller, the well-known soprano, and Dr. W. T. English, each of whom will sing two enjoyable ballads. The instrumental portion of the programme includes a Waldteniel waltz, an arrangement from "Olivette" and several other popular selections, opening with a brilliant march from Wallenhaupt. The recitals are absolutely tree, and the public of both cities come out very numerously and show signs of marked apprecia-

Shiras' Delegates Bacquet. Twenty Shiras delegates sat down to a delightful banquet at the Duquesne last evening. George Bothwell, ex-Mayor's Clerk, of Allegheny, did the honors for the occasson. There were no windy speeches. The score of gentlemen were there to eat, and they did it. The repast was served under the direction of Caterer Albert Menjou, and was put up in his own style. The dinner lasted from 9 to 12 and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

A Rejoicing Church.

The Riverside M. E. Church, at Woods' Run, Allegheny City, will celebrate its twentieth anniversary next week, beginning June 10 and ending June 15. The invitation and programme contains this significant paragraph signed by the trustees and pastor: "You are cordially invited to be present at the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the Riverside M. E. Church, Allegheny, and to rejoice with us over the liquidation of her long-standing debt."

The Collis Club Chartered. The Collis club was granted a charter by the Court of Common Pleas No. 1, yesterday. This club is the newly formed social organization on the hill. It comprises some of the best young society men of that vicinity, who will likely consolidate with the Lafayette club, another organization com-posed of young men in the Sixth ward. A movement is on foot in this direction, as has already been stated in THE DISPATCH.

A Steambout Party. A gay party consisting of Mr. E. D. Smith, the Division Passenger Agent of the B. & O. THAT TROUBLE AT CEDAR KEYS. An Official Answer to the Inquiries Made by the Senate. NECESSITY FOR A REVENUE CUTTER

WASHINGTON, June 6 .- The President ent to the Senate to-day, in response to a esolution of May 26, requesting information concerning the alleged landing of an armed force from the United States revenue cutter McLane, at Cedar Keys, Fla., and the alleg ed entry of the houses of citizens by force and their alleged pursuit of citizens of the United States in the surrounding country, a letter containing what he describes as all the information possessed by the Executive Department relating to the matters inquired about.

"It will be observed," says the President, "that the United States Collector of Cusoms at Cedar Keys has been driven from his office and from the town, and the administration of the customs laws of the United States at that port suspended by the violent demonstration and threats of one Cottrell, the Mayor of the place, assisted by his Town Marshal, Mitchell. If it had been necessary, as I do not think it can be in any case, for a United States officer to appeal to

THE LOCAL AUTHORITIES for immunity from violence in the exercise of his duties, the situation at Cedar Keys did not suggest or encourage such an appeal, for those to whom the appeal would have been addressed were themselves the lawless instruments of the threatened violence. It will always be agreeable to me if the local authorities, acting upon their own sense of duty, maintain the public order in such a way that officers of the United States shall have no occasion to appeal for the interven-tion of the General Government, but, when this is not done, I shall deem it my duty to use the adequate powers vested in the Executive to make it safe and feasible to hold and exercise the offices established by the Federal Constitution and laws. The by the Federal Constitution and laws. The means used in this case were, in my opinion, lawful and necessary, and the officers do not seem to have intruded upon any private right in executing the warrants placed in their hands. The letter dated August 4 last, which appears in the correspondence submitted, appealing to me to filtervene for the protection of the city of Cedar Keys from the brutal violence of Cottrell, it will be noticed was written before the appointment of the new collector. ment of the new collector.

Not one word appeared in the newspaper published here (Cedar Keys) in relation to the difficulties between Cottrell and the Collector. The Attorney General has been misinformed in the matter of our searching dwellings unlawfully. In every instance I asked permission, which, I am pleased to say, was readily if not cheerfully given. I have been religiously scrupulous on this point, and others will bear me out in the fact that we were complimented on sev-eral occasions for the unostentations and orderly manner in conducting what we rticles of Bewildering Beauty at Hardy "All the world loves a lover." And all the world delights to add to the superlative happiness of the bridal pair, by the bestowal upon them of beautiful gifts in jewelry, silver, etc. Pittsburg has splendid opportunities for carrying out this time-honored custom, by reason of the superb stock of June wedding gifts now assembled at the jewelry store of Messre. Hardy & Hayes, No. 529 Smithfield street. The articles there so lavishly displayed are quite sufficient to induce young people to rush impetuously into matrimony, that they may thus become recipients of some of the lovely things at this handsome store. In one part of this place the gleam of pure silver proclaims the presence of the prettiest things imaginable in this metalall "sterling" silver. There, are re-& Hayes' for Near at Hand Naptials.

prettiest things imaginable in this metal—all "sterling" silver. There, are repousse water pitchers, toilette bottles, and countless other articles that are not only beautiful but useful. The brush sets in silver, are the embodiment of chaste elegance, and there is a chocolate, or "black coffee" set, of three pieces, in oriental design that is a three-versed poem in this metal. Then there are tea sets in sterling silver "satin" finish, superlatively elegant and appropriate for a wedding gift. In the same metal are shown butter spreaders, individual fish sets and coffee sets. Near at hand are those sumptuous affairs which are a specialty as sets and coffee sets. Near at hand are those sumptuous affairs which are a specialty with this firm, namely, "Trunks full of silver," handsome, compact, richly lined receptacles for an assortment of beautiful and useful silverware. These contain six dozen pieces, and will be filled to suit the taste of the buyer, with sterling silver spoons, forks, knives, etc., of the latest and most original vattern. These "trunks" keep their cleaming contents as fely under look and their gleaming contents afely under lock and key—and under the eye of the fair young housekeeper—and they are destined to be among the most prized possessions of Pittsburg brides. In another part of the store the firm's 'amous' Natural Gas' cut glass catches the daylight in its crystal facets, and shines resplendent in all the hues of the rainbow, and with the splendor of a great diamond. In this superb glass are found all manner of useful articles of table ware, from the punch bowl of generous proportions to the fairy-like wine glass, as delicate as frost work. Here, too, is an example of the sculptor's art, a charming head, in purest marble, entitled "Spring," head, in purest marble, entitled "Spring," and showing the modest, bewitching features of a lovely girl. This would fittingly grace the home of a blooming young bride. Other works of art are present in the graceful jewel stands and tables of the "Verni-Martin" pattern, bearing decorative painting that reveals the brush and talent of the artist. Rearing its stately form near by is a hall clock of antique pattern that would make a superb wedding gift. In smaller clocks that are exquisitely pretty some are fashioned of onyx, one being wrought in a harp pattern full of grace and symmetry. Such a clock, as a gift, would recall the giver a score of full of grace and symmetry. Such a clock, as a gift, would recall the giver a score of times every day, as it stood on the mantel in the new home. In the way of June bride jewelry, the display at Hardy & Hayes' is well nigh indescribable, because of its extent and infinite variety. Mention, however, should be made of the "miniature" pins, the diamonds that are fashioned into all manner of beautiful designs, the "Marquise" rings the necklaces of perfect pearls. quise" rings, the necklaces of perfect pearls, the combinations of precious stones of various colors, the enameled jewelry and the assortment of rings.
