THE BOW OF PROMISE

Emblematical of the Joys That Come to Faithful Christians

AFTER LIFE'S STORM IS ENDED.

The Beautiful Things of this World to be Preserved in Heaven.

LESSONS TAUGHT BY THE DELUGE

PEPECIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATOR. BROOKLYN, June 8.-This is Sacramental and Baptismal Day with the Tabernacle congregation, an occasion of especial impressiveness. The children were baptized before the sermon and the sacrament administered after sermon. The subject of Dr. Talmage's discourse was, "All Troubles Past;" and the text, Revelation iv: 3, "There was a rainbow round about the throne." Following is the sermon:

As, after a night of fearful tempest at sea

one ship, more stanch than another, rides on undamaged among the fragments of spars and hulks that float about, so old Noah's ark, at the close of the deluge, floats on over the wreek of a dead world. Looking out of the window of the ark, you see the planks of houses, and the sheaves of wheat, and the carcasses of cattle, and the corpses of men. No tower is left to toll the burial; no mourners to form in line of prothe burial; no mourners to form in line of pro-cession; no ground on which to bury the dead. Sinking a line 27 feet long, you just touch the tops of the mountains. Ghastliness and horror! The ark, instead of walking the sea, like a modern ship, in majesty and beauty, tosses helplessly; no helm to guide; no sail to set; no shore to steer for. Why protract the agony of the good people in such a craft, when they might in one dash of the wave have been put out of their misery? But at yonder spot in the horizon we see colors gathering in the sky; at just the oppo-site point in the horizon other colors are gath-ering. I find that they are the two buttresses of an arched bridge. The yellow, the red, the orange, the blue, the indigo, the violet are mingled, and by invisible hands the whole structure is hung into the sky, and the ark has a triumphal arch to sail under. An angel of light swings his hand across the sky, and in the seven prismatic colors he paints with pencil of sunbeau the executions of sunbeau the executions.

seven prismatic coiors he paints with pencil of sunbeam the everiasting covenant between God and every living creature. God lifted up that great arched bridge, and set it over His own head in the heaven. John saw it, for he says, "There was a rainbow round about the throne."

THE BOW AFTER THE STORM. I notice that none but the people who were in the ark saw the rainbow. It cast its shadow clear down into the water where the people were buried, and lighted up the dead faces with a strange radiance, but they could not see it, So only those who are at last found in Christ, the Ark, will see the overspanning glories of the throne. Hence youhad better get into the Ark! As you call your family out at the close of the shower to show them the sign in heaven, of the shower to show them the sign in heaven, so I want you all at last to see the grander rainbow round about the throne. "Look there!" says Noah to his wife, "at that bow in the clouds; and, Shem and Japhet, look! look!—the green, the yellow, the red and the orange!" I should not wonder if some of your own children in the Good Land should after a while cry to you, "Look, fatber! look, mother! there is a rainbow round about the throne!" You had better get into the Ark, with all your families, if you want to see it.

to see it.

I notice also that the chief glory of God comes after the rain. No shower, no rainbow; no trouble, no brightness of Christian consolation. Weavers are sometimes, by reason of their work, dusty and rough in their apparel; and so it is the coarse-clad tempest, whose hand and foot swing the shuttle, that weaves the rainbow. Many Christians are dull, and stupid, and useless because they have not had disaster enough to wake them up. The brightest scarf that heaven makes is thrown over the shoulders enough to wake them up. The brightest scars that heaven makes is thrown over the shoulders of the storm. You cannot make a thorough Christian life ont of sunshine alone. There are some very dark hues in the ribbon of the rainbow; you must have in life the blue as well as the orange. Mingling all the colors of the shades, and sadnesses, and vicissitudes of life to make the white luster of a pure Christian character.

to make the white luster of a pure Christian character.

Your child asks you, "Father, what makes the rainbow?" and you say, "It is the sunlight striking through the rain drops." Therefore I wonder how there could be a rainbow in heaven, since there are no storms there; but then I conclude that that rainbow must be formed by the striking of heaven's sunlight through the falling tears of earchly sorrow. When we see a man overwhelmed with trouble, and his health goes, and his property rose, and his friends go, I say, "Now we shall see the glory of God in this good man's deliverance." As at Niagara Falls I saw, one day, ten rainbows spanning the awful plunge of the cataract, so over the abyss of the Christian's trial hover the rich-hued wings of all the promises.

A GLORIOUS TBUTH.

A GLORIOUS TRUTH. I notice that the most beautiful things of this world are to be preserved in heaven, When you see the last color fade out from the rainbow of earth, you need not feel sad, for you will see the rainbow round about the one. That story about the world burning up has given me many a pang. When I read that Paris was besieged, I said, "Now the pictures and statues in the Louvre and Luxembourg will be destroyed; all those faces of Rembrandt, and those bold dashes of Rubens, and those enchantments of Raphael on canvas, and those enchantments of Raphael on canvas, and those statues of Canova." But is it not a more melancholy thought that ruin is to come upon this great glory of the earth, in which the mountains are the chiseled sculptures, and upon the sky, in which the "transfiguration" of suprise and sunset is hung with loops and tassels of fire? I was relieved when I found that the pictures had been removed from the Louvre and the Luxembourg, and I am relieved now when I think that the best parts of this earth are either to be removed or pictured in the Good Land. The tree must twist in the last fire—the oaks, and the cedars, and the mapies; but in heaven there shall be the trees of life on the bank of the river, and the palm trees from which the conquerors shall pluck their branches. The Hudson, and the St. Lawrence, and the Ohio shall boil in the last fiame, but we shall have more than their beauty in the river of life from under the throug. The disises and up has given me many a pang. When I read which the Conqueros sans place, their branches. The Hudson, and the St. Lawrence, and the Ohio shall boil in the last flame, but we shall have more than their beauty in the river of life from under the throne. The dassies, and the portulaccas, and the roses of earth will wither in the hot sirocco of the judgment, but John tells us of the garlands which the giorified shall wear; and there must be flowers, or there could be no garlands.

The rainbow on our sky, which is only the pillow of the dying storm, must be removed; but then, giory be to God! "there is a rainbow round about the throne." I have but to look up to the radiant arch above the throne of God to assure myself that the most glorious things of earth are to be preserved in heaven. Then let the world burn; all that is worth saving will be snatched out of the fire.

I see the same truth set forth in the twelve foundations of the wall of heaven. St. John announces the twelve foundations of this wall to be, the first, of jasper—yellow and red; the second, of sapphire—a deep blue; the third, a chalcedony—a varied beauty; the fourth, emerald—a bright green color; the fifth, sardonyx—a bluish white; the sixth, cardius—red and flery; the seventh, chrysolite—golden-hued; the eighth, beryl—a bluish green; the ninth, topaz—a pale green mixed with yellow; the tenth, chrysoprasus—a golden bluish tint; the eleventh, jacinth—fiery as the sunset; the twelfth, amethyst. But these preclous stones are only the foundation of the wall of heaven—the most inferior part of it. On the top of this foundation there rises a mighty wall of jasper—of brilliant yellow and gergeous crimson. Supendous cataract of color! Throne of spiendor and sublimity!

EARTHLY AND HEAVENLY BEAUTY. You see that the beautiful colors which are the robes of glory to our earth are to be for ever preserved in this wall of beaven. Our skies of blue, which sometimes seem almost to drop with richness of color, shall be glorified and eternized in the deep everlasting blue of that flery stone which forms the second foundation of the heavenly wall. The green that sen-wave, and spreads its banners on the mountain top, shall be eternized in the emerald that forms the fourth foundation of the heavenly wall. The flery gush of the morning, the confingra, ion of the autumnal sunset, the electricity that shoots its forked tongue out of the hunder-c. oud, the flame at whose breath Mosthunder-c. oud, the flame at whose orean accowdell and Etnas burn, shall be eternized in the fary jasper. It seems as if all earthly beauty were in one billow to be dashed up against that wait of heaven; so that the most beautiful things of earth will be kept either in the wall, or the foundation, or in the rainbow round about the thrope.

beautiful taining of the foundation, or in the rainbow fround about the throne.

I notice the unspeakable attractiveness of heaven. In other places the Bible tells us of the floor of heaven—the waters and the stones and the fruits; but now St. John tells us of the roof—the frescoed arch of eternity and the rainbow round about the throne. Get a ticket, and, carefully guarded, you go into the royal factory at Paris where the Gobelin tapestries of the world are made, and see how for years a man will sit putting in and out a hall of colored worsteeds through the delicate threads, satisfied if he can in a day make so much as a finger's breath of beauty for a king's canopy. But becauth of beauty for a king's canopy. But be breath of beauty for a king's canopy. But beheld hew my Lord, in one hour, with his two hand, twisted the tapestry, now swung above his threne, into a rainbow of infainte glory.

The what a place heaven must be! You have heretofore looked at the floor; this morning take one glance at the ceiling.

I notice what must be the feeling of safety among the people of heaven. Have you ever seen a cloud burst? There have been days when it rained as if it would never stop. You knew, if it kept on that way long, all the nations would be drowned; yet you had no apprehension, for you remember the Bow of Promise painted on the cloud in Noah's time. So the glorified have but to look to the arch around the throne of the King to be reassured that the deluge of trial is forever past. On earth,

A MOVING MOUNTAIN

It Travels Slowly Down the Columbia Rive

as If Intent on Stopping It.

A traveling mountain is found at the Cascades of the Columbia. It is a triple-eight miles in length where it fronts the river, and rises to a height of almost 2,000 feet above the water.

That it is in motion is the last thought which would be likely to suggest itself to the mind of any one passing it; yet it is a well-established fact that this entire mountain is moving slowly but steadily down the river, as if it had a deliberate purpose some time in the future to dam the Columbia and form a great lake from the Cascades to the Dalles. The Indian traditions indicate immense movements of the mountains here-abouts long before white men came to Oregon, and the early settlers, immigrants many of them from New England, gave the above-described mountainous ridge the name of "traveling mountain," or "sliding

In its forward and downward movemen the forests along the base of the ridge have become submerged in the river. Large tree-stubs can be seen standing deep in the water on this shore. The railway engineers and the brakemen find that the line of the railroad which skirts the foot of the mountain is being continually forced out of place. At certain points the roadbed and rails have been pushed eight or ten feet out of line in the course of a few years.

Geologists attribute this strange phenomenon to the fact that the basalt, which constitutes the bulk of the mountain, rests on a substratum of conglomerate, or of soft sandstone, which the deep, swift current of the mighty river is constantly wearing away, or that this softer subrock is of itself yielding,

THE DELUGE OF SIN covers the tops of the highest mountains. Revenge, drankenness, implety, falseheed, blasphemy, are but different waves of a flood that has whelmed nations. New York is drowned in it, Brookiyn is drowned in it, Boston is drowned in it, London is drowned in it, St. Petersburg is drowned in it.

drowned in it, Boston is drowned in it, London is drowned in it, St. Petersburg is drowned in it.—two great hemispheres are drowned in it.—But the redeemed, looking unto the "rainbow round about the throne," see the pledge that all this is ended for them forever. They have committed their last sin, and combated their last temptation. No snicide leaps into those bright waters; no profanity befouls that pure air; no villain's torch shall fire those temptes; no murderer's hand shall strike down those sons of God. They know that for them the deluge of sin is assuaged for "there is a rainbow round about the throne."

Now the world is covered with a deluge of blood. The nations are all the time either using the sword or sharpening it. The, factories of the world are night and day manufacturing the weaponty of death. Throne against throne, empire against empire. The spirit of despotism and freedom at war in every land; despotic America against free England, despotic England against free Germany, despotic Austria against free Austria. The great natile of earth is being fought—the Armageddon of the nations. The song that unrolled from the sky on the first Christmas night, of "peace and good will to men." is drowned in the booming of the great siege-guns. Stand back and let the long line of ambulances pass. Groan to groan. Uncover, and look upon the trenches of the dead. Blood! blood!—a deluge of blood!

AFTER EARTH'S SOEROWS. The boom in hides and calf skins noted in this column a few weeks ago has subsided. Dealers and packers tried to make too much of the boom and there has been a consequent reaction. The speculative influence entered into trade and spoiled a good thing. Tanners refused all the time to pay prices asked, and dealers have at last come to their views, which place prices 1/2 to 1/2 below asking prices. As a result of this concession tanners are buying more freely and markets are more active than they have been for a few weeks past. The boom in hides and calf skins was worked up for more than there was in it, and we are now having the consequent reaction. As it is light hides and calf skins are ic per pound higher than they were 60 days ago, and heavy hides are 3/c higher. Markets are now steady at these higher. Markets are now steady at these rates.

Said a leading dealer to-day: "Hides and call skins have been entirely too low for a year or two past. It is not over five years since green calf skins sold at 12c to 13c per pound. Within a few months they went down to 5½c. Now they are 7c, and markets are steady at the advance. It is plain that the new-fangled imitations of calf skins, in the shape of grain leather, imitation kangaroo leather, etc., are on the wane, and that there is a disposition on the part of the people to return to first principles and use the old-fashioned calf skin for foot wear. "Certain it is that there is a growing demand for calf skins, and prices are steadily moving up of late. The trouble is that speculators attempted to boom markets too fast on the late rise, but there is no doubt that we are having a legitimate advance, and that it will be a long time, if ever, when prices will be so low as they have been a year or two back."

Now the earth is covered with a deluge of sorrow. Troublet troublet The very first uterance when we come into the world is a cry, Without any teaching, we learn to weep. No escape from it, You go into the store, and it meets you at the corner; you go into the street, and it meets you at the corner; you go into the boose, and it meets you at the door. In an interview Mr. Nagele said: "In New Orleans the fruit and vegetable trace is now very quiet. The season is about over, and as I had some stuff on hands that I wished to dispose of, in looking over the trade situation at Northern cities, I made up my mind that Pittsburg was in as prosperous a condition as any other trade center and so brought my stuff here. I have discovered since my arrival that I did not make a mistake. The signs of prosperity are everywhere to be seen in your city. New potatoes are now selling in New Orleans at $1.65 per barrel. The freight on them to Pittsburg is 41c per barrel, and price here now for good stock is $3.00. leaving a fair profit after all expenses are paid. the foot of the rainbow there was a casket of the foot of the rainbow there was a casket of buried gold; but I have to announce that at the foot of this rainbow of heaven there is a box made out of the wood of the cross. Open it, and you find all the treasures of heaven.

Oh that our eyes may all look upon this bow of promise, lifted by Christ's own hand! We shall trace the separate lines of beauty across the firmament. In the line of red I shall see the blood of my Lord; in the blue, the bruises that colored His cheek; in the green, the freshness of His grace; in the violet, His humility; in all that curve of beauty, the bend of His right arm of love swung over all the redeemed. But mind what I told you at the beginning, and what I tell you at the close—that none but Noah's family in the ark saw the rainbow, and that only those who are at last in Christ shall discourt the redeement.

The offerings were light most of the day and the demand fair; in fact, a feature of the market was a lack of any specially large trading either in the buying or selling. The firmness may possibly have been influenced by the reported taking of 12 loads of wheat at Daluth to Montreal and rumored demand for Duluth wheat on Buffalo account. Crop reports from winter wheat sections continue bad.

Wall Street Speculators Keeping an Eye on Silver Legislation in Congress-The

In the Market.

New York, June 7.—The stock market today, outside of the trusts and one or two specialties, was an extremely limited one, and the dealings and final changes for the most part were without significance. The disposition at present is to await the action on the silver bill, and the trading to-day was confined almost exclusively to the room traders, who were inclined to hammer stocks in the early dealing on the expectation that the bank statement would show a decrease in the surplus reserve. The early demand was sufficient to cause slight advances in some stocks after an irregular opening, but the pressure later wiped out these gains and prices in most stocks retired slightly below those of the opening.

Louisville and Nashville was most conspicuous among the active stocks for its decline, but it was only a small fraction. St. Paul and Atchison followed in point of activity, but moved over a very narrow range, the excellent showing of the latter for May having no infinence whatever. Among the specialties Quicksilver was the only one showing any life, and the common rose 1% and the preferred 1% though both closed a little off from the best figures.

Quicksilver was the only one showing any life, and the common rose 1% and the preferred 1½ though both closed a little off from the best figures.

The trusts were the only active features to the market, and Sugar while feverish and irregular was not so active as usnal of late, and finally scored a material improvement over its last night's price. Opening up 1½ per cent at 79½, it retired to 75½, and after some violent fluctuations between the latter figure and 80½ it closed at 80½. Chicago Gas was expecially strong and rose nearly 2 per cent on a very moderate business. The close was firm at significant changes. Sugar rose 2½, Chicago Gas 2½, and Quicksilver preferred i per cent. There was about the usual amount of business in railroad bonds, the sales to-day aggregating $679,000, while the market showed the same lack of movement which has characterized the dealings of late, even though the general tone was firm.
