of the city, has come to an unexpected end.

To-night Mrs. Cowles is once more in pos-

Cowles, the father, who is at the General Hospital with a serious bullet hole through his throat, has relinquished the child to the custody of the mother for the present at least, and the whole party will probably leave for Cleveland to-morrow, where the case will be continued, Mrs. Cowles having instituted proceedings there against her husband for divorce. This unexpected termination of the case came about in this way. Mrs. Cowles to day retained the services of R. D. McGibbon, Q. C., one of Montreal's leading lawyers, who secured an order on the nuns of the Sacred Heart Convent for the production of the little girl in court. This morning the mother and child rushed to each other;

"Mamma, mamma," cried the little one, lasping her mother tight around the neck and sobbing in a passion of co-mingled grief and joy as if her little heart was break-woman, straining her to her heart, covering her little face with kisses and stroking back her pretty brown hair with a fond caressing movement. The people in the court room were thoroughly moved to tears. In a few minutes afterward Mrs. Cowles' brother, levies a tax of three mills upon the capital stock of corporations, joint stock associations and limited partnerships which declare a dividend of less than 6 per cent. Upon the stock of similar taxability which declare a greater dividend than 6 per cent, the tax is one-half a mill for each 1 per centum of dividend declared. In this section is a proviso that such corporation as pay tax on capital stock need not pay the tax on mortgages and other securities "constituting any portion of their assets included within the appraised value of their capital stock." But such corporations, "holding such securities as trustees, executors, guardians or in any other judiciary capacity, or in any other manner, shall pay the tax imposed by this act as in the case of individuals." Under this provise the trust companies make the claim that while they acknowledge their duty to pay the tax upon the securities held them in trust they cannot be required to by the tax upon such securities as are held by them absolutely. WHAT IT LEADS TO.

This alien non-resident ownership will, in the course of time, lead to a system of land-lordism incompatible with the interests and fore institutions of the United States. The foundation of such a system is being laid broadly in the Western States and Terri-tories. The avarice and enterprise of European capitalists, the report continues, have caused them to invest many millions in American railroad and land bonds, cover-ing perhaps 100,000,000 acres, the greater and perhaps 100,000,000 acres, the greater part of which under foreclosure sales will most likely, before many years, become the property of these foreign bondholders in ad-dition to their present princely possessions. This agressive foreign capital is not con-fined to the lands it has purchased, but overleaping its boundaries, has caused hundreds of miles of the public domain to be fenced up for the grazing of wast herds of cattle, and set at defiance the rights of the honest, but humble settler. The bill proposes to place these alléas under the disabilities of the civil law as to all future attempts to acquire lands in this country. the B. & O. Southwestern Railway, at par. This action was not unexpected. Since the withdrawal of the New York firm from the field the bidders had everything their way. The Mayor had announced that he would withhold his signature until he was certain there would be no other bid made, and this afternoon he came to the conclusion that the Bacon syndicate was the only one willing to take the stock at par. Finance Commissioner Spence said that he had all the time favored the sale of the city's holdings in the road to the Bacon syndicate, and he was fully con-vinced that this .was the 'best price that could be obtained. Mr. Spence character-ized as absurd the report that the Bacon syndicate is backed by Jay Gould, and said the fact that Mr. Bacon is President of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern Railway Company shows that the members of the syndicate are triends of the present management.

The main object in offering to buy the city's holding is to eliminate the political aent in the board, and by the expenditure of large sums of money to brit g the road and its equipment up to the highest state of efficiency. Thirty-two thousand five hundred shares will be transferred by the close of the present month, and by the 1st of July the seven directors will withdraw. This leaves only four directors in the board n addition to the 12 directors representing the shareholders. Two of these will go on is soon as the preferred stock is transferred. and when the amendment to the constit tion providing for the sale of the stock in the Washington branch is adopted by the people next fall the outside element will be completely eliminated from the board.

Patent Car Heating Device to be Adopted on All Their Lines.

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. PHILADELPHIA, June 9 .- The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has virtually done away with the car stove and put in its place steam. For several years the comsany experimented with different steamleating devices, but found them almost all impracticable. Over 200 cars have been fitted out with the steam appliances, and the work of putting steam heating apparatus on all the cars will be made as fast as possible. The system is exclusively that of the Penn-sylvania Railroad Company, and is as fellows: Two straight pipes, two inches in diameter, one for steam and the other to carry the water of the condensation back to the locomotive. This is done by a small vacuum pump fixed on the tender and kept constantly running. The exhaust steam is all that is used in heating the train. The pipes are so made that the steam can be made use of for any one car without inter-fering with the others. The pipes come up in the car in each side just about the middle From the pipes in the car a spur runs under each seat which gives a general distribution of heat. The car is ventilated by 40 opening diameter and directly under the seats. The fresh air passes over the steam pipes, becom-ing heated before passing into the car. The steam passes directly to each end of the car.
