Eddie Morris in the box yesterday and b was as effective as in times gone by, wher he was a terror to the greatest batsmen of the country. Morris let himself out an pitched a great game, and as a result he wil probably be removed from his place on the shelf and put on the team's regular corps were followed up with a sacrifice, but only two of the Chicagos crossed the plate. The the chicagos crossed the plate.

The fine fielding of the team was, of course, a great help to the pitcher, and the sharp playing of Hanlon and his co-workers prevented more runs being made. While two errors are placed to the credit of Corcoran, he played a first-class game in his department.

hits. Only once did things look shakey and that was in the fourth inning when four hits were made in rapid succession. They

THE FIRST HOME RUN. The feature of the game was Fields' home run hit, the first at Exposition Park. It was in the fifth inning, when Hanlon and Carroll were on the bases. Frields fit the ball over hyans bead into deep middle, and by rapid and daring base running succeeded in reaching home just before the ball was received by the catcher. The attendance yesterday dropped to 1.832. This was perhaps due to the threatening weather and light showers of the afternoon. Notwithstanding this fact the grounds were in excellent condition and it was a first class

Baidwin started to pitch for Chicago, but at the end of the third inning he retired in favor of Bartson. Baldwin was very wild and had given four men bases on balls. STORY OF THE GAME.

As usual Hanion started the run-getting. The manager got a hit, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and scored on Fields' sacrifice. Carroli secured a base on balls, stole second, went to third on Fields' sacrifice and home on Went to third on Fields sacrince and home on Keulne's single. In the third three more runs were made. Carroll and Fields got bases on balls. Carroll went to third and Fields to sec-ond on Latham's error, and both scored on Keulne's long sacrifice to Ryan. Corcoran followed with a three-bagger and scored on Rob-balls, took second and third on Comiskey's error, which also gave Corcoran first and second, and both second on Robinson's single.

Hanlon got a hit in the sixth and stole second, Carroll, as usual, went to base on helfond. Carroll, as usual, went to base on balls Fields hit to deep center for a homer, and al three crossed the plate. No more runs were scored by the Pittsburgs.

The Chicages got their first run in the second. Pfeffer secured first base on balls, went to second on a wild pitch, to third en a sacrifice and to third on Comiskey's single and scored or Pfeffer's single, which also drove Comiskey to reener's single, which also drove Comissey to second. The Capitain scored on Latham's base hit and Farreli's sacrifice. Their fourth and last run was made in the ninth, when Farreli succeeded in making the circuit on a two-bagger, a sacrifice and Duffey's single. Follow-

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCE. CINCINNATI, June 10.—From a casual glance at the score one might think the fifth consecu-tive meeting of the Pittsburgs and the Reds a tame affair. It was nothing of the sort. The 1148 people who turned out to see the Pitts-burgs get their fourth defeat witnessed a succession of circus plays too brilliant to be con-fined under canvas. There was bitting in plenty, stops that were electrifying and a series of fly catches that are worthy to be termed phenomenal. In the last rally after Hecker BERLIN, June 10 .- The Reichstag ressembled to-day. The officers elected at the beginning of the session in May were renamed for the remainder of the session. They are: President, Herr von Levetzow, Conservative; First Vice President, Count Ballestrem, Centerist; Second Vice President, Dr. Baumbach, Liberal.

During the session Chancellor Von Caprivi, in reply to a question by Herr Richter, said that the passport regulations ap-plying to Alsace-Lorraine were rendered necessary by the number of cases of treason brought before the tribunals, but the inforcement was more especially necessary for military reasons. They were designed to render intercourse between the Alsatians and the French more difficult, and to accelerate the Germanization of the province. The passport regulations, the Chancellor declared, could not be abolished for a long time to come. Members of the French army could not be permitted to reside in the province in order to turn it into hunting grounds, which in the event of war might become battlefields. The regulations were working well, but their whole effect would only be apparent after they had been in operation for some time. The severity of the provisions had been removed by their the provisions had been removed by their milder application. Continuing, the Chancellor said:

Whether we will be able to continue the course of moderation depends upon the attitude of those concerned toward the measure. Gratilying signs of improvement are apparent in the relations between Germany and France, I should regret to see them again become troubled. In no country are the internal relations so difficult or the necessity for indulgent consideration so great as in Germany. It is not to Germany's interest to bring forward a question of this nature, which would raise new hopes and illusions in Alsace-Lorraine. I must therefore leave the responsibility with the questioners. cellor said:

Several Alsatian deputies declared tha the passport regulations injured the economic condition and had no Germanizing influence. Herren Kardoff, Benningsen and Puttkamer maintained that the regulations were only maintained that the regulations were only adopted when urgently necessary. They were of the opinion that Chancellor Von Caprivi could be trusted to enforce the regu-lations only when absolutely necessary and with the least rigor possible.

PARIS, June 10 .- In the Chamber of Deputies to-day, M. Ribot, Minister of Foreign Affairs, read France's note to Egypt. After declaring that the difficulty of employing the profits of the con-version of the debt is more serious than the conversion itself, France contends that the time has arrived when England, in accordance with the many declarations and self-congratulations of her Ministers and for the prosperity and security of Egypt, ought to evacuate the country. The note expressed surprise that the Powers do not agree in recognizing that the profits of the conversion ought to be applied to increasing Egypt's military forces in order to enable her to dispense with the British troops. Believing, how-ever, that all the parties interested are disposed to give the subject frank consideration. France assents to the conversion scheme, reserving the question of evacuation for future negotiations.

GENESEE, N. Y., June 10 .- From an action tried here to-day in the Supreme Court it is evident that Armour & Co., of Chicago, still desire to secure possession of 400 acres of salt-mining territory in the Western New York salt fields. The judgment rendered clears the title to the property and it is un-derstood that upon its success depends the action of Armour & Co. The suit was to foreclose a mortgage there by cutting off a lease of the property held by the Valley Salt and Mica Mining Company of New York

This company defended the foreclosure, This company defended the foreclosure, claiming that the mortgage of $15,000 from Stewart Gray, of York, Livingston county, N. Y., to his son was without consideration. The decree of the Court established the validity of the mortgage and cuts off all liens and incumbrances upon the property, thus giving Armour & Co. the opportunity to procure complete title to this valuable salt mining district near the great salt mines.

Youngstown, June 10 .- Judge Robinon has returned from Ravenna, where he was engaged in hearing the case brought by Mrs. Valentine against several insurance companies to recover $11,000 on policies held by her on her husband. The defense was that Valentine, who was a commercial traveler, had committed suicide and that under a clause in the policies they were not liable by reason of his self destruction. It was claimed by Mrs. Valentine that he had died from causes other than a bullet in his brain, and to substantiate this, although the body had been buried more than a year, she had it exhumed, the head cut off and brought into court, and, though in a state of decomposition, it was placed on the counsel table. Notwithstanding the efforts made by the widow, the jury returned a verdict for the defendants.

SHOT IN THE GROIN.

Mrs. Laura Myers Charged With Putting a Bullet in Chas. Ramsey.

But It is Supposed to Have Been the Result of a Lovers' Quarrel.

MO EXPLANATION OF THE DEED,

SLIM CHANCE FOR THE MAN'S RECOVERY

When the 10:50 train last evening on the Baltimore and Ohio road arrived Detective Stehen Jones of Boston, got off with rather a comely colored woman handcuffed to his wrist. She is charged with shooting Charles Ramsey, colored, at Douglass station, on the Peemickey road, in the abdomen, and the wound is so serious that Dr. Malone says he an't live.

Her name is Mrs. Laura Myers, and she lives in Youngstown, near Uniontown, Her husband is a hard working colored man. It seems, according to the story told by Detective Jones, that Mrs. Myers came to Boston, a way station on the Baltimore and Ohio road above McKeesport, yesterday morning. She was in the house with Ramsey the greater part of the day when toward evening she said she would have to make a train. Both left the house. Several men were standing nearby when Ramsey rushed over to them crying that he was shot, and asked them not to leave "that woman shoot him again." She very cooly walked down the road and sat among the weeds, where a big bull-dog revolver of 38 caliber was found afterward.

COURSE OF THE BULLET. Ramsev was badly hurt. The ball passed through the groin into the abdon.en, where Dr. Malone probed for it. The woman was brought into Ramsey's presence, and he said that she shot him. When asked if there was any reason why she had done it, he replied that he didn't know.

Mrs. Myers denies that she shot Ramsey. She claims that he once boarded with her and that he owed her a board bill. She says she came to see him to get the money. 'Squire Donglas committed the woman to jail, and she was placed under Warden Berlin's care last evening.

Mrs. Myers is very dark, but has pretty features. She wore her best dress, which was highly ornamented with blue velvet. When she came to the jail she had on a gossamer, which she laid aside when she got in the corridor.

Detective Jones doesn't know much about the woman's history, but he hasn't any doubt that she shot Ramsey. The latter is about 24 years old, and quite a handsome fellow. A colored man who claims to know Mrs. Myers, said that he would be a state of the wonded was a wather extremed to the wonded was she was rather attached to the wounded man, it may be another tale of unrequited love. It is stated she was not more than nine feet away from Ramsey when he was shot.

evening in the main tells the above story. At 8 evening in the main tells the above story. At 8 o'clock last evening Ramsey, who is a coke drawer for Carzegie Bros. & Co., was still living, but he is sinking fast. When asked for a further explanation of the affair he repeated what Laura said:

"This has been going on long enough, dear Charlie, and here and now I am going to stop it." She then drew the revolver from her dress and shot me."

Mrs. Myers stopped at the house of Samuel Cook, colored. When she met Ramsey the pair chatted pleasantly together, and Ramsey seemed pleased to see her. It was quite evident to those who saw them that Ramsey had once been her lover.
