PROFITS OF A TRUST

Which Has a Virtual Monopoly of the Manufacture of Copper.

CONSUMERS ENTER A PROTEST

Against the High Tariff as Fixed by the mands, and work was resumed to-day at the Eureka mines, near Smithton. McKinley Bill.

ELECTRICIANS ASK FOR PAIR PLAY

SPECIAL TRIEBRAN TO THE DISPATCE.1 NEW YORK, June 11 .- In a conversation with a representative of one the largest electrical manufactories in the country he was asked whether electrical people were not pleased with the proposed reduction of the duty on copper in the McKinley bill. "Pleased? I don't see why they should be for they will not be benefited 1 cent's worth by it. The only people who will be benefited are those in the copper manufacturers' ring, and we are under no obligations to them that we should be pleased to see them pocket increased profits. They have gouged us in the past as badly as have the copper miners. This Copper Association was formed several years ago and controls every mill in the country which manufactures copper ingots into the forms in which we use it, i. e., sheets, bars, rods and

BIG PROFITS EXACTED.

"During this time, while receiving practically no benefit from the tariff (the duty on sheet and other forms of manufactured copper being about the same as that on ingots), this trust has been able to keep out all foreign competition and pay large diviput its prices at the very highest possible notch, and that it has been able to keen out what we may call all foreign competition and yet make immense profits, we have proof. The value of rolled copper imported last year was only $1,049, and in the last three years less than $7,500 worth has come in. The combination exacts from 8 to 21 cents a pound for rolling ingot copper into sheets, while they have been told by a gentheman formerly in the copper business 'that 25 cents a pound will cover the cost of rolling, and also allow a profit.' Isn't that

"And now McKinley reduces the duty on ingot copper 2 cents per pound, but leaves the duty on this ring's products the same as it has been! I have been wondering what induced McKinley to give them this extra 'protection' and have been compelled at last to believe that the stories about 'at frying' in 1888 were true and that these people are merely going to have theirs returned to them.

A PERPLEXING QUESTION.

"But another question has occurred to me, Why does this new tariff bill take away just one half of the miner's protection since it is merely turned over to the rollers? Did they, after being 'ried' on one side, flop out they, after being "ried" on one side, flop out of the pan when Quay tried to turn them over? I wonder, too, whether McKinley thinks this reduction of the 'protection' of the people, who went into the Paris syndicate two years ago and thereby made that steal possible, will make political capital for the Republican party in 1892? If he does he underestimates the intelligence of the people whose votes he expects to affect, for it will not take them long to find out that the pockets into which this 2 cents goes are as sensitive as those it comes goes are as sensitive as those it comes

"I see you want to ask whether electrical manu acturers are any more worthy of this extra profit than are the wire and sheet makers. I surely think they are, but no matter. They would get but a small percentage of any reduction in the cost of copper sheets and wire anyway, and that mainly because of increased sales.

AN ARGUMENT FOR FREE COPPER. "There is but one branch of electrical manu acture in which there is not beavy competition, and that one was got hold of only after the purchase of a large number of best in the In every other branch there is, as I have said, great competition and profits are small. On account of this competition any suits, designed in the height of fashion, from reduction in the cost of copper would cause a corresponding reduction in the selling prices of our apparatus.

"That is, nearly the whole amount of that reduction would be left in the pockets list, where it belongs, and where we are going to have it placed, you can figure out for yoursel! when I tell you that at a low estimate 125,000,000 pounds of copper are used per year in the manufacture of elec-trical appliances. I said we are going to put copper on the free list. I was not speaking as a manufacturer alone, but also as a consumer of electric light apparatus, being interested in an electric light plant. The ELECTRIC LIGHTING INTERESTS of the country are in the fight for free copper, and are going to stay in it till they win. If the Republican party won't give them free copper, they will go to the party which will, and will carry a great many of their Republican customers with them. It is upon the electric lighting companies and their customers that the largest proportion of the burden of the copper duty falls.

"Do you know how much copper enters into the cost of an electric light plant? Well, a little over 33 per cent. That means that the present duty on manufactured cop-per increases the cost of an electric light plant about 12 per cent. Do you wonder that the last Electric Light Convention passed a unanimous resolution to petition Congress to put copper on the free list? And don't you see now how much you and every other citizen ol cities and towns using electric lights should be interested with the lighting companies in fighting for free

THE DUTY NO PROTECTION.

"Let me quote from the recent speech of the Hon, Benjamin Butterworth which has attracted so much attention in tariff circles: There has not been a time in two decades There has not been a time in two decades when my countrymen have not produced copper as cheaply as any other nation in the world, and most of the time cheaper, and yet we have those people who on an investment of $1,250,000 have taken out over $60,000,000 in dividends in By years, coming and asking additional protection. Will you tell me why the duty on copper should be continued? Why not make copper free to all the people who are using it in this country? To you not know that every electrician in this country petitions to remove the duty on copper? There is no apology in the world for the duty, not the slightest. It does not protect any industry, but it draws on every family we represent. There is not a yard of wirs, nor a piece of copper, in any household in the land that does not pay tribute to these people. That is not all. Although they have the American consumers at their mercy there is not a nation on the earth the citizens of which do not buy American copper cheaper than American citizens buy it!

"The electricians ask only for fair play. They prayed Congress for protection against their own countrymen who compel them to pay them 3 to 4 cents per pound more for copper than they charge an Englishman, but their prayers were not heeded. Next time it will be a demand, and you will see Con-gressmen tumbling over each other in acceding to it. The electricians of this country can exert an enormous power in politics if they choose, and, as I have said before, they have chosen."

A Report That D. P. Reighard Has Sold the

Giobe Refinery to the Standard. Many a time and oft reports have been sprea that D. P. Reighard had sold the Globe Refinery to the Standard Oil Company, but they were always promptly denied. Now the report comes indirectly, and the indirection is the strongest proof that could be adduced in support of its correctness, as it was not given for publication nor with any suspicion that it would seach the newspaper, and it was that the deal had been occomplished.

The fact that the Globe Refinery employes are having a vacation seems also to confirm the sumor.
