Totals 5, 976 While the local P. L. team hit the ball pretty freely yesterday, a glance at the score will show that their luck was with them, and the errors of the Chicagos gave them the majority of their runs. Staley did the pitching for the home team, and though he was not hit as hard and often as the Chicagos would have liked, he was hit pretty hard at times, and all the runs made by the opposition were earned. King was in the box for the visitors, and, with clean support, should have won the game, but errors were against him, and he could not withstand the onslaught of both teams. The Pittsburgs gave Staley splendid support, and their three errors cut no figure in the result. He was effective and steady all through the game, and did not give a base on balls. Quinn supported him in his usual fine style.

While the game was close and exciting, there were no unusually brilliant plays to record, and the individual work of the men was wery ordinary. The local men's team work was first-class, but the Chicages are lacking in this essential to a good ball club.

A BLOODY FIELD.

In the first inning Robinson was hit on the head by a pitched ball and severely injured, but he played out the game. Again, in the sixth, a hatted ball caught the little second baseman on the nose, and some of his gore was left on the field of battle. The attendance did not reach the figure it

The latter went to sec-ond on a throw in to catch Robinson, to third on Bastlan's wild throw, and crossed the plate on Hanlon's base bit. The Chicago's also got two runs in the first imning. O'Neill got a double, after Duffy had gone out at first, and scored on Farrell's triple. Comiskey sacrificed Farrell home and Pfeffer went on tat second. HARRISBURG, June 11 .- The annual report of the Secretary of Internal Affairs on ssessments, taxes, vital statistics, etc., shows the following features:

The assessment returns from the several counties of the State as compared with those of 1888, show a marked increase in the amount and value of all the subjects referred to except the value of salaries, emoluments of office, etc. In the number of taxable inhabitants returned there is a gain of 90,571, the greater portion of which is in the return from Philadelphia, the increase in that county being 79,640 over the previous year. The counties of Carbon, Delaware, Huntingdon, Northampton and Philadelphia, failed to make any report on this subject. If the assessments were accurately made the return each year would show an in-crease of cleared with a corresponding decrease of timber lands.

Some other counties show a fair increase in the value of real estate, while 21 show a slight decrease. In many districts of the State real estate is assessed at about one-third of its value estate is assessed at about one-third of its value and it is presumed that in the counties referred to in the above table an effort has been made to to in the above table an effort has been made to correct this illegal mode of rating property beretofore followed, and that the figures given approximate the actual or cash value as re-quired by iaw. That there should be an in-crease in the value of tuxable real estate in Dauphin county of nearly $30,000,000, over $16, 000,000 in Heatry, $14,000,000 in Beaver, and nearly $18,000,000 in Lebanon, cannot, by any means, be attributed to the actual increase of the intrinsic value of the real estate.

OBEVING THE LAW.

To what then must we ascribe this apparent advance of values? Almost entirely to an effort made in the counties named to obey a law which before had been disregarded. To what extent does a disregard of this law exist what extent does a disregard of this haw exists in other counties? This is a serious question. Its answer might disclose a condition reflecting upon those who execute the assessment laws, and at the same time be a sad commentary on the equality of taxation; for inequality in assessments of necessity produces inequality in taxation, and, therefore does violence to the spirit, if not the clear mandates of the consti-tution.

The defectiveness of the law is more apparent each year, as is shown by the con-tinued failure to enforce it, and it should either be repealed or amended so that some authority will be given to enforce a careful and complete return of the subjects covered by the act. When the departments are called upon to excente such laws confusion is certain to fol-low and unsatisfactory results will be reached. Because the measure was of Government origin, if for no other reason, the Irish members of Parliament, that is to say, the Home Role members, have opposed the bill, in common with their Liberal allies, greatly to the disgust of a large propor-tion of their constituents. The publican element in Ireland is relatively as powerful as it is in England, and the appli-cation of pressure upon the Nationalist mem-bers has begun. The licensed victualer's of Belfast, Cork, Dublin and other Irish cities have sent delegates to London to wait upon Mr. Parnell, enjoining that leader to abandon the position to the bill. These delegates are instructed to remind Mr. Parnell and his acsociates that the Irish publi-cans have been generous contributors to the success of the National party in Ireland, and impress upon their minds the extent of the injury to the Irish cause which would result from the withdrawal of that support because of the ingratitude of its beneficiaries. the limit, and any money raised beyond that must be raised by special assessment. Mr. Morley, speaking of the National Liberal party to-night, said that with the exception of Mr. Chamberlain, the men who opposed of Mr. Chamberiain, the men who opposed home rule were the same that opposed an ex-tension of the franchise in 1883. Referring to the Carlton Club meeting, he asked who were the more bewildered and hopeless, the Con-servatives or the Liberals? The business of the session, he said, had been badly bungled. The Government was attempting to pass too many bills.

Stripped of the elements of danger, which are the attractive features of bull lighting, the sport became too tame even for the tender hearted Parisians, while the Spanish residents nearied ransams, while the spanial residence of the French capital accentuated their dis-gust by persistent absance from the entertain-ments, and popular clamor once more arose demanding the restoration of the picador and the removal of the safety appliances from the borns of the bull

there is a function of $19,639,373. Notwithstanding the efforts of this department to get a full return of the value of stages, omnibusses, hacks, cabs, etc., which are taxa-ble for State purposes, there are still six coun-ties which fail to give any information on the subject. The increase in value, however, over 1885 is $46,007. The counties not reporting on the value of stages, etc., are Jefferson, Lehigh, McK ean, Potter, Sullivan and Wyoming. In 1888 the aggregate value of all property taxable for State purposes was returned at $431,111,881, while for the present year it is $448,637,120, making an increase of $17,452,249, and the increase in the amount of State tax ason the coaching times, - Cincinnati Enquirer. An umpire sagging beneath the Dickenesque name of Biogg failed to satisfy the crowd at a ball game between Denver and Minnespolis at the former city last Sunday, and at the end of the game 'a mob of 1,600 men jumped out of the grand stand and attempted to dust the plate with his form.'' The police and a posse of deputy sherifing saved the unhappy Biogg's life by driving him into the city at full speed amid a storm of stones. while in 31 it has been decreased. Seven re-port the same as last year, and three report debts that heretofore did not do so, while 16 are reported free from debt. Although there is room for improvement, the assessment returns for the present year are more accurate, and come nearer completion, than any that have heretofore been made to this department. The completeness of these returns are due largely to the generous re-sponse made by the Boards of County Commis-sioners for the information requested.

Several lines of fine, custom-made men's mits, designed in the height of fashion, from ioners for the information requested. During the session of 1889 the Legislature of high-grade cassimeres, velours, vicunas and Pennsylvania passed a law by which provision was made for the collection of statistics show-ing the entire amount of taxes collected, for all other foreign materials. ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. MASSILLON, June 11 .- The Ohio Institute of Mining Engineers convened here this evening for its eleventh semi-annual meeting. The opening session was devoted to an address by Senator Anthony Howells, President of the organization. The remarks were in the nature of a welcome of the mem-bers to the city, and a brief dissertation on the Massillon coal fields. An interesting paper was also read by Prof. Edward Orton, of the Ohio University, on the geology of the earth, as illustrated by the rock formations of Ohio. The meeting will continue to-morrow and Friday.

Penny Ante on the Wharf.

Officer Frank Yeager yesterday afternoon arrested William Really, John Delley, Thomas Herron and Stephen Baker, boys about 14 years of age, for playing penny ante on the wharf. They were lodged in Central station and charged with gambling. HANDKERCHIEF Bargain No. 5-Fancy

Those who have paid up are not all large subscribers by any means. Between 28,000 and 30,000 shareholders have paid their second installment. Nothing is more gratilying to the management than to see coming to the office and waiting their turn to make their payments."

"Do you anticipate that many of those who have subscribed will go back on their subscriptions?" Mr. Seeberger was asked. "No, I do not," was his reply. "Of course in a large subscription like this there are always some who, from sickness or other causes, cannot make their payments,
