WALL STREET GOSSIP.

B. & O. Den! Thought to be a Good One for Baltimore.

[SPECIAL TO JOHN M. OAKLEY & CO.]

NEW YORK, June 14.—Dull and uninteresting is the record of to-day's stock business, and the early tendency of prices was to sag. The the anthracite coal properties are reported as holding prices very firm and business generally assuming better shape.

The conditions of the fron and steel trade are also said to be of a favorable character, and the crop reports state that good growing weather has been experienced in all parts of the country recently.

LOCAL ART GOSSIP.

THE School of Design closed yesterday for the summer vacation, which will last until Sep-tember.

FORTUNE has smiled upon Mr. J. A. Saint during the past week, and he has disposed of three of his pictures, all recent works that have been noticed in this column. A PLEASING little landscape by Hetzel has been shown at Mayer's during the week. The composition is effective without aiming at strength, and the handling is minutene in de-which shines out in irregular patches of colo through the broken clouds,

THE Hacke gallery contines to be a point of nterest, and large numbers of people have visited it during the week. The new pictures sweek. The new pictures which are expected have not yet come to hand, save a few of the least important works, and one or two small paintings that have been been added by local artists. In one of the small rooms opening off the gallery Mr. DeLippman, an artist who has been in the city but a brief period, has planted his easel and is at present engaged upon a study in oils of the main rallery.

In the picture which Mr. D. B. Walkley shows at Boyd's this week there is quite a departure, as regards style and composition, from the character of any work done in this locality. the character of any work done in this locality. The subject is a dark hillside from which a clump of still darker trees rise grainst a bright sky. Near the top of the hill there is a flock of sheep, and upon their backs and for a short distance along the ground the bright rays of sunlight are seen to fall. This is a simple yet striking composition, showing how much may be done with a few forms if skillfully managed. The color scheme is also of the simplest kind, the effect being broad rather than varied, and the greater portion of the landscape a mass of dark-toned green. In the handling also the same principle is found to prevail, broad, free touches of the brush taking the place of minuteness and elaboration of detail.

THE small landscape which Mr. E. A. Poole exhibits at Boyd's, is considerably below his usual standard of excellence. It is one of those pictures of very simple character as regards pictures of very simple character as regards composition that require great strength of handling in certain portions in order to impart the interest in which the subject itself is lacking. A second picture by Mr. Poole, which will be shown during the present week, is of an entirely different character. The subject of this latter work is an autumn scene at a spot located near the fair grounds at Washington, Pa. In this picture there is a fine rendering of the warmth and light of a clear day in the fall when the sky is cloudless and the landscape brilliant in the richest coloring of the year. Some cattle have been introduced near the foreground, where they aid in lending interest to the scene; they are placed with artistic skill to the scene; they are placed with artistic skill and judgment, but are a trifle faulty in drawing MESSES. GROSS and Lane seem to be very oth to leave Pittsburg since they have found this to be such an excellent market for the disposal of their large collection of paintings.

After postponing the hour of their departure several times, it was finally decided that last week should see the end of their exhibits and Mr. Gross himself had gone to New York, week should see the end of their exhibition, and Mr. Gross himself had gone to New York, but was induced to return with a fresh supply of pictures by the alluring prospect of increased sales. The new pictures are well worth going to see, as they include a number of celebrated works, among them some fine colors such as "The Pilot," by Drumond, nainted this year; a landscape with cattle, by Mauve; "The Weavers," by Valkenberg, a picture full of homely sentiment, such as characterized the work of Millet; and several drawings by MacPherson for illustrations to "The Land of Shakespeare," published by Scribner's. Among the new oil paintings is a splendid work by Grutzner, called "A Fund of Atticipation," showing an old monk with a candle ready to visit the wine cellar; a fine piece of brush work by Fojetti, entitled, "The Pet," the subject being a number of children playing with a large Newfoundland dog; a couple of companion pictures by Ruel tell the story of some bold young hunters who discover a flock of tame geese, and, after shooting one of them, are put to flight by an attack by the rest. Other works that may be mentioned are: "Grandiather's Birthday," by Massam; "A Flower Market in Brusseis," by L. Appert; "A Droam," by F. Cariter: "The First Love Letter," by Paul Wegner, and the "Lady and Parrot," by A. Caisez. The masterpiece of the collection, however, is C. Laurenti's "Blind Man's Buff." This last work is a large picture with a great many figures, all excellently drawn and colored, and each one forming a study in attitude and expression. A couple of still larger and more expensive pictures which Mr. Gross has brought with him are exhibited at the Monongabela House. These are the "Pompeian Mussicians," by Guines, a really magnificent painting, and "After the Bath," a study of the nude, by E. Dieudonne. The latter work is in the billiard room of the hotel.

A SECRET NO LONGER

Names of the Men Said to be Behind the Big Parnassus Gobble.

ANOTHER PICKUPON PENNAVENUE Half a Hundred Thousand Exchanged for

Land in the Twenty-Second Ward. MOVEMENTS AT NORTH JEANNETTE

The big deal at Parnassus was the "talk of the town" all week. Everybody recognized its importance as the germ of another feeder to Pittsburg. The composition of the syndicate was also discussed, and more guessing was hazarded as to the names of the gentlemen composing it, but none hit the mark. This secret is now divulged in-THE DISPATCH. On unimpeachable authority it can be stated that the syndicate is composed of H. C. Frick, B. Rafferty, J. C. McGinley, H. Sellers McKee, and one or two others equally prominent, but who prefer remaining in the background a little longer. The purchases aggregate 700 acres and the leases 3,000, involving $1,000,000 or more.

A prominent glass manufac urer looked over the grounds yesterday, and was highly impressed with its manifold advantages for manufacturing purposes. On Friday two Western gentlemen, interested in iron specialties, took a run up to Parnassus and examined the tract. They were so well pleased that they will prob ably locate there.

New Ideas on the Southside.

The Birmingham Land Improvement Com pany, of the Southside, composed of a number of leading business and professional gentle-men, with a capital of $100,000, whose organization was referred to in THE DISPATCH a short time ago, has purchased a tract of 80 acres, conveniently situated, which it will cut up into lots and put on the market. Surveyors are at work plotting the tract, and will finish the work in about two weeks.

A committee of the company recently visited Pullman and other model towns in the West, and will utilize some of the ideas thus acquired and which are new to this part of the country.

Another Twenty-Second Ward Gobble. Mr. Thomas Liggett has about concluded a $55,000 deal in the Twenty-second ward. The property consists of about eight acres, with a substantial residence. It will be improved and occupied by the purchaser, who is a prominent

The syndicate whose operations in this ward were narrated at length in THE DISPATCH a few days ago have secured about all the land which they set out to gobble, and will probably call a halt this week. What they have done in the last few days will be given to the public in Improvements at North Jeannette. Work on the Dithridge glass plant at North Jeannette is proceeding rapidly. The foundations of the immense building are almost ready for the bricklayers. The Pennsylvania Rail-road has completed the sidings and is carrying material directly to the works. The contract calls for the completion of the plant by August 15, the beginning of next season's fire.

The Fort Pitt Land Company has had its property, consisting of over 100 acres, divided into about 800 lots, surveyed, and streets laid out and named. The outlook for the big sale on the grounds on Saturday, June 21, by Baxter, Thompson & Co., is very promising, judg-ing from the large number of inquiries received by this firm.

Picked Up on Pous Avenue.

Progress was reported in several large deals in real estate yesterday—one for $85,000, but for obvious reasons particulars cannot be given until they go through. The big one will be ripe by to-morrow. Black & Baird sold a property on Penn avenue, near Fifth street, lot 23x160, with a three-story brick building, for 5's at 106 and interest, and a lot of Electric at 38%.

The plans for the bridges of the Wheeling Bridge Company across the Ohio river at Wheeling have been completed by the engineers, Ferris and Kaufman, of Pittsburg. The total length of the structure will be 1,989 The Utah National Bank, Salt Lake City, has been authorized to commence business. The capital is $200,000. Joseph M. Stoutt is Presi-

Whitney & Stephenson sold 60 shares Wheeling Gas at 201/4. Easy money everywhere and a dull stock market are somewhat hard to reconcile. The trouble seems to be that speculators are already carrying more than they can manage to advantage. A new and handsome bank building will be added to the architectural ornaments of the East End before the year is rung out. It will be located on Penn avenue. It is understood that the $50,000 standing bid for the Collins and Wright property on Second avenue is by the Equitable Insurance Company. Captain Vandergrift is not rushing work on his new building to be on Fourth avenue. It is said he is waiting to capture the Fitzsimmons property adjoining.

A GOOD RECORD.

The Week at the Banks Shows Big Gains Over Last Year.

Money will be easy during the week with moderate demand at 6 per cent as the prevailing rate. Bankers reported the situation as entirely satisfactory for the season. Checking showed a slight loss as compared with the previous week, but depositing gained enough to make good the shrinkage. There was no difference between currency and exchange, The Clearing House report for the day and week is a cheerful and cheering document. It shows a gain in bank clearings of nearly $3,-000,000 over the corresponding week last year, indicating an active movement among the trades and traders. The following are the principal items: Yesterday's exchanges...... 23x180, with a three-story brick building, for $29,000. Papers will pass to-morrow, when details will be in order. This is the fourth or fifth sale made by this firm in the same neighborhood within a few weeks.

They report a better demand for Penn avenue property than in any previous summer since they have been in business.

Railroad earnings continue good, and with this condition and prospective favorable financial legislation, the outlook is a good one, which is aided by the bank statement to-day showing over $2.00,000 increase in reserve.

The following extract from to-day's letter of a prominent Baltimore house will be found of interest: "The sales of $2.500 shares of Baltimore and Ohio stock owned by Baltimore city, to E. R. Bacon, of New York, representing a syndicate of capitalists, is generally approved, and with very few exceptions it is conceded that the price paid (100) was all that under the circumstances could possibly have been obtained. The city's Baltimore and Ohio stock could be used only by those who controlled a majority of the shares of the company, and as the Garrett party did absolutely hold the control there was no one else to bid for the stock."

While Baltimore and Ohio stock is quoted at the Stock Exchange at about 105 upon the hypothesis that some day the purchasing syndicate will make the road pay, no considerable amount of stock could be sold at a better price than was realized by the city. Considering all the circumstances, we think the city obtained a fair price for its stock, and all that could be expected.

The bank statement showed a marked increase in the movement worthy of notice. The bank statement showed a marked increase in the surplus reserve of the banks, and this finally did away with the little influence exerted by the snipment of gold yesterday, and good buying at the concessions established came in and the early losses were in almost all cases made up again, sugar rallying nearly to its highest point, and closing within ½ per cent of its last night's prices. Railroad bonds were as dull as stocks, and displayed the same temper, though there was more uniformity and the firmness lasted through the session. Sales 349,000. Government bonds dull and steady. State bonds dull and firm. The exports of specie from the port of New York during the past week amounted to $1.390,000, of which $1,330,850 was in gold and $59,050 silver. The imports of specie for the week amounted to $107,550.

The Post says: Last week stocks recovered about half of the previous week's decline, and this week the recovery has been about lost again, so that the general range of prices is now just about the same as on the 24th of May. At the close of last week the prospect seemed fair for a further recovery, and this would probably have been the case had it not been that London has been a pretty constant seller of stocks through the week. Money has been working closer in London, and exchange is a cent on the nound higher than a week ago. The ordering of $1,000,000 gold for export by to-day's steamer, though net in itself an amount sufficient to effect the markets, is indicative of some unexplained necessity for corn in the foreign money markets which may be exercising an influence to check speculation in securities.

Suit for Damages Based on Peculiar Grounds-Work of the Divorce Court-A Number of Salty Sentences in the Criminal Court Yesterday.

Arthur Erdman yesterday entered suit for $500 damages against B. Trappman, Annie Trappman, Annie, Emma and Engene Schwartzwelder, George Lees, Clem Lees and Rose Cable. Erdman stated that he leased the premises at No. 491 Fifth avenue. A passageway through the house belonged to him, and he put doors at both ends. He locked the doors and placed a large quantity of flour, in barrels, and other articles in the hall. On June 10, however, the detendants chopped down the doors with axes and put the flour out in the rain. Erdman moved them back, but they again put them out.

The goods were bally damaged by the rain and rough handling, and for that and the broken doors he asks $500 damages.

Drs. Copeland and Blair Place Another Remarkable Cure Before

A GREAT WORK.

the Public THE CASE OF MISS MAGGIE DEVINE

A short time since the attention of the public was called to the remarkable success Drs. Copeland and Blair were having in their treatment of catarrh and all its various complications. Although imitators of their method of treatment and mode of advertising have sprung up in various sections of the city, their feeble efforts have met with no success. Drs. Copeland and Blair still remain at the head, and their success is unabated. Dr. W. H. Copeland is personally in charge of his extensive practice. To the various changes in the cases under his care are due the wonderful results reached.

Miss Maggie Devine, who lives with her East End, gives the following statement:
"My trouble came on over two years ago," she said, "from continued colds, I think. I would catch cold so easily, one after another.
"My nostrils would clog up. I had headaches almost constantly—a dull, heavy pain over the eyes and through the temples. There were buzzing and roaring noises in my ears nearly all the time. After a short time I found myself growing worse very rapidly.

"There was a constant dropping of matter back into my throat, which kept me continually hawking and raising to clear it. My throat became sore and inflamed. Sharp shooting pains would pass through my chest into my back. There was a tightness in my chest as if a weight were pressing down. Night sweats came on and weakened me terribly.
"My appetite failed me. What little I dideat seemed to lay like a heavy load on my stomach, and would be followed by a miserable feeling of distress and nausea. My nights became restless. I would get up in the morning feeling more tired than when I went to bed. I always had a bad taste in my mouth upon arising. As my trouble grew worse I became nervous and irritable.

"It was while in this condition that I read of East End, gives the following statement:

irritable.

"It was while in this condition that I read of the wonderful success Drs. Copeland and Blair were having with cases similar to mine. I called on them, and, finding their charges so very reasonable, began treatment with them. I improved from the start. My head and throat no longer fill up, night sweats ceased, the pains in my head and chest passed away; in fact, I am a different person entirely, and owe my recovery to Dr. Copeland.

Mr. M. McLean, a well-known gentleman of Allegheny, residing at Wood's Run, had suffered from catarrh for many years. The mattery secretion that gathered in his throat was very tenacious and hard to raise, and as some of it dropped down into the bronchial tubes of his lungs he began to cough. He had pain over his eyes, and his head would often feel dizzy. He took cold very easily, and as his disease further advanced he coughed day and night, and worse during the night. In fact, his cough was so severe that he would spit up blood. After receiving a course of treatment from the Catarrh specialists at 232 Penn avenue, he gave the following statement for publication, with his named signed to it, as positive proof of his complete cure: "My disease was of long standing and continued to grow worse until I became afraid of consumption. I now feel like a new man and am giad to testify to my complete cure by these specialists."
