Typical of the Welcome That Awaits Every Sinner Who Turns

FROM WICKED TO RIGHTEOUS WAYS

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCEL ! BROOKLYN, June 15 .- Dr. Talmage's sermon for to-day is on the "Prodigal Son," and his text, Luke xv., 20: "When he was yet a great way off, his father saw him and had compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck and kissed him." Following is the

One of the deepest wells that inspiration ever opened is this well of a parable which we can never exhaust. The parable, I suppose, was founded on facts. I have described to you the going away of this produgal son from his father's house, and I have showed you what a bard time he had down in the wilderness, and what a very great mistake it was for him to have so beautiful a home for such a miserable desert. But he did not always stay in the wilderness; he came back after a while. We do not read that his mother came to greet him. I suppose she was dead. She would have been the first to come out. The father would have given the second kiss to the returning prodigal; the mother the first. It may have been for the lack of her example and prayers that he became a prodigal. Sometimes the father does not know how to manage the children of the household. The chief work comes upon the mother. Indeed, no one ever gets over the calamity of losing a mother in early life. Still, this young man was not suggreeted when he came back.

However well apparelled we may be in the However well apparelled we may be in the morning when we start out on a journer, be-fore night, what with the dust and the jost-ling, we have lost all cleanliness of appearance. But this prodigal, when he started from the swine-trough, was ragged and wretched, and his appearance, after he had gone through days his appearance, after he had gone through days of journeying and exposure, you can more casily imagine than describe. As the people see this prodigal coming on homeward, they wonder who he is. They say: "I wonder what prison he has broken out of. I wonder what insaresto he has escaped from. I wonder with what plague he will smite the air." Although these people may have been well acquainted with the family, yet they do not imagine that this is the very young man who went off only a little while ago with quick step, and raddy cheek, and beautiful apparel. The young man, I think, walks very fast. He looks as though he were intent upon something very important. The people stop. They look at him. They wonder where he came from. They wonder where he is going to.

THE FATHER'S SORROW.

You have heard of a son who went off to sea and never returned. All the people in the neighborhood thought the son would never return, but the parents came to no such conclusion. They would go by the hour and day, and sit upon the beach, looking off upon the water, expecting to see the sail that would bring home the long absent boy. And so I think this father of my text sat under the vine looking out toward the road on which his son had departed; toward the road on which his son had departed; but the father had changed very much since we saw him last. His hair has become white, his cheeks are furrowed, his heart is broken. What is all his bountiful table to him when his son may be lacking bread? What is all the splendor of the wardrobe of that homestead when the son may not have a decent coat? What are all the sheep on the hillistic to that father when his pet lamb is gone? Still he sits and watches, looking out on the road, and one day he beholds a foot traveler. He sees him rise above the hill: first the head and after awhile the entire body; and as soon as he gets a fair glance of him he knows it is his recreant son. He forgets the crutch, and the cane, and the stiffness of the joints, and bounds away. I think the people all around were amazed. They said: "It is only a footpad. It is only some old tramp of the road. Don't go out to meet him." The father knew better.

The change in the son's appearance could not hide the marks by which the father knew the boy. You know that persons of a great deal of independence of character are apt to incicate it in their walk. For that reason the sailor almost always has a peculiar sten, not only because he stands much on shipboard amid the rocking of the sea, and he has to bat-his gait, even if he never went to the sea; and we know from what transpired before, that his prodigal son was of an independent and trank nature; and I suppose that the characteristics of his mind and heart were the characteristics of his walk. And so the father knew him. He puts out his withered hand toward him; he brings his wrinkled face against the pale cheek of his son; he kisses the wan lips; he thanks God that the long agony is over. "When he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had c-mpassion, and ran and fell on his neck and kissed him." THE BEST MEMENTO.

Oh, do you not recognize that Father? Who was it? It is God! I have no sympathy with that cast-iron theology which represents God as hard, severe and vindictive. God is a father -kind, loving, lenient, gentle, long-suffering, patient, and He flies to our immortal rescue. Oh, that we might realize it. A wealthy lady in one of the eastern countries was going off for some time, and she asked her daughters for some memento to carry with her. One of the daughters brought a marble tablet, beautifully inscribed; and another daughter brought a beautiful wreath or flowers. The third daughter came and said: "Mother, I brought neither flowers nor tablet, but here is my heart. I have inscribed it allover with your name, and wherewer you go it will go with you." The mother recognized it as the best of all the mementoes. Ob, that our souls might go out toward our Father—that our hearts might be written all over with the evidences of His loving kindness, and that we might never again forsake Him.

In the first place, I notice in this text, the Father's eyesight, in the second place, I notice, the Father's haste; and, in the third place, I notice the Father's kiss.

To begin: the father's eyesight, "When he daughters brought a marble tablet, beautifully

To begin: the father's eyesight. "When he was a great way off his father saw him." You was a great way off his father saw him." You have noticed how old people sometimes put a book off on the other side of the light. They can see at a distance a great deal easier than they can close by. I do not know whether this father could see well that which was near by, but I do know he could see a great way off. "His father saw him." Perhaps he had been looking for the return of that hoy especially that day. I do not know but that he had been in prayer, and that God had told him that that day the recreant boy would come home. "The father saw him a great way off." I wonder if God's eyesight can descry us when we are comfather saw him a great way off." I wonder if God's eyesight can descry us when we are coming back to Him? The text pictures our condition—we are a creat way off. That young man was not farther off from his father's house, sin is not farther off from holinest, hell is not farther off from heaven, than we have been by our sins away off from our God: sye, so far off that we could not hear His voice, though vebsinently He has called us year after wear.

I do not know what bad habits you may have formed, or in what evil places you have been, or what false notions you may have entertained; but you are ready to acknowledge, if your heart has not been changed by the grace of God, that you are a great way off-aye, so far that you cannot get back of yourselves. You would like to come back. Aye, this moment you would like to come back. Aye, this moment you would start, if it were not for this sin, and that habit, and this disadvantage. But I am to tell you of the Father's eyesight. "He saw him a great way off." He has seen all your frailties, all your struggler, all your disadvantages. He has been longing for your coming. He has not been looking at you with a critic's eye or a balliff's eye, but with a Father's eve; and if a sarest ever nitted a chile. God pitters you. You bailiff's eye, but with a Father's eye; and if a parent ever pitted a child, God pittes you. You say: "Ob. I had so many evil surroundings whon I started life." Your Father sees it. You say: "I have so many bad surroundings now, and it is very difficult for me to break away from evil associations." Your Father sees it, and if you should start heavenward—as I pray you may—your Father would not sit idly down and allow you to struggle on up toward Him. Oh, not Seeing you a great way off, He would fly to the rescue. How long does it take a father to leap into the middle of the inghway if his child be there, and a swift vehicle is coming, and may destroy him? Five hundred times longer than it takes our heavenly Father to spring to the deliverance of a lost child. "When he was a great way off his father saw him."

And this brings me to notice the father's leasts. And this brings me to notice the father's haste. The Bible says he ran. No wonder! He did not know but that the young man would change his mind and go back. He did not know but that he would drop thown from exhaustion. He did not know but that something fatal mignt overtake him before he get haustion. He did not know but that something fatal arguit overtask him before he got to the desiral; and so the father ran. The Bible, for the most part, speaks of God as walking. "In the fourth watch of the night," it says, "Jesus came unto them waiking on the sea." "He walketh upon the wings of the wind." Our first parents heard the voice of the Lord, wanking in the garden in the cool of the day; but when a sinner starts for God the

Your worldly business has got to be restored. Your worldly business has got to be reconstructed. The Church of God is going to rejoice over your discipleship. You are not gospel hardened. You have not heard or read many sermons during the last few years. You do not weep, but the shower is not far off. You sigh, and you have noticed that there is alwaysa sigh in the wind before the rain falls. There are those who would give anything if they could find reliet in tears. They say: "Oh, my wasteful life! Oh, the bitter past! Oh, the graves over which I have stumbled! Whither shall I fly? Alas for the future! Everything is dark—so dark, so dark. God help me! God pity me!" Thank the Lord for that last utterance. You have begun to pray, and when a man begins to pention, that sets all heaven flying this way, and God steps in and beats back the hounds of temptation to their kennel, and around about the poor wounded soul puts the covert of His pardoning mercy. Hark! I hear something fall, What was that? It is the bars of the fence around the sheep-fold. The shepherd lets them down, and the nunted sheep of the mountain bound in; some of them their feet lame with the dogs; but bounding in. Thank God! Saved for time, and saved for eternity.

A SELF-CLOSING INESTAND

It Keeps the Fluid From Evaporating and Becoming Thick With Dirt.

It is well known that only a compare tively small portion of the ink put in ink-stands is ordinarily used. The constant evaporation from open inkstands causes a rapid reduction and thickening or the liquid. The fine lint and dust sweepings that float in the sir find their way to the exposed ink, and form a clogging mass on the pen-point when used, and the supply of ink has soon to be replenished. All this can be obviated by a self-closing inkstand which has just been patented. The closing device operates by gravity, and a small arm projecting at one side is provided with a delicate wing or plate, which comes conveniently in the way of the third finger when dip-ping the pen. This arm being deflected, the plate swings back, affording a clear opening for the pen. When the pen is withdrawn the action of gravity will instantly swing the plate to its normal, closed position.

with you," or, "You are good enough, and need no Redeemer. Take thine ease, eat, drink and be merry." Ten thousand voices say: "Back with you. God is a hard master. The church is a collection of hypocrites. Back into your sins; back to your evil indulgences: back to your prayerless pillow. The siliest thing that a young man ever does is to come home after he has been wandering." Ob, how much help a man does want when he tries to become a Christian! Indeed, the prodigal cannot find his way home to his father's house alone. Unless some one comes to meet him he had patter have stayed by the swine-troughs.

When the tide comes in you might more easily with your broom sweep back the surges than you could drive back the ocean of your unforgiven transgressions. What are we to do? Are we to fight the battle alone, and trude on with no one to sid us, and no one to shelter us, and no word of encouragement to cheer us? Glory be to God, we have in the text the announcement: "When he was yet a great way off, his father ran." When the sinner starts tor God, God starts for the sinner. God does not come out with a slow and hesitating pace. The infinite spaces slip beneath His feet, and He takes worlds at a bound. "The father ran." You start for God and God starts for you, and you meet; and, while the angeis rejoice over the meeting, your long jujured Father falls upon OFFICE OF PITTSBURG DISPATCH, }
SATURDAY, June 14, 1890. In volume of trade the past week has been the best of the year so far in general produce lines. Supplies of vegetables and fruit have been large and demand active for all choice stuff offered. The commission men along Liberty street are all smiling. over the results of the week. A number report sales amounting to over $1,000 per day you meet; and, while the angels rejoice over the meeting, your long injured Father falls upon your neck with attestations of compassion and pardon. Your poor, wandering, sinful, polluted soul, and the loving, the eternal Father, have meet for the week. One commission man reports sales averaging $1,500 per day for the month of June. As there are about 25 produce commission houses in Pittsburg, it is evimet.

I remark upon the father's kiss. "He fell on his neck," the text says, "and kissed him." It is not every father that would have done that way. Some would have scolded him, and said: "Here, you went off with beautiful clothes, but now you are all in tatters. You went off healthy, and come back sick and wasted with your dissipations." He did not say that. The son, all haggard, and ragged, and flithy, and wretched, stood before his father. The father charged him with none of his wanderings. He clust received him. He just kissed him. His wretchedness was a recommendation to that father's love. Oh, that father's kiss! dent that the quantity of goods handled this week was immense. By reference to the domestic market column, it will be seen that over 30 carloads of bananas, or in round numbers

10,000 bunches were received in this market since last Saturday. Home-grown strawberries are now at their best and will hold the fort for a week to come. Quality was never better in this market; and demand has been fully up to supply for all choice stock.

One of the marked features of the week has One of the marked features of the week has been the great scarcity and firm prices of the Swiss style of cheese. Ordinarily by the lat of June markets are overstocked in this line and pricos drop. This season is an exception, owing to backward spring, and it is not possible so far to supply demand. Regular cheese is plenty, and there has been a decline of lc per pound during the week. How shall I describe the love of God?—the ardor with which He receives a sinner back again? Give me a plummet with which I may fathom this sea. Give me a ladder with which

The feature of the grocery trade has been the steady advance in sugar. Prices are fully le per pound above those of a few weeks ago. The advance furnishes enormous dividends to members of the Trust.

Cereals were lower than they were a week ago and the week closes with tame markets. Wheat and flour are both on the decline.

Favorable crop reports from the Northwest and from Europe have brought all bull movements to a standstill. All along cereal lines the situation favors buyers.

Provisions are the same as last Saturday During the week hogs dropped in Chicago to $3.70, but to-day they are steady at $3.85 to $4.

Demand is good and prices are steady in provision lines.

To make you believe that He loves you, He stooped to manger, and cross, and sepalcher. With all the passions of His holy nature roused, He stands before you to-day and would coax you to happiness and heaven. Oh, this Father's siss! There is so much meaning, and love, and compassion in it; so much pardon in it; so much beaven in it. I proclaim Him the Lord God, merciful, gracious and long-suffering, abundant in goodness and truth. Lest you would not believe Him, He goes un Golgotha, and, while the rocks are rending, and the graves are opening, and the mobs are howling, and the sun is hiding, He dies for you. See Him! See Him on the Mount of Crucifixion, the sweat on His brow tinged with the blood exuding from his lacerated temples! See His eyes swimming with death! Hear the loud breathing of the Sufferer as He pants with a world on His heart! Hark to the fall of the blood from brow, and hand, and foot, on the rocks beneath—drop! drop! drop! Look at the nalis! How wide the wounds are! Wider do they gape as His body comes down upon them! Oh! this crueffixion arony. Tears Bides and Goat Skins.

There have been no new developments in this ine during the week. Prices are practically the same as last Saturday. There is a good demand for stock. One dealer reports shipments of four carloads during the week at the same prices as prevailed last Saturday. Sheep skins are scarce. Farmers are withholding from the market in expectation of higher prices.

In the current number of the Shoe and Leather Review is a three-page article richly illustrated on glazed kid skins, showing the processes by which they are prepared for the market.

The Markets Showing a Disposition to Lag-The Only Stimulation Noticeable Being In Sugar-Citizens' Gas of Brooklyn Advances a Small Fraction.

NEW YORK, June 14.—There was scarcely any stock market to-day, while the fluctuations were strictly upon a parity with the trading. In no stock but sugar was there any real fluctuaion, and that was very moderate for that stock, The general indisposition to trade, pending the settlement of the silver question one way or the other, extended to-day to even the pro-fessionals and traders, and the operations of that class of operators were restricted to the smallest limits possible. The duliness was most Intense even from the start, and prices, as usual, got a drooping tendency which sufficed to carry sugar down to 82, after sales at 85%, but in nothing else was there movement worthy of notice. The bank statement showed a marked increase in the surplus reserve of the banks, and this finally did away with the little influence exerted by the snipment of gold yesterday, and good buying at the concessions established came in and the early losses were in almost all cases made up again, sugar rallying nearly to its highest point, and closing within ½ per cent of its last night's prices. The feature among the specialties was Utizens' Gas, of Brooklyn, which advanced a small fraction, selling ex-dividend. Railroad bonds were as dull as stocks, and displayed the same temper, though there was ntense even from the start, and prices, as $59,050 silver. The imports of speci week amounted to $107,550.

HOME SECURITIES.

Over Last Year. Money will be easy during the week with a moderate demand at 6 per cent as the prevailing rate. Bankers reported the situation as entirely satisfactory for the season. Checking showed a slight loss as compared with the previous week, but depositing gained enough to make good the shrinkage. There was no difference between currency and exchange, The Clearing House report for the day and week is a cheerful and cheering document. It shows a gain in bank clearings of nearly $3,-000,000 over the corresponding week last year, indicating an active movement among the trades and traders. The following are the fair for good selections of sample wheat for milling in the early part of the day. A heavy break came to futures before the middle of the session, and buyers of samples drew off, leaving many cars unsold. Later, after the break in futures had been checked, sample buyers were in the market again, but bidding very much lower prices, and such lots that were not especially choice were slow to move.

HOME-MADE ICE CREAM. How Most Delicious Hot Weather Dishe Can be Made Eastly.

Ice cream as good as any confectioner's can be made by the following recipe: Use pure cream, unmixed with milk or waterso long as the cream is not unusually thick and fresh fruits. If you want to make strawberry ice cream take a full quart of straw brries and a quart of cream. Mash the straw berries, put some sugar on them and let them stand for an hour or two. Then mix with the cream and sweeten to taste. Put the mixture into a freezer, turn the crank, and when frozen the ice cream will be per-fect. For orange water ice take the juice of a dozen oranges and three lemons and put with it as much water as there is juice, with sugar to suit the taste; then freeze it. The always a failure is that housewives will put milk or even arrowroot into it.

A new album leaf is divided or folded. The photographs are inserted between the halves of each leaf, and the latter are ther folded and locked upon each other to retain the photograph. The advantage of this con-struction is that the album will retain its normal thickness, whether full or empty. Another advantage, which will doubtless be much appreciated, is that the photographs caunot be extracted except by the possessor

Train From Dover to London. Soston Herald, 1 A race from Dover to London took place recently between the Continental mail express train and a carrier pigeon, conveying an urgent document for the French police. The rails, carriages and engine of the express train were, as might be expected, of the best possible construction for power and

The pigeon, which was known as a "Belgian voyageur." was tossed through the rail-way carriage window by a French official as the train left the Admiralty Pier, the wind being west, and the atmosphere hazy.

The train had made more than a mile before the poor bird decided which direction to take. It circled up in the air, rising all the time in wider rings, while the train, which made no stop, was speeding along at the rate of 60 miles an hour, and the railway officials were ready to lay any odds on their train.

But the race was not to the strong, for t telegram announced the arrival of the bird 20 minutes before the train was heard of 1

LIGHTING IN PHOTOGRAPHY.

Not Enough Attention is Given Ordinarily

Simplicity. Some excellent advice is given by a recent writer on the production of artistic effects by judicious lighting in photography. He says that if photography seeks to follow in the footsteps of art, it should free itself from the limitations of lighting in portraiture imposed by the narrow confines of sky-lights and reflecting screens. Were more study given to simplicity in lighting, the more successful would be the average por-

"This is exactly the study of the painter, simplicity in his methods. Why does the amateur often beat the professional? Because he is backed with more artistic judgment, and freed from the conventions of the skylight, works with greater simplicity.

in Which the Victim Suffers. A modification of Prof. Hughes' sonor eter, for testing the degree of deainess, and also for detecting the conscripts who plead deafness as an excuse for not serving in the army, has been devised by Dr. Cheval, of Brussels. It is called the electric acoumeter and consists of a series of coils, an electrical and consists of a series of coils, an electrical tuning lork, a microphone, switches, plugs and other accessories. The individual whose hearing is to be tested is placed with his back to the apparatus, and has two telephone receivers fixed tightly over his ears. Various sounds are then produced, the two outer coils being moved gradually away from the center one until no noise is heard in the telephone receivers. The distance through which the coils have been moved is a measure of the hearing power of the indi-vidual.

CLOTH FROM WASTE GLASS.

It is Prettier Than Silk, More Elastic and Ensily Washed. The manufacture of cloth from waste glass has been recently practically tested in England. Besides utilizing hundreds of tons of a broken and useless substance, the new textile will have many advantages over all other tabries; it is incombustible, and can be manufactured in all colors, and of any desired strength or thickness. The property of incombustibility will render it invaluable to those working near or with fire. It is also used for ladies' dresses, and for other purposes in place of silk, than which it is more glossy and lustrous, and more easily washed, as well as softer and more elastic.

GOLD IN THE ARTS.

The Amount Heed in Gilding Alone is a Henvy Drain on the Supply.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.] In gilding a picture frame 10x8 feet, 50 books of gold-leaf are required, 35 leaves to the book, each book laying 15 inches square. The book-gold costs 40 cents a book, the actual value of the metal is 20 cents. So, to say nothing of the labor, $20 worth of gold leaf books, having $10 worth of metal were used on this one frame. Multiply this rames in the country and take into account the millions of sign letters made of pure gold, one may well inquire how long the to the Redskins. Recently on the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad a train of cars, loaded with 5,000 fine merino sheep on the way from California to the Ghicago market, was wrecked, and every ear but two was destroyed, more than 1,000 sheep being killed outright. The Indians in the vicinity took advantage of the occasion to sup-ply themselves with mutton in sufficient uantities to last them for months to come Some anxiety is now felt lest the wily red man, having once realized the advantages of "accidents," should arrange them in luture

RIVER INTELLIGENCE.

Ropatabouts at Church or Elsewhere and the Levees Deserted. The river is still rising, but its rise is as slow as yesterday's business on the wharves was, Although no busiling prevailed, however, there was a good deal of bustling, for the two excur sion packets, not to mention innumerable small fry in the way of skiffs, punts, rafts and demi-rafts, took out loads of merry makers. All the roustabouts must have gone either to church or speak-easy, as the levees were deerted by the river craft. What the Wavelets Whisper, THE Buckeye State departed from Louisville sterday for Memphis. THE City of Pittsburg likewise took a sneak with

But the gay kids unset the rollicking skiff into the daucing wavelets. It was fine sport for the hows as the "cops" can swim even worse than they can do anything else. However the officers large boats saved their owners by acting as floats, and the pursuers got to shore, but only to find the pursued a long, long distance away.

The boat is the thing to travel on, after all, especially at this season of the year. True, they pecially at this season of the year. True, they are not in as much of a hurry as the average "canare not in as much of a hurry as the average "cannon balt" train or the "lightning express," but a man has the satisfaction of feeting and knowing that when he starts for a place on a steamboat he generally goes there, but when he gets on board a train nowadays he don't know whether he'll ever get there or not. He can't tell, scooling

AS BIG AS A CABBAGE

Must be the Button-Hole Bouquet of the Very Proper Young Man.

The button-hole, as we now term le boutonniere, increases in size at a fearful rate. A small cabbage stuck in milord's coat would not be more conspicuous than some of the bouquets which now decorate the chest of howling swells when they are in grande tenne. The carnation, one bloom of any flower, indeed, is not sufficient; there must be a big bunch of them, if Algernon Plan-tagenet-Jones would look like his model in London
