Hanlon, the first man at bat in the first inning, led off with a hit to the left field fence and crossed the home plate before the ball was returned. Later on Carroll and Beckley duplicated this performance. Carroll got to first base seven times and scored four runs. Three-base hits were so plenty that they did not cause a ripple of excitement, and it was well nigh impossible to keep track of the shorter strokes. Galvin was right in the swim and made two safe hits, while Hanlon had three in addition to his home run. Everybody scored at least once, and Galvin pitched a strong game, but took nity ons near the finish, and gave them a half dozen hits and runs just to relieve the oppressive monotony. Keefe, on the contrary, was wild, and when the ball did cross the plate

Fields played at second base and Maul in left field, and both covered the positions in faultiess style. Visnor's excellent throwing from far right excited Further particulars are unnecessary. The game was a great one to look at, but not those you read about. The umpiring was a trific peculiar, to say the least, but everybody was too happy to make any decided kick. At-tendance 1,418. ST. LOUIS' POPULATION.

The Press and the People Loudly Call for a Recount of the People.

Sr. Louis, June 19.-By permission of Superintendent Porter, Census Supervisor Major Weigel, of this district, gave out some census figures to-night. He says that the complete returns of 244 of the 288 enumerators for this city, and the incomplete returns of the remaining 44 toot up in round numbers 422,000. He estimates that there will be an addition to this number of 8,000, making the population of the city 430,000. The enumerators who have not completed their tasks will continue their work until Saturday, when their labors will close, unless otherwise ordered by Superintendent Porter.

The Supervisor thinks this enumeration falls short fully 20,000 of the real population of the city, but he claims that the work has been as well done as his facilities for doing it would admit of. The enumeration of the city of the contraction of the city of the contraction of the city of tion is denounced by both the press and the people, and measures will be taken at once to either have corrections of errors made, omissions filled up, or a recount taken.

ceased, Mr. Mills was recognized by the Speaker. He offered a resolution reciting that the order of reference made by the Speaker, referring the silver bill to the Committee on Coinage, Weights and Measures was incorrect, under the rules of the House, and was made without authority under the rules, and resolving that the journal be corrected by striking thereform this entry. The Democratic party would give the people free and unlimited coinage of silver. At the hustings the people would ask the Republicans why, when they were sent here as the friends of silver, they voted to the death to prevent the consummation of the people's wishes and the fulfillment of their promises.

In reference to a remark by Mr. Butterworth that the Chair was always right, Mr. Crisp, disclaiming any discourtesy, drew a simile between the remark and that of the Hindoo who approached his hideous god, saying: "I know that he is ugly, but I feel that he is great." The Speaker joined in the hearty laughter that followed, and caused another outburst by remarking dryly: "The Chair hopes that personal matters will not be introduced in this discussion."

Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, addressed himself to an analysis of rule 24, holding that under it, it was the plain duty of the Speaker to refer any House bill with Senate amendments (carrying appropriations), to the appropliate committee. Mr. Mills, of Texas, said that the Speaker's table to be disposed of as the House, and not the Speaker, should determine. His resolution did not state that something had been done erroneously, and that therefore it had not been done at all. It declared that the Speaker had done what the House alone had the power to do.

home, and his wife has not been arrested by the authorities. This step will not be taken unless Dr. Hammer takes a sudden change for unless Dr. Hammer takes a sudden change for the worse.

The shooting took place between 9 and 10 o'clock last evening at Dr. Hammer's house, on West Pittsburg street. The sad affray was the result of petty jealousies between the families of Dr. Hammer and his wife. The couple were married about a year ago last April, and it is said did not live happily. Mrs. Hammer was a Miss Sell, daughter of Eli Sell, a wealthy store-keeper, of Paradise, a suburb of Greensburg, and up until the day of the wedding her parents approved of the match.

A FAMILY QUARREL.

A FAMILY QUARREL. A coolness sprang up between the two fam ilies after the marriage, and time did not soften ILLEGAL AND VOID. the frigid density. On the contrary matters went from bad to worse until November last went from bad to worse until November last, when the young bride grew ill with diphtheria. The attack was sudden, and young Dr. Hammer called in his brother, R. B. Hammer. Coroner of Westmoreland county, and one of the best physicians of the town. After attending Mrs. Hammer for several days, the brother-in-law was dismissed, and she called in her own brother Jacob Sell, who is also a prominent practicing physician.

This action widened the breach between the two families and professional jealousies were aroused. The following day Dr. W. J. Hammer, who was shot last night, met John Sell, another brother of his wife and a wealthy drover of Paradise, on the street. A discussion ensued, and was ended by Mr. Sell blacking one of Dr. Hammer's syes, and both men were somewhat used up. This has been kept quiet and few people in the town know of it.

Owing to continued disagreements, Dr. Hammer and his wife did not get along any better, and it is said he ill-treated her in various ways. The young woman claims to have stood the abuse as long as she could, and yesterday she went to her father's house and told Mr. Sell she could see her husband, and accompanied his daughter back to her home. In the meantime, it is said, her brother, John, who had the fight with her husband, gave her his revolver, telling her not to allow any man to abuse her. She put the revolver in her pocket and with her father went home.

No VISITORS WANTED.

NO VISITORS WANTED. Upon arriving at the house she found he husband was not in, and sat down to await his coming. She did not wait long, and about the first thing she heard was her husband ordering ber father out of the house. Mr. Sell was in-formed that the house belonged to Dr. Ham-mer and no member of the Sell family was allowed to enter the portals. Old Mr. Sell was mer and no member of the Sell family was allowed to enter the portails. Old Mr. Sell was white with amazement as be asked:

"Why, you certainly don't mean it, Will?"
"Yes, I do," was the reply. "Now get right out."

Mr. Sell tried to explain his presence and, it is said, refused to go. Dr. Hammer took hold of and struck his brother-in-law over the head with his cane. Mrs. Hammer thinking her husband would kill her brother, pulled out the revolver and taking good aim fired at the doctor. The builted did not take effect and she fired again with no better result. She then became excited and rushed out into the street screaming "murder," "murder," at the top of her voice. Mr. I. B. Dalbey, a neighbor, rushed to the house, but the door was locked. He burst it open and jumped into the room, followed by Mrs. Hammer, with the revolver still in her hand. Her husband grabbed her, and it is said a desperate struggle ensued. The couple scuffled until they got outside the door, Dr. Hammer trying to take the revolver from his wife.

THE THIRD SHOT. The latter held on to the weapon and outside the house Dr. Hammer slipped and fell. As he did so his wife raised the weapon and fired ground. The bullet, a 22-caliber, atruck him below the right shoulder blade and came out below the point of the shoulder. The injured man was carried into the house, The injured man was carried into the house, and his wife, with her father, went to the latter's home. Dr. R. B. Hammer was called in and attended his brother. The physician stated unless pneumonia set in the wounded man will recover. The latter feels no pain, and this afternoon sat up in bed and smoked a cigar.

Mrs. Hammer fell in love with her husband while attending High School, and after graduating they were married. She is about 20 years of age, tall, slender, with a large aquilline nose, and is a pretty blonde. Her husband is about 29 years of 'age, and has been practicing dentistry in this city for the past five years. He is quite a markeman, and taught his wife how to use and shoot a revolver. se and shoot a revolver.

Both families are among the oldest and wealthiest in Westmoreland county. Dr. Ham-mer's brother, the Coroner, is a candidate for the State Legislature on the Republican ticket. Another brother, Theodore M., is a large grocer of the town and has considerable money. Every effort is being made to hush the shooting up, and very few people will talk of it.

Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, argued that if the Speaker went beyond the scope of his authority in his reference of the bill, his action was not erroneou, but illegal and void. The was not erroneou, s but illegal and void. The action of the Speaker had no validity unless the House gave it validity. If the pending resolution were voted down the reference of the bill would be the act of the House, not of the Speaker. He who voted to sustain the reference would vote to give it validity.

The Speaker, in rendering his decision, said that he desired members of the House to divest themselves of the idea that any unusual proceedure had taken place in connection with this bill. The reference of bills of this kind and in this way had been a daily occurrence since the adoption of the present rules.

The Chair desired also that the House should know that this particular transaction did not take place in a corner. In the regular course of business the Journal Clerk had informed the Speaker that among the list of bills to be reof business the Journal Clerk had informed the Speaker that among the list of bills to be referred under the rules to appropriate committees was the silver bill with Senate amendments. The Speaker had been asked whether he had any particular direction to make in regard to it. Knowing the bill to be one of grave public importance and anxious that he should have all possible light on the subject the Chair had consulted the Democratic members of the Committee on Rules (Messrs. Blount and McMillin), and the gentlemen from Missouri and Illinois (Messrs. Bland and Springer), not for the purpose of throwing any responsibility upon them, but in order that he might benefit by any light they might be able to give.

REED GIVES THE REASONS.

REED GIVES THE REASONS. After conversing with those gentlemen, it had seemed clear to the Chair that the rules of the House covered the question, and that his duty was to treat the bill as he would treat any other measure. Accordingly the clerk was not directed to make any change in regard to the reference. The House must bear in mind that this was not a question of politics or currency. It was a question of parliamentary law, and on the decision of the House depended the carrying out of the system of rules the House had adopted. If not satisfied with the reference directed by the Sneaker under the present system of rules, the House could change the reference. Did this bill contain provisions which under the rules ought to be considered in committee of the whole? There was a provision in the original House bill by which certain bullion was to be purchased and certificates issued there.

The Senate amendment was an amendment for free coinage, and for this an appropriation was made. If anything was clear in parliamentary law, it was that this bill was one of those which would be properly considered in committee of the whole, and this being so, it was the obvious duty of the Chair to refer it in the same manuer in which hundreds and thousands of bills had been referred Curing the present session. measure. Accordingly the clerk was not dition of fact. While the Chair might have some doubt about the point of order, he felt that it was a question the House ought to determine. He would, therefore, overrule the point of order, and submit the question to the House.

Mr. Cannon moved to table Mr. Mills' resolution. On a standing vote this was carried—120 to 110. Mr. Morrow. California, Mr. Bartine, Nevada, and Mr. Townsend, Colorado, voted with the Democrata. They stood in a little group on the extreme western side of the hall, and were overlooked by the Speaker in his first count, but Mr. Morrow called attention to the omission and it was rectified.

On a vote by tellers the motion to table was lost—yeas, 118; nays, 173. The question then recurred on Mr. Mills' resolution and it was agreed to—yeas, 121; nays, 117. At the conclusion of the roll call, the vote stood: Yeas, 119; nays, 117. A change of one vote would be necessary to defeat the resolution by a tie vote, and that change was made by Mr. Funston, of Kansas, amid the derisive jeers of the Democrats.

TWO ADDITIONAL VOTES. This left the vote: Yeas, 118: navs, 118. But the change proved unavailing. Mr. Abbott, of Texas, and Mr. Bullock, of Florida (whose names were not recorded), stated that they had voted in the affirmative, and the Speaker accepted their statement; the vote Speaker accepted their statement; the vote stood: Yeas, 120: nays, 118. Then Mr. McKinley arose, and, amid Democratic laughter, changed his vote to the affirmative and the vote was finally announced: Yeas, 121; nays, 117.

Mr. McKinley was then recognized to move a reconsideration and also to move an adjournment. Mr. Mills managed to sandwich in a motion to lay the motion to reconsider on the rable.

On the motion to lay the Mills resolution or On the motion to lay the Mills resolution on the table the following Republicans voted with the Democrats in the negative: Messrs Eartine, Carter, Dehaven, Ewart, Kelley, Morrow and Townsend, of Colorado. The vote recurring on Mr. Mills' tion to table the motion to reconsider it was agreed to: Yeas, 121; nays, 114. Mr. Mills th agreed to: Yeas, 121; mays, 114. Mr. Mills then moved the approval of the journal as amended, asking to withdraw the preamble which recites that the order of reference made by the Speaker referring the Silver bill to the Committee on Coinage Weights and Measures was incorrect under the rules of the House, and done without authority under said rules.

Mr. McKinley objected and the question recurred on the adoption of the preamble—yeas, 109; nays, 121. [Republican applause.] Mr. Springer moved the approval of the journal amended, pending which, on motion of Mr. McKinley, the Hodse at 7 o'clock adjourned,

GOODS ON INSTALLMENT. An Important Philadelphia Decision Affecting Purchaser and Seller.

PHILADELPHIA, June 19.—George Hill has been acquitted before Judge Pennypacker of a charge of larceny by ballee of an organ and household goods, purchased on the installment plan. It appeared that payments had been made upon the goods, but that when they beased, and the seller was unable to recover possession of the articles, he had Hill arrested. Plaintiff exhibited a lease of the goods, by which it appeared that the defendant had agreed to buy the goods, paying monthly installments, and that it was a conditional sale. The title in the goods, Judge Pennypacker said, therefore vested when they were delivered to the defendant, and, under the circumstances, even if the case were made out otherwise against Hill, a conviction could not be sustained. plan. The Electric Street Railway at Johnstown Obliged to Cense Work. APECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. Johnstown, June 19 .- Owing to the fact no move is being made by the authorities to build permanent bridges, the Electric Street Railway to-day suspended work on the construction of their road. It was the intention struction of their road. It was the intention to have the road in moving order by July 1, and the failure of the city to put up bridges is a big disappointment to the railway people, as well as a detriment to the town.

The trouble lies in the fact that so many private interests will be affected by the proper widening of the streams and so much objection is being made that nothing of consequence can be accomplished.

NOTHING LIKE SUCCESS TO SUCCEED.

The hundreds of patients who have testified in this paper to cures made by the physicians of the Catarrh and Dyspepsia Institute at 323 Penn avenue, were those who had suffered from catarrh in its most aggravated, chronic form, and which in some cases had developed into consumption. The testimonials published have always been followed with the name AS SIGNED BY THE PATIENT, so as to positively prove their genumeness even to the most skeptical. What better evidence can be given than to refer you to hundreds of patients who than to refer you to hundreds of patients who have been cured of diseases like your own? The Catarrh and Dyspepsia Institute, established two years ago, is the only institution in Pittsburg for the exclusive treatment of Catarrh, Dyspepsia and Diseases peculiar to Women. Its patronage is rapidly increasing, and from early in the day until late at night the parlors are filled with patients.

One day I happened to see in the paper an account of the suffering of Mrs. Bratt, of Verner station, which seemed something similar to my suffering, and how she became cared by the physicians of the Catarrh and Dyspepsia Institute. This gave me some hope, and I therefore took a course of treatment from these doctors and have been entirely cured of all my aliments.
