The local Players' League team thought, up to the opening of yesterday's game, that they had struck a gait which would paralyze attendance 600. Score: everything that came their way. But the Phillies were on the hustle, and it looked after the scrimmage, as though a whirlwinhad struck the park. During the gam Manager Hanlon paced up and down hi territory like a caged lion. In the las inning, with two men out and two men or bases, the manager, from the coaching lines called out encouragingly, "You can't alway sometimes tell," but it appeared as though this was not one of those sometimes, and the hit from Corcoran's bat that looked like a sure three-bagger was soughly pocketed by ex-Managing Director Fogarty, and some one in the audience sadly remarked that that was a time when you "can't always sometimes

The local team made the most hits and had the only stolen bases, but their work was not timely, and Robinson's errors let in two of the runs. To go against this the Phillies hit hard and timely and made everything count. As a consequence they won easily. Both teams put up a good game in the field. Harlon led the ome men, while it was a tough race among th Philadelphia men. But the way Mr. Wood dishit the ball no wonder they won the game! The Phillies had a double, three triples and two found Sanders for only two doubles and a tripl scattered along in out of the way place and each man died where he landed. WHERE THEY COUNTED.

The Pittsburgs got two of their runs in th first inning. Hanlon got a hit, stole secon and got home on two sacrifices. Carroll go first and second on Mulvey's wild throw a was added in the third on Beckley's base hit, a stolen base, Field's life and Milligan's error. The fourth run was scored in the sixth. Robinson got a base on balls, stole second and went home on Hanlon's corking single.

The Phillies began business at the outset.

Shindle got a base hit, and went to second on a wild pitch. Then Mulvey got a base on balls and Wood followed with a three-bagger, driv-and Wood followed with a three-hagger, driving everything before him. Fogarty then tipped a nice one down to Robinson, who threw it wild and Wood scored. Another batch of scores was hung up in the third. Pickett before to first on Robinson's error and Wood hit to left field for a home run, driving Pickett in. In the 1977 and sanders 275 ned up for a three-hagger and scored on Griffin's single. In the fifth Wood hit to deep center for another homer. The last run of the game was scored in the seventh on Pickett's triple and Fogarty's the seventh on Pickett's triple and Fogarty's double.

The Philadelphias have a corking hard team to beat. Their men in the field pulled down numerous long hits which were calculated to clear the bases. But the home team will try again, and with blood in their eyes. If they don't beat them to-day they can't be beaten. The attendance was 2,319 people, and it was one of the most enthu-hastic crowds seen here since the opening day. No good play on either side escaped their notice, and the air was filled with the encouraging abouts of the audience. with the encouraging shouts of the audience opened up at the old stand to-day and did busiopened up at the old stand to-day and did business with 1,451 people. The game was a very dull one. The home team had things all its own way, owing to the lamppost style of play adopted by the visitors. The first really interesting thing of the game that happened was when Mayer chose a straight, low hall and swung hard at it. It went on a line to left beswung hard at it. It went on a line to left be youd Keity's territory and never stopped roling until it hit the far left field fence. It was an easy home run for Mayer. In the second inning the home team began to sing the ball all over the lot, scoring in nearly every inning. Afterward Vickery pitched superbly, while Baker's delivery seemed to be hit at pleasure. The home team had the lead in the work in the field, although the visitors played a fairly good game. The score:

SUGGEST A TRIAL The California Club Wants to Know If Prize

Fighting is Illegal. SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—President L. R. Fulda, of the California Athletic Club, acting under the instructions of the Board of Direc ors, has written a letter to Attorney General Johnson, in which he calls attention to the recent communication of Governor Waters, in recent communication of Governor Waters, in which the latter requested the Attorney General to take action against the athletic clubs which gave sparring exhibitions between professional puglists. President Fulda declares there is nothing illegal in the exhibitions given by the California club, and suggests that action be commenced in the name of the State against the club before one of the Judges of the Superior Court in this city for the purpose of determining whether or not the club's franchise should be forfeited on the ground that it has suffered and permitted an illegal act.

THE MATCH OFF.

John Quinn Will No Longer Back E. C. McClelland, the Runner. Chris Steinmiller, who had deponted $50 with The Disparch for Pete Priddy to run a five-mile race with E. C. McClelland, withdrew the amount last night, as the other party had made no move to cover it. However, he said the no move to cover it. However, he said the money is ready any time. Priddy expects to go East in a few days, and would like to know what McClelland is going to do.

Since the money was withdrawn a friend of John J. Quinn, who just returned from New York, was in, and said that Quinn would have nothing more to do with McClelland on account of his making the mile race with Nikirk. Mr. Quinn says McClelland can't fun a mile. He was on his way to the telegraph office to send $100 to bind the race between Priddy and McClelland when he was informed that the match with Nikirk had been made.

CRUSHED ON THE LAKE ERIE. A NUMBER OF ACCIDENTS REPORTED I THIS VICINITY.

Frank Anbretz Dies From His Injuries-German Woman Frightfully Burned In an Explosion - Michael Greenawalt Has Both Legs Cut Off.

Frank Aubretz, an Italian about 16 years f age, was brought to the West Penn Hospital last evening from Stoop's Ferry. Both of his legs and one arm were terribly crushed on the Lake Eric Railroad about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. It was found necessary to amputate both of Aubretz's legs in the hopes of saving his life, but it proved fraitless, for shortly after he died. The Coroner was notified, and will hold an inquest to-day.

Another case was brought to the hospital last evening which will likely have a fatal termination, J. W. Morris, a married man, 57 years of age, employed on a mine car at the Mansfield Coke and Coal Company's mill, was crushed, and suffered severe in-ternal injury while making a coupling. Caroline Stanson, a German woman of Elrod station, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was brought to the Homeopathic Hospital yesterday suffering from severe burns received at her home yesterday morn-ing. She was fairly roasted, the flames burning off all her clothing.

The only information that could be gained from the unfortunate woman was that she and her husband had both been burned by an explosion at their home. Her husband is also in a serious condition. Michael Greenawalt fell under a train near the Pennsylvania freight station yesterday, and had both legs and one arm cut off. He is a German about 65 years old, and

A Murder Committed Near Newark in 1858 Brought to Light by

THE DISCOVERY OF A SKELETON.

Large Amount of Mail Matter Found in an Alley at New Castle.

LATEST NEWS FROM THREE STATES

After a period of 30 years it is probable that the mystery surrounding the death of a Pennsylvania stock buyer will be cleared up. The stolen mail matter at New Castle is causing considerable trouble.

ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. NEWARK, June 20 .- There is every chance of the circumstances of a foul and desperate murder committed in this county over 30 years ago, coming to light. The human skeleton found by William Hughes a few days ago, five miles east of here, 18 supposed to be that of the victim. The find brings to light the disappearance some 30 years ago of a Pennsylvanian who had gone to Hanover to purchase dairy cows. In 1858, or a little later, the man stopped at a tavern in Hanover, kept by a man named Coons. His visits were frequent, and his business always kept him with plenty of money on his person. John Hoyt, better known as Governor Hoyt, also kept a place there, that had a bad reputation for drunken orgies, and there was a strong suspicion that counterfeiting was carried on to some extent. The place was isolated, and by no means attractive to the traveler. The stock drover also frequented Hoyt's, and one evening about sundown, he, with two well-known characters, left there in a buggy, coming toward Newark. He was never seen again, his disappearance being complete. No intelligent account of his whereabouts could be rained from the men who were last seen with him. The man's horse was found concealed in the bushes in the rear of where Mr. Hughes' residence now stands, while the buggy was found in a yard opposite, though all efforts to find some traces of the man were fruitless. The supposition is that he was murdered, and the finding of the skeleton near the scene recalls the event forcibly to some old residents. They think beyond a doubt the bones are those of the missing Pennsylvanian, and that the two men who were last seen with him knew what became of him. It was but a short time after this that one of the men purchased a farm near the place, and who is still living there to-day. THE TRAIN BROKE freight trains running as first and second se tions were going south on the Bedford division of the Pennsylvania Railroad when the first section broke on the top of the Buffalo Mills grade, and the rear part of it ran down three miles at a speed of more than 40 miles an hour. Meeting the second section, which was running at a high rate of speed on a sharp curve, the result was a general smashup of several cars and the engine. Four men were in the caboose of the broken train, all saleep, and not aware of the terrible danger which they were in. All four were severely injured, and one of them named Joe Martin died to-day from his injuries. The engineer and fireman of the second section saw the approaching cars in time to jump and escaped with slight injuries, but Albert Little, a brakeman who was on the engine, was buried under the engine and hurned to death almost instantly. William Kiser, a flagman, was severely injured by besection broke on the top of the Buffalo Mills burned to death almost instantly.
