(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.)

BROOKLYN, June 22 .- Dr. Talmage gives another evidence of his genius in his sermon for to-day. The Book of Ruth has furnished the subject for many sermons, but they have naturally been concerned with the central character of that beautiful story; it remained for the popular Brooklyn divine to find in the character of the less conspicuous widow material for spiritual lessons. His text is Ruth i, 14: "And they lifted up their voices and wept, and Orpah kissed her mother-in-law, but Ruth clave unto her." Following is the sermon:

Moab was a heathen land. Naomi is about to leave it and go into the land of Betblehem. She has two daughters-in-law, Ruth and Orpah, who conclude to go with her. Naomi tells them they had better notleave their native land and undertake the hardships of the journey, but they will not be persuaded. They all three start out on their journey. After awhile, Naomi, although she highly prized the company of her two daughters-inlaw, attempted again to persuade them to go back because of the hardship and self-denial through which they would be obliged to go. through which they would be obliged to go. Ruth responds in the words from which I once discoursed to ym: "Entreat me not to leave thee, nor to return from following after thee, for where thou goest I will go, and where thou lodgest I will lodge; thy people shall be my peo-ple and thy God my God; where thou diest will I die and there will be buried. The Lord do so to me and more also if aught but death part thee and me." Not so with her sister Orpah. Her determination had already been shaken. The length and peril of the journey began to appal her, and she had worshiped the gods of Moab so long that It was hard to give them up. From that point Orpah turned back, the part-ing being described in the words of my text: Aud they lifted up their roice and wept again, and Orpah kissed her mother-in-law, but Ruth clave unto her. clave unto her.

THE LESSON OF THE STORY.

Learn from this story of Orpah that some of those who do not leave the Moab of their iniquities are persons of fine susceptibility. It was compassion for Naomi in her widowhood and sorrow that led Orpah to start with her toward Bethlehem. It was not because of any lack of affection for her that she turned back. We know this from the grief exhibited at parting. 1 do not know but that she had as

We know this from the grief exhibited at parting. I do not know but that she had an much warmth and ardor of nature as Nuth ther sites. That there are many with as find susceptibility as Orpah who will not take at her sites. That there are many who have no mholy thirst for gold, yet who are devoting themselves to their cross and follow Christ, is a truth which needs but little demonstration. Many of those but yery little matural inpressibility. Grace for takes hold of the hardest bear and takes and no goods to sell and no fore nakes hold of the hardest bear and the most unlovely character and transforms it. It is a hammer that breaks rocks. In this Christ is a hammer that breaks rocks. In this Christ fen shows His power. It wants but little generalish to conquer a flat country, but mend that christ could have found many a fisher frier, but here was no one a yew for maker. I double not that Christ could have found many a fisher free, but here was no one a yew for the power of Jambo feter. It would have found many a fisher free, but here was no one a yew for maker. I double this grace. The conversion of as core of Johns hus provide and have found many a fisher free, hus all have found many a fisher free, but here was no one by whose conversion for the could more gloriously have magnified his most efficient ervants out of a score of Johns hus most efficient ervants out of a score of Johns hus most efficient ervants out of mer nature in the store there were the heir worldly found not have been ensister to drive and hus not a score and to be worth a future that been into the fold than to take a some of the size and an other to called the region the their worldly found in the score the sold in the gold than the take some of future there are out here will be be worth a future there are out the stelf will not be worth a future the area ow giving their time and eter-ming the earth liself will not be worth a future, hear ow giving their time and eter-ming the earth liself will not be worth a future, hear ow giving thei His most efficient servants out of men naturally unimpressionable. As neer take stiff and un-woldy timbers, and under huge-handed ma-chinery bend them into the bulk of great ships, thus God has often shaped and bent into His service the most unwieldy natures, while those naturally impressionable are still in their un-changed state.

THEY IGNORE THE SAVIOR. Oh, how many, like Orpah, have warm affec ons and yet never become Christians! Like Orpah, they know how to weep, but they do not now how to pray. Their fineness of feeling leads them into the friendships of the world, the gold they hoarded or walk through the it is believed that the Caar intends to actively Yesterday's issue of THE DISPATCH was up to its usual standard of excellence. It was made up of 20 eight-column pages, and beside the entertaining contributions of the best writers at home and abroad, contained all the news of the world and a complete record of local hap-penings and current gossip. and hold on to us by their prayers even after we have passed them in our headlong down-ward career. No man ought to think of undertaking to go back into Moab after having come within sight of Bethlehem unless he have a heart that can-not be made to quake, and a sure foot that will not slip among infinite perlis, and an arm that can drive back the Son of God, who stands in the center of the broad road, spreading out His arms and shouting into the ear of the thought-less pilgrim, "Stop! Stop!" We talk about taking up the cross and fol-lowing Jesus, but that cross is not half so heavy as the burden which the sincer carries. It is a more solemn thing not to be a Christian. There are multitudes who, afraid of the self-denials of the Christian, rush into the harder self-denials of the unbeliever. No yoke but Christ's, however tight and galling! Orphi goes back to her idolatries, but she returns weeping; and all who follow her will find the same sorrows. NO EASY WAY TO HEAVEN.

My friends, there is no solid happiness in any thing but religion, I care not how bright a home Orpah has in Moab, when she turns away from duty she turns away from peace. Amid the bacchanalia of Belshazzar's feast, and the from duty she turns away from peace. Amid the bacchanalia of Belshamar's feast, and the glitter of chalices there always will come outs handwriting on the wall fearfully ominous; "Tekel-weighed in the balances and found wauting." When you can reap harvests off bare rocks, and gather halm out of nightshade, and make sunlight sleep in the heart of se-pulchres, and build a firm house on a rocking billow, then can an unpardoned soul find firm enjowment amid its transgressions. Then can Orpah go back to Moab without weeping. Again: This subject teaches that a religious choice and the want of it frequently divide families. Ruth and Orpah and Naomi were ten-deriy attached. They were all widows, and their life had been consecrated by a baptism of tears. In the fire of trial their affections had been forged. Together they were so pleasantly united you can hardly imagine them separated. Yet a fatal line is drawn dividing them from each other, perhaps forever. Naomi cannot live in a heathen country. She must go into Bethlehem, that there among the pious she may worship the true God. Ruth makes a similar choice, but Orpah robels. "And they lifted up their roice and wept again, and Orpah kissed her mother.in-law, but Ruth clave unto her." The history of this family of Elimelech is the history of many families of this day. How often it is that in a circle of relatives, while they look alike, and walk alike, and talk alike, there is a tremenious difference. Outwardly united in the affectional relations of this life, they are separated in the most important re-spects. Some now are the children of light and they are separated in the most important re-spects. Some now are the children of light and others the children of darkness. THE AMERICAN JUGGERNAUT

OFFICE OF PITTSBURG DISPATCH, SATURDAY, June 21, 1890.

The week past has been one of great activity in general produce lines, and volume of trade has seldom been as large. Though receipts of berries have been large, markets have at no time been glutted with good stock as in former seasons. Demand has been fully up to supply for choice fruit. In vegetable lines, cabbage and tomatoes show a downward drift the past week, but new potatoes are very firm at prices of a week ago. In fact, it has been impossible to secure all the stock in this line that was needed for the local trade. Prices are advanced at sources of supply 25 cents per barrel, but dealers here have made no change. The time is now made no change. The time is now close at hand when home grown cabbage tomatoes and potatoes will be on the market. A Neville Island gardener reports that he will have new cabbage for sale next week. Home-grown potatoes will be due about July 4, but this season is hardly up to time in vegetable lines, owing to backward spring. It is doubtful if there has been in any other city of the land as active a produce market or as high prices the past week or two as in Pitts-burg. In a visit to a city of Ohio, with a popu-lation of 15,000 last week, it was ascertained that the outside retail price of home-grown strawberries there was 6c per quart, and other things in proportion. Here two quarts for 25c has been considered obeap. These are straws that point to the general prosperity of our eity. Our working people find ready employment and good wages, and the number of mouths to feed are rapidly increasing, and the assertion is made without hesitation that no city of the continent is enjoying creater prosperity than our own. While the expense of living here is greater than in most of the other greater centers of trade, there is the com-pensation that the wage-earners are better paid here, as rule, than in other cities. than I was able to obtain. My sales one day reached \$1,800, the best day I have had this sea-son." Others report in the same strain. The present ofticok is that next week will show no falling off in the volume of trade. The only marked feature of trade in dairy products for the week has been the advance in Elgin creamery butter. Ohio creamery is un-changed, and the effect of the rise has been to increase the demand for the latter, which is coming to market in very fine shape. New Ohio cheese has declined $\frac{1}{2}$ during the week, and is moving out freely at the decline. Eggs are stationary but steady. Guaranteed stock is a shade higher than a week are. The grocery trade does not show the same activity as last week, or for several weeks past. The feature in this line has been at an unusual time, a time when sugars are usually strongest. Speculators, however, anticipate the drop a sugar. an unusual time, a time when sugars are usually strongest. Speculators, however, anticipate the rise by a few weeks, and are now having the resultant reaction. Jobbers report that the iuture of the sugar market is in the hands of refiners. Cereal markets in the main continue in buyer's favor, cats being the exception. Wheat and flour are practically unchanged the past week, with markets quiet. Hay of all grades is weaker, owing to liberal receipts.

Markets were unusually bare of potatoes this norning. Commission men were not able to fill orders. One reason for this was the wreck of a freight train out the Panbandle road, which kept stuff from coming to market. But aside from this delay, demand has all the week been fully up to supply. love everybody but Him, who is altogether lovely. All other sorrow rends their heart, but they are untouched by the woes of a dying Christ. Good news fills them with excitement, but the glad tidings of great joy and salvation stir not their soul. Anxions to do what is right, yet they rob God. Grateful for the slightest favors, they make no return to Him who wrung out the last drop of blood from His heart to deliver them from going down to the plt. They would weep at the door of a prison at the sight of a wicked captive in chains, but have no compassion for their own souls over which Satan, like a grim julier, holds the lock and key. When repulsive, grasping unsympa-thetic natures resist the story of a Savior's love, it does not excite our surprise; but it is among the greatest of wonders that so many who exhibit Orpah's susceptibility also exhibit Orpah's impenitency. but the glad tidings of great joy and salvation

We are not surprised that there is barren-We are not surprised that there is barren-measin a descr., but a strange thing is it that sometimes the Rose of Sharran will not grow in agarden. On a summer morning we are not surprised to find a rock without any dew on it, but it, going amoug a flock of lilles, we saw in four sprite has been robbing these vases?" We are not surprised that Herod did not be-oring a ma Josus loved for his sweetness of henger should not have loved the Redeemer. Hard-hearted Felix trembled; proud Nebuch diversite has fought successfully against into the Lord; but many a nature, affectionate and gentle, has fought successfully against into the lord; but many a dature, affectionate and gentle, has fought successfully against into the sole of the rob.

THE FAINT-HEARTED.

Again, the history of Orpah Impresses upor me the trath that there are many who make a good starting, but after awhile change their minds and turn back. When these three mourners start from their home in Moab there s as much probability that Orpah will reach Bethlehem as that her sister Ruth and he mother-in-law Naomi will arrive there. But while these continue in the journey they com-menced. Orpah after awhile gets discouraged and turns back. This is the history of many a soul. Perhaps it was during a revival of rolig-ion they resolved upon a Christian life, and made preparations to leave Moab. Before that they were indifferent to the sanctuary, churches were necessary evils.

made preparations to leave Moah. Before that they were indiff-rent to the sanctuary, churches were necessary evils. Alasi Alasi Starting out for heaven is a very different thing from arriving there. Remem-lot's wife, She looked back with longing to the place from which she came, and was de-stroyed. Half way between Sodom and the city of refuge that strange storm, comes upon her, and its salt and b instone gather upon her garments until they are so stiffened she cannot proceed, nor can she lie down, because of this dreadful wrapping around her garments and limbs; and long after her life has gone she still stands there so covered up b the strange storm that she is called a pillar of salt, as some sailor on ship's deck in the wintry tempest stands covered with a mail of ice. Ten thou-sand times 10,000 men have been destroyed half way between Sodom and the city of refuge. Orpan might as well never have started as af-terwards to turn back. Yet multitudes have walked in her footsteps. Go among those the least interested in sacred things and you will find that they were once out of the heartily and studied their Bibles, and frequented the sanctuary, but Lot's wife looken back wis-fully to Sodom, and Orpah retreated from the company of Ruth and Nacom. It is an imprefully to Sodom, and Orpah retreated from the company of Ruth and Naomi. It is an impres-sive thought that after Orpah had gone so far as actually to look over into the land of Bethle-hem, she turned hack and died in Moab.

DANGER IN TURNING BACK.

Again: let our subject impress upon us the rath that those who have once felt it their duty to leave their natural state cannot give up their duty and go back to hardness of heart without a struggle. After Orpah had theroughly made up her mind to go back to the place from which she started, she went through the sad scene of parting with Ruth and Naoua. My text says, "They lifted up their voice and wept." Ab, my hearer, it requires more decision and persever-ance to stay away from the kingdom of God than to enter it. Although she did not know it orning back into the land of Moab than would have been necessary to take her clear through to Bethlehem. Suppose you that those persons who have remained in their evil ways have had no struggie? Why, they have been obliged to fight every such of their way. The road to death le hoot such easy traveling as some minis-ters have been accostomed to describe it. From beginning to end it is chinding agoinst the sharp sords. It is wading through the deep blood of the Bo of God. It is scaling mountains of privilege. It is wading through lakes of sor-row. It is breaking over communion tables she started, she went through the sad scene of which shall be more than conquerors through Him that hath loved them. Men shiver and tremble before religion as though they were commanded to throw their life away, as though it were a surrender of honor and manliness and reason and self-respect and all that is worth keeping. What has God ever done that His mercy should be doubted? Was there ever a sorrow of His frailest child that He did not pity? Was there ever a soul that He left unhelped in the darkness? Was there ever a martyr that He did not strengthen in the flames? Was there ever a dying man to whose relief He did not come at the cry of "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit." Aye, my soul, what has God done my spirit." Aye, my soul, what has God done that so basely thou has doubted Him? Did He make the whole earth a desert? Are all the skies dark and storm-swept? Is life all sick-ness? Is the air all plague? Is there nothing but rods and scorpions and furnaces? God knew how many suspicions and unbeliefs men would entertain in regard to Him and therefore, after making a multitude of plain and precions after making a multitude of plain and precious promises. Thou art armed with thy sing, thy ingratitude, thy neglects, and Christ is armed against thee, but His wapons are tears, armed against thee, but His weapons are tears, are dying agonies, are calls to mercy, and the battle cry which He this day sends over thy soul as He rushes toward thee is "save thee from going down to the pit for I have found a ransom." I would not envy thy victory, O hearer, if thou dost conquer, for what wilt thou do with the weapons thou hast smatched from the armed Redeemer, what with the tears, what with His dying agomes, what with his calls to mercy? Would God that Orpah would get tired of Moab! Would God that Orpah would go to Bethlehem.

TORRES STRAIT ISLANDERS.

The Clans Are Marked on the Back and Al Are Great Fighters. Illustrated American.]

Prof. A. C. Haddon, Dean of the Royal

College of Science, Dublin, recently gave a discourse, at the Royal Institution, on Manners and Customs of the Torres Straits Islanders." It was pointed out that geologically the islands in question may be spoken of as part of sunken Australia. The old "igneous" rocks are to be found there, but the islands themselves are of coral origin, and the whole history of the denudation, contour, sculpturing, and action of rain and rivers is within about ten feet above sea

"It was a young admirer of ex-President level. The remarks of the lecturer were mostly Cleveland, named Jones, that hit Mrs. Cleveland with a stopper last summer at in reference to two islands close together. Even in suchia limited population there were distinct tribes, each with its own Marion. You see Mrs. Cleveland and Mrs. Hicks, every evening before they retired, were distinct tribes, each with its own totem. There were daugoug people (dog people), and so on, and it was recognized that a man must not kill his own people, though he might fight one of another "clar." Sometimes, when they were not in "clan" fight, many "clans" would join against others. The professor said he had made means made failed being would have bottles of soda lemonade served them in their rooms. One night they, as usual, ordered two bottles. Jones, who was standing by, begged the privilege of the waiter of acting as his substitute. The waiter cheerfully assented, and Jones was the happiest man in the world-lor a few against others. The professor said he had made many good friendships among men, who had told him what the older people were like some years ago. It was, he was told, a custom for the "cian" to be marked on the back, but he only found four old persons so marked, and their backs he had a custom for the solution of the back shows "He was soon in Mrs. Cleveland's reception room. Jones set the tray and bottles on the center table and undertook to draw on the center table and undertook to draw the corks. Mrs. Hicks was seated at the further side of the room, while Mrs. Cleve-land sat close to the table reading a book. She looked up to him, gave him a nod and pleasant look, as much as to say go on. "The first exploit was to break the corkphotographed. The young girls had taken o European petticoats. A, large portion of the discourse was given to descriptions of marriage customs. In some clans the women propose, and the young men are very shy, bashful and blushone. By this time he was considerably stirred up himself, and in his nervousness don't you think he pointed the bottle in ing. In other clans the parents put a young man through an examination in war-dancing, etc., before giving consent. The professor found large masks used, carried on a pole, in connection with re-ligious ceremonics. Boys of the same clan were initiated into the mystery-meaning of such a way that when the cork flew out it struck Mrs. Cleveland plump on the shoulder, and in his excitement over the catastrophe he immediately added another by overturning the bottle itself, so that a them. With Their Ald No Poor Man Should Have to Work After He is Fifty.

Show me a man with a wile and children who saves a little money every month, and give me five minutes' talk with him, and at themselves growing stout and a triffe apo-plectic to hire an experienced tutor in ath-ber of one of the building associations of letics to take a regular course of early-morn-ing out-door exercise. T ere are half a dozen reputable professional trainers whô have their hands full of this kind of work in the dry season. Their patrons are mostly downtown brokers, lawyers, and club men. The skipping rope exercise is designed to divert the mind as well as to exercise the muscles of the body. In cases where busi-sociations of the city have already worked a great improvement in the condition of peo-ple of smail means in this city, and their
