A proposition has been made to the Mayor to have amateur athletic sports at Schenley Park after the speech-making. His Honor is favorably impressed with the idea, and is now waiting for the citizens to offer prizes for the different events. He thinks something of this kind will add largely to the success of the occasion. If this addition to the programme is to be adopted, action must be taken at once.

Chief Bigelow is making arrangements for a sunply of 300 barrels of lemonade, which will make 240,000 refreshing drinks for the thirsty multitude. If the funds subscribed will warrant it, sandwiches and cakes will be supplied to the little ones. The swings commenced to arrive yesterday, and good stout trees will be selected upon which to rig them.

Successful Investments REAL ESTATE

Of all classes of investment, those in real estate should be the most carefully considered, and the reason is plain. Based upon solid values, such investment is the surest and the safest that can be made. On the other hand, nothing depreciates in value with such startling rapidity or is harder to dispose of at any price than real estate, which, at the time of its purchase, has for for its sole recommendation a "lovely situation" or a "perfect climate." Neither is it wise in this particular to follow the crowd, for by artful advertisements and fictitious sales it is an easy thing to inaugurate a "boom" that promises fortune to all, but almost invariably results in disaster.

The experience of persons who have thus hastily and inconsiderately bought property for no better reasons than those enumerated and afterwards repented at leisure-an experience so oft repeated all over the world in a greater or less degree-should teach men that only in the natural centers of population, where ample opportunities for employment are provided, can the people at large safely afford to invest in real estate. The most correct standard of judgment, therefore, as to the value of property is furnished by the truthful answer to the question: "How large a population can be supported by the well established industries of the district in which the property is located?" Applying this test to the properties offered for sale by the East Pittsburg Improvement Company in the Turtle Creek Valley, below Walls Station, and confining its application to a district not exceeding the property of the company more than one mile in extent, the significance of the answer is apparent.

At Walls Station the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is erecting repair shops, round houses, etc., that will directly and indirectly give employment to about 1,000 men. At Wilmerding, the mammoth plant of the Westinghouse Airbrake

Company is already in partial operation; when fully equipped it will employ 2,000 men, most of whom are skilled mechanics. At Brinton, the Standard Under ground Cable Company have contracted for the erection of their new cable works and wire mill, which, when completed, will give employment to over 400 men. At Bessemer, the great steel rail mill and iron furnaces of Carnegie

Bros. & Co. now employ fully 3,000 The total number of men employed in the district above described will reach 6,400, and estimating that, on an average, five persons are sustained by the labor of each adult employed in a manufacturing establishment, the population that could easily be supported by the industries named, not to mention many others, that will probably locate in the Turtle Creek reach the surprising sum of 32,000. The figures show conclusively the solid foundation upon which is based the value of property in the Turtle Creek Valley.
