SPEED IN WALKING."

The Secret of it Is in Taking Long Steps

Quickly.

Persons who have never been trained to ralk fast generally quicken their gait by bending forward and lengthening the stride, at the same time bending the knees very much at each step. It is pretty safe to say that no one can possibly adopt this style and keep a fair walk at a faster gait than six miles an hour. The fast walker must keep himself erect, his shoulders back, and chest thrown out. He must put down his forward foot and heel first, and with the leg straight. He must take strides so quick that they look short. He must, if he expects to get a good stride, work his hips consider-ably, overcoming the sidewise tendency of the hip movement by a compensatory swinging of the arms.

The length of stride in fast walking is astonishing to those who look at it. A little figuring will make it clear why this is

so. There are 1,760 yards in a mile, or 1,760

SIN'S MANY CLOAKS

May Hide the Real Nature From the World, but Are of No Use

S SHIELDS FOR TRANSGRESSORS.

Take a Man to Heaven,

EXCEPT HE SEEKS THE TRUE WAY

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR. WINFIELD, KAN., June 29,-Dr. Talmage deals in his sermon to-day in characteristic style with the various garbs in which ain masquerades in modern society, and, in stripping the monster of its disguises, he aims not only to reveal its deformity to the world, but to put his hearers on their guard against self-delusion. His text is John xv., 22: "But now they have no cloak for their sin." Sin is always disguised. Decked, and glossed, and perfumed, and masked, it gains admittance in places from which it would otherwise be repelled. As silently as when it clided into Eden the top of the temple, it now addresses men. Could people look upon sin as it always is-an exhalation from the pit, the putrefaction of infinite capacities, the ghastly, loathsome Godsmitten monster that uprooted Eden and killed Christ, and would push the entire race into darkness and pain—the infernal charm would be broken. Belore our first parents transgressed, an appeared to them the sweetness of fruit and the becoming as gods. To Absalom it was the pleasure of sitting upon a throne.

To men now sin is laughter and permission to luxorious gratification. Jesus Christ in my text suggests a fact which everybody ought to know, and that is that su, to hide its determity and shame, is accustomed to wearing a exhalation from the pit, the putrefaction of inity and shame, is accustomed to wearing a cloak, and the Savier also sets forth the truth that God can see straight through all such wrappings and thicknesses. I want now to speak or several kinds of cloaks with which fashion in regard to these garments is con-stantly changing, and every day beholds some new style of wearing them, and, if you tarry a little while I will show you five or six of the

INCOMPETENCY IN OFFICE.

First, I remark that there are those who, be ing honored with official power, expect to make that a successful cloak for their sin. There is a sucreduess in office. God himself is king, and all who hold authority in the world serve under Him. That community has committed a monatrons wrong who has elevated to this dignity persons unqualified either by their ignorance or their immorality. Nations who elevate to posts of authority those not qualified to fill them will of authority those not qualified to fill them will eel the reaction. Solomon expressed this bought when he said: "Woe unto thee, O
and, when thy king is a child and thy princes drink in the morning," While positions of trust may be disgraced by the character of those who fill them. I believe God would have us repectful to the offices, though we may have no dmiration for their occupants. Yet this digdity which office confers can be no apology for ransgression. Nebuchaduezzar, and Ahab, and Herod, in the day of judgment, must stand on the level with the herdsmen that kept their docks, and the fishermen of Galilee. Pope, and king, and President, and Governor, must give n account to God, and be judged by the same aw as that which judges the beggar and the lave. Sin is all the more obnoxious when it is lave. Sin is all the more obnoxious when it is imperial and lordly. You cannot make pride, or injustice, or cruelty sacred by giving it a Beishazzar's decanters could not keep the mysterious finger from writing on the wall. Ahab's sis literally hurled him from the throne to the degs. The imperial vestments of wicked Jehoram could not keep Jehu's arrow from striking through his heart. Jezebel's queenly pretension could not save her from being thrown over the wall. No barricade of thrones can arrest God's justice in its unerring march. No splendor, or thickness of official robes can be a sufficient closk of sin. Henry VIII., Louis XV., Catharine of Russia, Mary of Englanddid their crowns save them? No ruler ever sat so high that the King of kings was not above him. All victors shall bow before Him who on the white herse goeth forth conquering and to conquer. Belshazzar's decanters could not keep the

The flowers that grow upon the scorize of Vesu-vius do not make it any less of a volcano. The The flowers that grow upon the scorize of Vesuvius do not make it any less of a voicano. The seguidares in Christ's time did not exhaust all the whitewash. Some of the birgest scoundrels have been the most fascinating. If there are any depending on outward gracefulness and attractiveness of demeanor with any hope that because of that God will forgive the sin of their soul, let me assure them that the 'divine justice cannot be satisfied with smiles and elegant gesticulation. Christ looks deeper than the skin, and such a ragged cloak as the one in which you are trying to cover yourself will be no hiding in the day of his power. God will not in the judgment ask how gracefully you walked, nor how politely you bowed, nor how aweetly you smiled, nor how impressively you gestured. The deeds done in the body will be the test, and not the rules of Lord Chesterfield. Again: Let me say that the mere profession of religion is but a poor wrapping of a naked soul. The importance of making a public profession of religion if the heart be renewed cannot be exaggerated. Christ positively and with the earnestness of the night before his cruciffation commanded it. But it is the result of Christian character, not the cause of it. Our church certificate is a poor title to heaven. We may have the name and not the reality. There are those who seem to throw themselves back with complacency upon their public confession of Christian character, not the cause of it. Our church certificate is a poor title to heaven. We may have the name and not the reality. There are those who seem to throw themselves back with complacency upon their public confession of Christian character, when the cannot imagine the abhorrence with which God looks upon such a rotten foundation as that, he has accomplished his object. We cannot imagine the abhorrence with which God looks upon such a rotten foundation as that, he has accomplished his object. We cannot imagine the abhorrence with which God looks upon such a rotten foundation he might seem to lise, or a gene PROFESSION AVAILS NOTHING. Thus must the heavenly Shepherd look upon those who, though they are not His sheep, have climbed up some other way and thus must the Lord of hosts look upon those who pretend to be soldiers of the cross while they are His armed enemies. If any of you find yourselves be soldiers of the cross while they are His armed enemies. If any of you find yourselves deficient in the great tests of Christian character, do not, I beg of you, look upon your profession of religion as anything coscolatory. If you have taken your present position from a view that you have of Christ and your need of Him, rejoice with ioy unspeakable and full of glory and ciap your hands for gladness, but if you find yourself with nothing but the name of ille, while dead in trespasses and sins, aroune before the door is shut. That glided profession—the world may not be able to see through it, but in the day of divine reckoning it will be found that you have no cloak for your sin.

Furthermore: Outward morality will be no covering for the hidden inquity of the spirit. The gespel of Curist makes no assault upon good works. They are as beautiful in God's eye as in ours. Purctuality, truthfulnes, almsgiving, affection and many other excellences of life that might be mentioned will always be admired of God and man, but we take the position that good works cannot be the ground of our salvation. What we do right cannot pay for shat we do worng. Admir that you have all shose traits of character which give merely worldly respectability and influence, you must at the same time acknowledge that during the course of your life you have done.

How are these difficult matters to be settled? Ah, my friends, we must have an axonement. No Christ, no salvation. The great Redeemer comes in ano says, "I will pay your indebtedness." So that which was dark enough before, is bright enough now. The stripes that we deserve are fallen upon Christ. On His scourged and bleeding shoulders the carries us over the mountain of our sains and the hills of our infedient for us, but they who reject them, depending upon their own, but they who reject them, depending upon their own.

mountain of our sine and the hills of our infiguities. Chrisa's good works accepted are sufficient for us, but they who reject them, depending upon their own, must perish. Traits of character that may make us infloential on earth will not necessarily open to us the gate of heaven. The plank that will be a rong enough for a house floor would not do for a slip's hulk. After morality might be enough here, but cantot take you through death's storm into eaven's harbor. Christ has amounced for all gas, "I am the way, the truth and the lite, in that cometh unto me I will in no wise cast ut." But pitiable purposes, and passed his life in the visiting of the distressed and done much to excite the ad-miration of the good and the great, if he have no intimate relation to Jesus Christ. There is a pride and a depravity in his soul that he has never discovered. A brilliant outside will be no apology for a depraved inside. It is no theory of mine but an announcement of God, who cannot lie, "By the deeds of the law shall no flesh living be justified." Open the door of heaven and look in. Howard is there, but he Theories and Professions Not Enough to who cannot lie, "By the deeds of the law shall no fiesh living be justified." Open the door of heaven and look in. Howard is there, but he did not secure his entrance by the dungeons he illumined and the lazarettos into which he carried the medicines. Paul is there, but he did not earn his way in by the shipwrecks and imprisonments and scourgings. On a throne overtopping perhaps all others, except Christ's, the old missionary exclaims: "By the grace of God I am what I am."

Again: Exalted social position will be no cloak for sin. Men look through the wicket door of prisons, and, seeing the incarcerated wretches, exclaim: "Oh, how much vice there is in the world!" And they pass through the degraded streets of a city, and looking into the doors of hovels and the dens of corruption they call them God-forsaken shodes. But you might walk along the avenues through which the opulent roll in their flourishing pomp and into mansions elegantly adorned, and find that even in the admired walks of life Satan works mischief and death. The first temptation Satan wrought in a garden, and he understands yet thoroughly how to insinuate himself into any door of ease and splendor. Men frequently judge of sin by the places in which it is committed, but iniquity in rags, and in the Day of Judgment the sins of Madison avenue and Elm street will all be driven in one herd. Men cannot escape at last for being respectably sinful. You know Dives was clothed in purple and fine linen and fared sumptuously every day, but his fine clothes and good dinners did not save him. He might on earth have drunk something as rich as champagae and coquac, but at last he asked for one drop of water.

YOU CANNOT TRADE OFF your attractive abodes here for a house of many mansions on high and your elegant shade groves here will not warrant you a seat under the tree of life. When God drove Adam and Eve out of Eden, He showed that merely living in a garden of delights and comforts will never save a man or woman. By giving you so much earthly luxury and refinement, He intimated that He would have you enjoy yourselves, but carthly luxury and refinement, lie intimated that He would have you enjoy yourselves, but He would not have you wrap yourself up in them as a cloak to hide your sins. God now walks in your gardens as He did in Eden, even in the cool of the day, and He stands by your well as He did by a well in Samaria, and He would make your comfort on earth a type of your rapture in heaven.

Furthermore: Mere soundness of religious belief will not hide our iniquities. There are men whose heads are as sound as Jonathan Edwards or John Wesley, whose hearts are as rotten as Tom Palme's or Charles Guiteau's. It is important that we be theoretical Christians. It is utter folly in this day, for a man to have no preference for any one form of faith, when it is so easy to become conversant with the faith of the different sects. An intoxicated man staggered into my house one night beging for lodging. He made great pretentions to religion. I asked where he went to church. He said: "Nowhere; I belong to liberal Christianity." But there are those who never become Christians because their obstinacy prevents them from ever taking a fair view of what religion is. They are like a brute beast, in the fact that their greatest strength lies in their horns. They are combatant, and all they are ever willing to do for their souls is to enter an ecclesiastical fight. I have met men who would talk all day upon the ninth chapter of Romans, who were thoroughly helpless before those who, having escaped from this condition, are now depending entirely upon their sound. those who, having escaped from this condition, are now depending entirely upon their sound-ness of religious theory. The doctrines of man's depravity and Christ's atonement and God's sovereignty are theoretically received by them. But, alas! there they stop.

USELESS THEORIES. It is only the shell of Christianity containing no evangelical life. They stand looking over into heaven and admire its beauty and its song, and are so pleased with the looks from the outside that they cannot be induced to enter. They mysterious fluger from writing on the wall. Ahab's sin literally huried him from the throne to the dogs. The imperial vestments of wicked Jehoram could not keep Jelu's arrow from striking through his heart. Jezebel's queenly pretension could not save her from being thrown over the wall. No barricade of thrones can arrest God's justice in its unerring march. No subendor, or thickness of official robes can be a sufficient cloak of sin. Henry VIII., Louis XV., Catharine of Russia, Mary of England-did their crowns save them? No ruler ever sat so high that the King of kings was not above him. All victors shall bow before Him who on the white horse goeth forth conquering and to conquer.

Again, elegance of manners cannot successfully hide insquiry from the eye of God. That model, gentlemently apostle, Paul, writes to use "Be courteous." That man can neither be a respectable weridding nor a consistent Christian who lacks good manhers. He is slut out from refined circles, and he certainly ought to be hindered from entering the church. We cannot overlook that in a man which we could hardly excense in a bear. One of the first effects of the grace of God upon an individual is to Make Him A Gentleman.

Gruffness, awkwardness, implacability, clannishness, are fruits of the devil; while gentleness and meekness are fruits of the Spirit, But while these excellences of manner are so important, they cannot hide any deformity of moral character. How often it is that we find attractiveness of person, suavity of manners, gracefulness of conversation gallantry of behavior thrown like wreaths upon moral death, The flowers that grow upon the scorize of Vesuvius do not make it any less of a voicano. The sepulchess in Christ's time did not exhaust all.

Coward would I he if I did not date, the could make a better argument or thought and sound propositions and dillemans and sound propositions and dillemans and sound propositions and dillemans and sound propositions. Their sould corner type feet and such according to the free and faith a could make a better argument for the truth

DAY OF DOOM. Coward would I be if I did not dare tell you this. It shall be a day of unutterable disappointment to those who have trusted in their flicial dignity, in their elegant manners, in their outward morality, in their soundness of intellectual belief. But I see a soul standing before God who once was thoroughly defiled. Yet look at him and you cannot find a single transgression anywhere about him. How is this, you ask. Was he not once a Sabbath breaker, a blasphemer, a robber, a perjurer, a this, you sak. Was he not once a sabbath breaker, a blasphemer, a robber, a perjurer, a thief, a murderer? Yes, but Christ hath cleansed him. Christ hath lifted him up. Christ hath rent off his rags. Christ hath clothed him in a spotless robe of righteousness. This is the reason why you cannot see his former degradation.

This glorious hope in Christ's name is proffered to-day. Wandering and wayward soul, is not this salvation worth coming for, worth striving for? Do you wonder that so many with bitter weeping besought it and with a very enthusiasm of sorrow cried for divine compassion? Do you wonder at the carnestness of those who stand in pulpits beseeching men to be reconciled to God? Nay, do you wonder at the importunity of the Holy Ghost who now striveth with thy soul? In many of the palaces of Europe the wells are mosaic. Fragments of shells and glass are arranged by artists and aggregated into a pictorial splender. What! made out of broken shells and broken class! Oh, yes; God grant that by the transforming power of His Spirit we may all be made a part of the eternal palaces, our broken and fragmentary natures polished and shaped and lifted up to make a part of the everiasting splenders of the leavenly temple!

For sinners, Lord. Thou cam'st to bleed.

of the heavenly temple For sinners, Lord, Thou cam'st to bleed, And I'm a sinner vile indeed, Lord, I believe Thy grace is iree; Oh, magnify Thy grace in me.

BUINING THE HEAVY VILLAINS.

Electrocution Will Destroy the Occupe

of Certain Actors.

"It's ruining the business," said a veteran actor the other day as he slowly sipped his grog; "it's ruining the business." "Importation of English actors in violation of the contract labor law?" asked the Man About Town, sympathetically. "No, we could stand that. We could stand having every divorced woman in America go starring; we could stand inter-State commerce rates and popular prices, but we can't stand electrocution. What has that to do with the profession? you ask. It you were a melodramatic actor you would understand. I have been playyou would understand. I have been play-ing heavy villain parts for 20 years. In nearly every play I have to warn my vic-tim that he will be hanged for participating in my crime. I do it by tying an imag-inary knot around my neck, and then giving a convolsive gurgle.

"You remember bow often Dickens uses
this expressive pantomime in "Oliver Twist" and other of his books. Well, now, what is an actor to do to indicate that a man will be electrocuted? He can't convey a picture of a dynamo, and if he tries to imitate the deadly shock the audience will think be has delirium tremens. I tell you electricity is demoralizing the business.

THE SWAY OF SUPERSTITION

Always Strongest When Troubles Oppress the Heart.

New York Sun. 1 S uperstition is always at its height when trouble oppresses the heart. This is true of nations as well as of individuals. In Russia the most absurd superstitions are rampant at the present time. Prophets of evil appear in almost every province and city. Quite recently such a prophet, announcing the destruction of Odessa, appeared in the destruction of Odessa destr theater of the place and came near creating a panie. In Serpookhov, in the Government of Moscow, a similar but more charac-teristic incident occurred. An official announcement was placarded on the street corners. The common people of that godly city are unable to read. They requested a man who looked like a priest to decipher for them the contents of the bill. He unhesitatingly and positively declared that it contained the be swallowed in the ground. In less than an hour the news spread throughout the place, and the people abandoned their work and began streaming out into the fields in large crowds. All the factories were deserted by the laborers.

It took some time before the frightened crowds were restored to reason and to their regular pursuits; but the originator of the rouble could not be found. So, also, talse prophets wizards, clairvoyants and mystics of this kind have made their appearance in Kharkov, Kursk and Kiev. Happily in all instances serious trouble has been averted by the prompt interference of the authorities.

The manipulation of Chicago Gas, by which previous weeks. Sugars trade the past week shows some decline, as compared with previous weeks. Sugars have been weak at the lower prices. For some time back refined sugars have been too high as compared with the raw article. Now the price of refined is about right in comparison with raw sugar. While there has been no change in coffee for a few weeks past, prices are barely steady. Markets are not so strong as they were a week ago. Canned fruits are very firm and the drift of prices is upward. The time for buying canned fruits at reasonable prices is past. Those who placed orders in this line a week ago were lucky, as there has been a sharp advance within a few days. Late advices from Michigan and New York, where the apple crop is a big item, indicate a great falling off from general expectations. The most favorable estimates may place the crop for those States a little above 25 per cent of the average.

From the Pacific slope comes the news that the prune crop, which it was thought a few weeks would be large, will not be one-balf that of last year. Estimates place the yield all the way from 30 to 50 per cent of last year's yield, but no estimate goes beyond the last figure.

most favorable estimates may place the crop for those States a little above 25 per cent of the average.

From the Pacific slope comes the news that the prune crop, which it was thought a few weeks would be large, will not be one-half that of last year. Estimates place the yield all the way from 30 to 50 per cent of last year's yield, but no estimate goes beyond the last figure. California fruit packers have withdrawn prices. The present outlook is that there will be a great scarcity of canned and evaporated fruits this season. Old stock in the hands of our whole-sale grocers is well used up, and there is no eagerness to place future orders at present rates. Said a leading jobber to-day: "I was fortunate enough to place orders with California fruit packers for 3.000 cases a few weeks ago. One-half of these goods are already sold at a moderate profit. The other half I expect to yield much better profits, and within a few days I have refused to accept orders for future deliveries. It is about as certain as anything future can be that canned and evaporated fruits will be higher the coming fall and winter than they have been for many years."

Co. M. E. Pref. past week and prices are lower. New York cheese has not been so plenty, and prices of last week are fairly well maintained. Swiss cheese is scarce and firm. Dealers report that they are unable to obtain full supplies. That there is plenty of stock in the hands of producers admits of no doubt. The season has been one exceedingly favorable to dairy producers. Grazing was never better, and all reports from the cheese producing sections of Ohio and Wisconsin indicate a large output. But producers for some reason are withholding stock from markets. Prices are higher than they were a year ago, and buyers are disposed to demand concessions which producers are unwilling to grant. It cannot be very long until there will be plenty of domestic sweitzer on the market, as it is certain that stock is accumulating very fast in the hands of producers. When the break comes, as it must before long, there will undoubtedly be a sharp decline in prices. The drop in all domestic cheese usually comes in the early part of June. This season has been exceptional in this respect.

Hides and Harness Leather. The situation the past week is practically un-changed. Trade is fairly active and better than it usually is in midsummer weather. Prices of hides and calf skins are well maintained and movement is tairly active. The names leather tanners report a good demand and no accumulation of stock. At this season of the year if stock does not accumulate trade is regarded as entirely satisfactory. The capacity of the harness leather tanneries of Allegheny has been increased fully 25 per cent in the past two or three years, and still demand is good for the entire output at the dull season of the year.

of a formidable array of figures. nearly everythig on the list, but there was nothing in the way of business at the other and of the line, the only sale being 10 shares of Electric at 38% at a slight improvement. It seems entirely safe to bid the market down, as those in this habit know that they are about as liable to be struck by lightning as they are to get what they pretend to want. There are few get what they pretend to want. There are few weak holders.

In regard to price changes, they are too small to possess much significance, and are more apparent than real. Gains and losses during the week were confined to fractions, with the former in the majority. The closing, as compared with that of the previous week, showed a decline of ½ in Philadelphia Gas and ½ in Central Traction. Citizens was ½ better and Pleasant Valley unchanged. Lusser improved ½ Yankee Girl mining stock was strengthened by a report that the mine will soon pass into the hands of an English syndicate.

As interest in the purely speculative stocks subsides, investment shares find more favor. There were bidders Saturday for nearly all the banks, the majority of which showed steady appreciation, and there was an active outside inquiry for bonds. This shows that money is easy, and that investors want to put their share of it where it will do the most good—not forgetting real estate.

ON A HIGH LEVEL

The Pittsburg Clearing House Manager Makes Another Good Report. There was a fair demand for money Saturday, as also during the week, and 6 per cent was the rule, all first-class paper being discounted at that rate. Checking and depositing were up to the average, showing that business is holding its own. The exchanges for the week are $4,500,000, in round numbers, better than for the correspond-

There were very few strawberries on the market to-day. The season is practically over. The first Rochelle blackberries of the season were offered this morning. Home-grown rasp perries were in fair supply. Watermelons are plenty and prices are tending downward. Supply of potatoes is still short of demand and markets are very firm at prices quoted. Advices from Tennessee, whence potatoes have been coming of late, indicate that crop is light. In the line of dairy products there are no new developments since our last report. New Ohio cheese is plenty and drift of markets is downcheese is plenty and drift of markets is gown-ward. Elgin creamery is steady. Country roll butter is very dull and prices are only nominal. Now 220 steps a minute—nearly 4 a second—is pretty quick work, as anyone may discover for himself. Even 3 steps a second, or 180 to the minute, seems quick. The chances are that your eight-minute man, although his legs move so quickly that the steps seem short, is not doing as many as 200 steps to the minute, and consequently that the stride is at least 3 feet 6 inches.
