An Invention for Producing Pure Hot Air Direct From Coal.

SPECTACLES AS A PREVENTIVE. Cables for Street Cars Superseded by Electricity at 0maha.

AN AUTOMATIC BATH TUB PATENTED.

PREPARED FOR THE DISPATOR.]

A most valuable invention has just been successfully tested in London, England; it consists of a mode of producing perfectly pure air from the combustion of coal. Not a trace of smoke or fume was visible; not a taint of any kind was perceptible to the taste or smell. The stream of air was allowed to fall full on the faces of the visitors, but save in the matter of temperature it affeeted neither the eyes the broat por the postrils. As a proof of its purity, some choice tes which had been saturated with hot water was placed in the hot-air current, and when redried was pronounced by an expert to be wholly free from any imparted taint or taste. In order to show the character of the products of combustion before being submitted to the fiery ordeal the fan was stopped, and a dense cloud of thick smoke rose up from the coal in the feed chamber, charged with suffocating fumes. On restarting the fan it was quietly drawn in again, but not a sign of it appeared at the exit from the tan, and the air when inhaled was as pure as ever. The stated theory of the inventor with regard to this phenomenal combustion is that the water contained in the coal is decomposed into oxygen and hydrogen, and that case of creatures of a higher grade. the hydrogen in burning adds to the heat of the resultant air, while the exygen, reinforced as it is by that obtained by the large volume of fresh air admitted at various inlets, decomposes and purifies all these pronets. But whatever the theory may be, the fact remains that it is not only possible, but easy and economical, to obtain the utmost amount of heat from coal without any deterioration of the atmosphere.

It is a point of the first importance that the weight of gelatine used and mix in any weakness, defect or uneasiness of the thoroughly. Mold the paste to the desired eyes should not be neglected, but that the oculist should be at once consulted. Headaches which come on a ter sewing, reading, watching a play or otherwise using the visual organs in a special direction for a period lar defects Neuralgia, dizziness, mental depression, melancholia, St. Vitus' dance, and even epilepsy, have been shown to be directly dependent in certain cases upon refractive errors for their causation. Out of nine cases of epilepsy in which there were ontical de ects, recently experimented upon, our cases were positively cured by correction of the defects. Two of the cases were entirely relieved for periods of four and six months respectively; in another case the fits were greatly reduced in number during a given period of time, after the application of proper spectacles; while two cases were not influenced by glasses. Recurring styles are not infrequently due to some optical delect, and when thus occasioned they are to be cured, not by pulling out the lashes, but by having the detect corrected. To some people glasses are a revelation, revealing powers and beauties of vision never dipping into the water and revolved by it. before known to exist. Glasses not only increase the power of vision and greatly re lieve the work of the eye, but they actually prevent the occurrence of certain diseases of the ye, and of reflex affections in other paris of the body, and effect the preservation of good vision throughout life.

Shoulder Straightener,

The disciples of physical culture have just received a most useful addition to their paraphernalia. The importance of the correct training of the human figure in early years is now more than ever recognized, and a new invention by Mrs. Vincent Glass, one of the best known of the fashionable teachers of calisthenies, in London, England, is so simple and sensible that it is likely to be largely used. It is more especially intended for training the figures of children, par-ticularly between the ages of 6 and 17, and cultivating an erect carriage. It is to be worn outside the clothes exclusively for educational purposes, and only during the hours children are at work. The device is essentially a short leather pad, in three pieces, which is strapped firmly to the back. For men a contrivance on the same principle can be easily extemporized in stout broad webbing, such as is used for fastening blinds together: but for young children and girls especially, this would not be desirable, because it would cut the arms, a contingency avoided by the rounded strape in Mrs. Glass's ingenious contrivance.

Increased Safety of Ocean Steamers. The investigations into the accidents which have befallen ocean steamers of late have served to establish the fact that the standard of construction of ocean passenger ships has markedly improved in recent years. The ultimatum of the Court of Inquiry on the cause of the accident to the City of Paris was that the completeness and efficiency in all respects of the ship for the service for which she was especially de signed was beyond criticism; and they add the significant statement that during the course of the inquiry they have had evidence that even it some of the forward compartments of the ship had been filled with water, in addition to those filled, she would still have had a tair amount of freeboard and been able to float. The inquiry into the accident to the City of Rome also resulted in a warm official commendation of the construction of the ship in its relation to the salety of the passengers, and its trust-worthiness under all ordinary conditions.

A Boon to Smokers Many attempts have been made to so improve pipes and eigar holders that the unpleasant biting sensation on the tip of the tongue could be obviated and the nicotine prevented from entering the mouth, but, so far, with but indifferent success. A Scotchman, it is claimed, has now solved the problem. His method is to provide a hollow ball with a short tubular or slotted stem attached to it, which is inserted in the usual orifice in the mouthpiece of the pipe or eigar or eigarette holder, so that the smoke shall pass out through the tube or slotted stem and upper slotted part of the ball, and the tongue shall rub against the ball in the mouth of the orifice, and thus prevent the saliva of the mouth from going or working back in the Caricalties of the Patent Office. The records of the Patent Office show some most remarkable devices. Among the inatauces of this lately quoted is an automatic bath tub which starts the bot and cold water at a given time in the morning, maintains exactly the right temperature by a thermostatic arrangement, rings a bell when the bath is ready, and two minutes later audden-ly drops the sleeper's pillow and turns him out. On the principle that prevention is better than cure, another genius has devised an "illuminated cat." This animal is built of seboard, and made luminous with phoe orus, and her steady glare through the salong night fills the souls of the rats and see with dismay.

Electricity Superseding the Cable. A change which is strongly suggestive as adjecting the tendency which is now being markedly shown in regard to the street railway traction of the future, has been made on a street railway line in Omaha, where the cable has been superseded by electric cars. The company has tried both modes of propulsion, and finds electric motors are cheaper to work and in almost every way preferable to the cable.

Greek Fire.

The secret of the composition of Greek fire was carefully guarded by the Greeks, and its effects were much magnified by the ignorance of the soldiers and sailors. It was said to be inextinguishable itself, and to impart the same quality to everything it touched. It was also said to burn downtouched. It was also said to burn downward as well as upward, which was in those days considered an extraordinary phecomenon. Though nothing positive has come down to us regarding the exact com-position of this fire, Commander Barber, who has recently made a special study of gunpowder and kindred materials, inclines to the opinion which is encouraged by the re-searches of modern chemistry, that the essential ingredient of this baleful fire was saltpeter. Its hissing, flaming and roaring in the air, which were among its mos frightful qualities, would thus be accounted for; and as saltpeter contains its own oxygen, it is almost inextinguishable when combined with carbonaceous matter.

Bees Getting Drunk. A singular phenomenon is described in a Scotch journal. A particular species of willow trees was in flower, and attached to these blossoms (which resembled an old-fashioned bottle brush) were large numbers of the "big black bumblebees" with which every school boy is familiar. They re-mained a whole day sipping the extract or juice, and then dropped helplessly to the ground, hardly able to move, and next morning were almost dead from exposure. One was observed to climb a vertical board of a few inches, and when near the top to brow out his legs and fall backward. after the manner of the ordinary inebriate. It is believed that the juice of the willow flower stupefies or intoxicates the bee as overdos alcohol or oft-repeated lagers do in the

A Good Hone.

A good hone is one of the most valuable essentials of a workman's outfit, and one of the best methods of making it is the following: Take the best gelatine, which melts in an equal quantity of water, keeping it in the dark, as daylight is injurious to it. Dissolve 1% per cent of bicarbonate of potash and add to it the thoroughly melted gelatine. Then take very fine emery and shape and press it as hard as possible to consolidate the mass well, afterward drying it in the sun.

An Electricycle.

There has been considerable discussion o of time are usually the direct results of ocu- late on the probable usefulness of an electric tricycle, and it is stated that the invention of such a machine is now an established fact. This, according to report, has been effected by the use of a form of storage battery much lighter than the kind hitherto used. Several of these placed in a light portable box are sufficient to drive the machine with an or-dinary load about 100 miles at the rate of eight miles an hour. The elements of the "active material" are supposed to be car-ried by the rider, and the batteries can be re-charged whenever water is available.

A Water Locomotive. French engineers are now occupied in working out a novel idea. They propose to utilize water courses as a railway motive power. The track is to be laid on an embankment in the middle of the current, and the locomotive is to have two paddle-wheels

WORK FOR MINERS.

Great Scarcity of Men Reported at the Mines in Elizabeth.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] ELIZABETH, PA., July 5,-The anoma lous condition recently reported still continues in the mining situation-not enough miners to do the work required, and little disposition among those here to work longer, though they are receiving their own price. The unexampled run at the mines has made the men tired and greatly desirous of a rest. Most of the floating class have left the region some time since. The Corey Coal Company, of Coal Bluff, have been advertising for miners for a long time.

At Bunela they need 50 to 75 more ne miners, but are unable to get them. H. D. O'Neil's men have been begging him for some time to give them a rest. They are nearly all residents of this town, and do not like to miss the work when it can be had, but would prefer to rest for couple of weeks. Walton's mines are running, but not full handed. Horner and Roberts have not been able all spring to get enough men to run their mines at ful capacity. They are at present only running out some entry coal.

The United States Enumerators Obliged to Make a Recount at Fall River. FALL RIVER, MASS., July 5. - The difference between the city and the United States census returns is nearly 3,000 in favor of the city canvassers, and nine of the United States men have received orders to make a re-canvass of their sections where the greatest discrepancies prevail.

The discrepancy is so flagrant that the enumerators will be obliged to make the re-Both Hands Burned to the Boor. LONG BRANCH, N. J., July 5 .- Frank Ainsworth, an engineer of the Seashore Electric Railway at Asbury Park, was terribly shocked last night while oiling the motors at Homer station. He was thrown down and both hands burned to the bone. A Magnificent Marine Panorama. Guests at the Sea View Hotel, Martha's Vineyard, on Saturday last counted 125 steamers and sailing vescels at one time di-rectly in front of the piazzas.
