Judge Rogers Says a Clash of the Races in the South is Sure to Come in the Near Future.

ENIGRATION THE ONLY SOLUTION.

Crime is Constantly Increasing and Education of the Colored People Seems to be a Failure.

OBJECTS OF THE PARMERS' ALLIANCE.

The Federal Election Bill is Offensive Because Born in Partisanship

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE DISPATCH. NEW YORK, July 5 .- Frederick Douglas, in one of his campaign speeches said, that if the negro question had not been settled when it was by the civil war, it would have have been settled before a great while by the rapid increase in mulattoes and the decrease of "coal black" negroes. "The blacks," said he, "would soon have become so white that you could not have detected the difference."

"But mulattoes are getting scarcer and Rogers, solicitor general of the middle circuit of Georgia, who recently paid a flying wisit to New York. "And this is an indi-cation of the growing enmity between the two races, which in my opinion is destined to cause, at no very distant day, serious trouble unless something is done, and quickly, to avert it."

This statement, coming from one who is known to be extremely conservative, is en-"The public men," he continued, "to whom the people must look for a solution of this question, attempt to make themselves believe that trouble is remote, because they know that the present prosperity of the South and the success of many Southern enterprises largely depends upon the labor of the negro, and they realize that to break up this system will temporarily, at least, be a detriment to Southern industries. Notwithstanding this attitude, however, they recognize that the races cannot dwell together harmoniously much longer." STATISTICS ON CRIME.

Asked as to the symptoms of race difficulty he stated that in his own county of Wash ington there were 12 indictments pending against negroes for murder, some of whom had never been apprehended.

"All that a negro has to do to conceal his identity from an officer of the law and thereby escape the penalty for his crime is to place a quarter of a mile between himself and the scene of its enactment, turn his coat wrong side out and take to the woods until an adjoining county or settlement is reached. Here he may remain indefinitely without being molested. We have no effective detective system, and the expense of maintaining one would be great and of doubtful

"But are not the increasing number of free schools and the improvement of educational facilities in the South bettering the status of the negro, and will they not ulti-mately quality him for useful citizenship?"
"Our experience thus far, on the contrary, seems to disprove it. The negroes who have grown up since the war dislike farm work, and go to the towns to avoid honest labor. Once there, many of them live by thieving and petty rascalities."

against the negroes on the part of the THE WHITES LOSING CONFIDENCE. because they are negroes. The sentiment of hatred that once existed because they were the primary cause of the strife between the North and the South has long since died out. There can be no question, however, that thieving and more revolting crimes by negroes are becoming alarmingly frequent, and the white people are rapidly losing confidence in them as a class." "But are not negroes subject to legal pun-ishment for their crimes?" "Yes, of course; but the difficulty of punishing them, as I have already stated, stands in the way. Negroes never inform on each other, and it is practically impossible to convict them where the evidence of negroes is the sole reliance. As an instance, take a case in my own county. A negro des-perado killed a peaceable colored man by carving him up with a knife. He then made his escape. Some time afterward, upon learning that he was in South Carolina and trying to arrange to get perjured testimony so that he could return and stand his trial, I sent for the wife of the murdered man and endeavored to get her assistance in locating him. This I could not get. She stated, though I am satisfied falsely, that she could not find out anything as to his whereabouts. This," said Judge Rogers, "illustrates the

"Are the negroes as a class more lawless than they used to be?" "I can best answer that question by saying that many of our people are losing their patience. The older and conservative ele-ment, who have always hereto/ore counseled peace, now shake their heads in times of excitement and no longer do so. Finding the instrumentality provided by the law in-adequate for the protection of their families and homes, it is not surprising that they often feel like taking the law into their own

THE SOLUTION IS EMIGRATION. "What is the solution of the race prob-

"Emigration is the only solution that seems to me practicable. The General Government can and ought to provide a home and a year's support for such negroes as will emigrate to some congenial and mild country that may be selected. Thousands and thousands of negroes would voluntarily take advantage of the offer, and a little persuaadvantage of the oner, and a little persua-sion by the whites, who realize the gravity of the situation, would, beyond doubt, make the effort successful."
"Will not their emigration cause stagnation in the productive machinery, depreciate the value of property in the South and give it another setback?"

"Inevitably, it will have that effect, tem porarily at least; but this would be far pref-erable to such a setback as a race war would give it. The thinking people realize that the only permanent basis of prosperity for them is a solid and safe foundation, and this they understand they can never have so long as the negro is the principal reliance for farm and other labor."

ORGANIZATION OF THE FARMERS. "What, in your opinion, is the Farmers' Alliance going to do, if anything, for the

"The Farmers' Alliance, as I understand it, though its workings are secret, is an organization that aims to protect the farmer. The great mass of farmers have long since appreciated the fact that others were reaping too much of the fruits of their labor. This has caused and justly so, great discontent, and the alliance intends to bring about a Fourteenth ward station last evening, while condition of things whereby the farmer realizes properly for his farm products.

There is nothing in my judgment, that will so much improve the condition of the whole

Congress?"

"I can only speak to that in a very general way, not being familiar with the letter of the bill. The fact that its chief promotors are bitter against the South, leads the Southern people at the outset to believe it is a measure aimed specially at them. The bill is an insult to the State, for they have not asked for it, and is in line with the traditional policy of the Bepublican party toward a centralized government. It takes the power from the States shows conclusively that bloody flux, which is only another name for dysentery, even when in its worst form can be cured. Good physicians may fail, but there is one remedy that can always be depended upon. This is only one of the seven epidemics of bowel complaints in which this remedy has been need with great success, and in everyone of these seven epidemics it was the only remedy that would cure the worst case.

to select its own instrumentality for electing representatives to Congress, and goes into effect at a time when the appointees to be selected by the President will be selected, judging by the character of the men he has already appointed in the South, with a sole view to the services they may be able to render the dominant party.

MISTAKE OF NORTHERN REPUBLICANS. "The Northern Republicans do not seem to be able to understand, or else wilfully ignore the condition of things in the South. They imagine that a negro who cannot read or write, and whose life has been spent in the cotton field, is a fit person to represent in an important capacity a spirited and pro-gressive people. If this bill was really in-tended to promote honest elections in the South, or elsewhere, it was a great mistake on the part of the Republicans to have made it a party measure. This last step strips the bill of any mask of re-form and plunges it into the hopeless abyss of flagrant partisanship. If the States had needed, or asked for some such bill, then the aspect of affairs would be entirely changed. In short, it is a bill fraught with iresh

It is intended, as I apprehend, to perpetuate the present dominant party. The fair-minned people North and South alike will hold the administration responsible for any evil that may follow from it, for if passed it will be done in defiance of the voice of the thinking people who are above mere party expediency, and who have loudly claimed against it. This bill shows that the Republicans have convicted themselves of the charge often made against them, that its principal purpose seems to be to keep alive the sectional questions which the Southern people have been trying to bury. the friction between the blacks and whites, this measure would serve their turn. GARRARD DISCHARGED FOR THE MUR-DER OF BILLY BRENNAN. The Coroner's Inquest as to the Cause of the Death of the Lightweight Pugilist Resuits in a Surprise-Sparring Prohibited

In Chicago by Mayor Cregier. CHICAGO, July 5 .- The Coroner's insparring match with Frank Garrard on Thursday night was held to-day.

Police Captain Lewis testified as to the Folice Captain Lewis testified as to the facts of the sparring match. In the fifth round Brennan elinched Garrard and they fell together, Brennan underneath and his head striking the floor. "Parson" Davies, manager of the exhibition, testified that the contest was with sixcunce gloves, and that he had never known a man to be seriously hurt with gloves of that weight. It was not a hard fight. Brennan's head, in the fall, struck the platform just over one of the beams, the platform just over one of the beams, which made it very rigid, and this fact, in his opinion, caused Brennan's death. Two or three reporters who were present testified that Garrard hit Brennan very hard on the chest. The statement of County Physician Hektoen as to the result of a post mortem exami-nation of Brennan's body was introduced. It was to the effect that death resulted from morrhage of the brain and hemorrhage of the lungs. The latter came as a surprise. It appears from the statement that Brennan was pounded so terribly on the chest that his lungs commenced bleeding, probably during the last round, when both the spar-

Garrard then took the stand. He main-tained that he had the advantage of the fight only in points and gained what he did gain by science. He said he did not hit Brennan on the chest very hard, but suruck his shoulder and wrenched it. In the first round he was tired and not able to do very Garrard said that they were good-tem-pered and laughing all the time; that they were merely playing, and that the matter was all made up between them beforehand as to how the match was to be sparred.

THE PROGRESS OF ART.

That more interest is taken in Art matters in this country to-day than ever before is a generally conceded fact. Amateur artists are counted by the thousands now, and every lady of refinement is proud to show her handlwork to friends. Until the Centennial Exhibition of '76, fancy work, which is so popular with the ladies at present, was but little known. Outlining on stamped goods seems to be most in favor, and if one has artistic ideas this will afford ample scope for them, as there is no limit to the many beautiful things which can be made for home decoration. W. M. LAIRD,

WHOLESALE SHOE HOUSE.

515 WOOD STREET,

We are in full active operation in our Wholesale House, recently reconstructed. Our traveling salesmen, with full lines of samples, are booking orders freely for fall shipments.

We have made no change of prices, even in the face of the recent sharp advance in Eastern markets. The advantage of buying with a house where stock is new, fresh and constantly moving at lowest market rates, is made apparent by the enormous trade pouring in on us at this time. Our lines of Heavy Boots and Oil Grained Goods are more complete than ever. Our lines are complete in Boston and Bay State Rubbers, for which we are sole Agents for Western Pennsylvania.

Dealers will find it to their interest to buy now, as later on in the season we may not be able to supply them at present prices.
