Mr. Reed, however, booked no interference. They say that the great work demanded of the Fitty-first Congress by the people is almost finished, so far as the House of Ret resentatives is concerned, and that if the Senate will act upon the bills already sent them, the party will have issues upon which they can go before the country feeling con-fident that they can win. Nothing is more true, however, than that for many years the Senate and the House of Representatives have been drifting further and further apart. For these reasons the triumvirate of ruler in the House are beginning to sear that the Senate will run along into the dog days and then adjourn, without having placed upon the statute books several bills which they forged to passage under the inspiration of public sentiment. Since Mr. Reed was placed in the Speaker's chart the amount of important legisla-tion that he has enacted is very great. out of consideration. My medical friend, Dr. B. C. Stewart, suggests a method of penal death which practicable, simple, cheap, certain and hu-mane. It contemplates the construction in each prison and jail of a death cell-a cell differing from others only in having properly contrived justments to make it relatively tight when needed, into w contrived adwhich shall run a number of gas pipes from the ordinary (bi-carburetted hydrogen) gas main, or, better still, from a retort generat-ing sufficient carbonic acid gas. This cell can be fitted up like other cells as a place of confinement. The condemned subject can occupy it for weeks or months, uncer-tain of his day of doom. When the fatal hour arrives the Sheriff enters and reads the solemn sentence, relatives and friends take their last farewell, the minister of spiritual com ort does his last sad offices, suitable time is given the prisoner for reflection. Then the cell is closed tight, the cocks are turned, and unconscious of his approaching end the victim falls asleep to wake no more on earth. By this form of asphyxiation death is absolutely certain and wholly painless while the majesty of the law, punitive and deterrent, is sustained. RUN THROUGH A CLOTHESWRINGER.
