CORRESPONDENCE OF THE DISPATCE. CHICAGO, July 5 .- To a business man, one of the most striking differences between this city and Pittsburg and Philadelphia is the large number of businesses which are carried on in the form of a corporation. In Pennsylvania the purposes for which a corporation may be formed are comparatively few, and are specifically enumerated in the statute. In Illinois the statute provides that corporations may be formed "for any lawful purpose" except real estate broker-Home Telegraphic News.

woman, and she said. "Come here, my little child, come here. Who is that you are leading by the hand?" And the little child replied, "That's my mother; that's Amelia Steininger. She used to be a great singer, but she lost her voice, and she cried so nuch about it that she lost her eyesight." 'Give my love to her," said Madame Sontag, "and tell her an old acquaintance will call on her this afternoon." The next week in Berlin a vast assemblage gathered at a benefit for that poor blind woman, and it was said that Madame Sontag sang that night as she had never sung be-fore. And she took a skilled oculist, who in vain tried to give evesight to the poor In Pennsylvania before the charter issues a certain per centage of the capital stock must be paid in in money or in the equival-ent of money. In Illinois, though the entire stock must be sub-scribed, it is not necessary that one cent should be paid on the subscriptions. In Peunsylvania the stockholder is liable for double the value of his stock. In Il-linois his liability ends when he has paid his subscription. The corporation laws of the two States stand out in sharp contrast with each other. In Pennsylvania the pol-icy of the law seems to be to discourage the In Pennsylvania before the charter issue with each other. In rennsylvania the pol-icy of the law seems to be to discourage the formation of corporations by making it ex-pensive and difficult to charter them, and thus to force the business man to carry on business as an individual, or as a part-ner with and with collision.

Until the day of Amelia Steininger's death Madame Sontag took care of her, and her daughter a ter her. That was what the queen of song did for her enemy. But, oh, hear a more thrilling story still. In Illinois, on the other hand, the policy of the law seems to be to facilitate the for-mation of business corporations and to place every inducement before the business man to do business not as an individual or as a contrast like and initial individual or as a partner with unlimited liability to his cred-itors, but as a stockholder with a liability limited to the amount of his stock subscrip-

THE GREAT ATTRACTION.

The chief attraction about this form of doing is of course the limited liability of those engaged in it. If a man wishes to open a cigar store or a grocery and is unwilling to expose himself to liability for the acts of his partners, he forms a stock company with Gold ore that assays $11,303 80 worth of precious metal to the ton. Such fabulous richness of deposit is almost incredible. his partners, he forms a stock company with a capital stock of say $5,000. He subscribes for $2,600 of it himself, and thereby obtains a controlling interest, and $2,600 is, for all practical purposes, the limit of his inability. The acts of his fellow stockholders may involve the company in debt, but after he has paid in the full amount of his subscribion the creditors But it is so, nevertheless. And it is in Georgia, too. This wondrous richness is shown by a test made by Prof. McCandless. A prospecting party in search of a widely different mark came upon this Georgia gold field, so rich that it almost rivals the richest mines in sunny California's history. Early in June Mr. John M. Brosius, and several other gentlemen interested with him, paid a visit to North Georgia to investigate some mineral property there. The acts of his fellow stockholders may involve the company in debt, but after he has paid in the full amount of his subscription the creditors of the company have no further hold upon him. An incidental advantage of this is that an investor may have an interest in a score of business enterprises—stores, saloons, amusement devices, factories and the like—

Is there no power in this gospel to sooth the heart? Is there no power in this religion to quiet the paroxysm of grief? There comes up an answer from comforted widowhood, and or-phanage, and childlesaness, saying: "Ay, av. we are witnesse!" taking than the work was done, and the passengers on the Cunard, and the Inman, and the National, and the White Star lines are witnesses. Now let me play the skeptic for a moment. "There is no God," says the skeptic, for a mo-ment. "There is no God," says the skeptic, "for I have never seen Him with my physi-cal eyesight. Your Bible is a pack of con-tradictions. There never was a miracle. Largeus was not raised from the dead, and the deat was never the dead into the dead, and water was never turned into wine. Your the water was never turned into wine. Your religion is an imposition on the credulity polithe ages." There is an aged man mov-ing over yonder as though he would like to respond. Here are hundreds of people with faces a little flushed at these announce-ments, and all through this assembly there is a suppressed feeling which would like to speak out in behalf of the truth of our environments. Christianitz estimates the truth of our glorious Christianity, as in the days of the text, crying out, "We are witnesses !" The fact is, that if this world is ever brought to God, it will not be through ar-gument, but through testimony. You I was led by my father's hand, and we came brought to God, it will not be through arnight cover the whole earth with apologies bristianity and learned news of the wide world, put in your hands every morning and night, has made all nations witnesses. So in the time of Christ it was proved conclusively that it was impossible for Him to rise from the dead. It was shown logically that when a man was dead he was dead, and the heart and the liver and the lungs having ceased to perform their offices, the limbs would be rigid beyond all power of friction or arousal. They showed it to be an abso-lute absurdity that the dead Christ should ever get up alive; but no sooner had they proved this than the dead Christ arose, and associated with all your business ambition, and since she has gone you have no ambi-tion lett. Oh, this is a clumsy world when it tries to comfort a broken heart. I can build a Corlear's engine, I can paint a Raphael's "Madonna," I can play a Beetho-ven's "Eroica Symphony" as easily as this world can comfort a broken heart. And yet you have been comforted. How was it done? Did Christ come to you and say, "Get your mind of this: so ont and breathe I resh air:

mind off this; go out and breathe tresh air; plunge deeper into business?" No. There was a minute when He came to you-perhaps in the watches of the night, perhaps in your place of business, perhaps along the street—and He breathed something into your street—and He breathed something into your soul that gave peace, rest, infinite quiet, so that you could take out the photograph of the departed one and look into the eyes and the face of the dear one and say, "It is all right, she is better off; I would not call her to the iarmhouse where the bereavement had nd we saw th carriages; but there was one carriage that espscially attracted my boyish attention, and it had black plumes. I said: "What's that? what's that? Why those black tassels that? what's that? Why those black tasks on the top?" and after it was explained to me, I was lifted up to look upon the bright face of an aged Christian woman, who three days before had departed in triumph; the whole scene made an impression I never torgot. In our sermons and in our lay exhorta tions we are very api, when we want to bring illustrations of dying triumph, to go back to some distinguished personage-to a John Knox or a Harriet Newell, But I want you for witnesses. I want to know hundred thousand men, or five million men get up and tell me that they have felt the religion of Jesus Christ a joy, a comfort, a belp, an inspiration, I am bound as a fair-minded man to accept their testimony. I want just now to put beiore you three prop-ceitions the truth of which I think this minded man to accept their testimony. want just now to put before you three prop-ositions, the truth of which I think this or heard with his own ears, and so I am critical in my examination of you now; and I want to know whether you have seen or heard anything that makes you believe that the religion of Christ gives composure in the final hour. the final hour. "Oh, yes," you say, "I saw my father and mother depart. There was a great difference in their deathbeds. Standing by the one we felt more veneration. By the other, there was more tenderness. Before the one, you bowed perhaps in awe. In the other case you felt as if you would like to go along with her. How did they feel in that last hour? How did they seem to act? Were they very much trightened? Did they take hold of this world with both hands as hold of this world with both hands as though they did not want to give it up? "Oh, no," you say; "no, I remember as though it were yesterday; she had a kind word for us all, and there were a few mementoes distributed among the children, and then she told us how kind we must be to out father in his loneliness, and then she kissed us goodby and went to sleep and calmly as a child in a oradle." soul. Lectures on the harmony between science and religion are beautiful mental discipline, but have never saved a soul, and never will save a soul. Put a man of the world and a man of the church against each other, god the man of the world will in all probability get the triumph. There are a housand things in our religion that seem llogical to the world, and always will seem illogical. Our weapon in this conflict is faith, not logic; faith, not metaphysics; faith, not profundity; faith, not scholastic exploration. But then, in order to have faith, we must have testimony, and if five nered men, or one thousand men, or five belp, an inspiration, I am bound as a fair-minded man to accept their testimony. I

that the religion of Christ is able to convert a soul. The gospel may have had a hard time to conquer us, we may have lought it back, but we were vanquished. You say conversion is only an imaginary thing. We know better. "We are witnesses." There never was so great a change in our heart life on any other subject as on this, People laughed at the missionaries in Mada-gascar because they preached ten years without one convert; but there are 33,000 converts in Madagascar to-day. People laughed at Dr. Adoniram Judson, the Baptist missionary, because he kept on preaching in Burmah five years without a single convert; but there are 20,000 Baptists in Burmah to-day. People laughed at Dr. Morrison, in China, for preaching there seven years without a single conversion; but there are 25,000 Chris-tians in China to-day. People laughed at the missionaries for preaching at Tahiti 15 years without a single conversion, and at the missionaries for preaching in Bengal 17 years without a single conversion; yet in all those lands there are multitudes of Christians to-day.

But why go so far to find evidence of the gospel's power to save a soul? "We are witnesses." We were so proud that no man could have humbled us; we were so hard that no earthly power could have melted us; angels of God were all around about us, they could not overcome us; but one day, perhaps at a Methodist anxious seat, or a* a mercy, and we tried to wrench ourselves away from the grasp, but we could not. It fung us flat, and when we arose we were as much changed as Gourgis, the heathen, who much changed as Gourgis, the heathen, who went into a prayer meeting with a dagger and a gun to disturb the meeting and de-stroy it, but the next day was sound crying, and a gun to disturb the meeting and destroy it, but the next day was tound crying, "Oh, my great sins! Oh, my great Savior!" and for 11 years preached the gospel of Christ to his fellow mountaineers, the later are people who say, "I saw a Christian sister die, and she triumphed." Come, all ye who hare seen the last moments of a Christian, and give testimony in this cause on trial. Uncover your heads, put your hand on the old family Bible trom which they used to read the tongue, and on down until they were in that you will tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. With what you have seen with your own eyes, and from what you have beard with your own eyes, and from what you have beard with your own eyes, and from what you have beard with your own eyes, and from what you have beard with your own eyes, and from what you have beard with your own eyes, and from what you have beard with your own eyes, and from what you have beard with your own eyes, and from what you have beard with your own eyes, from young, and old, and middle aged: "We are witnesses!" to Havana, and from Havana to San Fran-eisco, and when he was in port he was worse than when he was on the sea. What, then, gave her composure? Was it because she did not care much for you, and the pang of parting was not great? Some time ago Prof. Henry, of Washing-ton, discovered a new star, and the tidings sped by submarine telegraph, and all the observatories of Europe were watching for that new star. Oh, hearer, looking out through the darkness of thy soul to-day, canst thou see a bright light beaming on thee? "Where?" you say; "where? How can I find it?" Look along by the line of the cross of the Son of God. Do you not see it trembling with all tenderness and beaming with all hope? It is the Star of Bethlehem. Deep horror then my vitals froze.

It was the Star of Bethlehem. Oh, hearer, get your eyes on it. It is easier for you now to become Christians than it is to stay away from Christ and heaven. When Madame Sontag began her musical career she was hissed off the stage at Vienna by the friends of her rival, Amelia Steinin-ger, who had already begun to decline through her dissipation. Years passed on, and one day Madame Sontag, in her glory, was riding through the streets of Berlin, when she saw a little child leading a blind woman, and she said, "Come here, my little child, come here. Then after a little dickering about the conditions, the party of prospectors set out through the woods and over the north Georgia Mountains, following the lead of the countryman guide, who, on the way, unfolded the particulars of the gold field they were pursuing. The man had known of the place for a long time. But he was very poor-a veriable native of the mountain fastnessand had never been able to make anything of coasequence out of it. After a wearying tramp Captain Brosius' party came to the fabulous ground. It did not need, Captain

A bucketful of ore was picked up and carried back to the wagon, and then without delay to the assay of Prot. McCandless. When his work was finished and the un-dreamed of rickness of deposit discovered, not an hour was lost by Captain Brosius and his triends in vesting themselves with the titles to the place. 40 acres, taking in four distinct veins were purchased. The deeds thereto have been made and are now on

"I have been over the property very care-fully," said Captain Brosius, "and I am confident that I can easily dig 50 tons of ore that will come up to the highest assay by Prof. McCandless, that is 50 tons that will yield $11,303 80 to the ton. How much of the other two grades there is it is impossible to tell." Captain Brosius leaves for Virginia in the interest of the Atlanta and Pittsburg

-Two years ago 300 whales were driven ashore on the estate of a Mr. Bruce, at Sum-burg, in the north of Scotlaud, and they were killed and sold. Mr. Bruce at once demanded that a third of the value of the whales (£400) that a third of the value of the whales (2400) should be paid to him, in accordance with an ancient custom, by which the "laird" of this property was entitled to claim "thirds" of all salvage. The Sheriff opposed the claim on the ground that Mr. Bruce had taken no part in the capturing of the whales, and the Conrt of Ses-sions has upheld the Sheriff. The Judge in timated that, although the landlord's demand was justified by precedent, it was based neither upon principle nor upon justice, and it was time for a new rule. *
