cation that operations will soon begin. In connection with the passenger depot, and probably under the same roof, will be a warehouse for the accommodation of the business part of the community. There will also be ticket, telegraph and express offices, and a side track to the warehouse.

These improvements, when completed, will give Edgewood quite a city-like aspect, and be a stimulus to business, as well as an inducement to buy land and build homes. The borough has water, gas, electric lights and a post-office, and will soon have a schoolhouse; and now, that the railroad proposes to increase its facilities for the handling of passengers and business, nothing is wanted, it would seem, to complete the felicity of the inhabitants—except population, which will come in due time.

Raffronds Under the Hammer. During the first six months of the present year the number of railroads sold under fore-closure was greater than in the corresponding period for several years. The record shows that during the time indicated 21 completed roads, with 1,933 miles of line, and representing roads, with 1,915 miles of line, and representing in their securities over $92,000,000, were sold under the hammer, bringing only a fraction of the original apparent investment. For the first six months of 1889 there were eight sales, covering 1,525 miles, and $92,678,000 of capital and debt, and for the same period of 1888 12 roads, with only 755 miles, and $31,425,000. These foreclosures, as a general thing, were the culmination of financial difficulties extending through a series of years, and in some cases were the ending of long periods of receivership. Some of the roads were weighed down by excessive capitalization, and others run through sparsely settled territory, where there was not enough business to pay expenses. -roads on paper. These forced sales by no means reflect the condition of the railroad in terests of the country. They were never more remunerative or less likely to come under the

A property on lower Penn avenue has changed hands three times within six months, and each time at an advance. Investors are paying more attention to that thoroughfare than formerly. The recent deals in acreage on the Panhandle Railroad have excited quite an interest in that locality. It is admirably situated for homes and manufacturing, and rapid transit will make it convenient of access.

Information comes from a reliable source that the Pennsylvania Railroad is arranging for extensive improvements at Edge-wood. The rapid growth of the borough has made it necessary to erect a larger station house to accommodate the increased patron-age of the road. The present building will, therefore, be removed and a larger one erected in its stead, It will be one of the handsomest on the road. Business at the Banks.

Saturday's pusiness enabled Manager Chaplin, of the Clearing House, to present a good report yesterday. The exchanges were $2,940,578 82 and the balances $657,669 87. Depositing was heavy, and added considerably to the surplus, which is now large enough to insure an easy market during the reat of the summer and fall. This fact should be an encouragement to all branches of trade.

Call loans were placed at 6 per cent. Outside paper was taken at 7, but very little was offered. Although there has been a good steady demand for money all season, it is thought that none of the city banks have at any time touched the reserve limit. Funds are abundant.

It was reported yesterday that Samuel W. Black & Co. were about closing a deal for a lot on Washington street as a site for a large so that even in the village some people at 7 o'clock last evening were still inclined to think there might be something in it. The drillers had not conducted the work, but they seemed to think there were better prospects for 600 barrels a year than that amount a day.

George Lashell got a telegram announcing the strike, and be enveloped himself in dust to reach the Pittsburg and Lake Erie Railway station, caring apparently nothing for 140 in the shade. When he reached Coraopolis he paid no attention to the livery stable, but broke over the hills for the well. The reaction was great, but at 8.30 last evening it was thought he would come around all right with careful nursing.

Wall Street in a Staguant Condition-Londing Stocks Decline-But Little Business Trausacted. New York, July 7.—The apathy and stagna-tion in Wall street which prevailed so long, were, if anything, to-day intensified by the limit of business and significant fluctuations. To-day's dealings were almost entirely bare of feature, and there seemed to be some interest in New England, St. Paul and Atchison. St. Paul was the only one in which there was any important movement during the day. Control important movement during the day. Considerable pressure of short stock in the forenoon resulted in a decline of 11/4 per cent, based upon erable pressure of short stock in the forenoon resulted in a decline of 1½ per cent, based upon the late unfavorable reports of earningswith the expectation that the same will continue for a time and allow a short turn on the short side. Sugar Refineries also made a rather sharp decline of 1½ per cent, but recovered the loss later in the day.

New England was the leader of the market in the early trading and displayed some strength which, however, disappeared when the weakness of the general list became more pronounced. The bears and the Chicago people felt the market by pressure upon the Grangers, and St. Paul and Rock Island were specially weak throughout the day, not rallying with the remainder of the list. New England was the strong feature. Prices continued to harden until just before the close when the weakness again appeared, but the close was dull and steady to firm at insignificant changes from first prices as a rule. St. Paul is down 1½ and Rock Island I per cent, but the other changes were slight.

Railroad bonds were very quiet and sympathized with the weakness in stocks, but the dealings presented little or no feature of interest. Chicago, St. Paul and Minneapolis firsts sold at 122.
