CURIOS ANCIENT RELICS

Found in excavating a mound in the Monongahela Valley—An Ancient Copper Dagger and an Interesting Collection of Indian Ornaments Unearthed.

SOME interesting relics were discovered this week while workmen were excavating for the new building of the Pennsylvania State Bank in the city.

AS TO THE DOGS. To-day the ordinance for dog-killing is supposed to go into force.

THE RELICS were discovered where a block-house stood for many years, remains of it still being plainly visible.

THE EXCAVATIONS have been made of all sizes and shapes, and a number of "killing knives" which were wedge-shaped, made of stone, shells and bone.

IT is not merely that prize-hoarding on the streets may lead to accidents, or that the bodies of the dogs may be permitted to lie to the danger of the public health.
