TWO FAMOUS FIGHTS

To be Recalled To-Day by the Loyal Orangemen of the Pittsburg and Allegheny District.

A COUPLE OF HISTORICAL EVENTS

That Live Ever Green in the Memories North of Ireland People, Though Not Now Celebrated

WITH THE GORE OF FORMER YEARS

Something of the Occasion Which is to be Commen rated in a Pitting Way To-Day.

To-day, the two hundredth anniversary of the Battle of Aughrim, the Loyal Orange men of Keystone District No. 6, composed of lodges in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio, will celebrate that decisive victory, co-relatively with that of the Battle of the Boyne, where King William of Orange overthrew his father-in-law, James II., and caused the Protestant settlers in the North of Ireland to rejoice over a restoration of their privileges and lands. The details of to-day's proceedings have already appeared in THE DISPATCH. With a favorable day the turnout to Hulton Grove will likely be large, and the commemoration of the anniversary suitably maintained. Among those who have promised to attend are the Revs. W. Thompson, Mr. McCormick, Mr. Turner, Mr. King and John Thresher, all of Pittaburg or Allegheny.

"To the glorious, pious and immortal memory of the great and good King William, who saved us from Popery, slavery, knavery, brass money and wooden shoes," with variegated extensions, prompted by the taste of the proposer, was the tonst with which the Ulster Orangemen customarily emphasized their banquets after the hazard-ous experiences of the 12th of July in the good old times not many years ago.

AS IT ONCE WAS. In the good old times-necessarily good, because old, though they may have been notoriously bad—the "glorious 12th" was observed in the North of Ireland after a fashion calculated to keep its celebration in the memory of the participants for many a day to come. It was, literally, a red letter day; and that heads were broken, men, women and chil-dren shot down, and policemen killed was as certain to be a result of the "celebration" as that the day itself should dawn. The people in the North of Ireland needed no calendar to indicate that the fete day of Orangeism was drawing near. The authorities, mindful of their duty to the people at large, some three or four days' previously, drafted details of constabulary from all sections of the country into Belfast, Enniskillen, Derry, Dungannon and other rictous towns, and held them in readiness to suppress the hostilities which were certain to break out between the Catholics and Orangemen, when the latter set forth in parade. Belfast, the principal city in the North, from its larger population, was the scene of the most deadly and continued disturbances. The city has still its well-defined Protestant and Catholic quarters, and through the latter the Orangemen were invariably prohibited from parading. But the prohibition usually went for naught. Each delegation from the neighboring towns, as it arrived by road or rail, running the from the opposition, advertised its advent by making a tour of the town, with drums senting, banners flying, and scarfs waving. Every man in the ranks was out to assert the principles of Orangeism against the doctrines of Jacobitism, and it became a point of honor to beat the drums the louder and shoot off revolvers the more frequently as they entered or passed by the Catholic quarter. Showers of stones from the latter would fall into their midst but the march would be continued, inathless such repeated greetings, until the trysting place was reached. As the hour for the parade ap-proached the authorities would begin to bestir themselves. Details of police would he drawn across the streets leading to the Catholic quarters, and beyond these neither Orangemen were supposed to enter or Cath-olics to pass. Then after some inspiring oratory from a local magnete the parade would

ALL IN YELLOW.

Every man wore a yellow scarf and orange Illies, and with banners bearing such legends as "Derry, Aughrim and the Boyne," "No Surrender" and other devices, and marching to the tune of "Cropples Lie Down" or the "Boyne Water," the procession issued forth, and the fun began. For fun it was, though of a rather serious nature, to the hot-headed and battle-sceking North of Ireland men. Here was presented the curious spectacle of men of the same race, oftentimes of the same family, working and living side by side in perfect amity and fellowship for 364 days in the year, throwng aside all ties, and sinking every private feeling to do battle against one another in support of a politico-religious sentiment, all reason for the existence of which had long since been lost in time. But the traditions remained; on one side the victories of Derry, Aughrim and the Boyne and the deleat of the Jacobites, and on the other the memory of the penal laws and the ag-gressions of the Protestant ascendency, and only half a protest was needed on either side for an excuse to fight these memorable battles over again. And so they were, in a sense. As the Orangemen drew near their quarters the Catholics, or Jacobites, reemphasizing their remarks by voileys of stones and an occasional crack from a pis-tol. Cries from the paraders of "No sur-render," "Croppies lie down," and "To h—I with the Pope," as a taunt to the Jacobites imprisoned behind the cordons of constabulary, only intensified the feeling on both sides. After a few more passages a rush would be made by the Jacobites, and rush would be made by the Jacobites, and in a moment a scrimmage of the liveliest kind would be in tull swing.

The police would use the buttend of their rifles without mercy; revolvers hitherto fired in the sir would be brought down to deadly execution; women and children would join in the combat with stones and bats; the stout black-thorn would place to a lively time over heads. thorn would play to a lively tune over heads of friend and foe, and by the time the Mayor, backed up by a platoon of police, would arrive and read the riot act the boys would be just about in the humor for a "bit Sometimes hostilities were carried to such an extent that the police would se ordered to fire, with a deplorable result, frequently inoffensive women and children being killed. Then the paraders, rather enlivened than otherwise by such little epi-sodes, would continued on their way, and finally bring up at a rendezous to listen to

CLOSED BY A BANQUET. The day's proceedings were brought to a close by a banquet, and the anti-Catholic feeling was scarcely allayed by the extravafeeling was scarcely allayed by the extravagant sentiments given utterance to by the speakers. Among these, ministers of the gospel were as conspicuous as the representatives of the ruling classes, and went on record at times in sentiments which hardly accorded with their cloth.
King William would be toasted in the manner of words which open this article, with the addendum, trequently, of "a fig for the Bishop of Cork," in allusion to Dr. Peter Browne, who, about the year 1715, wrote in a very strong manner against toasting the s very strong manner against toasting the dead, as being nearly as bad as praying for them. The allusion in the toast to brass money had reference to James II. funnees, and the wooden shoes, to his French allies. The old sores between the factions once reopened, were not again readily allowed to close, and very often hostilities were main-tained, despite the efforts of the police, for days at a time. But within the past three or four years, partly owing to the excited condition of the country on the land question—a matter on which friend and foe find common interest, and partly due to the growth of a more toleraut spirit in both factions, the disturbances have been less frequent, and the collection of the respective quent, and the celebration of the respective fete days, namely the 12th of July and the 17th of March, given less prominemee that formerly.

The cry of "No Surrender" originated at the famous siege of Derry, and was the watchword of the Apprentice Boys, who afterward became merged in the Orange body. Every student knows that this memorable siege instea 105 days, despite all the attempts of the Jacobites with James in person at their head to induce the gallant defenders to yield. They sent up the cry of "No Surrender:" and neither did they, for when reduced to the "last ounce of horsefiesh and last pinch of corn" succor reached fiesh and last pinch of corn" succor reached them through Kirde when he rode into the harber with three shiploads of provisions, and the Muscovite De Rosen, who was in command of the King's troops, raised the siege in disgust. PIRST OF THE LODGES. The first Orange lodge was founded in Armagh about 1795, but the name existed for many years before. The Protestant set-tlers in the North of Ireland looked to William of Orange to restore them lands and privileges which they had lost under James II., and the organization effected shortly after the defeat of the latter was called by its name in honor of the conqueror. The original object of Orangeism was the maintenance of Protestant ascendancy, but it subsequently became a political body. As a result of a Parliamentary inquiry Grange clubs were broken up about 1830, but were renewed in 1845.

The Battle of the Boyne was fought or the 1st of July, 1690. In the previous mouth William of Orange landed in Ireland with 35,000 well trained soldiers. James' troops were raw levies, insufficiently armed, and as a result they could not stand against the seasoned soldiers whom they met at Donore on the Boyne, and were soon put to flight. James himsels fled from the field before de fent was assured and made a rapid flight to Dublin. He was in one of his violent pas-sions when the historical passage of arms between him and Lady Tyrconnel occurred.

"Madam," said the King, "your countrymen have run away." "If they have, sire," was her Ladyship's quick retort, "your Majesty seems to have won."
Following up his victory of the Boyne,
William marghed on Aughrin and on the William marched on Aughrim, and on the 12th of July again defeated the Jacobites with much slaughter, though ably led by the gallant Sarsfield, who afterward made as stout resistance at Limerick as his oppopents had at Derry.

TWO CELEBRATIONS. I wenty-one lodges, comprising fully 6,000 persons, will journey on to Hulton Grove, the three Southside lodges, owing to some dissatisfaction within the order, having concluded to spend the day at Alliquippa. About 1,500 people will probably spend the day there. A novel feature of the parade will be the participation therein of the four ladies' lodges, with a membership of 250. It is not thought that more than 1,200 persons will attend the parade. Among those who will speak at Hulton Among those who will speak at Hulton are the Rev. Mr. McCormick, of the Central Presbyterian Church, Allegheny; the Rev. J. B. Kochne, of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, this city; the Rev. William Thompson, of St. James' Church, this city, and Mr. John Thresher. Messrs. Millings and Gratam of the Surraya Grand ligen and Graham, of the Supreme Grand Lodge; Robert F. Newman, o: Toronto, Grand Master of the Canadian lodges, and W. H. Traynor, of Detroit, editor of the American Patriot, have been invited to at-

PHILADELPHIA'S BIG GUNS.

Unloaded at Cramps. PHILADELPHIA, July 11 .- A freigh train laden with one massive gun and 12 guu carriages for the cruiser Philadelphia rolled along Beach street to Cramps' shipyard yesterday. About an hour later a large steamer, the Rancocas, steamed up the Delaware and was moored off one of the wharves near the new cruiser. On her deck were 11 new guns that glistened under the noon sun. A crowd gathered about on Beach street to see the powerful implements of war, and yard yesterday. About an hour later a large clambered on the cars.

The big guns and their gigantic carriages The big guns and their gigantic carriages are sights that Philadelphians do not get to see very often. They are wonders in the naval world and are expected to do remarkable things. The guns and carriages were finished at the Norlolk yards, from which place the Rancocas and the freight cars brought them here. All the guns are of six-inch bore and rifled. Each weighs 5,000 pounds and is 18 feet long. The gun carriages are made almost entirely of iron, and weigh over a ton aplece. They are about 5 weigh over a ton apiece. They are about 5 feet high and 9 feet long. Everything is being placed in readiness on board the cruiser Philadelphia for the reception of the engines of war. Gauge of men are hard at work on the railways on which the gun carriage will "travel." It is expected that two of the guns will be mounted soon. In other particulars the Philadelphia is being touched up so as to put her to sea as soon as possible NINTH ON THE LIST.

The Usual Excellent Programme for Free Organ Recital.

The ninth free organ recital to be held at Carnegie Hall this afternoon at 3 o'clock, will present some interesting musical numbers to those who attend. In deference to requests the doors will open at 2:15 in order to accommodate those from a distance, who may desire to find a convenient resting place. Mrs. F. H. Haslage, soprano, will be the vocalist of the occasion, and Mr. Harry Stevenson, a brother of Librarian Stevenson, will play two elaborate and carefully prepared numbers. City Organist Wales will play a potpourri from Donizetti's "Daughter of the Regiment;" the overture to "Tancredi," by Rossini; a minuet by Joseffy, a new gavotte by Bendel, and other numbers, including the famous "Sounds From the Ohio," waltzes by Karl Merz. Mr. Stevenson, who is a student of Washington and Jefferson College, will play a noted "Improvisation," and Dudley Buck's variations on "God Save the Queen." Mrs.

Haslage's numbers are a waitz rondo by Gumbert and a romanza, "I Dreamt," by Ferdinand Schuras. The attendance at these organ recitals has steadily improved as their scope and character became known.

THE WEEK IN TRADE

As Reviewed by the Leading Agencies of the United States.

DULLNESS GENERALLY PREVAILS.

Wheat and Drygoods Show, an Improved Condition and Prices Stiffen.

FAILURES INCREASE FOR THE WEEK

SPECIAL THELIGRAM TO THE DISPATCE. NEW YORK, July 11 .- Special telegrams to Bradstreet's indicate that the general trade throughout the country has still fur ther felt the restraining influence of the midsummer season. The severity of hot weather in Missouri and Nebraska has resulted in a drouth. Early showers, it is thought, may recover some of the loss to crops in Nebrasks. One effect of the extreme heat West has been an advance in prices of canned

The New York stock market is dull and tends to rise on the silver bill and the prospective settlement of Western railroad difficulties, though gold shipments and foreign selling consequent on the South American panic exert some disturbing influence.

Bank clearings at 51 cities for the week ending July 10 are $917,596,716, a decrease from this week last year of 19 per cent. New York City's clearings, which constitutes 55.6 per cent of the grand total, are less than those for the like period last year by over 28 per cent, while at 50 other cities the loss is 2,3 per cent.

IRON AND STEEL MARKETS QUIET. There is no improvement in iron or steel prices or demand, contrary to expectation and predictions. At some points, notably West, prices of iron tend lower. Authracite coal is firm and in fair demand. Pro duction is heavy and exceeds the total for the first half of '89. The outlook is for a turther advance in price. Copper is firm at 17c for lake, from first hands; elsewhere, 16%@16%c. Casting brands are 14%c. Gross railway earnings of 134 companies $52,502,761, an increase over June last year of 8.65 per cent. The month of May, it will be remembered, showed a gain over May 1889, of nearly 14 per cent. Rate cutting, water competition and reduced volume of business offering have reduced June earnings. For the six months 133 roads report earnings of $205,449,831, a gain over last vear of 11.8 per cent on a milage increase of 2.6 per cent.

Heavy receipts of hogs at Western pack ing centers broke the back of the little boon in lard started early in the week, and price close about where they did a week ago Hogs are 5 cents cheaper. Mess pork i steady at former quotations.

IMPROVED CONDITION OF WHEAT. Wheat has been stronger on a fair demand decreasing stocks, a small crop outlook at home and reports of damage to wheat in Europe. Prices are 13% higher on the week. European available stocks of wheat, stocks aftoat for Europe and supplies available in the United States, both coasts, aggregated 69,000,000 bushels July 1, 1890, against 66,000,000 bushels one year before On January 1, 1890, the foregoing stocks amounted to 115,000,000 bushels, as compared with 130,000,000 bushels on Jan. 1, 1889. During June, 1890, Euro pean, aftoat and American wheat stocks de-creased fully 15,000,000 bushels, two-thirds of which decline was abroad. Exports of wheat and flour as wheat, both coasts, this week equal 1,738,302 bushels, against 1,215, 1,558.055 bushels in the week adding July 12, 1889. Indian corn exports, both coasts, equal 1,792,864 bushels this week, against 1,520,592 bushels last week.

ACTIVITY IN DRYGOODS active demand, except for cloakings, which are checked by the cloakmakers' strike. Men's wear goods are only moderately ac tive. Prices are generally steady and un-changed. Print cloth stocks are accumulating on slight demand. Raw wooi is very dull on reduced demand from manufacturers and proposed tariff changes. Cotton was de-pressed, but closed steady and but little below last week, uncertainty about August de-livery nearly offsetting early unfavorable Liverpool cables. New crop is slightly weaker on good crop advices. Business callures reported to Bradstreet's number 134 in the United States this week against 102 last week and 218 this week last year. Canada had 32 this week against 13 last week. The total number of failures in the United States January 1 to date is 5,702 against 6,255 in a like portion of 1889.

HEAVY SHIPMENTS OF GOLD. R. G. Dun & Co.'s review of the trade for the week says that the Bank of England loss $2,160,000 gold last week, the Bank of Germany $2,490,000, and the Bank of France $1,245,000, in all $5,895,000 in a week, and $1,245,000, in all $0,895,000 in a week, and it has been decided to call over $5,000,000 gold from this country, the first shipments being to-day. With scanty reserves here on which to begin the fall movement, and money tight at Boston and active at Philadelphia and in shares demand in Chicago at 6 per cent on call, the prospect is less clear than it has been, though rates here are domparatively steady.

From many Northwestern cities special reports show distinct improvement in trade because of crop prospects, which St. Paul calls the best for years. Yet prices of wheat calls the best for years. Yet prices of wheat have advanced 1½c on sales of 15,000,000 bushels, coro 1½c on sales of 17,000,000 bushels and oats ½c, while cotton is unchanged, with moderate dealings. Hogs and lard are higher, with potatoes and eggs, but oil is 20 lower, and the absence of buyers causes disappointment in coffee, though prices are held. Slow consumption of sugar sales actived. But the general average of is also noticed. But the general average of prices has advanced fully 1 per cent.

IRON REMAINS WEAK.

In the iron business the buoyancy anticipated at Philadelphia does not appear there, and here pressure to realize keeps the market weak. Pittsburg notes no loss in price, but slower movement. Coal is dull and weak, the recent advance being principally on paper, and the half year's output being within 1,000 tons of the output last year. Copper, tin and lead continue strong.

Midsummer dullness prevails at Boston increased by monetary stringency, and at Philadelphia and Pittsburg by the last that higher wages have been conceded to iron workers, though higher prices for products do not seem obtainable. Chicago reports a larger movement than last year's in all grains and meats, in wool and in drygoods, with easy and prompt collections, a very with easy and prompt collections, a very good trade in clothing, and better than last year in boots and shoes.

DULLNESS PREVAILS IN THE WEST. St. Louis finds trade above the average, extreme hot weather having passed, but at Kansas City trade is light and collections are poor because of drought. Milwaukee has a heavy local trade, Omaha a large trade and bright prospects, and Minneapolis a stronger market for flour, while the lumber convention has advanced prices of low-grade lumber $1 per 1,000. At Detroit travelers report good fall orders, and at Cloveland all trades are better than a year ago. The glass works are closed at Pittsburg, but stocks are moving fairly, and a scarcity of miners is felt in the business there. St. Louis finds trade above the average,

The coal traffic of roads is yery large for the last week of June about 8 per cent, and for the month about 11 per cent above last year's, while the few reports for July show still larger gains. Receiverships for the half year covered but $47,000,000 of stocks and boads of 1,380 miles, while foreclosures.

for the half year covered $92,000,000 of stocks and bonds and 1,930 miles of read. The steady growth of the country is illustrated in National Bank reports, showing an increase since 1880 of 66 per cent in num-ber of banks, 87 per cent in deposits and 90 per cent in loans.

TO JOIN THE MORMONS. Missionary Elders Bring Six Score Converts

NEW YORK, July 11 .- The steamship Wisconsin of the Guion Line, which reached this port yesterday brought 120 Mormon proselytes from Great Britain. The mission ary elders of the Salt Lake City Tabernacle have been hard at work in the thickly populated manufacturing districts of England during the past year, but their labors have not resulted in a very large number of converts to Latter Day Saintship. The con-signment of converts which passed through the Barge office yesterday was chiefly com-posed of Englishmen and women of the posed of Englishmen and women of the poorest and most ignorant class. Two or three of the Barge office attaches gathered around a hopeful father with a wife and two daughters and tried to persuade him that he was doing a foolish thing in believing the fairy tales told him by the elders. The man listened good-naturedly to these warnings, but seemed to have implicit faith in Mormon doctrines. His elder daughter overheard rows of the stories told to her father mon doctrines. His elder dauguter over-heard some of the stories told to her father by the inspectors and was so affected by them that she tearfully declared that she did not want to go to Salt Lake City. She went, nevertheless, half an hour later. Another of the converts was a brightfaced, wholesome looking young woman from the North of Ireland. She said that she was 22 years old and had met the elders in Birmingham. Missionary Lawrence spoke to her in the Barge office and attempted to persuade her that she would be better off in New York, or back in Birmingham, than smong the Mormons in Salt Lake ham, than among the Mormons in Salt Lake City. Although every one of the proselytes was registered as from England, a number of them were Scandinavians, who cannot have remained in England very long, for their knowledge of the language is confined to a few stock phrases. Everybody in the whole motley crowd firmly believed that he or she was bound for a veritable Eden. The missionary elders are not overscrupulous in adhering strictly to the truth when they undering strictly to the truth when they under-take to describe Salt Lake City and its environs, if the fabulous tales retailed at second hand by the converts for the benefit o the Barge office employes are to be taken as a criterion. An hour after they had been ushered into the United States according to law the immigrants were packed aboard rolling stock which would shock the susceptibilities of self-respecting cattle, and started on their long ride across the Conti-nent. It is expected that another installment of proselytes will reach here within a

A WHITE LION. Nature's Strange Frenk Reported From the

Robinson Circus. CINCINNATI, July 11 .- A remarkable freak of nature is reported from the Robinson circus, which is at present out West. On Tuesday last the big lioness "Nellie" threw a litter of cubs, and among them was one as white as snow. The town of Missoula, Mont., where the cubs first saw the light of day, was considerably excited over the curi-osity, and flocked to the tent by hundreds to see the Albino.

The oldest inhabitant had never seen the like before, and it is doubtful it such thing as a white lion had ever before been heard of. Albino men, women and birds are very common, and there is a page in his-tory devoted to a description of a white elephant and the reverence shown it by the natives, but there is no record of a white lion ever having been whelped. over the freak, and every possible effort will be made to raise the cub. In case it lives, it will prove one of the greatest attractions

ALASKAN MISSIONARIES.

Intelligence From Moravian Workers i the Far-Away Territory. BETHLEHEM, PA., July 11 .- Letters have been received in Bethlehem from the Moravian mission stations at Bethel and Carmel, in Alaska. They contained briefly the news that Rev. John H. Kilbuck, missionary in charge at Bethel, and Mrs. Bishop Bachman and son, and all the rest of the little band of workers except Mrs. Kilbuck were in good health. It is probable that Mrs. Kilbuck will return to the States with Mrs. Bachman this summer to recuperate her health.

Letters dated Carmel, June 5, were also received, stating that Missionary Wolf and family and the assistant missionaries wer well. Missionaries Kilbuck and Wolf have been appointed census enumerators for their districts in Alaska by the United States Government, with permission of the Moravian Church authorities.
