COOKERY AND CHRISTIANITY.

To the Improper Preparation of Food May be Attributed the Principal Causes Which Lead to Intemperance.

INFLUENCE OF THE COOK'S DOMAIN,

A Diet Which is Adapted to Our National Needs Barnestly Recommended.

PERCIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. POINT CHAUTAUQUA, July 11 .- At 2:30 glation gathered to hear the lecture of Mrs. Smma P. Ewing on "Cookery and Christinnity." Mrs. Ewing had chosen a practical subject and dealt with it with practical

The first sign of organic life is a mouth seeking nutrition. From birth to death we are dependent upon the victualing department for any deliver of the rest of Andrew Temple for the robbery of four bars of Mexican silver Julies valued at $4,000, at Fort Worth, Tex. partment for our daily existence. The greatest need of the century is the need of where. Can anyone then doubt the cause of our being a nation of dyspeptics? Many a bright mind has been blighted because of dyspepsia capture by the American revenue cutters. dyspepsia, caused by ill-prepared food.

DYING OF STARVATION. The improvement of cookery among all classes is the question of the hour. It needs improvement among the rich as much as it does among the poor. Thousands who live in houses that put to shame the palaces of old are dying slowly day by day with starva-tion-dying of starvation in the midst of their abundance through the ignorance of dietetic and gastronomic laws. Failure to fit the food to the demand of the body is the cause of untold injury to health and happiness. Badly prepared food cannot be di-gested and assimilated, and force must be expended to eliminate it from the human system. People who are properly fed seldom die of work or worry.

Prof. Atwater hit the keynote when he Frot. Atwater hit the keynote when he said: "The way to provide for the welfare of the brain is to see that the rest of the body is in good order." The sins and crimes of the world are largely due to an improver that and advantage of the world are largely due to an improver that and advantage of the world are largely due to an improver that and advantage of the world are largely due to an improver that and advantage of the world are largely due to an improver that and advantage of the world are largely due to an improver that are the welfare of the welfar improper diet; and a dyspeptic stomach is responsible for many misdeeds that are attributed to a carnal heart. The quality of the food we eat gives tone and color to our reflections, perceptions and sensibilities. The average individual is a tolerably correct reflex of the food he feeds on and the home he lives in.

COOKING AND THE DRINK HABIT. The whole territory of the drinking questions lies contiguous to that of the food question. A deranged stomach longs for stimulants, and drunkenness often has its origin in what one eats. It is almost impossible for human beings with appetites depraved and vitiated by a miserable diet to live clean, pure lives. The footsteps of the cook pave the pathway to the saloon. What we eat contains within it the principles of come liness or deformity, health or disease, life or Nutritious, well-prepared food satisfies the atomach perfectly. Then there is no desire for stimulants of any kind. "Cooking and Christianity should be inseperably wedded. The highest type of men-tal and moral life can only be had by good digestion. It is almost impossible to estimate the potency for good or evil that is in the cook's domain. No one need want for food, for it is abundant, only it is not well pre-pared. The simplest things skill ully prepared tempt the appetite of the most fastidi-ous epicure, while the daintiest viands unskill ully prepared are eaten without relish by the most voracious gourmand. Poor coffee induces an unnatural thirst for lager

FOOD'S BOUNDLESS SUPPLY.

We are surrounded with an exhaustless wealth of magnificient food material. The scope of our culinary possibilities are limit-Why not devote some of our energies to perfecting a diet adapted to our national needs and educating cooks to prepare it? Cooking has formerly been carried on in the interest of the epicure and the glutton. You may have a schoolhouse on every hill-top, a church in every valley and a summer assembly in every county of every State, but you cannot elevate the standard of Christianity to its highest level until you elevate the character of the cookery in our kitchens. No church work, no temperance, good work of any kind can be done effectively without the aid of good food. And only by the most perfect union of cookery and Christianity can the noblest results of Christian effort be attained in this

A Remarkable Discovery of Valuable Ore is South Dakota.

PIERRE S. D., July 11 .- Great excitement prevails here over the discovery to-day of a vein of lead in the rock bluffs about five miles up Bad river on the reservation. Speculators are rushing to the point of discovery and are already quarreling over disputed claims. Three hundred pounds of ore were taken from a vein four inches thick, and it is seemingly inexhaustible, on land held by a Frenchman named Napoleon Welcome. THE ACCUSED SPEEDILY CLEARED.

Number of New Damage Suits Brought for Considerable Sums.

THE OTHER NEWS PROM THE COURTS

Frank O. Morrison, colored, was yesterday placed on trial in the Criminal Court before Judge Collier, charged with involuntary manslaughter in the killing of Samuel Sawyers, also colored, in a blacksmith shop at Castle Shannon, on June 9 last. Morrison and Sawyers were attending a colored pienic at the grove at Castle Shannon, and got into a quarrel over some beer in the blacksmith shop. The quarrel resulted in a fight, and at the trial it was shown that Sawyers chased Morrison about the shop with a knife and attempted to stab him. In self-defense Morrison picked up one of the blacksmith's hammers and threw it at Sawyers. The hammer struck Sawyers in the yers. The hammer struck Sawyers in the pit of the stomach and his death resulted almost instantly. The case went to the jury about 2:30 o'clock and in about an hour they returned a verdict of not guilty, and Morrison was discharged.

In the case of Elizabeth Burgess, charged with assault and battery on Mattie Altman, a verdict of not guilty was rendered, and the costs were placed on the prosecutor.

When Julia, the daughter, was placed on the witness stand, she stated that she had not stolen the goods, but had told the officers who arrested her that she did, thinking they would hold her and release her mother.

Mrs. Spealer sorted the goods, which are in court, and identified same as having been purchased by herself at Porter & Donaldson's, some at auctions and at various other stores.

Mr. Frank J. Mason, living on Dearborn street, Nineteenth ward, and near the Allegheny Cemetery, and who is employed at the La Belle Steel Works, in Allegheny, has been permanently cured by the catarrh specialists at $23 Penn avenue, He had an offensive discharge from his nose and a dropping of catarrhat mucus into his throat, which became very tenhelous and hard to raise out. His throat became irritated and sore and hurt him to swallow. He had pain in his ferehead and frequent nose bleed. As his discase became deeper seated it attacked his lungs causing much pain in his chest and a violent cough. In fact he coughed night and day, and in the night his cough was simply terrible. He could get but little sleep, and would often waken with such a smothered feeling he could scarcely get his breath. He had no appetite, and what little food he did eat he would feel like vomiting up. The gas that formed in his stomach after eating gave him great distress. He lost flesh, and his lungs became so weak he could not lie on either side. Every change of weather would cause him to take cold. Night sweats further weakened him until at times he was unable to do any work. It was while in this condition that he began treatment with the physicians of the Catarrh and Dyspepsia Institute. He says: "My disease was of six or seven years' standing, and the above history of my case is true. At first I noticed that my nose and throat would clog up in the evening, and I thought I was taking cold. As I treated with several doctors, and got no better, I became disgusted with doctoring, for it seemed as if I never could be cured.
