Western Pennsylvania Not a Favorable Ergion fo Fruit Growing.

"Ours is not such an unpleasant life after all," remarked an old Pennsylvania engineer yesterday. "You must get used to the business and think nothing of running all serts of risks. As long as the atmosphere is clear I am happy, but, oh my, how I hate a rain storm. We have to close the windows in such cases, and the water runs down the glass and obstructs the vision.

"Do we let up then? Well that depends on circumstances. My rule is safety first and speed afterward. When I know the track is clear ahead of me and everything is all right then I like to raise the hair on timid parsengers to let them know they are living. As long as we stick to the rails, you know, it doesn't make any difference how fast we move, but it is mighty unpleasant business when the engine takes a cranky notion and insists on walking the ties. Such antics usually end in trouble; and what a big, helpless object a locomotive is, anyhow, lying on its back.

"Engineers have their little eccentricities. I used to know one who ran from Reading to Allentown. He never spoke a word to anyone after he started. He would sit there on his high seat silent and watching the rails. He was not unsociable, but this was one of the rules he followed, and he never wavered from it, not even for high officials of the road. That man also seldom had an accident. The truth is, the men on the engines don't have much time to converse. It keeps the fireman busy to attend to the boilers, and the engineer has his hands full watching the signals and looking out to

THE SYSTEM EXTENDED.

Ohio River Manufacturers Must Toe the

Mark With Pittsburgers. Since the Weighing and Inspection Bureau was established about two years ago, the roads have saved some money and shippers have found it a difficult matter to give false classifications or underweights. The shippers do not object as long as all classes are held up to the rack, and so in answer to complaints inspectors were placed July 1 at Wheeling, Bellsire, Bridgeport and Mar-tin's Ferry. In these places there are nail and iron mills and glass factories, and the makers were shipping goods at their own classifications. The Pittsburg manufacturers soon discovered that these people had the advantage over them, and the sys-tem was extended to provide for these places. The local agent is C. E. E.

The joint agent is Mr. Limburger of Buffalo. He visits Pittsburg frequently. quiet way, but most effectively. Another railroad organization that is making itself felt is the Pittsburg Car Associas the tion, and the result is that the lines have a much freer use of their cars than the had formerly. The agents state that the fines for the use of cars by con-signees over a certain time is no bluff, and they have discovered that fact by this time.

The result is that once a man is caught he seldom allows himself to be fined a second VISITING PITTSBURG.

Quay Wanted a Fighter in West Virginia and He Took Mr. Cowden.

Postmaster Cowden, of Wheeling, with his force will visit the postal boys in Pittsburg, to-day, to repay a call. They will come over in a special train on the Baltimore and Ohio road, stopping at Hope Church to take dinner. In the afternoon ther will inspect the Pittsburg office.

Mr. Cowden is one of the West Virginia members of the National Republican Committee. When Quay was looking around for a man in that State he said he wanted a fighter and some one suggested Cowden. The Senator replied that he didn't know him, but would like to see him. Mr. Cow-him, but would like to see him. Mr. Cow-den went over to New York, and as soon as Quay saw him he recognized him as an old army comrade whom he had not seen since

'I guess you'll do," remarked the Senstor, "I know you of old. You are a fighter from away back," and Mr. Cowden was appointed without further ceremony. DELAMATER'S MAJORITY.

Judge Herry White Talks on the Politica, Simution in Pennsylvania.

"Notwithstanding the bitter fight in my ecuaty it will roll up a good majority for Delamater this fall," said Judge Harry White, of Indiana county, in speaking of the political situation. "Time will wear off most of the dissontent. The Demograts do not have a man strong enough to knock ent a Republican majority of 80,000, Pattison swept in before, but the circumstances were different. There was nothing at issue but the Governorship. This year there are sheriffs, commissioners and prothonotaries to elect in every county This will keep awake the party interest, The Republican nominees for these positions will not oppose Delaunter, and it is very few men who will vote the Republican ocusty ticket and bolt the State. I expect to see Delaunter and the whole ticket win by a big majority."

NOT A FRUIT SECTION.

Too Many Late Prosts Render the Crop Very Uncertain. "No use talking," said an old farmer in the market yesterday, "this section was not cut out by the Creator as a fruit country. We may be able to raise the heavy cereals in abundance, but the fruit crop is an uncertain quantity. Now New York State is great territory for apples, and Jersey and Delaware for peaches, but everybody fruit production.

"Why, you ask me? Is it because we don't pay enough attention to horticulture? No, that is not the reason. It is climatic or rather in the atmosphere. We have so many late frosts that the fruit crop is frequently killed, and the farmers in despair have neglected fruit raising and turned their attention to cultivating products of the earth that yield a more certain profit."

greed, untruth and deception, hypocrisy and ingratitude.

The "others" referred to in the above advertisement are J. Kaufmann & Bros., who, as is well known, some weeks ago, inaugurated a series of special Saturday sules of good and durable jean pants at only 59 cents. As the same goods are sold by many dealers at $1.25, thousands of poor workingmen took advantage of Kaufmann's enterprise and liberality in providing these necessary garments at the in providing these necessary garments at the nominal price of 50c. So great has been the success of these sales as to arouse the justousy and ire of the very house that jealousy and ire of the very house that never allows an opportunity to pass without posing as a model of honesty and greatness. Homesthing had to be done to divert the channel of trade that led to Kaufmann's. So the mountain labored and isbored, and sighed and sighed, and finally brought forth — the above three lines. But, lof instead of giving their customers the "jean pants advertised by others at 59c, worth $1 25, etc.," they, with brazen-faced audicity, showed them goods of the greatest possible inferiority—pantaloons of such unpossible inferiority-pantaloons of such un-usual and extraordinary trashiness as no reputable clothing house will give space

How many poor workingmen were duped by this alluring offer nobody knows. One thing is certain, however, if the seli-styled "great philanthropists" and "workingmen's friends" expect to make anything by their cunning clap-trap style of advertising, they will find themselves wo'ully mistaken.

MR. OLIVER'S VIEWS

The Supervisor of the Census Maps Out a Compact City.

THE RESPONSIBILITIES ARE GREAT

What Territory Could be Taken in and What Should be Left Out.

The question of consolidating Pittsburg Allegheny and some of the out-lying districts into one municipality, which has been agitated from time to time during the last quarter of a century, again comes into prominence as the result of the census which has just been taken. It is not my purpose at present to discuss the matter at length, or to advance any arguments for or against the proposed consolidation, I, merely wish to offer some suggestions as to the extent of the territory that should be included in the city if the scheme is carried to a consummation It has been suggested that the whole county should be included in the city limits. following the example of Philadelphia. Those who advocate this surely are not aware that the area of Allegheny county is 757 square miles, while that of Philadelphia is only 130; nor do they consider that this would bring under city government immense tracts of land which cannot, to generations at least, be used for anything child nor an aged person and the humane but farming purposes. In my opinion,

THE NEW CITY should include only such territory as now is, or promises in the near future to be, built up by an urban population, taking care to exclude such districts as have not shown a marked increase during the last woman. The mother makes her get up to consolidation is widely different from to consolidation is widely different from what it was ten years ago. Then it was struggling under a heavy debt, mostly incurred in paying streets which were fast becoming impassable. To-day, considering her resources, she is at least as favorably situated as Allegheny, and perhaps more so, and has more to offer to the surrounding districts then they have to give in return districts than they have to give in return. Her population has increased over 50 per cent—her taxable property has more than doubled in value—and not 1 cent has been added to her indebtedness, but, on the con-trary, it has been reduced nearly one-third. trary, it has been reduced nearly one-third. Her water works, which at one time looked like a huge elephant, are capable of supplying all the new districts lying between the rivers, with a strong probability of "helping out" our Northside neighbor, who needs it badly. Her worthless pavements have for the most part been re-A CALM AND THOUGHTFUL ARGUMENT placed by new ones, and her new park ex-cels in its picturesque beauty any that I have ever seen, and in my time I have vis-ited many. She will, therefore, be no por-tionless bride, but will come to the mar-riage altar enriched with a splendid dowry; and if she concludes to take any steps and if she concludes to take any steps toward the consummation of the union, the citizens of Allegheny should ponder well before they reject her advances. GEORGE T. OLIVER, PITTSBURG, July 12, 1890.

A HARD CASE TO HANDLE.

Strange Predicament of One of the Humane Society's Agents. Deputy Humane Agent Berryman is in a strange predicament over the case of Mrs. Ann Noble, of North Dallas. She has been abusing her daughter, who is partly demented. The case of abuse is clear, but as the daughter is 33 years old she is neither a agent does not know just how to proceed with the case, Mrs. Noble, according to surer way of blighting an agricultural than subjecting it to the restraint and expenses of municipal government. It should also be borne in mind that a municipality, in assuming control of any district, assumes at the same time the responsibility of providing it with water, light, sewerage, fire and police protection, and everything else than can properly be claimed by the people of a city. To give such benefits to a thinly settled district entails enormous expense with no return. A careful analysis of the census returns will show that during the last ten years the march of improvement in Allegheny county has been toward the east rather than to the west. The city of Pittsburg has increased in population about 53 per cent, by far the greater part of the increase being in the eastern wards, while Allegheny, a much more beautiful city, better planned, and claimed by its people to be better governed, shows an increase of only 34 per cent. The suburban region east of Pittsburg, including Wilkinsburg, Braddock and Sterrett township (not including Braddock borough, which owes its increase to another cause) has almost trebled; while the beautiful Ohio Valley, from the west line of Allegheny City to Beaver county, has scarcely advanced at all, its entire increase being less than 3,000. It seems to me therefore that we MUST LOOK TOWARD THE MAST for the future spread of our population, and outside of the present lines of the two cities and the boroughs immediately adjoining I would not add much territory, except that lying between the present city line and Turtle creek. On the Southside I would include the town of Chartlers, which lies in Stowe township, that part of Chartlers township bordering on the river, the boroughs of Beitsboover and Knoxville, Lower St. Clair Heitshoover and Knoxville, Lower St. Clair township and perhaps the river front of Baidwin township. Between the rivers I would add the borough and township of Braddock, Wilkinsburg, Edgewood and Sterrett township, and on the Northside Sharpsburg, Etna, Milivale, part of Shaler township, Reserve township and the borough of Spring Garden.

McKeesport, Homestead and the rising new town of Duousens properly belong to new town of Duquesne properly belong to the city; but to include them within its square miles of territory that for many years square miles of territory that for many years to come would be an expense to the city without benefitting it in any way. These districts, however, can be added from time to time, as their population increases. The boroughs on the Ohlo river, below Allegheny City, are not advancing very rapidly in population, and for the present are scarcely fit subjects for the expensive machinery of a city government.

chinery of a city government. WHERE WE WILL BE PLACED. The population of the several districts which I would include in the new city is as follows:

follows: 289,000 Reserve tp. 2,984
Ailegheny 105,000 Spring Garden 720
Braddock 8,750 Stowe tp. (part) 2,700
Braddock tp. 7,560 (bartiers tp.(pt.) 8,000
Sterrett & Edgewood 1,617
Wilkinsburg 4,560 Knoxville 1,718
Sharpsburg 4,990 Beltzhoover 1,988
Etna 8,750

Here we have a district reasonably compact, with the population of a metropo.is and the wealth of an empire. I expect to live to see the territory comprised within these lines peopled by a million souls. We are in reality one people, with a common business center, common interests, and a common pride in the community to whose prosperity and growth each of us feels that he has in some slight degree contributed. It is really all one city, whether governed by one Mayor, or by two Mayors and a dozen burgesses. Is it not folly for the people of such a metropolis to allow local prejudices, political jealousies or causeless fear of ineased taxation to prevent it from taking its proper place among the great cities of the land? Pittsburg now ranks seventh among our cities in its volume of business. It should rank at least that high in popula-tion, where it is now struggling for the fif-

Signed by Mayor Gourley. Mayor Gourley signed the ordinance for the change of location of the City Poor Farm yesterday. Advertisements for bids for the purchase of the farm will be published at once, and it is considered probable that the sale will be made within s month or six weeks. The terms are $50,000 cash, and $100,000 a month after February, 1891, the city to have use of Poer Farm and some portion of the land for three years free Mayor Gourley, when he signed the or-nance, said: "This property ought to be sold, and I think there is no better time for the saie than now. While the land only cost $6,000 originally, it certainly ought to bring $600,000. I understand that both Carnegie and Jones & Laughlins are desir-ous of purchasing the property. Why the People Who Want Photographs Flock to Penrann's.

Hot days and clear skies are making work is plenty for the photographers, and as usual the leader of Pittsburg's artists—
J. R. Pearson—is gatting just a little more than his share of the patronage. There never was a better time for having your photograph taken than JUST NOW. The circumstances are all in the patronage of the patronage of the photograph taken than JUST NOW. circumstances are all in favor of both sitter and operator, and under the favorable conditions now existing you cannot fail to get what will please you—a good photograph.

To get the very best go to Pearson's gal-leries. They are cool, well ventilated and fitted up for the summer work, so that every breeze is utilized to lower the temperature, thus ensuring the comfort of the visitors. Mr. Pearson's appliances are of the latest and most improved appliances, his assistants are masters of their art. It is this that has given Pearson's photographs of every style their great reputation and this that will maintain their standing.

Mr. Pearson's galleries are at 96 Fifth avenue, Pittsburg, and 45 Federal street, Allegheny. Go to either place and you will be glad you did.

Depositors Haven't Yet Received ANY OF THE FUNDS NOW IN HAND.

Another Murder Case to be Tackled in Criminal Court, To-morrow.

THE OTHER NEWS FROM THE COURTS

The assignees of the defunct Farmers and Mechanics' Bank, of the Southside, John Henry Sorg, H. J. Berg, Jr., and L. S. Cunningham, yesterday filed their answer to the rule obtained by Dennis Doran, requiring them to show cause why they hould not distribute the funds they have collected to the depositors of the bank. The assignees say it is true, as alleged in Mr. Doran's petition, that they have $30,000 in hand, but they think it not advisable to make a distribution now, as it would entail considerable expense, and they expect to have a much larger sum ready for distribution by September. The first distribution they made amounted to $85,000, and the cost of making the distribution was $1,100.

The assignees have obtained judgments against Matthew Bigger for $2,250; A. P. Plunkett for $303 and J. K. Slicker for $2,250. They have a claim against the Hallis Nail and Tack Company for $2,500; the James McMasters' estate for $500; J. H. Ortman, secured, for $25,000; Fred Hampe or $3,000. A claim of $700 against the Third National Bank is still in litigati The assignees believe they will have all these claims collected by September, and that they will then have over $50,000 to distribute. They say the $30,000 now in hand if distributed would give each depositor only 9 per cent of his amount, but they are ready and willing to make the distribution if the Court so orders.

The answer is signed by H. J. Berg, Jr.

A CHANCE FOR KICKERS.

roperty Owners Ordered to Make Connections With Public Sewers. The Bureau of Highways is sending out otices to property owners that they must connect all private sewers with the public sewers. Surface drainage must also be carried off into the public sewers.

It is expected that many owners of properly will object to the order, but the Department of Public Works is acting under an ordinance, and will see that its provisions are carried out.

Little Progress in the Stayton-Wyman Case. Commissioner Schaffer yesterday afternoon held a short hearing in the Wyman-Stayton Mayoralty contest. William Brauff, of the Sixth district, Sixth ward, was present, and produced the ballot box of that district. The witness testified as to its being the original box, and that its contents had not been disturbed. There will be another nearing on Monday, July 21.

To Whom It May Concern. Since the rendering of decision by Judge Shipman, of the United States District Court, that the Encyclopædia Britannica is entitled to protection by our copyright laws (which ruling, we have no doubt, will be reversed by the Supreme Court), but through lear that the prices of this valuable thesaurus of information would be advanced to original prices—$7 to $10 per volume—our sales of the popular reprint of the work have been unprecedented, and the demands for immediate delivery, caused by an apprehension that we would be served with an injunction enjoining us from further publica-tion and delivery of said work, overtaxed our capacity temporarily. We beg to inform the public that we have increased our capacity to meet the demands, and are now able to fill all orders for the complete work prompt

CHASED BY A RATTLER.

Venomous Snake Takes Possession o

Municipal Hatl. A live and particularly angry and venou ous rattlesnake had posession of Municipal Hall yesterday. A man with peculiar ideas of the fitness of things, had presented the reptile to Chief Bigelow for Schenley Park. While the creature possessed a certain form of beauty, the Chief failed to see wherein it would add to the attractiveness of a pleasare resort, and there ore turned it over to Colonel Bob Smothers to dispose of it. The snake was confined in a cracker box with a glass front, which was taken into the yard behind Municipal Hall. The reptile was four feet long, and had eight rattles and a button, and was altogether a dangerous looking enstomer. A crowd gathered around the cracker box and had a pleasant time teasing the snake, until someone overturned the box and broke the glass. Then the joke was on the other side. The snake made for the crowd, and they broke for the door ato the building. The rattler followed the crowd, and for a time the wildest cosfusion reigned.

Colonel Smothers, however, covered his presence of mind, and charged the snake with a club. Both contestants displayed considerable agility Jut the batti was short and decisive, and the rattler will

A Traveling Man Savesa Woman's Life.

A traveling Man Saves a Woman's Life' A traveling man, sopping at the Lee House, Campbellsburg, Ind., on learning that a lady in the village was suffering terribly with cramp colic, gave the landlady a bottle of medicine which he had with him and requested her to take it to the sick woman. The medicine relieved her promptly, and she believes saved her life; it was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy, the promptest and most reliable Remedy, the promptest and most reliable medicine in use for bowel complaints. Cr Hotel Lafayette, Philadelphia. FAR IN THE LEAD!

The very big and satisfactory trade enjoyed by

KEECH

Since the commencement of his Great Building and Extension Sale has awakened the other dealers from their stupor. Their jealousy and enmity have been fully aroused, and they now move heaven and earth to stem the tide of trade that flows to Keech's well-known and reliable Cash and Credit House. But their efforts are of no avail. The people cannot be misled or bulldozed by exaggerated advertisements. They know that Keech's sale is based on facts, not fiction, and they show their confidence in it by a most liberal patronage. And thus, despite all the loud talk and noisy assertions that other houses have seen fit to stuff the advertising columns with lately, Keech was never so, far in the lead of all
