SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. NEW YORK, July 13 .- At the National Temperance Congress held in this city last month, Samuel Gompers said that the eighthour movement was in favor of temperance, and said that it was the long hours of labor that drove men to barrooms. Thompson, a member of the Single Tax Club, denied the truth of this, and in an attack on the eight-hour movement quoted Mr. George J. Goschen, Chancellor of the English Exchequer, as his authority for the assertion that the reduc-tion of the hours of labor for the London dock inborers only tended to increase the drinking habit among them. Doubting the truth of this statement Mr. Gompers wrote to Mr. Goschen and also to John Burns, who was the leader of the dock laborers in the strike, and asked them for some information on the subject. He has just received replies. Mr. Goschen's secretary writes that Mr. Goschen never said anything of the kind. MR. GOSCHEN'S DENIAL. What he did say in his budget speech was that the recent increased prosperity of all classes in Great Britain has been accompanied by an increase in the consumption of intoxicating liquors. "All classes," he said, "have combined to toast the prosperity of the country." Mr. Burns wrote:

103 LAVENDER HILL, BATTERSEA, LONDON, June 28, LOD LAVENDER HILL, BATTERSEA, LOD DON, June 28.

DEAR SIR—The Chancellor of the Exchequer did not say that the increase in wages and reduction of hours of labor of the dock laborers of London had merely tended to increase their drunkenness and largely contributed to an increase in the treasury from the liquor traffic. His statement was that the 'ncrease of two millions was due to the lact that the people had been to using the prosperity of trade in the country. He had no reference to any class, but did say that there had been a great increase in the duty from run. I attended a meeting last night of 6,000 dock laborers, and asked those who ought to know what was the effect of higher wages and better conditions, and the universal opinion was the title waters and bear order to the laborers. what was the effect of higher wages and better conditions, and the universal opinion was that the workers of London who had received better wages are more sober than ever they were. As an abstainer myself, I am de lighted at the conduct of the dockers, and more than pleased at the diminution, not only nore than pleased at the diminution, not only of drinking but of betting among them, lue in no small measure to the fact that their caders, Messrs, Mann, Tillett and others are emperance men. The greatest enemies I have n London are the betting men and publicans, their enmity is a testimony to this fact, as we isk for

A REDUCTION OF HOURS for more leisure and education and urge the men to spend their higher wages in home comforts. It 20 years the amount spent in liquor per head of population has decreased 20 per cent, while the aggregate has increased cent, while the aggregate has increased through growth of population. In England, as elsewhere, the short hour movement has always tended to sobriety, and increased the intelligence of the worker. In my own trade 12 or 14 years ago secretaries were bribed to transfer the meeting place from the Pig and Whistle to the Brown Bear, so that the publicans might have the profit from the drink consumed. So great has been the change that the proprietor will aimost give you £29 to take the meeting away, as the drink consumed does not pay him to have the meeting there.

At boat races, bean feasts, boilday gatherings the change in the drinking habits is most marked. Side by side with the demand for shorter hours is also the demand for free nost marked. Side by side with the demand for shorter hours is also the demand for free libraries, parks and open spaces, gymnasia, cricket and football grounds. Leisure to-day does not mean drinking, but the opportunities for thought, education and true thrift, which is provided in the control of the con tusions or injuries being discovered.

The Season Half Gone and Pittsburg's Teams Are Lost in the Race for the Pennant.

A POOR LOSING GAME PLAYED.

Hanlon's Men Will Hardly Draw Their Usual Crowds When They Return Unless They Brace Up.

THE TROUBLE WITH THE NATIONALS.

Alleged That Members of the Team Are Drinking More Than is Good for Them.

The base ball season for 1890 is now near ly half over. And what has Pittsburg to show that they have had two teams in the race? Really nothing. The teams of both the National and Players' leagues have been lost in the swim, being practically an unknown quantity in the make-up of the two organizations. In fact, from present indications it would look very much as though their only use is to allow the better clubs to use them as a stepping stone toward the pennant flag. Last week the Players' League team won one game and the Nationnl Leaguers did not even do that well. This fact injures the drawing of the cities where they play and the Players' League men have not drawn expenses while on their Eastern trip. POOR DRAWING CARDS. The only salvation for the National League team is their small salary list, which is in the neighborhood of $20,000. This allows them to live on a very low attendance, while the high salaried Brotherhood club is compelled to draw large crowds or the backers must go down in their pockets. There is no doubt that if the present ruinous state of affairs continue much their pockets. There is no doubt that if the present ruinous state of affairs continue much longer, the backers or both teams will be putting out a great deal more money than will please them. In fact they will begin to wish they were out of the business emirely and had the par value of their ball stock in cash. There are always reasons to be found for poor ball playing. That Hanlon's team is not winning is no fault of his. He has done his best and is playing better ball this season than ever before. But his men go at their work in a listless fashion that always will fail. Every once in awhile they make a spurt and play a great game. In fact, they play a game that can not be bearen by the best teams. Then they relapse into their old state and make the poorest kind of a showing.

POOR GAMES, POOR CROWDS. The Players' League team here has been drawing the best crowds in the country, but unless they brace up and play ball this week matless they brace up and play ball this week mat-ters will be changed upon their return home, and they will find that all is not sentiment in baseball. When they started on their present trip they had a great advantage over the local National League team. This was gained par-tially by their good showing on the field and partly by the poor work of the Nationals. However, they are liable to lose all this advan-tage unless they brace up and play winning ball.

The work of Mr. O'Neill's men in the East The work of Mr. O'Neill's men in the East has been even worse than that of the Brother-hood players. Not only have they lost every game players, but they have been disgusting the people by their poor exhibitions. It is said that several of the members of the team are indulging in a little too much drinking. It can't be said that any of the men have been intoxicated, but they have appeared on the field after having been drinking and were unable to judge a fly ball or hot grounder, thus allowing numerous base hits to count against the pitcher. The whole team is demoralized by the actions of a few, and while one of the best players is implicated in the drink busness it would be best for the team to clear them all out.

WHO IS TO BLAME? There are pitchers in the team that would make great records if they had the proper support. One of the young men was heard to re-mark the other day that he would rather have tayed in a minor league than be in the Pitts-urg team and spoil his record on account of eing poorly supported.

Mr. O'Neill is doing his best to get a team in Mr. O'Neill is doing his best to get a team in he field. He has secured several pood men, nd Saturday, secured Osborne, of the Wheel-ags, as a fielder. If he proves all right, Kelty ill be released. Kelty is one of the best elders and kitters in the League, if he would eep in condition, but he can't play in the rational League out of condition. He has een given the best chance of any player in the eague, and had his salary increased on a comise to stay sober. But he has disregarded it his, and has only himself to blame if he is copped.

It is to be hoped that both National and Players' League teams will change their course and give Pittsburg baseball in keeping with her position among other cities in other branches of business.

ON THE SITUATION. John Ward Has not Lost Confidence in the New League. In viewing the season's results Ward says: bI have never for a moment lost confidence in the stability of the Players' League, and I am still in favor of carrying on the fight over the lines then laid down. I think it was a great mistake for the Boston club to run away from a scheduled game in Pittsburg, and Ned Hanlon was right in protesting against it, Now, I am satisfied that the Boston club would have drawn satisfied that the Boston club would have drawn just as well in Buffelo as they did at home. They could have played one more game in Pittsburg and just been that much better off instead of giving up to satisfy Hanlon's objections. Boston is not a Fourth of July town. It has never been used to having ball games on that day, and furthermore that is one day of the year when the people of that cultured city go to picnics, the seashore and other places where they can rest. It was a bad move, and I suppose Kelly & Co. are willing to admit it now. I have no doubt they expected to draw maywhere from $2,000 to $30,000 people, but they didn't get much over 7,000.

"Well, I suppose yo femember the last time I was in the city the National League people said we would not be able to live $60 days. Then the Fourth of July was fixed as the ultimate limit. That period has passed and we are still in the field, and reviving the interest in the national game."

PETECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. WASHINGTON, July 18.—"It is all coming out as 1 predicted in the spring," remarked President Young, of the National League, "and the past week witnessed a turn in the tide of the baseball tug of war between our organization and the Players'League. The Brotherhood started off with a big hurrah and attracted a number of enthusiasts at first, but since then the regular patrons of the game have been coming back to their old allegiance. The League nines have, with but few excep-tions, been playing good ball, and that is bound to draw. Now yesterday I see that we had something over 2,000 persons at our game. I think our people are all very well satisfied with the outlook.

"There is no prospect of any of the League clubs going under. The franchises in the League are valuable pieces of property, and the capitalists who hold them are not going to sacrifice them for a temporary set-back. We will play games if there is not over $50 to play them to. We can stand the strain. But, as I said, the worst of it is over and we are getting into better shape."

An Attempt to Make an Eight Club Inter-SUPPLIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. PRILADELPHIA, July 13.—The four clubs of the inter-State League, viz: Harrisburg, Leb-anon, Altoona and York, will hold a special meeting at Harrisburg to-morrow, when an effort will be made to strengthen the circuit, and a new schedule will be adopted. Two or more clubs are wanted and inducements will ganize teams. It is also proposed to make an effort to organize combination clubs between lancaster and Reading and Allentown and Easton.

An eight-club circuit is to be established if it is possible. "Give us more batting in our professional games" has been the cry of the "faus" for years and, in order to cater to the wishes of the baseball patrons, the Players' League last spring, when constructing its playing rules, put the pitcher back 18 inches, and further handicapped that individual by griving him a real live ball to pitch with. As a result, the batting has been much beavier than heretofore, and there have been few of those tiresome pitchers' battles on Brotherhood grounds thus far. KENTUCKY HORSE NEWS. Good Prospects for the Tretters This Season - More Horses in Training Than Ever Before - Yesterday's Rucing Re-suits and Other Turf News. [SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.] LEXINGTON, KY., July 18.-There comes a good report from every track in Central Ken-tucky that the horses are all training well for the coming Bluegrass circuit trots. This is the second series of the popular races, and the in-dications at present are that a season of rare sport will be the result this year. The almost fabulous prices speedy trotters now sell for show that the way to make the most money raising trotters is to develop them after they nre raised. In this way a green 2-year-old that would probably fetch $900 or $1,000 in the past-ure is made to bring from $5,000 to $10,000 with a few months' handling. The benefit is threefold. It increases the value of the youngster, increases the value of its dam, and makes the sire worth more money. Besides, it is a big advertisement for the breeder, and is often the advertisement for the breeder, and is often the means of much benefit to him by an increased demand for the product of his stud. Kentucky breeders are taking advantage of these facts, and as a consequence there are many more horses in training than ever before, and to judge by the way the young things are going, the present season will be a notable one in the history of the trotting horse of Kentucky. Mesars. McFerren & Clancy, of Louisville, Ky., write as follows under date of July 4: The mare Prefix, by Pancoast, 2:2134, first dam Galatea, by Messenger Duroc, second dam Hyacinth (dam of Reina Victoria), by Volunteer, dropped on July 4: a nice bay stud by Bell Boy, 2:194. We claim the name of Liberty Bell for this fellow.

G. & C. P. Cecil, of Danville, Ky., have sold to Charles Loder, of Lewisville, Ind., the suckling colt Grand Marshal, by Gambetta Wilkes, 2:26; dam Mistake, 2:29; by Marshal Kleber; second dam Lady Yeiser (dam of Don Pizzaro, 2:1434, by Garrard Chiel. They have also sold to Samuel Lyons, same place, the suckling colt by C. F. Clay, 2:19, dam Gambetta, by Gambetta Wilkes, second dam Wilnes, Un regard to sickness among horses, this has heads of some swell and they suffer as if from distemper. In others the limbs enlarge, the shoulders fester, and lancing has to be resorted to in order to rid the aumai of the great collection of pus. Then, again, in other horses the disease takes the form of catarrhal fever, and the entire system becomes affected. Twenty-nine horses have been sick in the Messrs. Bowerman Brothers' stable, and nearly all of John E. Madden's 20 head had to be turned out. Other trainers, however, have pettared quite so badly, and there are still hundreds of horses at the Fair Ground track taking hard work, Horsemen generally seem to think that the warm weather will have a tendency to eradicate the disease, and that all the horses now sick will soon be well again.

Perhaps the most noted foal dropped in Kentucky this year, or will be dropped, for that matter, was one that first saw light at Woodburn last week. It is a beautiful stallion colt, being almost jet black. Its sire is King Wilkes, which fact itself is enough to call attention to the youngster; but when it is stated that the dam of the colt is the noted Miss Russell (dam of Maud S), the significance of the new arrival can be imagined. It is understood this royally bred little fellow has not yet been named, but several persons have suggested Russell Rex. This sounds well, and as rex is

A HITCH IN THE DETAILS. The McAuliffe-Bowen Mill Not an Assured Fact Even Now. PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCEL NEW YORK, July 13 .- There is a slight hitch in the arrangements of the details of the Mc-Auliffe-Bowen glove contest. The articles of agreement forwarded to McAuliffe for his agreement forwarded to McAuliffe for his signature are not satisfactory, neither do they meet the approval of the Puritan Athletic Club management. The weight stipulation is one of the objectionable clauses. Bowen wants to fight at 183 pounds, give or take two pounds. McAuliffe says he will light at 125 pounds, give or take two pounds. He also claims that the purse, $2.500, its too small for him to get down to light-weight again. Another objectionable feature of the article is that in which Bowen insists that the Police Gazette light-weight championship belt must be added to the purse. McAuliffe said to-day to a Dispartent reporter:

"I have won the belt and it is my personal property. If Bowen wants to fight for the belt he will have to put up a stake of $2.500 against it. I will not put it up for less. Then again, he wants to use two ounce gloves. That is out of the question. Regulation gloves must be used to comply with the law. I don't propose to run the risk of arrest upon any account. Bowen also asks for $250 additional for the expenses of his manager. The Puritan Athletic Club will not allow the expenses of any manager or trainer. They simply put up a $2,500 purse for the contest, and decline to pay any money for expenses. If Bowen does not accede to my requests or conform his ideas to those of the club management the match will not take place. I want to know what Bowen intends doing as early as possible, so that I can open negotiations with the Felican Club, of London, about meeting Jem Carney under the auspices of that club."

The Buffale Mare Does an Eighth of a Mile

BUFFALO, July 18 .- Just about two years ago the Buffalo mare, Belle Hamlin, startled the world by trotting a half mile over the Buffalo track in 1:02%-a 2:04% gait. Yesterday she trotted an eighth in 14% seconds, at the rate of 29% for a quarter and a 1:38 gait, though no horse could carry that clip further than an eightb. She was driven by W. J. Andrews, who gave her her head and allowed her to go as fast as she wanted to, and without the least urging or a touch of the whip. It is certainly a wonderful performance, and has never been equalled by any trotting horse, and the only pacer that has ever been credited with such a burst of speed is Brown Hal, who recently paced

Mr. Hamlin was highly elated over the re-sult, and thought if she could carry such a clip for an eighth she ought to trot a quarter in 30, and if she accomplishes that, he believes she can beat the record of Maud S (2:08%), at least he says he will try to dethrone the present queen of the turf.

BURNS TO GOMPERS. HALF A MILLION LOSS. MAMMOTH PAPER FACTORY AND PLANING MILLS BURNED. An Early Morning Fire Destroys Magnificer

this morning in the turning and planing mill of H. T. Atkinson at Tenth street and Susquehanna avenue. The wind was blowing from the southwest and carried the flames across Tenth street to the east side and Atkinson's lumber yard also caught fire. While the firemen were at work fighting the flames which were devouring Atkinson's two properties, the wind veered around to southeast, and the flames, fed by sheds and dry lumber which surrounded the planing mill, were carried against the extensive wall paper manufacturing establish-ment of Carey Bros., which was separated from Atkinson's mill property by a narrow street.
