THOSE WHOM WE LOVED ON EARTH.

A Certainty That the Dear Ones Gone Before Will Welcome Us

WHEN WE HAVE CROSSED THE RIVER

PERCIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. WASECA, MINN., July 13 .- Dr. Talmage, who lectured here yesterday, preached to an enormous outdoor gathering to-day. His subject was: "Meeting Our Friends in Heaven." The eminent clergyman took for his text II. Sam. xii: 23. "I shall go to him."

His sermon was as follows: There is a very sick child in the abode of David the King. Disease, which stalks up the dark lane of the poor and puts its smothering hand on the lip and nostril of the wan and wasted, also mounts the palace stairs, and bending over the pillow blows into the face of a young prince the trosts of pain and death. Tears are wine to the King of Terrors. Alasl for David the King. He can neither sleep nor eat, and lies prostrate on his face, weeping and wailing until the palace rings with the outcry of woe.

What are courtly attendants, or victorious armies, or conquered provinces, under such circumstances? What to any parent is all splendid surrounding when his child is sick? Seven days have passed on. Then in a sentiment, a feeling, an anticipation, unithat great house two eyelids are gently closed, two little hands folded, two little hands folded, two little implanted, and if God-implanted, it is him, and they stand at the door whispering shout the matter, and David hears them and parel, and sits down to food.

FUTURE RECOGNITION. What power hushed that tempest? What strength was it that litted up that king whom grief had dethroned? Oh, it was the thought that he would come again into the sion of that darling child. No gravedigger's spade could hide him. The wintry blasts of death could not put out the bright light. There would be a forge somewhere that with silver hammer would weld the roken links. In a city where the hoofs of the pule borse never strike the pavement he would clasp his lost treasure. He wipes away the tears from his eyes, and he clears the choking grief from his throat, and ex-Was David right or wrong? If we part on earth will we meet again in the next world? "Well," says some one, "that seems to be an impossibility. Heaven is so large a place we never could find our kindred there." Tremendous question! It makes the lip quiver and the cheek flush and the entire unture thrill: Shall we know each other there? I get letters almost every month asking me to discuss this subject. J get a letter in a bold, scholarly hand, on gilt-edged paper, asking me to disa curious man, and he wants a curious But I get another letter. It is written with a trembling hand, and on what seems to be a torn-out leaf of a book, and here and there is the mark of a tear "Oh, that is a broken heart and it wants to be comforted." The object of this sermon is to take this theory out of the region of surmise and speculation into the region of positive certainty. People say: "It would be very pleasant if that doctrine were true. I hope upon this matter which will prove the doctrine of future recognition as plainly as that there is any heaven at all, and that the

REUNION AT THE CELESTIAL GATE will be as certain as the dying kiss at the sepulchre. Now, when you are going to build a shin you must get the right kind of timber. You lay the keel and make the frame work of the very best materials, the keelson, staunchions, plank-shear, counter-timber-knee, transoms, all of solid oak. You may build a ship of lighter material, but when the evelone comes on, it will go down. Now we may have a great many beautiful theories about the future world. built out of our own fancy, and they may do very well as long as we have smooth sail-ing in the world; but when the storms of the cause of Christ, among them my own row come upon us, and the hurricane of that that is, ofter all, the strongest mode of offirmation. Your friend travels in foreign lands. He comes home. He does not begin by arguing with you to prove that there are such places as London and Stockholm and Paris and Dresden and Berlin, but his conversation implies it. And so this Bible up and down its chapters, take it for granted. What does my text imply? "I shall go to him." What consolation would it be to David to go to his child is he would not know him? Would David have been allowed to record this anticipation for the inspection of all ages if it were a ground-thing else. So in the very beginning of the Bible four times that is taken for granted. The whole New Testament is an arbor over which this doctrine creeps like a luxuriant vine full of the purple clusters of consolation. James, John and Peter followed.

be augmented. Let them confront each other. The son and the mother. "Oh," she says to the angels of God, "rejoice with me! The dead is alive again, and the lost is found. Hallelujah! I never expected to see this lost one come back."

The Bible says nations. vine full of the purple clusters of consola-tion. James, John and Peter followed Christ into the mountain.

ANGELS KNOW EACH OTHER. A light falls from beaven on that moun-Christ's garments glow and His face shines like the sun. The door of heaven swings open. Two spirits come down and alight on that mountain. The disciples look at them and recognize them as Moses and Elias. Now, if those disciples standing on the earth could recognize these two spirits who had been for years in heaven, do you tell me that we, with our heavenly eyesight, will not be able to recognize those who have gone out from among us only 5, 10, 20, 30

The Bible indicates, over and over again, that the angels know each other; and then the Bible says that we are to be higher than the angels, and if the angels have the power recognition, shall not we, who are to be higher than they in the next realm, have as good eyesight and as good capacity? What did Christ mean, in His conversation with Mary and Martha, when he said, "Thy brother shall rise again?" It was as much as to say, "Don't cry. Don't wear your selves out with this trouble. You will see him again. Thy brother shall rise again. The Bible describes heaven as a great home circle. Well, now, that would be a very home circle where the members did not know each other. The Bible describes death as a sleep. If we know each other be-

FRIENDS IN HEAVEN. able to say, with all the concentrated energy of body, mind and soul, "I know it is so." FORGETFULNESS IMPOSSIBLE, There are, in addition to these Bible arguments, other reasons why I accept this theory. In the first place, because the rejec-tion of it implies the entire obliteration of our memory. Can it be possible that we shall forget forever those with whose walk, look, manner we have been so long familiar? Will death come and with a sharp, keen blade hew away this faculty of memory Abraham said to Dives, "Son, remember." It the exiled and lost remember, will not the enthroned remember? You know very well that our joy in any circumstance is augmented by the companionship of our friends. We cannot see a picture with less than four eyes, or hear a song with less than four ears. We want some one beside us with whom to exchange glances and sympathies; and I suppose the joy of heaven is to be augmented by the fact that we are to have our friends with us when there rise before us the thrones of the blessed, and when there surges up in our ears the jubilate of the saved. Heaven is not a contraction, it is an expansion. If I know you here, I will know you better there. Here I see you with only two eyes, but there the soul shall have 1,000,000 eyes. It will be immortality gazing on immortality-ransomed spirit in collogny with ransomed spirit-victor beminister, was seated in his study, his wife came in and said to him, "My dear, do you think we will know each other in heaven?" He turned to her and said, "My dear, do you think we will be bigger fools in heaven

Again: I accept this doctrine of future recognition because the world's expectancy affirms it. In all lands and ages this theory is received. What form of religion planted it? No form of religion, for it is received under all forms of religion. Then, I argue, purchase a meeting with Orpheus and Homer? If it be true that this is to be the consequence of death, I could even be able to die o'ten." Among the Danes, when a shall retire from this low and sordid scene.

WITH THE DIVINE ASSEMBLAGE of departed spirits, and not only with the one I have just now mentioned, but with my dear Cato, the best of sons and the most faithful of men. If I seemed to bear his death with fortitude, it was by no means that I did not most sensibly feel the loss I had sustained. It was because I was supported by the consoling reflection that we could not long be separated." The Norwegian believes it. The Indian believes it.

The Greenlander believes it. The Spins The Greenlander believes it. The Swiss believes it. The Turk believes it. Under every sky, by every river, in every zone, the theory is adopted; and so I say a principle universally implanted must be God-implanted, and hence a right belief.

The argument is irrecivible.

The argument is irresistible.

Again: I adopt this theory because there are features of moral temperament and features of the soul that will distinguish us for-ever. How do we know each other in this world? Is it merely by the color of the eye, or the length of the hair, or the facial proor the length of the hair, or the facial pro-portions? Oh, no. It is by the disposition as well as by natural affinity, using the word in the very best sense and not in the bad sense; and if in the dust our body should perish and lie there forever, and there should be no resurrection, still the soul has enough features and the disposition has enough features to make it dis-tinguishable. I can understand how in sickness a man will become so delirious that he will not know his own friends; but will we be biasted with such insufferable idiocy, that, standing beside our best riends for all eternity we will never guess who they are?
Again, I think one reason why we ought it may be true. Perhaps it is true. I wish to accept this doctrine is because we never you saw them last! On the shining shore it were true." But I believe that I can in this world have an an opportunity to you will talk it all over. The heartaches. give Thanks to those to whom we are spiritually incebted. The joy of heaven, we are told, is to be inaugurated by a revival of life's work. These Christian men and women who have been tolling for Christ, have they seen the lull result of their work? Oh, no. In the church at Bomerville, N. J., John Vredenburgh preached for a great many years. He left that his ministry was a tailure, and others thought so, although he was a faithful minister, preaching the gospel all the time. He died, and died broke and you found yourself standing give thanks to those to whom we are spirit- | The loneliness. The sleepless nights. The he was a faithful minister, preaching the gospel all the time. He died, and died amid discouragements, and went home to father and mother. And what was peculia in regard to nearly all of those 200 souls was death, we will be stamped to the foundered. We want a theory built out of that they dated their religious impressions from the ministry of John Vredenburgh.

God; for no one ever doubted that John Vredenburgh was a good Christian minister. A little while after his death there came A GREAT AWARENING in Somerville, and one Sabbath 200 souls

The doctrine of future recognition is not Will that good Christian man before the God as implied, and you know, my friends, brought to Christ through his instrumentality? Oh, of course he will know them. I remember one Sabbath afternoon, borne down with a sense of my sins and knowing not God, I took up Doddridge's "Rise and Progress." Oh, what a dark afternoon it was, and I read the chapters, and I read the prayers, and I tried to make the prayers my does not so positively state this theory as, all own. Oh, I must see Philip Doddridge. A glorious old book he wrotel It is out of fashon now.

There is a mother before the throne of God. You say her joy is full. Is it? You say there can be no augmentation of it. Cannot there be? Her son was a wanderer and a vagabond on the earth when that good the circle ever widening—hand to hand, joy mother died. He broke her old heart. She to joy, jubilee to jubilee, victory to victory, We read in the first book of the Bible:
Abraham died and was gathered to his people. Jacob died and was gathered to his people. Moses died and was gathered to his people. What people? Why, their friends, their comrades, their old companions. Of course, it means that. It cannot mean anything else So is the read of the second of the secon You tell me that that mother's joy cannot be augmented. Let them confront each one of them." And another voice says,

"You forget that poor man to whom you gave a loat of bread, and told of the heavenly bread. I was that man." And another says, "You forget that sick one to whom you gave medicine for the body and the soul. I was that one." And then Christ, from a throne overtopping all the rest, will say, "Inasmuch as you did it to one of the least of these, you did it to me." And then the seraphs will take their harps from the side of the throne, and cry, "What song shall it be?" And Christ, bending over the harpers, shall say, "It shall be the Harvest Home!"

THE THEORY CONFIRMED. One more reason why I am disposed to accept this doctrine of the future recognition is that so many in their last bour on earth have confirmed this theory. I speak not of persons who have been delirious in their last moment and knew not what they were about, but of persons who died in calminess about, but of persons who died in calmness and placidity, and who were not naturally superstitious. Often the glories of heaven have struck the dying pillow, and the departed standing cases of disease of the heart, bringing back health and strength. Descriptive treatise with each ottle. At all drug cases of disease of the heart, bringing back health and strength. Descriptive treatise with each ottle, at all drug, and glerified body gazing an your purified, enthroned and glorifien body.

Now, I demand, if you believe the Bible, that you take this theory of inture recognition out of the region of positive certainty, and no more keep saving. If hope it is so; I guess it is so, Bernson who died in calmness and including allowing the partial days who were not naturally superstitions. Often the glories of heaven have struck the dying pillow, and the ear and have struck the dying pillow, and heard those who had gone away from him. How often it is in the dying moments parents see their departed children see their departed parents! I came down to the banks of the Mohawk river. It was evening, and I wanted to go over the river, and so I waved my hat and shouted, and after awhile I saw someone waving on the opposite bank, and I heard him shout, and the boat came across, and I got in and was transported. And so I believe it will be in the evening of our life. We will come down to the river of death and give a signal to our iends on the other shore, and they will give a signal back to us, and the boat comes, and our departed kindred are the oarsmen, the fires of the setting day tingeing the tops

Oh, have you never sat by such a deathbed? In that hour you hear the departing soul cry, "Hark! look!" You hearkened and you looked. A little child pining away because of the death of its mother, getting weaker and weaker every day, was taken into the room where hung the picture of her mother. She seemed to enjoy looking at it, and then she was taken away, and after awhile she died. In the last moment that wan and wasted little one lifted her hands, while her face lighted up with the glory of the next world, and cried out, "Mother!" You tell me she did not see her mother? She did. So in my first settlement at Belleville a plain man said to me, "What do you think I heard last night? I was in the room where one of my neighbors was dying. He was a good man, and he said he heard the angels of God singing before the throne. I haven't much poetry about me, but I listened and I heard them too." Said I, "I ave no doubt of it." Why, we are to be taken up to heaven at last by ministering spirits. Who are they to be? souls that went up from Madras, or Autioch, or Jerusalem? Oh, no, our glorified kindred are going to troop around us.

Heaven is not a stately, formal place, as I sometimes hear it described, a very frigidity of splendor, where people stand on cold formalities and go around about with heavy crowns of gold on their heads. No, that is not my idea of heaven. My idea of heaven is more like this: You are seated in the evening-tide by the fire place, your whole family there, or nearly all of them there. While you are seated talking and enjoying the evening hour, there is a knock at the door and the door opens, and there comes in a brother that has been long absent. He closed, two little hands folded, two little feet quiet, one heart still. The servants feet quiet, one heart still. The King, but implanted. Socrates writes: has been absent for years, you have not seem that the King, but implanted. Socrates writes: has been absent for years, you have not seem that the first that the first that you leap mind that it is certainly he, than you leap mind that it is certainly he, than you leap up, and the question is who shall give him the first embrace. That is my idea of heaven-a great home circle where they he looks up and says to them, "Is the child dead?" "Yes, he is dead." David rouses himself that he may serve his master in the future world. Cicero, living before Christ's parel, and sits down to food.

There is a good prospect at his know your mother's voice there? She who stage for the late potato, but a long dry saled you by your first name long after others had given you the format "Misparel, and sits down to food." after others had given you the formal "Misafter others had given you the formal "Mister"? You were never anything but James, or John, or George, or Thomas, or Mary, or

As it is, I your lap, a very shower of mirth and beau-ty? Why, the picture is graven in your soul. It cannot wear out. If that little one should stand on the other side of some of all kinds if there had been a sufficiency

Now I bring you this glorious consolation down on the track, and I could hear the express train rumbling miles away, and coming on; and to-day, my friends, it we only heaven! Sweet heaven! You do not spell heaven as you used to spell it. You used to spell it h-e-a-v-e-n, heaven. But now when you want to spell that word you place side by side the faces of the loved ones who are gone, and in that irradiation of light and love, and beauty and joy, you spell it out as never before, in songs and hallelujahs.

THE JOYOUS MEERING. Oh, ye whose hearts are down under the sod of the cemetery, cheer up at the thought of this reunion! Oh! how much you will have to tell them when once you meet them! How much you have been through since broke and you found yourself standing amid-room in the middight-alone. Talking it all over, and then, hand in hand, walking up and down in the light. No sorrow, no tears, no death, Oh, heaven! beautiful heaven! Heaven where our friends are. Heaven where we expect to be.
In the East they take a cage of birds and bring it to the tomb of the dead, and then they open the door of the cage, and the birds, flying out, sing. And I would to-day bring a cage of Christian consolations to the grave of your beloved ones, and I would open the door and let them fill all the air with the music of their voices. Oh, how they bound in, there spirits before the throne! Some shout with gladness. Some break forth into uncontrollable weeping for joy. Some stand speechless in their shock of delight. They sing. They quiver with excessive gladness. They gaze on the temples, on the palaces, on the waters, on each other. They weave their joy into garlands, they spring it into triumphal arches, they strike it on timbrels, and then all the loved ones gather in a great circle AROUND THE THRONE of God-fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters, sons and daughters, lovers and friends, hand to hand around about the throne o God-

The Bible says nations are to be born in a day. When China comes to God will it not know Dr. Abeel? When India comes will it not know Dr. John Scudder? When the Indians come to God will they not know David Brainard?

I see a soul entering heaven at last, with covered face at the idea that it has done so little for Christ, and feeling borne down with unworthiness, and it says to itself, "I have no right to be here." A voice from a throne says, "Oh, you forget that Sunday school class you invited to Christ. I was one o: them." And another voice says, "Oh," says Christ, "this is not death." And he wades still further down until the wave comes to the girdle, and the soul says, "Lord Jesus, is this death?" And he wades still further down until the wave comes to the girdle, and the soul says, "Lord Jesus, is this death?" "No," says Christ, "this is not death." And he wades still further down until the wave comes to the girdle, and the soul says, "Lord Jesus, is this death?" "No," says Christ, "No, no, this is not death." And he wades still further down until the wave comes to the girdle, and the soul says, "Lord Jesus, is this death?" "No," says Christ, "this is not death." And he wades still further down until the wave comes to the girdle, and the soul says, "Lord Jesus, is this death?" "No," says Christ, "this is not death." And deper in wades the soul till come."
And so I see a Christian soul coming

Corn and cats are still scare and markets keep climbing upward, Captain Elwood reported in behalf of the committee, appointed to wait on the Pennsylvania Railroad Company officials, that the company refused to secede from the rule that no goods should be delivered to the consignee without presentation of a bill of lading. It seems that the company has lost heavily heretofore by departing from this rule, and hence the resolution to make no exceptions. The Grain Exchange resolved to Issue a special circular notifying shippers that they must pay damage in case bills of lading do not come with the stuff.

A FIRM FRONT.

peculation Slow to Wall Street, But no Signs of Wenkness-A Whirl in Sugar Refineries-The Bank Statement All Right.

NEW YORK, July 12.- The stock market totay was intensely dull, though it presented a firm front throughout. The dealings in all ex-cept a few specialties, and Sugar Refineries, however, were confined to the limits of about become prominent for the advances made, such as Hocking Valley, Mobile and Ohio and the Chicago and East Illinois stocks, made further gains, though only in the case of the first named was the movement of special imortance. The entire gain was not retained at he close in any case.

Sugar Refineries continued to respond to the proposed scheme to reorganize the trust, with the belief that the insiders will support the stock. The buying, however, is largely for the short account, and its clumination seems only a matter of a short time. The stock opened unchanged at 78%, but reacted to 76% at the close, the supply of stock at the high figures being more than the demand.

The bank statement, awaited with so much interest, showed a handsome gain in surplus reserve, which leaves it at about where it was two weeks ago, but the result had been so thoroughly discounted that it had no effect in either the rise or depression in prices. The close was very dull and firm at slightly better figures than those of the opening. The final changes are in all cases fractional amounts only.
