WOMANLY WISDOM. What a Bright Little New York Lady Has to Say About Ladies Dressing.

A charming lady resting on Fifth avenue, New York, in conversation with a circle of friends in her drawing room the other evening, said:

"A woman has a hard time during the heated months of summer. Her wardrobe is a constant source of anxiety. She must have something that is both stylish and comfortable."

"I believe in the value of a good dress. It is not only a matter of appearance, but of health and comfort. A woman's dress should be both beautiful and practical."

"I have found that a woman's system needs a stimulant to fortify it as such. It is not only a matter of appearance, but of health and comfort. A woman's dress should be both beautiful and practical."

"I have found that a woman's system needs a stimulant to fortify it as such. It is not only a matter of appearance, but of health and comfort. A woman's dress should be both beautiful and practical."
