PRPECIAL THEOGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. BROOKLYN, July 17 .- After knocking out the leading clubs in the National League the Brooklyn team were deteated by the Pittsburgs at Washington Park this after neon, thereby losing the lead and allowing the Philadelphia club to creep into that coveted position. Every one present expected the home team to win, as it was ladies' day. But the 1,078 persons present were disappointed. Adons Terry was an easy mark for the visitors. They seemed to have much delicht in pushing out hits from this usually effective pitcher. The home team tail-enders then began to play an uphill game and at the end of the seventh inning the scor stood even up. But in the eighth and ninth the visitors got in their fine work and man-aged to get a lead of two runs, thus winning the game. Score:

The Inability of the Pittsburg Players' Team to Bit the Bull Coused Their Defent at New York Yesterday.

PRECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR. NEW YORK, July 17 .- The Pittsburg (P. 1.) club came here to-day minus the services of Manager-Captain Hanlon, but it is doubtful whether if that gentleman had been present be could have stemmed the tide of defeat. It was a devorily played game throughout. The whole secret of Pittsburg's defeat was the fact that Tim Keefe was in the box. He didn't have his Tim Keefe was in the box. He didn't have his old backstop to support him, but no one could have done better than Vaughn. Therefore he was in his glory. The visitors just managed to hat out four hits and they got to first five times on balls. In the fifth inning, with two men out, Carroll came to bat. The Pittsburger is a good man at all times at the bat and the cranks feared he would clean the bases, but the invincible Tim finally struck him out. Attendance, 585. The score:

MAKING A CHAMPION

A Very Exciting Time at the Tennis Tournament Yesterday.

MAGNIFICENT PLAYING SHOWN The Doubles Were Closely Contested and Interesting.

PROGRAMME OF EVENTS FOR TO-DAY

Yesterday was an exciting time at the grounds of the Pittsburg Tennis Club, on Craig street. There were quite a number of things to cause excitement, and not the least among them was the small burst of rain, which greatly dampened the enthusiasm of quite a number of the devotees of tennis. At 4 o'clock dark clouds gathered and sent a copious shower over the little park, driving the crowd hurry scurry to the club house among the trees, 150 yards distant. Talking of sprinting, that race eclipses everything in the go-as-you-please line that has been seen in this vicinity for some that has been seen in this vicinity for some time. Most excellent time was made, but as everybody was in the race, there were no time-keepers or referee to be found.

Notwithstanding this little side show attachment to the tournament yesterday, it proved to be even more interesting than the day before. The losers are gradually thinning out so that it was a case of Greek meet Greek and the matches yesterday were hotly contested between the best men entered.

MATCH OF THE DAY. The second round was finished by the p between Messrs. Reed and Fay which had been postponed over from Wednesday. Reed's been postponed over from Wednesday. Reed's coolness again showed itself, and after a hard struggle Fay was compelled to acknowledge himself beaten. The match of the day came in the third round. Morehead and Coster are two equally matched men, and it was very difficult to judge between them. Morehead proved himself the better general, and after some of the most magnificent tennis of the day, he came out a winner. In the first set he easily defeated Coster, the score being 5-0. However, Costef warmed up to the fight in the second set and the result was the hardest of the match. Morehead could not stop the hard serving and fine returns of his plucky opponent, and the score came off 8-6 in favor of Coster. Morehead's staying qualities won the final set 6-4. THE DOUBLES.

THE DOUBLES. In the doubles Messrs. Fay and Buch, of Altoons, covered themselves with glory, and won the applause of the assembly by defeating what was formerly called the best team at what was formerly called the best team at doubles in this part of the State. TROUBLE AT CHICAGO.

Alleged Crooked Work at the Washingt Park Running Meeting. CHICAGO, July 17.-Much dissatisfaction ha been expressed by horsemen from the South hand elsewhere with the way in which things have been going at the races at Washington Park during the present meeting. George C. Hankins, a well-known gambling house keeper.

His horses have been "running in and out" in a most remarkable way, and the papers of the city, beginning with expressions of mild astonishment, have come to outright denunciation. The running of Santalene, of that stable, the other day when he was beat by Attions, came in for such severe criticism that the management have taken the matter up and are making an investigation. There are threats that Hankins' alleged Southern stable will not be represented here next season.

KEMMLER STILL THE FIRST Who Will be Legally Killed by the Subtle

Electric Current. ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. AUBURN, July 17.-At this moment Kemmler, the slayer of Lillie Zeiger, lies sleeping in his steel-bound cell awaiting his doom, which must ne met some time the week beginning August 4. THE DISPATCH reporter was in the prison to-night and interviewed Deputy Warden Boyle, who is in charge, War-den Durston and Mrs. Durston being den Durston and Mrs. Durston being absent from the city. The news that Chapleau's soutence had been commuted to life imprisonment was a surprise to the prison officials here. It was expected that Chapleau would be the first victim of the new law; therefor no preparations have been made, strictly spoaking, to execute the sentence against Kemmler. The Aburn prison officials expected to be aided by the experience at Dannemora, but it now remains for Warden Durston to kill the first prisoner by electricity.

The dreadful electrical machinery, including the chair, is not now in the death chamber. Deputy Warden Boyle says that all the machinery has been taken down and carefully packed away in boxes. This course was pursued to evade curious visitors who were continually pestering the warden to see the apparatus. Kemmler takes his bath daily in the chamber, and this is another reason why the machinery was removed. When Warden Durston returns the final preparations will be begun. Kemmler is in good health and spirits, and appears, as he has heretofore, unconcerned about his impending doom. his impending doom.

AN ENJOYABLE CONCERT ONE OF THE MANY FEATURES. The Excellent Bunds and a Chorus of Severnt Hundred Voices-Thousands of People Heartly Applaud a Programme of Popular Airs.

Fully 15,000 people packed in the space surrounding the music pavilion last even-ing to hear the concert. The stand was brilliantly illuminated with inumerable lights, and the extension to the pavillion proper boasted about 500 lamps. Japanese lanterns also adorned the pavilion, and the posts were wrapped in wreaths of red, white and blue, giving it a very gay appearance.

At 7:30 o'clock Director Weis gave the signal to begin playing. An elegant programme had been arranged, including popular airs which were received with rounds of applause. The first number on the programme was a piece especially composed by Prof. Weis for the occasion, "Semi-Centennial Festival March." After this came "William Tell," which had to be reproduced before the people would desist from applauding. "Spring, Approach," was the next number, which came in for the approval of the listeners. lanterns also adorned the pavilion, and the from applauding. "Spring, Approach," was the next number, which came in for the approval of the listeners.

The singing societies had by this time arrived, and the hand suspended long enough to bermit them to sing two songs. About 500 trained voices of male singers, composed of the various German singing societies, comprised the chorus. They were under the able leadership of Benjamin Kellus, of the Robert Blum Maennerchor. The best singers from the Calcellia, Teutonia, Druiden, Troy Hill and Schwaebischer Maennerchors and the Odd Fellows' Saengerbund and Harugari Liedertafel sang "The Soldier's Night Song" and "How I Loved Her." The singing of the chorus was conceded by all to be excellent.

After the chorus had concluded the band resumed, and played the following programme, which was encored heartily: Fantasie, "Hunt for Happiness," Brandet; selection, "Offenbachina," Boettger; waltz, "Danube Waves," Ivanovit; medley, new, "A Night in Allegheny," C. B. Weis; selection, "Tannhauser," Wagner: Gavotte, "First Heart Throbs," Elinberg; selection, "Tip to Africa," Von Luppe; March, Deitz: "Hunting Scene," descriptive: "AlNight in New York," descriptive. The programme was through by 9 o'clock and the fireworks immediately started. The Grand Army Band held forth at the old stand, near the Humboldt monument, and helped to enliven matters.

It was decorated with flags and bunting, bearing the words "Allegheny, 1840—1896," the words and figures being formed of incandescent lamps, giving it a brilliant appearance. From the parks a good view of the fireworks put off from Monument Hill could be had, and thousands of pacenie availed themselves of it. cousands of people availed themselves of it. Big Feur Officials are Employers Pall to Settle the Dispute.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 17.—The conference between the Big Four superintendents and the employes began early this mornin; and lasted until 11:20 to-night without reaching any satisfactory conclusion. The brakemen and firement and officials are so widely apart it is thought no solution of the very superintendents and the employees began early this mornin; and lasted until 11:20 to-night without reaching any satisfactory conclusion. The brakemen and firement and officials are so widely apa made the speakers' stand a throne of glory, broke loose from the crowded streets and overflowing park, and were transported to Observatory Hill by the electric cars and various styled equipages, where, far above the vast mass of celebrators, a birdseye view of Allegheny on its 50th birthday was taken, and indelibly photographed on each mind was the enchanting vision that ever and about called forth a lusty cheer from some loyal citizen, that was taken up and sent chasing its own echoes at an alarming rate by any number of interested spectators.

The Monument Hill display of fireworks, as seen from that point, was far more enjoyable than from any other section of the city, and as the sky was rocketed with rockets of all kinds, and the Roman candles went fizzing through the air, the enthusiasm of Observatory Hill reached a high pitch, and resulted in a succession of "ohs!" in all sorts of voices, all known keys, and every imaginable inflection. And when the unexpected fireworks in the shape of the big planing mill fire eclipsed the lesser and more fanctful ones, a united chorus of "ohs" eclipsed the former ones in like manner.
